and the local nimrods go out every day or two and return with loads of game, sometimes.

Saturday was one of the busiest days of the year. All the best men were in town getting pay for their October beats, and for a time money was livelier than at any time during some months past.

J. E. Botsford and son of Fort Haron, Mich., arrived from the East last week. He will put up a residence on the Botsford orchard at Piacentia this coming winter and take up his permanent residence here.

Capt. C. T. Healey with his corps of assistants has been engaged for some days past in surveying the Brea cañon, which it is understood is soon to be sold to a syndicate which will go into developing the rich oil wells of the cañon.

About two dozen men have been engaged in gathering and hauling celery from the past land to Santa Ana for some weeks past. Four car loads of the vegetable were shipped last week and shipments begin again this morning, they having been stopped for some few days past on account of orders being placed for the celery.

Francis Wright from Indiana has purchased a home and is busy refitting it.

Albert Brown, G. C. Adair, Paul Keen, Lewis Hanson and Mrs. H. F. Brown are registered at the Iowa will be in the morning during the past season. This season's run was the best Mr. Kruger ever saw, the refinery turning out in one week 1,500,000 pounds of sugar. He was greatly surprised at the excellence of the Anaheim beet, and the cognizance of the fact that the industry was entirely new to our people, and could readily detect the difference between them and the China beets during the work of turning them into sugar. He is thinking of replanting 50 acres to beets here this coming season, and the last of the beet payments, amounting to about $7000, was made by the beet company, and the directors are now about ready to sign contracts for next season's crop.

We are informed that some 3000 acres of beets set out here next season, to be worked up here if the refinery is in running order, or shipped to China, as the past season; all of which is respectfully referred to our red-headed collaborator and co-writer, the Santa Ana correspondent of the Times. We are going to plant beets here this season, and will make a great try to get the refinery up and in running order in time to handle the crop.

ORANGE COUNTY.

News from Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—John Kerr, who lives a short distance west of Orange, and owns a good farm in that vicinity, brought two pumpkins to town today weighing 192 and 161 pounds respectively. Mr. Kerr said that he would have brought in some larger ones, but was unable to load them in his wagon alone.

While playing with some schoolmates at Fairview schoolhouse yesterday, Russell Platt, a boy about 12 years of age, had the misfortune of almost losing one of his eyes. He was struck in the eye with a hard clod of dirt, and when taken home yesterday afternoon it was thought that the sight of the injured eye was destroyed.

Dr. W. R. Wall is indisposed.

Yesterday J. L. Forre's 60th birthday anniversary, which he celebrated by treating a number of his friends to a fine turkey dinner at his residence in the Newport neighborhood. It was a jolly crowd that partook of the repast.

Dr. Wall is preparing to make a shipment of lemons next week.

B. F. Townsend, formerly a resident of Garden Grove, but now resides in Palo Alto, came to Santa Ana yesterday on business. Mr. Townsend says Southern California is the place to live, and says he intends to return before long to end his days among his Orange county friends. He remarked that there are 985 students in attendance at the Stanford university at present.

Robert Arbom and wife returned to Santa Ana this afternoon from a trip east.

The streets of Santa Ana presented a very lively appearance today. There were many strangers looking around, besides an unusual number of country people in town laying in supplies for the next week.

Robert Cogburn, night watchman, is reported as being quite ill.

Jessie Davis, who lives west of the river, brought a sweet potato to town today that weighs 27 pounds and measures 28 inches in length and 26 in circumference. It was a volunteer.

On Friday night one going along Fourth street could smell a terrible stench from some sewer that was enough to drive strangers away from our city. We say, do this work at night, and put on men enough to keep them clean. Why is it that the sewers of Santa Ana have to be pumped out in the day-time? and again, if they are not pumped out in the day-time, are they allowed to get full and run over the sidewalk, and the odor is enough to drive half the people out of the city if they only knew what was the matter. Other people manage to do this class of cleaning-up after night.

H. W. Wilson says he is now on his third crop of cabbage this year and has the fourth crop growing. How is that for Santa Ana soil and climate?

A man was heard on our streets today trying to make a bargain with a Chinaman for some work, while we have a number of white men who would jump at the chance of getting a job, if only a small one.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Nickerson of Olive are still in a critical condition, though Mr. Nickerson is somewhat improved.

The Hon. J. W. Townes is expected home from Riverside tomorrow.

Farm Bishop is ill with pneumonia.

Miss Sue Greenleaf went to Ukiah yesterday to visit her brother, Sterl Greenleaf.

Rev. E. S. Thacher will fill the pulpit for Rev. E. R. Watson tomorrow. Mr. Watson has gone to Santa Barbara on a visit.

Donaciano Dominguez was licensed to wed Miss Florina Yorba Friday. The wedding will take place at Yorba tomorrow.

Miss Marian J. Saunders, a lady well known in this city, who has been in Los Angeles for the past two years, will be married to F. P. Stultz of the Needles on Thanksgiving day.

The tenth annual convention of the Orange County Sunday School association will be held at Garden Grove, Saturday, December 20th. Dr. Brobeck, president of the state Sunday school convention, is expected to be present and give them a good lecture.

