

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY BEING ARRANGED

MONUMENT TO MAINE VICTIMS

Speakers and Officers of the Day—An Innovation During the Exercises at the Cemetery

The program is nearly completed, lacking now only a few minor details. The committee that has the matter in hand has been working for some weeks, and at their meeting yesterday evening in Elks hall the various sub-committees were able to report definitely on all important particulars.

The commemoration is under the auspices of Memorial day committees from Bartlett-Logan post, No. 6, Stanton post, No. 55, and Kennesaw post No. 106, of the G. A. R. The committee from Kennesaw post comprises N. D. Mussey, F. N. Armstrong, E. W. Clark, E. H. Whitman; from Stanton post, J. M. Guinn, J. C. M. Spencer, C. W. Hyatt, A. C. Shafer, W. S. Daubenspeck, and from Bartlett-Logan post, Sam Kuts, C. F. Derby, F. W. Stein, L. T. Holland, P. F. Livermore.

The chairman of the committee of the whole is J. M. Guinn, and the secretary Sam Kuts. The intention of the committee is to have the day more generally observed and on broader lines. They believe more people will be in line this year than ever before, and that the crowds of spectators will be larger also.

The memorial services will be held at Simpson tabernacle. Maj. John A. Donnell will be the orator of the day and John Darwin Gish of the Sons of Veterans will make the second address; Rev. Hartley of Simpson tabernacle will pronounce the benediction and Rev. Will A. Knighton will be the chaplain. The exercises for the day will be selected from a number of names proposed. A. C. Shafer will deliver Lincoln's Gettysburg address. C. F. Derby will be chief usher at the tabernacle, with instructions to notify people desiring to crowd into the auditorium before the veterans secure seats. The exercises had been rented by them for their express use.

A committee of ladies from the ladies' G. A. R. was present last night to ask the sanction of the committee to erect a floral monument at Evergreen cemetery in commemoration of the dead sailors of the battleship Maine. The committee is willing to grant it. There will be short exercises in connection with the placing of the tribute, but the speaker of the occasion has not yet been chosen.

A communication was read from C. W. Fleming of the sheriff's office, offering to arrange free of charge for the committee a marching band to play at the exercises. It is not explained how this will be accomplished, but it was taken for granted that it would be on the plan formed at the convention of the G. A. R. at St. Paul last year, when the school children of that city were so attracted and placed in line as to represent the Stars and Stripes.

The committee does not think there will be either seating or standing room in the hall for all those who wish to obtain admission thereto. The seating capacity is not more than 5000, and many seats will be occupied by regular members of the congregation, whom it will be impossible to keep out, though the place is rented to the committee for a stipulation.

W. S. Daubenspeck, who will be grand marshal of the parade, submitted the following program, which the committee approved, though it was intimated that some changes might be made.

The parade will form on Main street, the right of the body resting on Third street. The parade will begin to move at 1 p. m., sharp. The line of march will be south on Main to Fourth, west on Fourth to Spring, north on Spring to First, west on First to Broadway, south on Broadway to Sixth, west on Sixth to Hope, and south on Hope to Simpson tabernacle.

Order of the parade: Mounted Police, Detachment of Police on Foot, Grand Marshal Daubenspeck and Aides, Chief Aide, Capt. L. T. Hollander, Other Aides, Judge William Young, A. P. Hoffman, Dan Jones, Capt. Munsey's Signal Corps, Rosserans Camp, Sons of Veterans, Veteran Drum Corps, under Command of Capt. Sam Kuts, Bartlett-Logan Post, G. A. R., Kennesaw Post, G. A. R., Stanton Post, G. A. R., Ladies of the W. R. C. will march in line to the left of their respective posts, as the parade passes Central park on Sixth street.

Ladies of the G. A. R. and other auxiliaries to the Grand Army will fall in on the right of the line; also ladies of the Union Veteran Legion.

E. D. Felts of Bartlett-Logan post No. 6, is chairman of the committee that has charge of the exercises at the cemetery. In addition to the manner of aid usually lent by the school children of the city, Mr. Felts will introduce an innovation in which forty-five of the children will take parts. He proposes to supply each of the school children with a bouquet of flowers, and as they place them on a grave they will say, "For the dead of ———." It is that way the dead of each state in the United States will be remembered in particular.

