NEXT SATURDAY'S SPORTS

Numerous Athletic Attractions for the Fourth

THE GREAT ROAD RACE

Followed at Santa Monica by the Citrus Wheelmen's Meet

Amateur and Professional Cracks Will Compete—Field Day at Athletic Park—Tennis Games at Agricultural Park

The Fourth of July is to be celebrated by the muscular and athletic generation in gala fashion, in fact there will be such an embarrassment of riches on Saturday that it will be somewhat difficult for the lovers of good games and the whirl of the wheel to make a selection. The great event of the day, however, will be the annual Santa Monica road race in the morning, and the Citrus wheelmen have grasped the opportunity of providing what promises to be excellent sport on the Southern Pacific track in the afternoon.

The great road race will be started by H. C. P. Smith from the corner of Sixth and San Pedro streets, and riders must report at 8:15. The finish will be in front of the Citrus wheelmen's headquarters at 323 Utah avenue, Santa Monica. The complete list of entries and handicaps was published in Tuesday's issue of the Herald. The entries are four short of a hundred.

ROAD RACE PRIZES.

Those people who complain of the unfairness of the handicapping have no idea of the amount of work required to do this task and of the vast knowledge it would require for a handicapper to know the exact value of every rider's ability. Ample opportunity was given every one on Monday evening to object to the handicaps, but only about one-third of the riders were on hand, and from these there is nothing but good remarks about the fairness of the handicaps given.

THE CITRUS WHEELMEN
The competitors in the road race will have plenty of time to rest and refresh before the first event of the Citrus wheelmen's meeting. The program includes the following events: Amateur one mile open, one mile handicap, five mile handicap, coasting races; professional, one mile open, three mile handicap. Among the professionals who have entered are W. W. Hatton and Herb McCrea, the cracks who have lately returned from the national circuit. W. A. Taylor, G. Schmidt and C. Miller. The amateurs will be well represented, some of the best known competitors being F. A. Bell, F. G. Lacey, Phil Kitchen, Emil Ulbricht,

A. D. Tompkins and Howard Squires of Redlands.

AT ATHLETIC PARK
The long list of events at Athletic park for the field day, which is being managed by Kathel Kerr, should attract numerous entries. A large number of prizes are to be offered. The following will be the order of events:
Throwing 12-pound hammer, open, running high jump; 100-yard race, boys under 14; running broad jump; 100-yard race, first heat; climbing greasy pole, open; pole vault; potato race, open; 100-yard race, second heat; 100-yard run, old men over 50, open; one mile run; 100-yard race, finals; running hop step and jump; quarter mile race.
The games will commence at 2:30, and entries for open events can be made on the grounds.

MEXICAN GAMES
A novel and interesting program of Mexican games will no doubt draw many to Agricultural park. There is to be a kidnapping by Indians, rescue by Mexicans, and other thrilling feats of horsemanship and athletic prowess.

AT RIVERSIDE
The Riverside Wheelmen will assist their fellow-citizens to make the glorious Fourth a memorable day. They will hold their annual road race over the Magnolia avenue course at 8:30, and no less than fifty entries are already announced. At 1:30 they will participate in a grand wheelmen's parade in which 300 bicyclists are expected to be in line. There will be both track events at the Athletic park and "street sports" during the afternoon. A number of good races will also be in progress at Redlands, and other points.

THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Interesting Commencement Exercises Held Yesterday Morning

Assembly Hall Crowded With Relatives and Friends—Principal Pierce Presents Sixty-one Diplomats

Perhaps of the many school exercises and commencements that have been before the public in the past month, none attracted a larger crowd than commencement day at the state normal school. The great assembly hall, the seating capacity of which is 1100, was taxed to its utmost yesterday morning with admiring friends and relatives of the class of '96. Every seat was taken, many being obliged to stand.

To the strains of Volunteer March, from Black Hussar, rendered by the school orchestra, the graduating class, sixty-one in number, filed into the hall and took their places on the platform, which was literally banked in front with floral offerings, and in the rear of the wall were crossed American flags. Principal Pierce, Professor Dozier, President Pomroy and Rev. J. A. B. Wilson occupied the stage. Prayer by Rev. Wilson opened the exercises, after which followed music and essays, the latter showing much thought and care in their preparation, and gave assured evidence of the high standard of intelligence of the pupils, and that the graduates of '96 will be competent instructors for the children who may fall to their care.