John Rankin, a nephew of Mr. Noah Palmer, will perhaps go into business in our city before long.

T. H. Jones of Ventura, an old Santa Ana druggist, is in our city shaking hands with old friends. Mr. Jones came from Ventura on a bicycle, and will go by way of Elsinore back to his home, making about 400 miles on his wheel.

Two games of baseball will be played on the Santa Ana diamond on Thanksgiving day, the type allegors and counter-jumpers in the forenoon and Pasadena against a picked nine from Santa Ana.

There will be a short service in the Episcopal church Sunday night. The Rev. Mr. Barrows will preach on the Trinity.

Aaron Huddleston and Miss Emily Mulford of Pasadena are to be married tonight.

Miss May Keller went to Pasadena this evening to remain over Sunday.

B. G. Balcomb, cashier of the Commercial bank, went to Redlands this evening to visit his wife, who is stopped there for her health.

Major and Mrs. C. S. McKelvey visited friends in Los Angeles today. They will remain over Sunday.

While the ladies hunt shells the gentlemen are busy gathering in the ducks, and usually make good killings. Thursday John Sutcliffe of Los Angeles, with Thomas Stovall and T. L. Duque, put in the day at the lakes with great success. The honk of the wild geese is now heard in the land, and the increasing flocks passing overhead each day give promise of great sport for the hunters. Fish are biting well, and the knights of the rod haunt the pier from early morn till latest eve pursuing their favorite recreation. One day last summer as the wharf was crowded with men and women, the fish biting freely and all working as if their lives depended on the number of fish caught, an old lady who had watched the crowd for some time amused all near her by asking her companion: "Do all these folks have to fish for a living?"

The past week has seen some change in property. J. N. Smith, our pioneer hardware dealer, has sold his stock and goodwill to N. P. Albritton, lately from Minneapolis, Minn., who also purchased from Mr. Craig his two-story house on Atlantic avenue.

Francis Wright from Indiana has purchased a home and is busy refitting it.

Albert Brown, G. C. Adair, Paul Keen, Lewis Hanson and Mrs. H. F. Brown are registered at the Iowa will be in the morning during the past season. FULLERTON.

The Fullerton Tribune of yesterday says that Fullerton is enjoying a building boom, and as evidence points to the following work being done:

Work began Monday on another warehouse, 40x50, making the seventh warehouse for this place.

Harry Savage is having a neat cottage built near the plating mill.

Mr. Mann commenced work Monday on his palatial shop and residence and will have the building completed in a few days.

J. E. Botsford, who recently arrived in Fullerton from Port Huron, Mich., has decided to build a costly residence and outbuildings on his property immediately.

L. E. Benchley will build a fine residence on the hill just above his ranch house.

O. W. Thompson, who arrived here with his family last week from Oregon, will begin the erection of a cottage in a few days on his property near the depot.

George Ruddock has bought lots in town and will build a residence on them at once.

We are informed that another brick warehouse will be erected here in the near future.

R. Jennings, the livermy man, informs us he will build just as soon as he can buy a lot near the center of town.

Edgar Johnson of the Tribune began the erection of a two-story six-room building on his lot near the Chadbourne block last Monday.

Robert Northam and Mr. McNally will spend thousands of dollars in costly buildings north of town.

Stern & Goodman have just completed another large warehouse.

A. Henderson is building an addition to his blacksmith shop.

ORANGE.

The Orange News of the 22d has the following items:

Miss Myrtle Yarnell is recovering from an attack of fever.

Mr. A. Jacoby is building an addition to the cottage on the Palmyra tract, Palmyra avenue, occupied by Mr. Thomas.

On Sunday last sufficient money was raised by contribution and subscription to wipe out the entire debt upon the Baptist church.

The basket social under the auspices of the Farmers' Alliance, announced for Friday evening of last week, was postponed on account of unfavorable weather, and will be held on Wednesday evening, the 29th inst.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dean on Monday afternoon. That their firstborn may be a joy and comfort to them all their lives is our earnest wish. Mother and daughter are doing well.

Mr. O. Handy has shipped seven carloads of raisins from McPherson, and will have three more carloads to follow. Those who have received his products are very warm in praise of their quality. Orange county raisins are having the call.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Risk and Mr. Samuel Risk returned to Orange on Friday, after a visit of several months with friends in New York state. We understand that Mr. A. Risk will at an early date commence the erection of a residence on his five-acre ranch on Palmyra avenue.

LONG BEACH.

An Interesting Talk on Conchology—Local Affairs.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 25.—The Long Beach class in conchology met Thursday evening with Miss Ethel Lowe. This class is composed exclusively of ladies who, under the teaching of Miss Shepard, are very enthusiastic shell-hunters, and reel off long names belonging to minute shells in a manner bewildering to the uninitiated. Many of the class already have choice collections, to PASADENA.

The All Saints' Church Entertainment. News Notes.

PASADENA, Nov. 25.—The entertainment given under the auspices of the All Saints' church, at the opera house last evening, was well attended, the house being full downstairs and the gallery well occupied.