Rev. Hallaway of San Fernando will be the speaker at the cemetery and the committee is endeavoring to obtain the services of an elocutionist for a recitation apropos of the day and the surroundings.

They Steal Tools. Complaints were sworn to by Detective Hawley yesterday in Justice Owens court against Grant Wilson and Frank Lopez, a couple of boys, charging them with petty larceny. The boys are believed to have stolen a sack full of carpenter's tools belonging to W. R. Bentley, a recent arrival from Kansas City. The boys are also supposed to have hidden the tools in the bed of the Los Angeles river.

STUDY CLUBS
Art, Literature, Drama, Music and Current Events
The Current Topics Club was unusually full of interest at the last Wednesday afternoon meeting. The discussions presented to the club an interchange of thought and the many unbiassed opinions broadened the minds of the listeners. Should our war motto be "Remember the Maine" was given for discussion. Of the different opinions here are two quoted opposite: "This is a holy war—not for revenge, but for others. Not all for the Maine and her noble crew, but the response to a call for uplifting suffering humanity." But for the Maine, it was said, "our brave men at Manila would have probably lost persistence in their efforts had not the image of the ship in Havana been constantly before their eyes—an incentive, as it were, to spur them on to 'Remember the Maine.'" Mrs. Galpin said that the blame was not on the Spaniards themselves so much as on their rulers and government. "Spaniards are treacherous, but tyranny makes treachery." Mrs. Charles W. Hunt wanted to give them the chance for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The residence of Mrs. M. Burton Williamson on West Jefferson street. Her guests and H. Smith read a paper on the "Ethics of War," and an interesting discussion followed. Several musical numbers were rendered, including cornet solos by Miss Madeline Loeb and a contralto solo by Miss Letitia Williams.
The Bostonian Musical club held its regular fortnightly meeting Tuesday evening at the residence of Prof. and Mrs. W. G. Cogswell on South Flower street. The subjects were "Brahms" and "Anton Seidl," and papers were read by Mrs. Wetherby, Miss Cogswell and Mr. Kluseman. The musical program included the following numbers: Vocal solo, Mr. Pierce; vocal solo, "For All Eternity" (Mascheroni), with violin obligato by Miss Cogswell, Miss Sarah Cogswell; song, "The Heart Bowed Down" (Balfe), Edward Davies; solo, recited, "The Song of the Lark"; "The Song That Lived" (Meyer Heilmund), Mr. Porter; violin solo, "Serenade" (Pierne), Miss Cogswell; quartet, "Mezza Noite," from "Martha" (Flotow), Mrs. Wetherby, Mrs. Howe, Mr. Porter and Mr. Pierce. The subject for the next meeting will be Mendelssohn, and the discussion will be led by Miss Tombs, Miss Morse and Mr. Hancock.
The Shakespeare club held its session on Monday and resumed the study of Henry VI, part 3, begun last week. The scene in which the sons of the Duke of York were informed of their father's capture and murder was the subject of a talk by Miss M. E. Baldwin. The plan of Warwick for deposing King Henry and placing on the throne the slain duke's son, Edward, earl of March, was explained by Miss Helen Conn. The efforts of Clifford to persuade the weak and gentle king to forswear himself by breaking his pledge to turn the crown over to the house of York upon his specially noted. Mrs. L. P. Little gave the compact between Warwick, Edward and Richard on the Yorks were battled. Mrs. J. H. Drain took up the fascinating colloquy and fight between Richard and Clifford, in which Clifford was mortally wounded. The famous soliloquy of Henry on the same field was read by Mrs. W. J. Williams and criticized favorably and otherwise by several members. Others present and participating in the discussion were Misses T. M. Ward, Frank Huggins, Lottie Willard, J. L. Murphy, F. O. Wyman, W. G. Barmore, M. E. Robertson, J. McCrae, E. C. L. Brown, Oliver Bryant, John Blosser, C. S. De Lano, Misses Lora Varial, Eva Wineburg and Marion Owen. The club will meet with Mrs. Galpin tomorrow afternoon. Miss Angela Anderson of the Cumnock school will give readings from Shakespeare. Wednesday the Current Topics club will meet and Mrs. Fran Rogers will deliver an original oration, "The Flag of Truce."

