

BUILDING THE SUNSET CITY.

Work Retarded by Inclement Weather.

Rapid Progress with the Mechanical Department.

The French World's Fair Fine Arts Exhibit Secured—Grading for the Los Angeles Building Finished—Cost Notes.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—On account of the inclemency of the weather for the last few days, work on the various buildings at the exposition grounds has been somewhat delayed, but the weather has now cleared and everything will be pushed as rapidly as possible from this on.

Engineer Hunt, who is in charge of the mechanical department of the exposition, expresses great satisfaction at the progress made in his department. He reports that the space is practically filled in that structure. One of the most attractive exhibits to be seen in this building will be that made by the General Electric company. This exhibit will be equal to some of the grand electric displays made at Chicago.

Word was officially received today by Director General De Young, through the consul of the French government, to the effect that minister of beaux arts has given permission to all the French artists who were represented at the Columbian exposition to avail themselves of the opportunity offered in the same connection at the coming midwinter exposition. The permission will result in the exposition securing a collection of paintings which were literally the talk at the Chicago exposition, and will add greatly to the interest attached to the art display.

A meeting of the viticulturists was held today in the state viticultural rooms, at which the state viticultural commission agreed to appropriate $2000 to aid in making a suitable display, and a subscription started on the spot resulted in raising $1000 additional. A special committee of 10 was appointed to carry the work forward in the viticultural counties of the state.

Grading for the Los Angeles building is also about finished. The contract for the construction of the San Joaquin county building has been let, and work on that structure will begin Monday. In the locality of the San Joaquin county building will be Canadian headquarters, the Antioch way cottage, the Yaqui Indian camp and the ostrich farm, a location, in fact, which promises to be one of the busiest of the entire exposition.

Among the concessions which have not made much showing on the grounds is the Equinox village, which will be located south of the south drive. Public interest in this exhibit is sure to be enhanced by the fact that Alaska belongs to the United States. The village will contain about 75 persons—men, women, boys and girls.

There are now over 75 buildings under course of construction at the exposition grounds.

HANGMAN'S DAY.

Several Murderers Expiate Their Crimes on the Gallows. ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 1.—John Reiter was hanged here today for the murder of Victor Snellman on August 4, 1892. Both men had passed the night at a farm house. Snellman had about $20 in coin and a silver watch, which he showed to his companion, Reiter. Next morning the two men left their home together, and two days later Snellman's body was found in the woods; the watch and money and Reiter had disappeared. Reiter was traced to Portland, where he was arrested. When charged with the crime he broke down and made a full confession.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 1.—Rev. Charles Johnston was hanged at Swainsboro today for the murder of Rev. William Childs. Both were negro exhorters, and the murder grew out of jealousy over a girl. Johnston preached his own funeral sermon.

TAYLORSVILLE, Ky., Dec. 1.—George Armstrong (colored) was hanged here this morning for the murder of Kate Downs (colored), with whom he had been intimate. On the scaffold he confessed the murder and professed repentance. His neck was not broken; he died of strangulation.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Joy Changed to Mourning at a Wedding Anniversary. GROVILLE, Cal., Dec. 1.—Last evening about 100 friends of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Corday of the United States hotel gathered at the latter place to celebrate the wooden wedding of the landlord and his wife. Among the guests were Frederick E. Stroefer and wife, the latter being a daughter of Mrs. Corday. At half-past 10, and while ex-senator A. T. Jones was performing the wedding ceremony Mr. Stroefer began coughing and a moment later spit up blood; he soon grew faint and was placed in a chair and carried to a bedroom, where he expired within 10 minutes from the time he first began coughing. Among the guests was Dr. Karsner who instantly attended to the case, but medical skill was of no avail and the merry party was almost instantly turned into a party of mourners. Mr. Stroefer was an old resident and well-known business man of this town.

BUTTON SENTENCED.

Bohn's Murderer Given Seven Years in San Quentin. SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 1.—The motion for a new trial in the case of Charles Button, convicted of killing Gus Bohn, was today denied, whereupon Button was sentenced to serve seven years in San Quentin. His counsel gave notice of appeal. Button and Bohn were both members of a fishing party and the latter, who was drunk, quarreled with Button. Button stamped on Bohn's face while the latter was lying down, and when Bohn, crazed by pain, seized a rifle. Button shot him dead. The people threaten to lynch Button if the execution of his sentence is delayed.

THE EVANS TRIAL.

George Sontag Testifies Against His Partner in Crime. FRESNO, Dec. 1.—The feature of the Evans trial today was the appearance of George Sontag as a witness against Chris Evans. When Sontag entered the court room Evans turned pale and looked uneasy, but soon regained his composure. Sontag was also ill at ease, and avoided Evans gaze. Sontag's testimony was in line with his recent confession. He said the testimony given by him at his own trial was untrue. Evans' attorney asked numerous questions and the indications are that the defense will argue that George and John Sontag committed the train robbery, and that George now attempts to substitute Evans for John.

THE LEHIGH STRIKE.

