

AN OPINION BY JUDGE CLARK

Decision on Demurrer Goes to the Root of the Matter—Points Considered by the Court

Judge W. H. Clark yesterday, in a written opinion, sustained the contention of Charles W. Palm, that not less than 3200 supplemental registers of voters must be ordered by the county authorities and printed in pursuance of the requirements of the law.

The opinion outlines the grounds of the petition, which in substance alleges that defendants have failed and refused and do now refuse to cause to be printed the number of supplemental registers to be printed by section 115 of the political code.

That portion of the section germane to the question considered provides that the county clerk must have printed a sufficient number of registers and supplemental registers to supply each election precinct in the county with not less than ten copies thereof and fifty additional for every thousand votes cast in the county at the next preceding general election.

The opinion continues that the county clerk there are 164 election precincts and at the last general election 33,684 votes were cast. It follows that the minimum number of supplemental registers that the county clerk is required to print is 3200.

It is urged by defendants that this is a sufficient compliance with the statute, the argument being that section 115 political code is ambiguous and required to be printed in a supplemental precinct register.

The argument in support of this contention would seem to be that section 115 political code of section 113, political code, and that portion of said section 115, political code, which regulates the duties of the clerk where a new registration is ordered.

"Said section 113 provides in substance that when a new registration is ordered, at the close of the registration, the clerk shall arrange the registration affidavits alphabetically and enter the same in separate precinct books; and that portion of said section 115 referred to provides that the clerk shall furnish to the printer, with whom a contract for the printing of the register shall have been made, the original books, and that the register shall be printed in the form prescribed by the board of supervisors, either in separate books or in books containing all the precincts.

"There is nothing in these provisions that tends to create an ambiguity or that can be construed to vest in the board of supervisors a discretion as to the substance of what shall be printed. The register to be printed is the sum of these precinct books. It may be printed in such form, either in one volume or many, as the board of supervisors may direct. They are vested with a discretion as to form and as to the manner of printing. Again, it is claimed that the addition of it is proposed to have printed is sufficient for all purposes, and to print the number of complete supplemental registers required by the statute will be a needless expense upon the county. This claim may be conceded. Doubtless in taking the course they did respondents were actuated by motives of economy and were the question a doubtful one in the opinion of the court, the maxim 'argumentum ab inconvenienti,' etc., would apply.

"But there is no ambiguity. The chapter of the code that regulates the registration of voters and the provisions of section 115 of the register provided for into great registers and supplemental great registers, precinct registers and supplemental precinct registers, but no 'great registers,' 'supplemental registers' and 'precinct registers.' What constitutes a supplemental register is defined by said section 114, political code.

"And when said section 115 declares that 'in counties where a registration shall not have been had in any even numbered year there shall be printed' supplemental registers containing all additions, changes and cancellations in the county, it is under their appropriate precinct headings, the county clerk must have printed a sufficient number of copies of supplemental registers to supply each election precinct in the county with not less than ten copies thereof and fifty additional for every 1000 votes, etc., it would seem plain that the 'supplemental register' there referred to is an original copy which must be printed, is the supplemental register complete, of said section 114, political code.

"This being so and there being no ambiguity, the rule that in the absence of ambiguity no exposition of the statute which is opposed to the express words of the instrument must obtain. As said above, the question as here considered it not properly raised by the demurrer; but as time is of importance, and it is desired to state the facts connected in the argument were formally stipulated. Still, the only ruling that can now be made is that the demurrer be overruled. It is ordered that the demurrer be overruled; that defendants answer forthwith, and upon failure so to do a peremptory writ issue."

NEW CONTRACT LET Supervisors Obey Mandate of Judge Clark

Great perplexity reigned in the offices of County Clerk Newlin and of the board of supervisors yesterday when it became known that Judge Clark had sustained the contention of Charles W. Palm relative to the number of supplemental registers which must be printed in obedience to the law. Deputy District Attorney Helton advised them in a memorandum that the main issues had been decided in the court's ruling on the demurrer and that nothing remained for them to do but to provide for the same.

Accordingly the board directed the drawing up of a new contract with the firm of Friedman & Faulkner, to which the previous contract had been awarded, an arrangement having been speedily effected whereby the additional number of registers would be furnished for a proportionate increase in the amount of compensation. The first contract was for 770 copies at 19 cents per name. Most of the labor being in the composition, the firm consented to furnish 3200 copies, the number requisite, for 2014 cents per name, the difference over the amount charged on the smaller order being assumed to be sufficient for the paper, printing and binding of the additional copies asked for by the board.

