

MASCOT FOUND

But He Will Prove the Criminal's Hoodoo

HE ENGINEERED BIG DEALS

And Will Tell the Story of Many Murders

Provided That He Is Granted Immunity for His Share-Blind Clues in Indiana

Associated Press Special Wire. CHICAGO, July 31.—When Quinlan was questioned by Chief Badenoch last night he let the cat out of the bag when he said that Mascot was H. H. Holmes' confidential man in Fort Worth. Mascot is the man the police have been looking for. Just a few moments before Quinlan had stated that Allen, the man confined in the Little Rock penitentiary for horse stealing, was Holmes' confidential man. The questions were piled faster and faster and Quinlan admitted that Mascot was the man who had been close to Holmes in Chicago and was his right-hand man in Fort Worth.

"He engineered all the big deals for him," said Quinlan. "I was not good enough for the fire work."

From further questioning the police believe that Hatch, A. E. Bond, through whom Minnie Williams' property in Fort Worth was conveyed to Benton Lyon, A. C. Caldwell and Mascoe, who were in different times and places in the Holmes case, are one and the same man.

Holmes not long ago asserted that the man Hatch took the children to Toronto in company with Minnie Williams, and that if he could be found he could clear up the mystery of the case. Detectives working on the case in the west have evidence that Hatch came west after the visit to Toronto and was caught stealing horses in Kansas.

The man coded in the Little Rock jail claims to be able to give the story of Holmes' deeds from first to last, but insists that he be pardoned. He has telegraphed that Allen is the much wanted Mascot and that he has given some valuable information.

By agreement between State's Attorney Kern, Mayor Swift, Chief Badenoch and Attorney Capps, who represents the interests of the missing Minnie Williams, the latter will leave tonight for Little Rock with credentials and authority granting him power to represent the state of Illinois in requesting absolute and permanent release of Allen from jail, such immunity being granted on condition that he fasten the crime of murder on Holmes by unmistakable and existing evidence in this city. Within ten days, unless the present plans miscarry through some technicality or official disturbance, Allen will arrive in Chicago, and the Attorney Capps and the proper officials of the law. Mr. Capps last night said:

"There is no question in my mind that Allen can tell the story of the Williams girls, Mrs. Conner and her daughter, read, by Holmes, and can direct us to where the bodies of these four at least are buried. He is the grand girl and other whose disappearance and death have been charged to Holmes. I can say that I have known the confidant and associate of Holmes for a long time and will know enough of Holmes' affairs to count on his being able to tell the story of the crimes. We will prove absolutely that Holmes murdered the two Williams girls, Mrs. Conner and her daughter. We will bring Allen to Chicago and in ten days we will have the murders as they were committed, and point out the place where the bodies were disposed of after Holmes had murdered them."

The tall Texas lawyer fairly quivered with excitement as he told of his knowledge of the crookedness of Holmes and his associates. He said that he was a whisper to the crookedness of the words which might otherwise be heard by any one standing near.

Telegrams were sent last night to Governor Altgeld appraising him of the situation concerning the transfer of Allen to Chicago and the fact that he was to be delivered to the Illinois authorities.

Holmes' Hell Kitchen CHICAGO, July 31.—Miss Jennie Thompson, known as Mrs. Evelyn Stewart, is being looked for by Englewood police officers. Miss Thompson has been living on May street near sixteenth in that locality she has been known as Mrs. Stewart. The police have been informed today that she was employed by Holmes as stenographer up to a short time before he left Chicago. Her statement is wanted in regard to what she saw and heard in the castle while she worked there.

Workmen began today to saw away the cedar vat where it is said Holmes manufactured gas. The police are trying to see if there is any connection between this vat and the big tank that was uncovered Monday evening. Four men also spent the morning digging in the cellar near the southwestern corner of the building.

Experiments were made today with the liquid found in the bottles of the vat in the cellar of Holmes' house, and it was found that whenever mixed with benzine or kerosene it would emit a vapor so deadly that no one could stand in it. Whether or not Holmes used this vapor for suffocating his victims is not known, but the police are inclined to favor such a theory.