Strikers Still Confident of Winning Their Fight. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—There seems to be no change in the strike on the Lehigh Valley. Some improvement in the running of trains is reported. Chief Clarke, in an interview, said the strikers were still undismayed and expected to win the fight. "They may give out whatever reports they will until we have incontrovertible facts. Ninety men employed by the company in and near Wilkesbarre have joined our ranks. Six trains, fully equipped, were ready to leave Caxton last night when all the men quit their posts and are now with us."

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 1.—Twenty-four new men quit the service of the Lehigh Valley tonight. The strikers will hold a mass meeting Sunday afternoon.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

The Haymarket Theater, Chicago, Has a Close Call. CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The Haymarket theater, on Madison street, near Halstead, on the West side, one of the handsomest theaters in the city, was damaged by fire this morning. It was a bad day for a fire, as the temperature was below zero, with a sharp wind from the west, causing the fire apparatus to ice up rapidly. The theater was named from Haymarket square, the scene of the famous anarchist riot, near which it is situated. It is managed by Will J. Davis, who is also manager of the Columbia.

THE POLICE STOPPED THE FIGHT.

An Eight-Round Glove Contest in Oakland.

Young Mitchell and Jim Ryan Meet in the Ring.

Each Punished the Other Severely and the Police Stopped the Mill-A Wrestling Contest—Racing Summaries.

By the Associated Press. OAKLAND, Dec. 1.—An eight-round contest between "Young Mitchell," the Pacific coast middle-weight champion, and Jim Ryan of Australia, drew a big crowd tonight. Jack McAniff was referee. Both men were in good condition. In the first round Mitchell did most of the leading, scoring first blood by two hos blows on Ryan's nose. Ryan landed on Mitchell's neck. In the second round lively in-fighting took place. Honors were even. In the third round there was some fighting. Ryan was groggy for an instant, but landed heavily on Mitchell's jugular. In the fourth Mitchell repeatedly got in on Ryan's head. In the fifth Mitchell dropped Ryan with a hard one on the jaw. Ryan was groggy and weak. He made a swing for Mitchell's jaw, but missed. Ryan ran away from punishment. The round was clearly Mitchell's. In the sixth Mitchell landed repeatedly. Ryan was a mass of bruises, but he took his punishment gamely. In the seventh Mitchell landed a few blows, but was sent to his corner groggy. In the eighth round Ryan was fresh and assumed the offensive, landing heavily on Mitchell's face, following it up with a shower of swinging blows. At this juncture the chief of police stopped the fight, which was declared a draw.

THE COLORADO CAMPAIGN.

It Yields One of the Greatest Victories Won For Woman Suffrage.

The greatest victory yet won by woman suffrage, because won by popular vote, has been achieved in Colorado. Telegrams from Denver dated Nov. 8 announce that the constitutional amendment has carried in that state by a majority of 5,000. The leading mining towns, except Leadville, supported the cause by a generous vote. Denver gave a small adverse majority. But the plain people were with us, and Colorado women are enfranchised by the votes of the men of Colorado.

The credit of this great victory belongs exclusively to no individual or party. But it is largely due to the unselfish energy, eloquence and organizing ability of Mrs. Carrie Lane Chapman. This brave and earnest worker, without salary or compensation, for six weeks made a continuous series of addresses, not only in the cities, but in the mining towns of the Rocky mountains. Her self a western woman, fully comprehending the character of western men, young, beautiful and intellectual, she has completed the work of conversion initiated in 1875 and 1876 by the heroic labors of Margaret W. Campbell and her husband, John B. Campbell, and seconded in 1877 by Lucy Stone and Susan B. Anthony.

The Colorado campaign for woman suffrage began in 1875. The American Woman Suffrage association, appreciating the fact that Colorado would come into the Union in 1876 as the Centennial State, appointed Margaret W. Campbell its agent and representative. Mrs. Campbell possesses in an eminent degree the apostolic fervor and self-devotion which characterized Lucy Stone. Her husband gave up his artistic work, and together they set out, with a horse and light carriage, on their apparently hopeless mission.

In advance of the constitutional convention these moral pioneers, making their headquarters in Denver, spent months in visiting the secluded mining camps of the territory, penetrating even to Gunnison and Silverton, climbing the snowy ranges and descending the almost inaccessible gulches of Uncompahgre and the San Juan. Then, when it met, they attended the constitutional convention and secured three important concessions: 1. School suffrage for women. 2. A provision that the first legislature should submit woman suffrage to the voters. 3. That any future legislature might extend suffrage to women, subject to popular ratification or rejection. It was under this last named provision that the vote has just been taken.

Years ago Henry Watterson said to me in Louisville: "Woman suffrage will come, if ever, on a wave of popular discontent. With 50,000 Democratic majority in Kentucky and 50,000 Republican majority in Massachusetts, you cannot hope to succeed, because people are satisfied with the status quo." In Colorado man's extremity has been woman's opportunity. The Populist uprising has broken the party machines, and ideal justice has come to the front.—H. B. B. in Boston Woman's Journal.