The entertainment, however, was, on the whole, a disappointment, although several tableaux were well worthy of praise. The performance dragged somewhat, the waits being long, as is often the case in amateur productions. The various representations of the famous pictures exhibited at the world's fair were received very kindly by the audience, which was generous with applause.

The music was furnished by Brockway's orchestra in its usual excellent manner.

The following were those engaged in the production of the paintings:

Once Upon a Time, W. S. Wright, Misses Lucille Webster, Constance McClintock, Maud Daggett and Master Wotkyns.

Colors with Flowers, by Miss Laura Wiley.

Daughter of the Rajahs, Miss Callie Dodsworth.

The Absent One on All Saints' Day, Mrs. McClintock and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Vanover.

A Lady in Black, excellently represented by Miss Greenleaf.

A Summer Shower, Misses Dingley, Greble and Daggett.

Romeo and Juliet, Mr. Wetherby and Miss Hall.

At the Temple Gate, by Miss Vera Barker, was one of the prettiest pieces of the evening and was warmly received.

The Orphan Girls, by Misses Gardner, Randall, Dalrymple, Coleman, Rowland, Dickey and Monroe.

Magic was represented by Miss Genevieve Church and Sketches From Life was given by Mrs. Vandevort.

A Colored Bronze, by Miss Greble, was by far the best representation of the evening. The makeup was splendid and the costume faithful to details in every particular.

The closing scene represented a street in Cairo in which many prominent citizens, together with a band furnished good music for the audience.

Mr. C. C. Stuart made a decided hit in his act as a Hindoo juggler, which closed the entertainment.

Later a promenade concert was given in the opera house hall where tea and light refreshments were served and a little dancing enjoyed by the young people.

THE CHURCHES.

Rev. Florence E. Kollock will preach in the Universalist church Sunday morning. Subject of discourse, The Spirit's Thanksgiving. In the evening President C. H. Keyes will deliver an address on the subject of What is Left of Thanksgiving After the Questioning of Modern Times? All are welcome.

C. J. Goncher and the Rev. J. C. Crawford will take for his morning subject, Christ's Treatment of Grief. In the evening, The Possibility of a Wonderful Discovery will be the theme.

Rev. T. D. Garvin will preach as usual at the Christian church. Morning theme: The Evil of Slaying and Doing Nothing. Evening theme: Babel and Pentecost Contrasted. The key to Bible reading will be given. The fourth lecture of the course. Topic of study: Man and the Bible.

The gospel union on North Fair Oaks avenue, Rev. W. B. Barr of the First United church of Los Angeles will preach at 11 a. m. All are cordially invited.

FUNERAL OF MR. PAINTER.

The funeral services over the remains of Mr. A. V. Painter, whose death took place so unexpectedly yesterday, will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday afternoon, from the family residence, on North Fair Oaks, above Washington street. The services will be conducted by Rev. Staats, pastor of the North Pasadena Congregational church, and the interment made in the Mountain View cemetery.

NOTES.

Still no news from Mr. Winston up to a late hour tonight.

Prof. and Mrs. Butler arrived today from Barstow, and will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lincoln.

The Harvest Home entertainment given at the Christian church last evening was well attended.

A very pleasant social was given by the Epworth League in the M. E. church parlors last evening.

The Delphi Chautauqua circle will meet on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook.

Major Winston has leased the Martin Villa from W. C. Martin for a term of five years, and will thoroughly renovate it, making it a first-class lodging house.

C. G. Worden, superintendent of bridges for the Southern California railroad, is down today in the city.

The tug Pelican, belonging to the Redondo Beach company, went down to the wreck of the steamship Newburn and procured and brought to Redondo the following: A 4 1/2 ton anchor, 240 fathom anchor chain, 1 bit weighing 2800 pounds, 1 bit weighing 1800 pounds, 1 air pump weighing 1500 pounds, 1 air pump, beams and straps, weighing 800 pounds, and 4 hawse pipes weighing 4000 pounds.

Fishing has been very good within the last few days, a great many yellow-tail, bonita, mackerel and bass being caught from the wharf, and a large quantity of surf fish, smelt, etc., by the seines on the beach. There were about 2000 pounds of fish shipped to Los Angeles this morning.

Mr. William Dry, of the Redondo railway is building a large addition to his residence near the corner of Emerald street and Catalina avenue.

The work on the new salt water baths is progressing very rapidly and promises to be finished long before the time expected.

POMONA.

News Notes and Items of Personal Interest.

POMONA, Nov. 25.—The motor will be taken off today to undergo some necessary repairs, and the temporary conveyance between this point and North Pomona will be horse cars. This will give Engineer Sam Delapp a "lay off" for a few days. It is to be hoped, however, that this will be only for a short time.

About 11:30 last night a gentle rain commenced to fall, continuing until about 5 a. m. It was, however, a very warm and light fall, the sun shining very brightly all through today.

Mr. Leach, proprietor of the Pomona hotel, is reported as quite sick with an attack of asthma, more or less complicated with pneumonia symptoms.