Another link in the chain binding Quinlan to the alleged crimes of Holmes was forged today by an admission by Quinlan, when questioned by Chief Badenoch. He said he was hired by a man named Allen to go to Fort Worth. At that time he was engaged, he said, he had only one day's work with Allen, and on the following day he started for Fort Worth. Quinlan had previously claimed that he had no knowledge of any crime committed by Holmes, although he had admitted that in Fort Worth he met and knew a man called Mascot. Now that Allen and Mascot are practically proved to be one and the same man, Quinlan's contradictory statements have placed him in a still worse light with the police. The police discovered today the means by which the mark of a woman's foot became printed on the inside of the vault door. While examining the oil under the microscope the expert got some of the oil on his hands, and later placed two of his fingers on an iron plate in the laboratory. In a short time afterwards he noticed the marks of his fingers were distinctly visible on the iron, and all efforts to rub it off were futile. A test of the acid oil was then made, but a liner test on this point is to be applied. This discovery will clear away a great deal of surmise on the part of the police as to the theory advanced that Holmes got a small quantity of this oil in a bowl, added petroleum, or benzine, or even common kerosene, to it, and placed it in the vault. A deadly gas would be given off immediately, and all Holmes had to do was to lure his victim into the trap and then shut the door. Death would soon result. The explanation of the footprint on the iron door is that one of his alleged victims, in her struggles, upset the bowl of oil and placed her foot in the liquid, which had run over the door, and then in her struggles placed her foot against the door, leaving the tell-tale mark.

In addition to the other tests an effort will be made tomorrow to see if the vapor given off by the liquids will burn, if the oil was a part of Holmes' gas making machine. This was not done today, as it was feared that the vapor might be highly explosive, and precautions to prevent a catastrophe were taken.

The police were today informed that at the time Holmes was first supposed to have left Chicago he did not go to any farther away than the stockyards district, where he opened a restaurant under the name of H. H. Howard. He employed a number of young women waitresses, and it is said to have had a new force nearly every day. Among them were two girls who came from Wisconsin.

A few nights after they began to work the neighborhood was started by female screams coming from the Howard restaurant. Several men ran to the building and were the first to see the girls as they ran out of the hall which led into the house. They were clad only in their night clothes and it was some minutes before they could be quieted sufficiently to tell their story. They said they had been sleeping together and had been awakened by a man who gained an entrance to their room and had placed a white cloth over their faces. They thought the cloth had been saturated with chloroform. Neighbors took the two girls in and the police had an opportunity of arresting Howard no disappeared.

Harry Walker of Greensburg, Ind., is now believed by his friends to have been a victim of Holmes.

Walker, it is said, was induced by Holmes to have his life insured for $10,000 in Holmes' favor. He came to Chicago and in November, 1893, wrote to friends that he was at work for Holmes. Suddenly his letters ceased, but search revealed no trace of him in Chicago.

The Williams sisters were today traced by detectives through several boarding houses until they were found in a street they lived with Mrs. Moss, 631 Sixty-fifth street. This Mrs. Moss denies and said her boarder was Miss Gignard, who is said to have been in Chicago in December, 1893. Letter Carrier Mott says he delivered Minnie Williams' mail to her. The letter carrier is said to have been a friend of Minnie Williams and the police will interview him.

What Allen Has to Say LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31.—Convict Allen persists in his assertion that Minnie Williams was alive six months ago, and of the belief that she is now. He did not meet Holmes in Arkansas, and his connection with him was confined to Fort Worth, Texas. He never wrote any letters to Holmes, and he claims that the detectives from Chicago will get nothing for their trouble unless they are able to secure his release from the penitentiary.

Allen undoubtedly knows all about Holmes' operations in Texas, but he knows the whereabouts of Minnie Williams, and he has anything to do with her disappearance is considered extremely doubtful here.

When asked if he would parol convict Allen under conditions of his own, Governor Clark said the conditions would have to be presented and taken up in legal form before he could return an answer. The chief executive of Arkansas would undoubtedly do anything reasonable to assist in clearing up the mystery surrounding Holmes, but he would have to be satisfied that Allen's story was not made for the purpose of securing a pardon before he would grant even a parole.

When seen today by an Associated Press reporter Allen said: "My real name is Caldwell, but I have passed under the aliases of Allen and Mascoe and was known as Fort Worth Mascot." "I can unravel the Fort Worth swindle," said he. "If I am paid for it, and I will be, I will show you the bodies of the murdered. I heard from her a few months ago, and she is afraid to come to this country."

MINNIE SEEGAR'S SUICIDE

A Bill Counterfeiting Outfit Found at Stockton

Suit Commenced at Fresno to Dissolve the Sunset Irrigation District on the Ground of Fraud

Associated Press Special Wire. SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—Mrs. James McKee wants the courts to force the Los Angeles Electric Railway company to pay her $17,000. This woman she claims is due for the services of her husband, now deceased, as trustee for the company, and for arranging the consolidation of the Los Angeles Cable Railway company with the Los Angeles Consolidated Electric company. Mrs. McKee claims that her husband was sent to Chicago to arrange details and that he was to receive $10,000 for this service. His work in arranging the issue of the new bonds was, she says, worth $10,000 more, making $20,000 due her in all, and yet her husband had been the sole recompen-

The property of the Los Angeles Consolidated Railway company is now being advertised for sale at the demand of the bondholders, whose interest was not paid. Mrs. McKee thinks her claims should be satisfied before the proceeds of the sale are distributed among the bondholders and will so ask.