The first essay, "The Aim of Modern Education," was read by Miss Eva M. Johnson. She drew very concisely the lines between the old and new methods, the present embodying all—the mental, moral and physical.

Eleanor J. Stanley took for her text the Value of Esthetic Training. Music and art, the true avenues of culture, being the uplifting elements of one's nature, should be cultivated. The speaker urged the developing of these arts.

Elmo W. Reavis chose for the title of his essay "The Importance of the Teacher's Influence over the Child, and the Judicious Training that should be exercised." Nature's Study in the Primary was handled in a most intelligent and comprehensive manner by Mary J. Clarke. She held to the importance of the child imbibing intellectually through nature the lessons that nature teaches. A close knowledge of flowers, birds and all animals was urged.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR
An Enjoyable Smoker Given by Los Angeles Lodge

Los Angeles Lodge, Knights of Honor, gave an enjoyable "smoker" at their hall in the Odd Fellows' building on South Main street last evening. There was a large attendance of members of the order and invited guests, and the evening was very pleasantly spent in conversation, cards, etc. There were plenty of pipes and tobacco, with lemonade and claret punch and a novel and varied program, but no long talks. The committee in charge was composed of Messrs. Voigt, Wade and Parris, and they made ideal hosts. A. H. Voigt presided as master of ceremonies. The following program was given during the evening:

Piano solo, Brother J. C. Platt; What Is the K. of H., remarks by Brother R. D. Wade; vocal solo, Mr. W. L. Bell; selection, recitation, Mr. Tom Barnes; selection, harp and harmonica, Mr. H. D. Sullivan. The Business Features of the K. of H., remarks by Brother H. C. Auscual solo, Brother W. W. Parris; The Fraternal Features of the K. of H., remarks by Brother N. P. Conroy; selection, bajo and harmonica, Mr. H. D. Sullivan; selection, recitation, Mr. Tom Barnes; vocal solo, Mr. W. L. Bell; closing remarks, Brother A. H. Voigt; good night, Brother J. C. Platt.

Parlor Suffrage Meeting
In response to Mrs. R. M. Widney's invitation, a group of women met at her parlors yesterday afternoon to hear Mrs. Margaret Colver Graham discuss the proposed amendment. This gathering like many of the parlor meetings, was largely composed of those who are not avowed suffragists and even avowedly opposed to the measure, and hence the interest manifested was much greater than in the ordinary meetings. Mrs. Graham's paper was calm, fair and most strong in its statement of the arguments which had convinced her that the welfare of the family, community and nation demands the ballot for women as well as all common sense considerations.

The discussion was participated in by Mrs. Widney, Mrs. Maynard and Mrs. Ludlum. An animated social conversation followed. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Graham for her kindness in presenting the subjects so ably and frankly.

DISPLAYS AT THE CHAMBER
The New Month Opens With a Lot of New Exhibits at the chamber of commerce.

C. E. Smith of Downey heads the list with a plate of fine apricots. John Bartlett of Downey sends a bunch of Italian rye grass.

B. M. Blythe of Downey sends in a lot of fine apricots. Downey, one of the oldest colonies in the section, is to the fore today.

Carl Rosecrans sends from the Rosecrans ranch bunches of walnuts and pears on the branch.

The Eastern market sends a lot of nice strawberry peaches.

R. G. Doyle of Glendale sends specimens of the peach apricot and the first water melons of the season; also the first grapes from near Los Angeles.

T. Gibbs of Vernon sends samples of the Alexander peach; also plums and mulberries.

E. Knoch of the city sends three snake cucumbers. To one who has never seen this lusus naturae, the effect is startling. This vegetable grows to two or three feet in length. The blossom and as the gourd grows becomes quite thick, while the standard is slender, terminating in a piece of the stem, by which it is fastened to the vine and doubled into the snake-like sinuities with the pale green skins corrugated or fluted in a marked manner. The counterfeited presentment of a viper is nearly perfect.

To one who knows Mr. Knoch as a leader among prohibitionists, the sight of these satanic vegetables from his garden is the more remarkable. Perhaps served with rattlesnake sauce on the side it might. But if a devotee of Bacchus were to encounter a garden of them he would exclaim, "I have seen the face of his intellect, surely he would think 'he had them bad.'"
