MR. MANTLE'S WINDING SPEECH

Takes Exception to Cleveland's Missionary Address

BIMETALLISM, PROTECTION

Sounded as the Watchwords of the Silver-Producing West

Tariff Discussion Follows, With Particular Attention to Free Wool

The Feature of the Day's Debate in the House the Speech of Fitzgerald of Massachusetts, Who Takes Up Cudgels Against the A. P. A.

Associated Press Special Wire

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The senate chaplain, Dr. Milburn, referred feelingly in his prayer today to the illness of the senators in Indiana and Alabama—Voorhees and Morgan.

Mantle of Montana was recognized for a speech on the resolution recommending the tariff bill to the finance committee.

Mantle said the attacks sprang mainly from the fact that five Republican senators from the west voted against proceeding with the tariff bill at an inopportune time.

The five Republican senators were denounced as "traitors" for failing to vote for the tariff bill.

Mr. Mantle denied that the Dingley bill was a Republican measure and he quoted the statement of Mr. Sherman that the bill was strictly non-partisan.

Mr. Mantle suggested that the efforts to read him and his silver associates out of the Republican party had better be reconsidered by the eastern states.

The senator declared himself in favor of protection, but not of any special interest or monopoly.

Mr. Mantle was congratulated at the close of his speech by the silver senators from both sides of the chamber.

There was a lively tariff colloquy following the Mantle speech.

Mr. Hoar's remarks on the remarks of Mr. Mantle implied that eastern manufacturers were willing to leave western wool in the lurch after getting protection for their own manufactures.

Mr. Mills rejoined that every particle of wool manufactured was made by American labor.

free wool bill and the people discounted the Democratic party.

After this flurry had subsided, Mr. Butler of Montana, said the proposed change from contract to government schools was being accomplished so precipitately that thousands of Indian children would be left without schools.

When the proviso in relation to Indian schools was reached, Mr. Carter, Republican of Montana, said the proposed change from contract to government schools was being accomplished so precipitately that thousands of Indian children would be left without schools.

The bill was laid aside until tomorrow.

The two Nebraska senators, Messrs. Allen and Thurston, sought to pass the bill for a trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha, but an objection from Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire read a letter from the general secretary of the Armenian Relief association.

It referred to the extreme urgency of the situation in Turkey, asking that steps be taken to stop the most appalling sacrifice in the history of the world.

RUSSO-TURKISH TREATY

Explains the Expulsion of Missionary Knapp

A STEP TOWARD A CLEAN SWEEP

Protestant and Catholic Missionaries to Be Removed

TURKEY TO BE RUSSIANIZED

And Priests of the Russian Church Given Free Swing

The Czar Has Obtained a Virtual Protectorate Over Armenia

The Step Being Decided Upon, a Protest Was Sent to the Czar and Found for Getting Rid of Protestant and Catholic Missionaries and the Red Cross Workers

Associated Press Special Wire. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 8, via Sofia, Bulgaria, April 9.—It now appears, according to a semi-official statement, that the Turkish government bases its action expelling or allowing the expulsion of the missionaries of the Russian church on an understanding reached between the porte and the United States Minister Terrill. It is said that it was agreed between the government and Terrill that Knapp should leave Bitlis April 11, and as the missionary took no steps to depart, he has been expelled.

There are several reasons given for this movement, but the affair may be summed up in the statement that there is no doubt that Russia and Turkey are alarmed at the effect to be made by the missionaries in Armenia and elsewhere and that it has practically been decided that they are to be expelled under some pretext or other.

It is believed to be the basis of the understanding of secret treaty arrived at between Russia and Turkey, which gives the powers that have assembled in the bay of Saionica and the question of coercing Turkey by a display of naval strength before Constantinople had been decided upon.

Russia, it is now asserted, cleverly took advantage of the desperation of the Porte to obtain a virtual protectorate over Armenia. But such a step open to the world, in all probability, have led to serious trouble, therefore, it was decided to begin the Russianizing of Asiatic Turkey by getting rid of the Protestant and Catholic missionaries, and to substitute for them the missionaries of the Russian church.

Finally it was decided to begin with the Rev. Knapp, who has probably been the most conspicuous of the Protestant workers in the cause of Christianity in Asiatic Turkey, and he
