

STILL A MYSTERY

WHEREABOUTS OF AGENT ROSE REMAIN A PUZZLER

Agent Coffee Arrives From Frisco to Assume Charge of the Fire Alarm Company's Affairs

The sudden disappearance of R. A. Rose, Pacific coast agent of the Gamewell Fire Alarm company, is as much a mystery as ever.

A. J. Coffee of San Francisco arrived in the city yesterday afternoon. He has been stationed in San Francisco and since Mr. Rose's disappearance has been appointed Pacific coast agent to succeed Rose.

Mr. Coffee, in speaking of the matter, said that the report in an evening paper stating that he knew of the whereabouts of Rose was incorrect, as he made no such statement.

"I do not know where Mr. Rose has gone," he said, "and have had no communication with him since his disappearance."

He added that he was not aware that the company knew of Mr. Rose's whereabouts, and if it did not he would not be informed.

Regarding the $2900 Rose drew from the bank, he supposed it was his, as Rose had means of his own, one piece of property being situated in Alameda, and he was always well supplied with money.

Regarding his letter to Mr. Rose, asking for money, he said it was simply a request that Rose send him his salary, as he was accustomed to do every month.

He added that he was not aware that the company knew of Mr. Rose's whereabouts, and if it did not he would not be informed.

Referring to the statement said to have been made by him to reporters in San Francisco, Mr. Coffee said his remarks had been distorted.

As regards Rose being in Los Angeles with a woman not his wife Coffee knew nothing, as that was his private affair and could have no bearing on the company's case.

The company stood willing at that time to take the contract at the corrected price of $11,175 as per statement of Mr. Rose, but by inadvertence Mr. Rose overlooked the $5000 and put the price at $6175. This mistake is what cost him his job."

As regards Rose being in Los Angeles with a woman not his wife Coffee knew nothing, as that was his private affair and could have no bearing on the company's case.

A RUSH OF MINERS

MINING EXCITEMENT NEAR WILCOX, ARIZONA

The Southern Pacific to Absorb the Gila Valley Road—The Killing of Cadotte

WILCOX, Ariz., Dec. 8.—All the residents of Wilcox and vicinity, and it might be said of Cochise and Graham counties, are excited about what may turn out to be one of the biggest mining discoveries in Arizona, that will equal the Pierce strike, and may be another Tombstone.

In the Graham mountains, about twenty miles from Wilcox, last week Joe Gardner, a well known Tombstone, made a rich find near Stark's ranch. He brought into Wilcox and Pierce samples of blossom rock, which assayed more than 1000 ounces of silver and about ten ounces of gold to the ton.

As a result, a rush of miners began, and the entire country for miles around has been staked out. Mr. Gardner's partners in three claims are S. N. Voorhees and J. Houck. On Gardner's claim the vein is easily seen to run 500 feet.

In two days the 130 miners were on the ground and by the end of the week 500 will have arrived.

Representatives from the Commonwealth immediately went to the scene of the strike, and it is said have secured bonds on Gardner's claims at a large figure. Several small claims found ready purchasers.

If one-half of the report is true, a tremendously rich discovery has been made. Owing to the faulty manner in which Mr. Gardner made his location he already has a disputed claim on his hands, which involves a part of one of his three locations.

The owners of the disputed claim are E. R. Hooker, J. Ainsworth and Mike O'Neil of Wilcox.

THE GILA VALLEY ROAD It has been known for some time that the Southern Pacific company was largely interested in the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern railroad, running from Bowie, a station twenty-one miles east of here, to Globe, which has just been completed.

It is now known that on January 1st the smaller road will be absorbed and managed by the Southern Pacific. William Garland, who built the road, and has been managing it for some time past, will retire from any active part in its affairs.

THE GLOBE TRAGEDY The particulars of the tragedy at Globe have reached here. Several nights ago Charles Edwards shot and killed Charles Cadotte, a miner. Edwards is a son of the present district attorney, E. J. Edwards, who has resigned his office to defend his son.

The circumstances of the killing are as follows: For some time domestic troubles have existed between Edwards and his wife concerning Cadotte. On the night in question Edwards was in the company of Mit Brawley. Edwards and Brawley met Cadotte on the street, and some words passed between Cadotte and Edwards, but nothing else occurred then. About 1 o'clock in the morning they met again, and shooting commenced on both sides.

Cadotte was shot twice in the body, and died immediately. Brawley was wounded in the thigh, and when picked up the bullet dropped out of the wound. It is thought that the bullet which entered Brawley's thigh first passed through the body of Cadotte and its force was spent.

Edwards was arrested at the bedside of his wounded friend. The coroner's jury the next morning brought in a verdict charging Edwards with the crime. Edwards will put up a vigorous defense, and allege self-defense. Cadotte, who was very popular, was buried under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows.

A. H. Sweet, district attorney of San Diego county, was in Los Angeles yesterday.

"BILL" ANTHONY ENLISTS AS A STAGE WAR HERO

This hero of Havana harbor, whose calm, precise report to Captain Sigbee that the ship was sinking, made him famous, years for more glory to be won; and, since the war is over, why, "the play's the thing." So he is "Bill" Anthony made his first appearance on the stage at the Grand opera house the other night in "Red, White and Blue," a play of gunpowder and flashing swords. A party of Americans, men and women, have taken refuge in a Cuban camp. The men are wounded. The women heroically train the guns on the Spaniards, but defense is futile. The Spaniards enter. The little band is about to be put to the point of the sword. In the midst of the uproar, the stirring strains of a song of the American navy are heard in the distance. The crew of an American man-of-war storm the fort. Through a breach in the walls pours a detachment of Uncle Sam's tars, shouting "three cheers for the Red, White and Blue." At their head, gallantly leading the charge, is "Bill" Anthony. Questioned as to his reasons for going on the stage, the hero of the Maine says: "The chance to show my countrymen how we fought those Spanish devils is my main object." When I jump over that wall, sword in hand, to the rescue of the poor reconcentrados and the women and children, it is hard to convince me that I am not back in the thick of it!"
