A GREAT DOLLAR COURSE

The Young Men's Christian Association's Series of Entertainments

The Young Men's Christian association is at the back of a movement for a series of high class, popular entertainments that ought to succeed, and which will doubtless attract widespread attention.

The members have arranged for a course of six entertainments, by noted eastern talent. The course will continue through the next five months and will consist of six attractions as follows:

The artist trio, consisting of Miss Bowen, whistling soloist; Miss Cornelia May, reader and pianist; and Miss Julia Phelps, harpist, for the opening concert, which will occur on Monday, November 12. Captain Jack Crawford, the post scout; Benjamin C. Chapin, impersonator and dramatic interpreter; the Aramont Concert company; the Brook-Macy combination of Fred Emerson, the California port-musician, who has drawn immense houses through the east; J. Williams Macy of New York, and last but not least, S. M. Spedon, the celebrated cartoonist, who is a sort of platform edition of Puck and Judge. This excellent series has been booked in about fifty eastern cities west of the Mississippi river.

For the purpose of bringing the course here, the association has formed a guarantee committee to back the enterprise. The association, Robert Hale, Pointexter & Wadsworth, Lyman Stewart, Chas. A. Baskerville, E. P. Johnson, Geo. A. Montgomery, E. T. Price, W. O. Patterson, H. B. Ellis, R. E. Riddon, J. W. Kemp, I. C. Guy, W. E. McVey, R. F. Skellenger, Geo. I. Cochran, H. J. Farnham, D. Ball, Tom Barnes, A. Brookman, M. P. Snyder, S. S. Ballou, Wm. C. Allen, R. G. Lunt, F. J. Cressey, A. E. Pomeroy, W. O. Brown, W. A. Colwell, F. L. Fuller, A. P. Chipman, W. L. Applegate, J. B. Brown, J. M. C. Marble, Z. L. Parmelee.

At the extremely low price of $1 for the entire course, the patronage should be very large and must be so in order to defray the expenses of the undertaking. The enterprise is worthy of the heartiest support.

THE TARIFF, SAYS MANLEY

The National Committeeman Explains the Upheaval

The Ohio Election, Said the Gentleman, Was the One by Which to Gauge Public Sentiment

"It was the tariff and nothing else but discontent over the operation of the Wilson tariff bill that caused the avalanche in Ohio and the east yesterday." So spoke the Republican eage from Maine, Hon. Joseph H. Manley of Augusta. Mr. Manley was seen last evening at the Westminister. He had just returned from Pasadena, where in company with his wife and daughter he had spent the day.

He had eaten a good dinner, lighted a good cigar and seated himself in an easy chair. He was happy and contented and there was nothing on his mind—not even calculation as to how many delegates in the west and south he was going to secure for Thomas B. Reed for president before he returned to the Pine Tree state.

"Yes, you couldn't look for anything else," said Mr. Manley. "The cool interest to stay with us from now on is largely a straight fight in Ohio on national issues and by the result in the Ohio election we may return to the management of the country today. I was surprised to see a republican avalanche. We have gained two United States senators and this may prove of vital importance."

"But say, let's don't talk politics. I am so tired of that subject. To get down to business, you have the finest climate out here that there is on earth. This country down here is truly the Italy of America. I wish I could stay here the rest of my days."

"But Mr. Manley can't do that. If he did stay here Tom Reed would have no chance for his presidential canvass. This is a hard position to fill, but Mr. Manley covers it with great ability. Today he leaves for New Orleans. He will remain there several days collecting and collating Reed notes. Then he will go to Atlanta where all the South is taking in the exposition. From there he will go to his home at Augusta, Maine."

Fire a Volley
Do you like Boiled Heights? It is one of the neatest parts of this town. We have a nice four-room cottage over there near the car line for $130, $50 down and the balance at the rate of $15 a month. This is a bargain at that price and more than that on those terms. Don't put off looking this up, as such chances don't last long. Langworthy Co., 226 South Spring.

At the First Christian Church
After an inspiring and helpful prayer meeting and an enthusiastic song service conducted by that stirring leader of song, Mr. R. H. Jeffrey, Evangelist Romit yesterday preached a powerful sermon at the First Christian church. The evangelist is a man of mature life, has a strong voice and often savors of the tragic in his delivery. He makes much of prayer and on those terms. Don't put off looking this up, as such chances don't last long. Langworthy Co., 226 South Spring.

Dr. Constantine Joe Murgomi had an experience last Saturday night with a highwayman. The officer had just crossed the Macy street bridge when a man sprang out and ordered him to get out of the wagon and hand over the cash. He stepped down and then kicked the man and knocked him out. The officer put the handcuffs on the highwayman and took him to a conveyer in jail where he gave the name of Dossias Banetas.

A while delivering some packages on North Broadway last evening Lewis Moore, an expressman, fell into a cellar and cut his head in several places. He was taken to the receiving hospital.

SAN FRANCISCO SURE TO WIN

That Is the Way Joe Manley Looks at It

HE TALKS ENCOURAGINGLY

Now that He Has Seen Southern California He is Enthusiastic

A San Diego Man writes a Letter that Secures One Vote on the National Committee for the West

"My judgment is that San Francisco will secure the Republican national convention." This is what Joe Manley says, and he is no secretary of the Republican National committee and ought to know what he is talking about. Really the gentleman should be addressed as the Hon. Joseph H. Manley of Maine, for he has for years been one of the foremost figures in Republican national politics. But through the east they all talk about "Joe" Manley. No one ever thinks of referring to him by any other name.

"Yes, now that I have seen Southern California, I am more firmly convinced than ever that San Francisco should be selected as the convention town," said Mr. Manley.

