Mr. Polley's Lecture Upon California Literature.

The Cotillon Proves to Be a Very Smart Affair.

The Crawford-Graves Wedding—An Electric Storm—L. O. F. Installation—Notes.

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—Mr. Frank Polley delivered the second of his lectures upon California literature before the University Extension club in the vestry of the Universalist church last evening.

A peculiar fact relative to early California history is that three of the most reliable text books upon those days have been written by lawyers who have come upon the facts in their professional work.

Beginning with the year 1833 the literature of the state takes more definite form, at which date the first press was established at Monterey, and was followed shortly by a number of newspapers.

One of the most useful writers was Starr King, through whose efforts largely, California was kept in the union during the stormy days of the rebellion.

There is very little poetry of importance on California in early times. Bret Harte has written some clever short sketches, but his works are marred by inaccuracies and injustice to the early settlers.

California has the material for a great epic poem, but it has never yet been written.

Mr. Polley devoted considerable time to the much abused Bancroft histories. These works, comprising some 40 volumes, were not compiled by Mr. Bancroft himself, who has not the ability to do the work, but were gotten up by hired agents, paying a large amount of money.

The cotillon given at Wooster hall this evening was one of the swellest society events of the season. Mrs. Spaulding and several society young gentlemen had the affair in charge and are to be congratulated upon its complete success in every respect.

Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Wotkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wotkins, Dr. and Mrs. Sherk, Mr. and Mrs. Locke, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Macomber, Mr. and Mrs. Granger, Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Martin, Misses Edith, E. Hay, Hubbard, Bolt, Church, Kellough, Pleasant, Dobbins, Florence Dobbins, Grebel, M. Grebel, Craig, Hurlbut, Greenleaf, Shoemaker, Mrs. Spaulding, Hastings, Holstead, Lutz, Shoemaker, Crank, Lowe, Craig, C. Martin, Bell, Armstrong, Leffingwell, Kellam, Perkins and Scott.

The marriage of Rev. Clark Crawford and Miss Clara A. Graves occurred at the residence of the bride's parents in North Pasadena this evening at 8 o'clock.

The shops for the sale of fuel by retail are almost as numerous as the bakeries. They are always neat, and the wood, coal and kindlings are arranged in the most artistic manner.

As cold weather approaches women try to devise means for preventing hands and lips from chapping. An excellent remedy to prevent chapping is cold cream.

Late settlers were treated to a remarkable electric display at about 12 o'clock last night which was followed later by a genuine easterly thunder and hail storm.

The following officers were installed in Pasadena Encampment No. 84, L. O. F., last evening, by G. J. P. Ford, D. D. G. of Orange Grove encampment, Los Angeles, assisted by W. O. Burr, as grand junior warden; W. T. Curt, grand high priest; O. L. Robertson, grand senior warden; S. P. Swearingen, grand scribe, and N. B. Yackey, grand treasurer; W. H. Korah, chief patriarch; J. B. McNeil, high priest; S. M. Cook, senior warden; J. B.

Black, scribe; A. G. Heiss, treasurer; Charles Ward, junior warden; S. M. McCarty, scribe; A. B. Case, guide; S. P. Swearingen, first watch; W. F. Fox, second watch.

A social hop was enjoyed at the Carlton hotel this evening.

Mr. W. N. Van Noy is back from a trip to Ventura county.

The Tuesday evening club is arranging for an unusually good programme at their next meeting.

A warrant was sworn out today by A. Lang, the druggist, charging a small boy with attempting to purchase liquor under false pretenses.

BROKE HIS MOTHER'S HEART.

Mrs. Manion Mourning for Her Wayward Son.

A Los Angeles Boy's Career With Burglars and Footpads.

Arrested in San Francisco and Charged With Several Grave Offenses—He Ran Away From Home.

In a stuffy little room in the rear of the Percell lodging house, 325 East Third street, lives a broken-hearted mother, because of her wayward son.

It's the same old story of a boy leaving home and falling into bad company. Last November Ray Manion was attending the public schools, and was exceedingly bright for his age.

The first letter the mother received from him was from Fresno, and she at once began to save every cent of money she could to go there and get him.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 2, 1895. DEAR MOTHER—I am well, and hope you are the same.

I was working at Fresno for about one month at $19 and board, and then I went to Sacramento, and now I am working for a drummer at $19 and board.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 2, 1895. DEAR MOTHER—I am well, and hope you are the same.

Manion was born in Dodge City, Kan., and is just 14 years of age. He was raised in a vineyard at Benicia, while working at the vineyard at Benicia, and they went to San Francisco together.

Manion was led astray by the three other boys, who were of much older age.

Manion was committed to a reform school, and no doubt this will be done.

THE PARIS COCHER.

A Queer and Pathetic Relic of the Gilded Days of Louis XV.

When, Theophilus, you feel that you have been run over and abused by this hard, old, wicked world and would like to be an emperor for a few minutes to get even, call to Paris, my dear boy, and call to your side one of these who are snapping lords of the pavement, and for 14 francs in shabby glory you can drive around the streets of the brilliant city and run over people like a king.

Take it all in, Theophilus, and lean back on your cushions as the women and children scatter before whip and hoofs and be sure to get your American money's worth of that delightful old mediæval feeling of being in a beautiful carriage world where pedestrians are born with the right of being knocked down and the privilege of being fined for it.

The cab is the last touching symbol of royalty in France. It is the plaintive remnant of the old French constitution, which consisted—succinctly stated—in running over people and then having them gillotined for being in the way.

The ferocity of the Dyaks of Borneo when Rajah Brooke first came was appalling. No social or religious function could take place among the tribes without bloodshed.

A skull was the first gift of a lover to his mistress and the last token of respect by which the living could honor the dead.

ARGUING THE MURDER CASE.

Feeler's Boyhood Days in the Country Recalled.

Defendant Was Not Put Upon the Stand.

Burglary, Perjury and Being Accessory After the Fact Admitted, But Not the Murder.

The testimony for the defense yesterday in the Elikan murder case was short and devoid of any great interest. It took up barely an hour and a half.

Feeler looked very much more cheerful than he has at any time during the trial. His attorneys too were very hopeful.

The things told upon the stand by the witnesses introduced by the defense were the story of the boy Feeler when he was a little fellow only 8 years of age and an orphan, which was brought by his older brother to the ranch of Mr. Irving, in Moosa cañon, where he lived until the age of 17, going to school and doing chores on the farm.