THE STANFORD CASE Preparing for a Reversal of U. S. Circuit Judge Ross' Decision SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The record in the case of the United States against Mrs. Jane L. Stanford was today filed in the United States court of appeals, where the government's special attorney, L. D. McKissick, hopes to secure a reversal of the decision recently rendered by Judge Ross.

"On next Monday I will appear before the court of appeals and endeavor to have a special day set aside for hearing the case," said Mr. McKissick. "The same arguments made in the lower court will be made again, and about the same length of time will be required. The case will probably be set for some day in the early part of September, but that must be determined by the court."

"It will require some time for both sides to prepare for the hearing and have the briefs printed. The brief to be filed by the United States will be ready in about two weeks."

Zimmerman is Dead WOODLAND, July 31.—Zimmerman, the man shot by Barber Pink last night, died this afternoon from the effects of his wounds.

WHERE IS COOK? A Prominent S. P. Employee Unaccountably Drops Out of Sight SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—James D. Cook, who for many years has occupied a prominent position in the office of the general passenger and ticket agent of the Southern Pacific company, has disappeared, and General Passenger Agent T. H. Goodman and those immediately under him are very much concerned as to his whereabouts. Cook has not been seen by any of the attaches of the passenger department since last Monday, when he left the general passenger office at the conclusion of his day's labors. Careful inquiry has been made for him ever since, but the only information obtainable is to the effect that Cook was seen at Sacramento on Tuesday of last week and later on in Ogden. Cook handled all the money of the general passenger department. The railroad officials say his accounts are all right, and are at a loss to account for his disappearance.

Cook has always stood high in the estimation of Goodman and the assistant general passenger agents, and has been regarded as a capable and honest employee. So much confidence was reposed in him that at the time of the Half Million club's excursion to the Los Angeles Fiesta, Cook was selected from the office force to go along with the excursion as a representative and escort of that department. During the trip he handled a great deal of the company's money, but, so Goodman says, his accounts were settled up immediately upon his return, and he accounted for all money handled during the trip.

From what can be learned Cook has not left the city with the expectation of returning in a hurry, for he has carried with him from his late residence two grips and all his personal effects. He is an unmarried man and has been living with his brother and sisters.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., July 31.—News reaches here tonight of a fearful flood at Socorro, N.M., seventy-five miles south of here on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. The destruction of life and property at that point has been something frightful.

For several weeks there have been very heavy and frequent rains all through New Mexico, and this week the elements have been at their worst, doing great damage to railroad and private property. It is without doubt the greatest flood in the history of the territory.

Only the most meager information has been received as to the extent of the trouble at Socorro, but it is known that fifty houses have been destroyed. The bodies of six Mexicans who were drowned have already been recovered, and it is believed that a large number of others have also perished. How many cannot be accurately ascertained until the water recedes, of which there is little probability tonight.

Arrested for Embezzlement Frank Von Kulkow was arrested last night by Deputy Constable de la Monte and Deputy Constable Shaw of Fresno, on a warrant charging him with embezzlement. Von Kulkow was wanted in Fresno for horse stealing, but escaped and came to Los Angeles. He was located by Constable de la Monte in a house on Aliso street, near the river, where he was living with a tall, thin woman. The officers watched and caught him last night as he was entering the house. He will be taken north today.

ALL ON ACCOUNT OF A. P. A.

A Clash Between Rival Institutions Hourly Expected

POLICE ANARCHY AT OMAHA

A Collision Between the Forces Must Soon Happen

Commissioners Appointed by the Governor Refuse to Step Out in Favor of Legislative Appointees

Associated Press Special Wire. OMAHA, Neb., July 31.—The situation in Omaha over the effort of the A. P. A. to get control of the police force is hourly becoming more serious. Two police forces will be doing business in the city within twenty-four hours—the present force, having authority from the present police commission, and a new force, under authority of a police board to be appointed some time tonight under alleged authority of a new law passed by the last legislature, in effect at midnight.

A collision is imminent. The A. P. A. has organized and armed a police force to go over the state by the A. P. A. A. combining to feel the pulse of the state militia and find out if they would set in case they were called out by the governor to suppress trouble in Omaha, returned tonight. He reports that the soldiers did not give him much encouragement, as they will neither resign nor refuse to fight if ordered into the field by the executive. His mission was to get resignations to be presented only in the event of a call to arms.

Church Howe says that Tom Majors has tendered his services to the A. P. A. to take command of the A. P. A. forces in Omaha on Thursday. Not to be behind his friend Majors, Howe has volunteered to assist Adjutant General Barry.