It is learned, however, that owing to the brevity of the time the presentation of the entire number of copies ordered before the day of the election will be extremely difficult. What effect failure to deliver the entire number within the limitation of time prescribed by the contract would have upon the matter is the subject of some curiosity, the opinion of certain persons being that payment could not be legally made by any part of the order not on hand for delivery, at least by the day of election.

The legal requirements, as stated, is that all registers must be delivered at least ten days before the election. If this provision of the law were to be strictly regarded there would remain only eight days within which to perform all this work. It is possible, however, that the requirements of the law will be deemed to have been satisfied if all the books are ready on November 8th, the day of election.

ADULTERY CHARGED

Divorce Granted to Mrs. Katzung on Her Complaint

Marie Katzung came before Judge Allen yesterday with evidence for the support of her complaint against E. E. Katzung for divorce. The complaint charged desertion, non-support and adultery. Nettie Griffith being named as co-respondent. It was returned in the county clerk's office on the 10th day of this month on June 4, 1888, and that two children had been the issue of such marriage.

Desertion on May 11, 1897, and non-support since that time was alleged, and the further charge was set up that on or about that day defendant committed the special act complained of with co-respondent in this city, subsequent desertion of like nature being cited, and defendant was said to be living at the present time with Miss Griffith in open adultery at a hotel in Los Angeles. The evidence elicited was of such a nature that a decree was ordered to issue on the complaint, the custody of the children to be entrusted to Mrs. Katzung.

Tulare County Water Case

The United States circuit court was occupied yesterday with an important water case transferred from the superior court of Tulare county. The case is known as Buckley et al. vs. Buckley et al. On June 6, 1892, complainant entered into a contract to sell to defendant certain real property, water ditches and rights in Visalia, Tulare county, for the sum of $70,000, to be paid in specified sums. Defendant is now in possession of said property, for which plaintiff claims part of the purchase price has been paid. He therefore asks that he be adjudged owner in fee simple of the property and that defendant be enjoined from setting up any claim or right in any part of the property. The trial will probably continue several days.

Only One Bid Made

Bids for metal roller shelves, document files, book racks, etc., were due yesterday under the advertisement of the supervisors for additional equipment for county offices. The Yawman & Erbe Manufacturing company was the only bidder, J. W. Bowen, its agent, filing an offer to furnish 432 roller shelves for $284; forty-seven book racks, $85; 108 document files, two pigeon hole files, $346; net total, $1215.98; clerk's office, containing 216 roller shelves, $673; total, $2098.

A Divorce Denied

The prayer of Annie P. Sherman for a divorce from her husband, H. M. Sherman, on the grounds of desertion and non-support, was denied by Judge York. In passing judgment the court expressed regret that the law was so framed that a divorce could not be granted to the drunkard and his wife. The character of the husband had been fully shown, but unfortunately other things had to be proven. Under the evidence submitted judgment must go for defendant.

In the proceedings of the board of supervisors Wednesday, as noted in these columns, reference was made to the order for the opening of a road across lands belonging to Charles Prager in prolongation of Guadalupe street, which road was declared a public highway. JUBILEE DAY AT OMAHA

Mrs. Wiggins' Description of President McKinley's Message

It is little worth while to tell anything of the president's visit to the anniversary exposition, for the papers all over the land have heralded the news of the grand oration and of the thousands his coming brought into the grounds; but we know many a citizen exhibited in what his coming meant to your own exhibit. While he did not visit it personally, his coming brought into the exhibit a crowd comparable with none but that of the great Chicago day at the world's fair. The exhibit was one great jam from early morning until night. All attendants were kept busy entertaining the guests and presenting each with an olive branch as 'Los Angeles County, California, peace-offering on this, the peace jubilee day.' It was most appropriate, and so glad were they to wear it, and so many thousands were given away by the middle of the afternoon on both sides of the crowd that the olive branches were being offered to the President introduced the branch, for he and his associates were presented with the branches in early morning. The president's visit to the exposition was a most successful one. The attendants were amused at the announcement in the evening that the president had come all the way from Los Angeles for this self-same purpose, and for this reason alone, was admitted into the exhibit by the Omaha authorities, the President's headquarters. Every hour since has brought to the Los Angeles county exhibit a request for olive branches and the little card bearing the beautiful sentiment. The crowd of the President's day completed the much coveted two million mark of gate receipts; and the exposition's financial situation is pronounced successful. Before this surging crowd Los Angeles literature melted away like paper before a swift fire driven by a Valkyrie.