The literature section of the Ebell held an interesting meeting Thursday. Mrs. William Knippenberg read a short paper on James Whitcomb Riley, the Indiana poet, who has become a national bard and who has been aptly christened the Bobbie Burns of America. Mrs. Knippenberg gave some delightful reminiscences of her visit to the quaint old homestead where Riley's early days were spent, and of the friendship with the poet and his sister. The poet's love of nature and of childhood were read as expressive of wonderful pathos and beauty. Mrs. J. B. Hunt gave a short talk on the personality of Riley, his home in Indianapolis and his studies of homely life in quiet country places. Mrs. J. B. Millard read Riley's poem on "Decoration Day," and some bits of the poet's life were recited. Mrs. J. B. Vossburg, Miss Vossburg and others. Mrs. Comstock gave a brief character sketch of Edith Thomas and read her patriotic poem, "A Christophrer of the Shenandoah." The program for Monday afternoon will be patriotic. Miss Grace Denen will give a German work entitled, "Ground Arms," and patriotic selections will be given. The general section is invited to meet with the literary section on that occasion.
Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Botford entertained the Monday Musical club on Wednesday evening at their residence on Edgeware road. The reception hall, drawing rooms and library were decorated with roses, carnations and sweet peas, and the music room was in scarlet amaryllis and Egyptian cantharus. The program was rendered in booklets, decorated with color sketches. The program included the following numbers: Symphony (Schumann), romance, scherzo and allegro, Mrs. Botford, Mrs. J. B. Vossburg, Misses Rogers and Conger; mazurka (Rossini), Mrs. Dora James Clark; vocal solo, "I Love You" (Foerster), Mrs. G. D. (Aunt) Mrs. J. Bond Francisco; piano concerto (Liszt), for two pianos, Miss Miriam Barnes and Herr Thilo Becker; song, "Bell Raggio" (Rossini), Mrs. Modini-Wood; violin sonata (Rust), J. Bond Francisco; song, "There Was an Ancient King and a Red, Red Rose," Miss Beresford Joy; trio in D minor (Bach), Mrs. Macrell, Miss Rogers and Mr. Stevens; vocal solo, "Dreams of Paradise," Mrs. J. J. Schaller;

THEY HAVE HOPES
Local Volunteers Expect to Be Called Upon Soon
A gentleman at the Silver Republican club is in receipt of a telegram from Major Starin of the California Volunteer cavalry, who is now in San Francisco, saying that he has had an audience with Governor Budd and Adj. Gen. Barrett in reference to calling out his men in case of a second call from Washington. He has a partial promise from both men that his wish and request may materialize if circumstances arise.
According to dispatches from the capital, it seems almost certain that another call, embracing each individual state, will soon be issued. This is the pleasantest news the volunteer organizations of the city have had for many days. If the call is in the immediate future they are almost certain to be accepted, as the National guard is not at present fully recruited.
In the minds of many men who are well posted on military affairs and follow them as they occur, there has never been any doubt of a second call. When the first call was issued it was not thought of sending the regiments of the western states to Manila. This has now apparently become a necessity, while the original conditions yet remain. It will be noticed by the dispatches that the government is moving its eastern volunteers nearer and nearer to Cuban shores. This is significant in meaning, perhaps, that after the departure to the Philippines of the regiments now in San Francisco others will have to be recruited and held in readiness for emergencies that the progress of the war may create. This is what the volunteers of the city are counting on.

THEY ARE DISSATISFIED
Oil Men Trying to Organize a New Exchange
An effort is being made to organize a new Oil Producers' exchange in this city, many producers and dealers being dissatisfied with the present formation. Difficulty seems to be besetting the organizers on every hand, however, for where individuals will not join themselves they incidentally persuade others not to do so. It is probable that soon oil will be much cheaper, both retail and wholesale, than it ever has been, for rivalry exists, and most of it is of the vindictive kind.
The consumption of oil, producers say, has not kept pace with the output. San Francisco, a large market for this industry, is said to be now using fully 25 per cent less oil than a year ago. To balance this, however, the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific have converted many of their locomotives into oil burners. These two roads together are using about 40,000 barrels a month.
Courses of Lectures
The present situation will be discussed in a course of lectures by Abbott Clark on "Brotherhood," at Brotherhod hall, 128 West Fifth street, beginning this morning at 11 o'clock. The subjects will be, "Remember the Maine," "The Cuban War," "Brotherhood," "A Fact in Nature," "The Brotherhood of Nations," and "Peace in All Realings." The lectures will be held regularly each Sunday morning and are free to all.
