Custom House Officers Show Too Much Zeal

CHEAP SHOWS WIN FAVOR

The Water Supply Muddle and the Council

New Matters and Gossip From the City of Bayncilmare—Personal Mention of Wandering Angelenos

SAN DIEGO, May 18.—The Dailey company played A Night Off and Confusion to practically empty houses while here this week. Not because the troupe lacked in merit or talent, for the various members really possessed exceptional ability, but for the reason that there were too many side shows going on at the same time that did not cost the critical public anything to witness. There is never any accounting for taste here, but when several hundred seemingly intelligent people flock to see a lot of stereotyped views one night, and as many more go to a second-rate lecture on Theosophy the succeeding evening, instead of enjoying two first-class comedies, simply because the former only cost a nickel, when the latter required an outlay of six bits, the natural conclusion points either to an economical state of affairs or a failure to distinguish between real and a decidedly poor imitation.

Occasionally the customs officials at this port are seized with an extra spasm of vigilance and when these attacks come on they must do something in the line of duty to warrant the belief that they are earning their salaries. By those secret and mysterious channels through which information is supposed to flow into this particular department, it was ascertained that headquarters at the steamship Peter Jensen, which recently arrived from Nanaimo with coal for the Spreckels Bros. Commercial company, had opium concealed on board. The opium was found outside the heads an entire day while the inspectors overhauled her, but as the search failed to reveal any trace of the drug, the desire to make a record had abated by the time the examination was over, and the Jensen was permitted to come inside and unload her cargo.

Water Wanted Badly

Water, pure and plenty of it, is what a majority of the people here want, but they do not know just how to go about getting it, and the city council, recently elected for that particular purpose, since it is hardly capable of doing much else but talk, does not seem disposed to be tossed by either horn of the dilemma. Last year the Mount Tecarte, San Luis Rey, Pine Valley and present time companies all made a catch-as-catch-can fight for points and places, but the old council was afraid to shoulder the responsibility of making any selection of the different systems offered, and now that the incumbents, or rather incumbences, do not evidence any more public spirit, E. S. Babcock of the Mount Tecarte system has become disgusted with the whole business and has positively refused to submit any new proposition to the city. In the meantime the people are paying $18,000 per annum for a fire supply that will not measure up $1000, and several thousands more for incidental service that nobody in the city benefits from. It is a mixed up mess that will not bear much raking over.

Notes

Considerable interest has been taken here in the question of a division of the Episcopal diocese of California. Rev. H. B. Restarick of St. Paul's parish is being warmly congratulated for the efficient work which he has been instrumental in performing, and his name has been prominently mentioned for the new bishopric. San Diego county has perfected a permanent poultry association, with S. L. Roberts of Lemon Grove president, George A. Troxell of Lemon Grove vice-president, Samuel Pettengill secretary and treasurer. The first consignment of Southern California wool, some two carloads, aggregating 6000 pounds, was shipped from here to Boston on Thursday. Southern California by right of previous promise is entitled to the national Christian Endeavor convention in 1897, and arrangements are now being made for fully 70 members from San Diego to attend the coming convention at Boston, July 10th to 15th, and to use their influence towards having this city selected as the place of the meeting. Decoration Day will be suitably observed here by the Datus, E. Coon and Heintzelman posts, G. A. R., and Warran's Relief corps. The city guard band gave a concert Wednesday evening in the band stand on the vacant lot by courtesy called a plaza. It was expected that the city council would make a suitable appropriation for the maintenance of the band during the summer months, but the members who were elected to represent the city went back on the anticipated proposition when they found that it would be necessary to reduce the rackets in order to keep the band. The action of the county supervisors in bringing suit against Riverside county for a division of Southern Pacific taxes, which occurred during 1893-94, amounting in the aggregate to over $9000, is an illustration of the back-number spirit in force in both the county and city offices. By the agreement of division, signed by both counties, there is little probability of any claims now pending, but it looks like a master stroke of good government and watchful prudence, and will catch some of the unsophisticated voters. The pension contagion has spread to San Diego, several of the public school teachers having signified to Superintendent Barley their intention to apply for future maintenance under the new act entitled a "teachers' annuity and retirement fund."

Some rather curious developments are expected when the criminal proceedings against ex-County Tax Collector H. W. Weineke, for alleged shortage in public funds, commence. The mere loss of $3148.49 will be a bagatelle compared with the annoyance of ascertaining just what property is represented by this amount. This will be bad enough, but the supervisors will have to explain why they allowed the bond of Bryant Hawardon, one of Weineke's sureties in the sum of $90,000, to remain unquestioned after it was known that his liability as bondsman was practically worthless. Now that George W. Vroman, president of the San Diego, Pacific and Eastern Railroad company, has arrived, it is confidently expected that something will be done with at least one of the many railroad schemes that are kept constantly on tap here. This railroad men's railroad, however, seems the most feasible of the propositions now before the public, and if it can be demonstrated that the railroad men of the country are back of it financially, and that they will build it, the people of San Diego will meet them with liberal support. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, who have resided here for several years, will leave for San Francisco today for an extended European tour via Panama and New York. J. C. Wilson, one of the receivers of the Santa Fe system, will leave from Topeka today with his family, and will spend the summer at Coronado.