"But let me tell you one thing. You let the people of the Rockies pick out the disadvantage that San Francisco would labor under as the meeting place for the convention. Enough of them will be found by eastern people without your own people here on the Pacific enumerating them."

"Why, this talk about the telegraph facilities at San Francisco being inadequate is being unnecessary, I enlarged on. The fruit of the matter is that the telegraph facilities of the Golden Gate City are ample to send out full and adequate reports of the convention to all parts of the world. Only those who are opposed to San Francisco are pieces of meeting for the convention are bringing up that question."

"You see it is this way. The national committee will meet in Washington just one month from today, at 2 p. m., to select the date and place for holding the convention. At the evening session the facilities of the Golden Gate City are ample to send out full and adequate reports of the convention to all parts of the world. Only those who are opposed to San Francisco are pieces of meeting for the convention are bringing up that question."

"I honestly think and sincerely hope that San Francisco will get the convention. It would be a deserved recognition of the great and growing west."

The Hon. N. Oakes Murphy, delegate in congress for the territory of Arizona, was in the city yesterday. He is from Lome at Phoenix. Mr. Murphy has been east. As he is greatly interested in having the national convention held in San Francisco, he met into the subject of a little while knocking around in the big cities of the other side of the Mississippi.

"Yes, I talked to a number of prominent Republicans on the subject," said Mr. Murphy, "and they all seem very favorably inclined toward San Francisco. Many said that they would like to throw the convention to be held in the Pacific coast. Our national committeeman from Arizona, Mr. Griffith, is going to do some tall building for San Francisco, and he will support the convention here, which seems quite certain at this time, it will be a great thing for us all."

San Diego has also lived up on the proposition and her citizens have entered the lists to assist San Francisco all in their power. Jim S. Callen, James Copeland and Charles Taylor were in the city yesterday from the city of Bay's climate. They say that every San Diegoan will pitch in and help in every way possible.

"I have written the Hon. Cyrus Leland of Troy, Kan.," said Mr. Callen last evening. "He is the member of the Republican national committee from the Jayhawk state. I am in a very acquainted with him, and requested him as a favor to vote for San Francisco. He has written me that he will do so, for he is a broad-gauged, liberal minded man and saw at once that San Francisco had a good claim. Several of our citizens have also written to political friends of theirs in the east in an endeavor to interest them in San Francisco's fight. This letter writing can do no harm and may yet get us just the vote we need to throw the convention to San Francisco." Mr. Callen is one of the foremost members of the San Diego bar and is rated as one of the most eloquent speakers in Southern California.

Here in Los Angeles San Francisco's fight has not abated. The permanent committee has not yet decided the matter has not been decided. The chairman has forwarded several letters to prominent eastern Republicans that were sent in by citizens. These letters were addressed to such men as Chairman Turner of the ILLINOIS Republican state central committee, and to Hon. John C. New at Indianapolis. They were sent by personal friends and request the gentlemen to help out San Francisco.

The committee will hold a meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the parlors of the Hollenbeck hotel. The meeting will be quite an important one and every member has expressed his intention to be present. The committee is composed as follows: H. Z. Osborne, General John R. Matthews, John F. Francis, M. F. Rader, C. E. Day and W. S. Yates.

WEATHER SIGNAL FLAGS

Interpretation of the Government Weather Bureau's Displays
"A Reader"—everyone knows him—writes The Herald asking the "meaning of the weather flags." For the information of the correspondent and others who, like him, are interested, the following information is given:

Five flags are used in meteorological signaling, the first one being an all-white square, and indicates fair weather. The second one is a square, blue in color, and it indicates rain or snow. The third flag is a square, the top half being white and the lower half blue, and it indicates local rain. The fourth flag in shape is a triangle and blue in color; it relates to temperature only and its position above or below either of the others tells whether it is to be warmer or whether it is to be colder. The fifth flag consists of a white square, with a smaller black square upon it. This indicates a cold wave.

A number of combinations of the five flags may be made and with the shape, colors and numbers as above given fixed in one's mind the following interpretation of flag displays—and these include all the predictions made by the government weather bureau—will be readily understood:

No. 1 alone indicates fair weather, stationary temperature. No. 2 alone, indicates rain or snow, stationary temperature. No. 3 alone, indicates local rain, stationary temperature. No. 1 with No. 4 above it, indicates fair weather, warmer. No. 1 with No. 4 below it, indicates fair weather, cooler. No. 2 with No. 4 above it, indicates warmer weather with rain or snow. No. 2 with No. 4 below it, indicates colder weather with rain or snow. No. 3 with No. 4 above it, indicates warmer weather with local rain. No. 3 with No. 4 below it, indicates colder weather with local rain. No. 1 with No. 5 below it, indicates fair weather, cold wave. No. 2 with No. 5 below it, indicates cold wave, weather, cold wave.

EVANGELIST ROMIG

He Recently Denounced Popular Sins and Vices
Another large audience greeted Evangelist Romig last night at the First Christian church. After an enthusiastic song service, conducted by Mr. Jeffrey, the evangelist preached upon Weighed and Found Wanting. In dealing with the lessons from the historic events, giving rise to these words, the speaker set forth the truth that God visits his penalties upon the sinner, more promptly than we are aware of. He was earnestly prompting them and the act of sin itself. Every man is being weighed and will be rewarded according to his character. Mr. Romig is very severe in his denunciation of popular sins and vices, and tonight will discuss "The Social Evil." This discourse will be well worth hearing.

LANCASTER WILL GROW

The People Desire a Flour Mill and Subscribe Stock
Lancaster, the trading center of Antelope valley, is anxious to secure the location of a flour mill and a number of the citizens of the valley have expressed a desire to subscribe to stock in a mill if the man can be found who will locate there who understands the business. Antelope valley grows much wheat and could liberally support a mill.