The greater preparations of the season were made for the president. All trees, avenues and walk ways of the bluff tract were literally ablaze with the light of the incandescent lights; strings of them were suspended from the tall bandstand to the tops of other buildings; and above all flashed out the head of the nation, all the best of the nation in incandescent lamps. 'Twas a most remarkable piece of electric lighting, equalled only by the most wonderful electrical parade that greeted the president on his arrival here. Among the few special things the president had time to visit was the Indian camp, where the government representatives every day for the past few days anxiously waiting to see the Great Father, and as he passed among them the spectacle surpassed the pathetic and became dramatic. While the president was in the limited car which greeted the president, was a marvelous undertaking, it surpassed the Fiesta floats only in electric lighting. Here the floats followed in the parade, and the most elaborate way. The Los Angeles county great register, holding 75,000 names, is closed, greatly to the distress of many visitors who have not time to enter before the close of the season. The jury of awards was completed Saturday and their work begins Monday. This jury is composed of some of the best experts in the country, and a special panel was taken in the selection of this jury by the administration.

ST. VINCENT'S LAWN PARTY

Successful Fete Given by the Ladies' Charity Society

The garden party given by the active members of the Ladies' Charity Society of St. Vincent's church yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the fund for the sick and needy of the parish proved a very delightful affair. The beautiful surroundings of the surrounding the residence of General Forster were tendered the ladies for their outdoor social, and the wealth of color afforded by the profusion of early fall blossoms, the tastefully arranged tables, the beautiful setting for the charmingly gowned ladies of the reception committee and their guests. The entrance to the grounds was daily drawn in the car, and the party toward the rear, the tennis court, which was canvassed in and artistically decorated with palms, pepper bushes, ivy and 'Old Glory' was arranged for the evening. Here refreshments and cakes were served throughout the afternoon, and Arend's orchestra furnished the musical features. A large photograph of Father Meyer, founder of the Ladies' Charity Society, was on display, occupying a prominent position in the pavilion.

GALLAGHER AND TRIMBLE

The Battle Between the Middleweights Tonight

It is an open question if any man of his class ever saw the day he could hit as hard a blow as can Billy Gallagher, who is to meet Jimmy Trimble in a ten round athletic club, to try conclusions at fifteen rounds. Trimble has the advantage of being a younger and fresher man, and while he has not Gallagher's experience in the ring, he is voted a hard man in his class.

The last two fights that the Athletic club has pulled off were first-class attractions; and with such an experienced boxer as John Brink, the fight will be a square battle. Gallagher is a scarred veteran and has been hammered and thumped from one end of this continent to the other. He always takes his punishment and comes up smiling for the next round. Billy has always made a stubborn battle, and if Gallagher does not win, Trimble will know that he has been taken to the limit. Much interest is being taken in the contest, as it will be the first appearance of Gallagher in a local ring for a long time. He is said to strike the clever fighter as in former years. Trimble also handles himself in neat style.

Chamber of Commerce

J. A. Burns, 321 East Fourth street, has placed a new style of chair made of leaves, in the chamber of commerce. There are several other specimens in the exhibit, but the last is larger, more elaborate in construction, and of a different design. It is a specimen of the Grandilla or Passiflora Edulis, a Brazilian fruit of the edible passion flower, and the first of its kind raised in the United States. The fruit is a round, flat, plate of Roselle berries, natives of Asia and Africa. The former sometimes resembles a pomegranate in edible quality and the latter is valuable chiefly for its jelly and an acid drink in warm climates. These other foreign things add variety to the numerous fruits, but none equal the standard California products.

George Beeson, a colored man, was arraigned before Justice Owens yesterday on a charge of petty larceny. It is charged that about six weeks ago Beeson stole a bicycle from Alvo McClain and disposed of the wheel to a private party for $3. The loss was reported to the police detective department and the wheel was recovered yesterday and Beeson arrested in the evening. Justice Owens set the trial for the 22d.