Los Angeles has been represented in San Diego during the past few days by Dick Silver, the newspaper man, Nestor A. Young, H. T. Sanford, E. P. Kellogg, H. W. Patton, J. W. Sunderland, H. W. Augustine, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schultze, Mr. and Mrs. Harry and Will Stevens, who came down on their own, Mrs. Lyman Stewart, Mrs. Griffith, Miss S. L. Whitlock, W. S. Parker and A. E. Kinney. Captain Alex. Just, W. S. Aldridge, A. B. Hall and J. J. Riets make up the New York complement of visitors, while L. J. C. Sprance and family, Alva L. Burroughs, W. T. Scudder, R. C. Breed and E. M. Rooco are doing the honors for Chicago.

The revenue cutter Walcott has been ordered to Bering sea and will sail as soon as the repairs now under way are completed. She will be commanded by Captain M. P. Phillips, a recent arrival from the Eastport, Me., station. Captain Roath has been placed on waiting orders, and it is expected that he will be given command of the new cutter soon to be ordered to this port. Mayor Carlson, who has been a stickler for strict conformance to municipal law, was brought up with a round turn Friday by the city attorney, Doolittle, for filing his veto of an important street grading ordinance two days later than the law specifically provided.

Horned toads are in demand here, the Hawaiian consul, H. P. Wood, having received an order for 500 from the commission of agriculture and forestry of Hawaii, to be used as bug destroyers on the islands. One dollar per dozen is offered, and the small boys are staying away from school to hunt up specimens. Wedding announcements, engraved or printed, Mail orders carefully filled, Samples free. H. M. Lee & Bro, 140 N. Spring.

Your Cue

Should be right, and when right should be followed up. You're unquestionably on the right cue when bound for Desmond's store in the Bryson block, No. 141 South Spring street, in quest of bargains in the line of summer hats, shirts, neckwear, collars, cuffs, etc. You're certain to find what you want, because Desmond has what you want in every case. His stock leaves no room for doubt on this point, because it's complete, comprehensive and full of temptations. Nailing Desmond's big values is the most economical form of economy ever devised in this or any other town. Desmond's customers are on the lookout for him because he's on the lookout for them, furnishing such bargains as were never before heard of in this city.

THE Y. W. C. A. AT ST. JOHNS

A Choral Evening Song in Its Interest

RT. REV. WM. FORD NICHOLS

A Restful View of the New Woman

Every Woman Must Meet in the Right Way the Altered Condition of Society—They That Seek Shall Find

The choral evening song which was held at St. John's church yesterday afternoon in the interest of the Young Women's Christian association was very largely attended, the church being packed to the doors and a great many unable to gain admittance. The music as rendered by the choir was excellent. The rector of St. John's church, Rev. B. W. R. Taylor, sang the service, the lessons being read by the Rev. H. Judd, assistant minister of St. John's and the Rev. M. D. Wilson of Oakland. The Rt. Rev. William Ford Nichols, bishop of California, made a most able and thoughtful address to the women who are working along the lines laid down by the Young Women's Christian association. He said: "The invitation to address the Young Women's Christian association found me glad to do so, knowing as I do something of their work, art aims and work of this and kindred institutions."

The speaker said the first thought is that something new and striking will be expected in what is known as the "woman question," but his feeling was, and he believed that his audience would sympathize with him, that so much had been said brilliantly and strongly, that some other topic would be more restful. Our line of thought should be settled—namely, the coming woman is to be a Christian woman; a thinking woman, and a woman of action. She may be intelligent, but she must have a good heart, even in man, but over and above all these there will be that supreme thought which may be characterized as inspiration. The spirit of the times now flows into quiet lives in their homes and their duties. The woman, and she asks questions that never troubled two generations ago, and whether she will or no, the mother must ask and find answer to guide her life and her daughter's lives so as to meet in the right way these altered conditions of society.

CHURCH OF THE UNITY

Mlle. Isidora Martinez in Concert Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night Mlle. Isidora Martinez, the famous prima donna, will appear in the concert at the Church of the Unity, under the auspices of the Unity club. Concerning her late appearance in Denver the Denver Republican says: "Mlle. Martinez in Rossini's Bell Raggio displayed her great powers of execution, overcoming the great vocal intricacies with a wonderful ease. Her singing of the many difficult roulades and cadenzas was a revelation. One of her best efforts was Vane vane, from Roberto, in which she rose supreme to the great dramatic demand. And the Daily News says: "Mlle. Martinez charmed all by her splendid singing. She has a remarkably sweet and well trained voice which she uses with exquisite effect. She was recalled time and again. She will render the Aria from Aida and the Polacca from Mignon, in both of which she displays her phenomenal powers of execution and truthfulness of intonation. The sale of seats so far is very satisfactory."

Los Angeles Honored

Los Angeles has been complimented in the appointment a few days ago of Dr. Walter A. Lindley of this city, as the Pacific coast representative to the international prison congress to be held at Paris next month. The congress will be the most important of its kind ever held in the history of the world.

A Roland for His Oliver

Puck: Potts—Say, I believe Carder did me in that last jack pot. I said "two pair, kings up," he said, "three little deuces," threw up his cards and raked in the chips. I don't believe he had 'em. Decker—Well, why didn't you have both hands shown down? Potts (nearly)—Why, to tell you the truth, I didn't have the two pair.