The present police commission has given out their ultimatum on the situation as follows: "Believing the law passed by the last legislature depriving us of the offices to which we have been duly appointed by the governor, who under the constitution is alone clothed with executive functions, and believing furthermore that the act by which the present board is proposed to be organized is null and void, we deem it our duty to continue in the discharge of the functions vested in us by the charter under which the city of Omaha is governed."

A Young Girl Prefers Death to Explanation, and Suicides

TEHACHEPI, July 31.—Minnie Seegar, the 14-year-old daughter of a prominent rancher of this section, committed suicide tonight by taking poison.

In a farewell letter to her parents she gave as a reason for her self-destruction the fact that a letter she had written to a ranch hand in the vicinity of her home had been intercepted, and its contents would compromise her, and she preferred death to the necessity of an explanation.

Spring After a Gang SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The announcement of the intention of Edward S. Spring to sue D. B. Lyman, superintendent of the Consolidated California and Virginia mine, for an accounting of his stewardship and an explanation of his trafficking in the stock of the mine, has created a sensation among the mining men and speculators here. The suit will be commenced in the United States circuit court of Nevada. Spring says he does not want damages but he wants to have the property properly cared for, $2500 had been the price of the mine when broken. Spring charges that Lyman has conducted operations and made reports to influence the stock market in Spring, who owns 100,000 shares of the stock and controls about 40,000 shares, says that there is enough ore in sight to pay dividends, and that it is well known that the affairs of the mine are in better condition than they have been reported.

Big Reward Offered SACRAMENTO, July 31.—Wells, Fargo & Co. have concluded to offer a reward of $12,500 for the return to them of the $53,000 which Brady and Browning obtained in the hold-up of the overland train at Sheep Camp crossing in October last. The unsuccessful search for the sacks of gold, which Brady in his confession says were hidden in the brush about a mile from Washington, prompted the company to offer the reward.

THE TRIAL OF T. DURRANT

Only Four Jurors Have as Yet Been Secured

A MORAL WANTON'S ACTIONS

She Tried to Embrace the Repulsive Looking Prisoner

The Chase for the Elusive Woman Who Knew Durrant's Methods at the Church Remains Futile

Associated Press Special Wire. SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—Two additional jurors were secured today by Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont. Then the third party of seventy-five names having been exhausted, an order was issued for a venire of 150 new names. The additional jurors secured today are M. R. Dempster, a commission merchant, and N. Crocker, contractor. Four jurors in all have so far been secured. Counsel both for the prosecution and defense are pleased at the character of the men thus far chosen to try the case. Instead of being driven as heretofore from the county jail to the city hall in the sheriff's private buggy, Durrant was today conveyed in the ordinary prison van with less notable prisoners. He still continues to be the subject of much hero worship. As he was leaving the court room a well-dressed and handsome woman rushed toward him with endearing words and attempted to embrace him. The sheriff protected Durrant from this attempt, and also endeavored to deliver the quantities of flowers sent to his cell by strangers.

The prosecution does not believe the deposition of Charles H. Clarke, the traveling salesman now in Boston, will aid Durrant much. Should he return to testify he will be arrested, it is said, at the instance of former employers here for frauds. The police are considering the advisability of trying to extradite Clarke and bring him back here so that he can be cross-examined.

The chase for the woman who, it is alleged, was inveigled into Emanuel church by Durrant and to whom he subsequently appeared nude, still continues. The story is to the effect that Durrant met the lady under an arrangement to take her to a party or social gathering. The two met in accordance with the agreement, and as they approached the church Durrant suddenly thought of the books he needed at the meeting. He induced his companion to enter the church with him, and left her in a side room while he disappeared into the library.

When the story goes, he returned minus his clothes. The lady, though half fainting from fright, kept her presence of mind, and by a stratagem escaped without her hat and gloves. These articles he handed out of one of the front windows to her with a threat of death if she should say a word about the affair.

This story is anonymous, and no one has come forth to substantiate it. The utmost efforts of the police have failed to show that there is a particle of truth in the accusation. Men and women are found in abundance who say they have heard other people say it was true, but when pressure is brought to bear the fabric collapses. Captain Lee, however, still believes that the rumor has foundation in fact.

TO FOIL TRAIN ROBBERS A New Way for Casting Precious Metal Bricks SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The frequency of the successful train robbing has changed the system of casting bricks long in vogue at minting assays offices throughout the west and the government will soon follow the example set.

Speaking of the matter today, Colonel John S. Peck, former mayor of Silver Bow, but now of Butte, Mont., said: "Assay offices at Helena are now receiving large amounts of gold from the northern mines and it nearly all comes in bricks a foot long, six inches wide and three inches deep. I recently saw a bar that weighed nearly 150 pounds, being worth over $30,000. The bullion is now cast that way to prevent loss in train robberies. It would be almost impossible for road agents to hide or suddenly carry away a giant bar like that."