An All Around Woman's Club.

The Des Moines Woman's club exhibited at Chicago in the section set apart for the federated women's clubs numerous handsomely bound volumes, containing club history and memorabilia; the photograph of each president, with the corresponding year book set into the page opposite; the club stationery and last, but not least, a certificate of the club's status. The third volume was of folio type and contained 27 of the papers read before the society. Each had been prepared in permanent form, under the author's direction, and the artistic decorations carried out the theme and treatment with the rarest originality. These addresses ranged over a field of inquiry that swept from old pottery and violins to the silver question and schools of philosophy.

A Sympathetic English Woman.

Mrs. Basset of Tisbury, Cornwall, whose sympathetic consideration for the sick and needy in that English county is well known, has just presented to the Miners' and Women's hospitals in the district a number of comfortable bed tables for the use of such patients as might be able to sit up in bed for their food or to play a game. Mrs. Basset has ordered a supply of these tables for the Redruth workhouse union.

A Woman Evangelist.

Miss Harriette J. Cooke, who has been studying methods of city evangelization in England, will spend a year in the Epworth League house in Boston, in the employ of the Boston Missionary and Church Extension society. Miss Cooke was last year superintendent of the Victoria Park mission, an important branch of the Midway work, of which her recent work, "Midway," is an account.

A Difference of Opinion.

A large number of women offered their ballots for school commissioners at the recent elections in New York. In some cases their votes were accepted, in others refused. Different judges have given the constitutional validity of the new law, and pending a decision of the question by the supreme court Miss Anthony advised the women to swear in their votes.

Competent to Vote.

The work of women, as demonstrated by their exhibit at the World's fair, not alone in the artistic and fancy work, but in the architecture and everything pertaining to the building and its contents, is convincing enough to show that they are sufficiently intelligent and competent to stand by the side of the men and vote for American institutions.—Bristol (Ind.) Banner.

A Bright Young Woman Student.

One of the bright Newnham college girls, though she has not come out a senior wrangler, scored a pleasing triumph over a male competitor recently. She had arranged to read with one of the tutors for a particular examination, and it chanced that a young man was in exactly the same position, and the professor naturally thinking of the convenience it would be to him to take the two together appealed to the young man. "Well, you know I do not want to be kept back. I want to make the most of my time," the man objected, but he was prevailed upon to try it for a time, and the lady willingly agreed to the proposal. At the first lesson the young man was light and easy in conversation and somewhat discursive in his remarks to the tutor. The lady said nothing. At the next meeting the lady had a mass of information which she brought forward in a systematic, businesslike way, and the man was rather left out of the game. He did not like his position of inferiority, and very soon the arrangement came to an end, but not because the lady did not keep up with the work.—Exchange.

Women as Inventors.

The list of things patented recently by women show how they are devoting their thoughts to the problem of lightening household labor. Occasionally something intended for the beautifying of womanhood creeps in, but for the most part the inventions are daily household necessities. During the last two months, for instance, Mary A. Marks of Toledo patented a washing machine; Nellie D. Waters of Kansas City, a vapor burner; Elizabeth Macintosh of Little Rock, a dough raiser; Hattie Merrill of Westphalia, Kan., a clothespin; Theresa Fischer of Baltimore, a skiver for closing female Ankle Boots; San Francisco an invalid bed, and Alva Hollander of Melles, Mass., a dustpan.

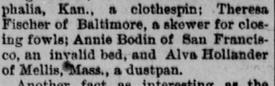

Another fact as interesting as the kind of things patented is to be noted in this connection. It is that almost all of the patentees are western women. It is said that the World's fair has proved a great incentive to inventive genius, and that the number of women inventors has increased since the exposition.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Women With Hysterical Knees.

I read somewhere the other day that this winter's new gowns will have a wadded lining, reaching a foot or more above the hem, to prevent cold or rheumatism, which is today a general complaint among my sex. Very many women are unquestionably victims to aching limbs, but now I learn the physicians call this trouble hysterical knees, or that it is an affection of the nerves centered at that joint. Certain it is that in this cold climate women do go about insufficiently protected, just as children did before their long leggings were introduced. Again and again, with shoulders weighted under furs, with heavy coat, muff, boa and veil, they will go out in a small blizzard having nothing stouter than a silk stocking guarding ankle to knee. It may be one of those pretty inconsistencies that make women so charming, but I am satisfied one thickness of flannel would rout all the hysteria in all the knees now causing the owners so much discomfort.—American Woman's Illustrated Journal.

The Female Skull.

Dr. Manouvrier, professor of the School of Anthropology in Paris, by a great number of experiments made on male and female skulls, of which 100 each were taken from the Paris catacombs, demonstrates not only that the female forehead is as capacious as man's, but that woman possesses a higher type of head. The curve of the forehead, found only in the human race, is sharper, and the parietal development is less than in man. The coronal suture in woman less oblique than in man, as that of man is less oblique than in idiots and moribund.
