Can You Answer These?
The Herald borrows from the New York Sun the following problem, and cordially invites its readers to struggle with it.
"What will ten yards of silk cost at $1.00 per yard?"

A man went into the L. & N. ticket office and wanted a ticket to Mascoutah, Ill. He was told that it would cost him $1.
"But I have only 75 cents," he replied.
"Well," replied the obtuse agent, "you can't get a ticket for that amount on this side of the river. You can, however, if you go over to East St. Louis."
"I can't do that," he answered.
"He turned around and sat down on the settee for a moment. Then he arose with a smile and said that he would come back soon and get the ticket. He left, and returned in about half an hour.
"Here," he said to Charley Jones, "is a pawnbroker's ticket for 75 cents. Will you give me 50 cents for it?"
"Mr. Jones thought a moment and remembering that he didn't have anything else to refer him to W. G. Martin, Mr. Martin bought the pawnbroker's ticket, and then the man produced another half-dollar and bought his railroad ticket for Mascoutah.
"There was something about the scheme that neither of the two men could understand at a glance. They were engaged in deep thought, and the stranger, guessing what bothered them, turned back from the door and said:
"You can't understand how I have a ticket which cost me $1 when I had only 75 cents. That's easy. It is this way. I took my 75 cents to a pawnbroker and pawned it for 50 cents. Do you see? I then had 50 cents in money and a ticket that called for 75 cents. Then I came in here and sold my pawn ticket to one of you for 50 cents, giving me $1. Why, it's a simple question of arithmetic and financial science. Good afternoon, gentlemen."
"With a polite bow he walked out. Now what Mr. Jones and Mr. Martin are endeavoring to do is to ascertain who has lost a quarter. Or if any more than a quarter has been lost, and if so, how much.—St. Louis Republic.

5 CENTS A YARD

Who ventures on the stormy seas To face a nation that with ease Was smothered by the Japanese? My brother.

Who bares his bold anointed head, While round his uniform are shed Rich Bengal lights of green and red? My brother.

Whose sense of duty bids him go And thrash a bloody-minded foe That does not mean to fight, we know? My brother.

Who, with an air theatrical, Will play the salt-sprayed admiral Upon a little ship canal? My brother.

Who, when his mailed fist shall smite, Shall wrap his youthful brow up tight In laurel wreaths all day and night? My brother.

Who, leaping jacklike from his box, The answer completely knocks, And ever plays the giddy hook? My brother.

Who bears this gospel o'er the sea That not one country shall be free From rubbish made in Germany? My brother.

Who makes imperial howledo About a "fleet" composed of two Majestic warships (one not new)? My brother.

And who, alone, though juvenile, Can get within a half a mile Of my delicious frolic style? My brother.

Who never seems to find it hard To talk of Michael's keeping yard O'er German Hansas—by the yard? My brother.
