ENGINEERS, ARCHITECTS

VIEW WATER AND ELECTRIC POWER AT REDLANDS

WIND UP WITH A BANQUET

And Elect Officers of the Association for the Coming Year—Fred Eaton as President

When the 8 o'clock train left the Arcade station Saturday morning it had forty of Los Angeles' representative engineers and architects on board, who had accepted the invitation of the Southern California Power company to view its plant in the Santa Ana canyon. Transportation was furnished by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads, and a special car was devoted to their use. Engineer Olmsted, who is secretary of the Engineers and Architects' Association of Southern California, counted noses: Burr Bassell, A. B. Benton, H. C. Brandt, Joe A. Bernal, J. Lee Barton, H. E. Britt, W. B. Clapp, C. W. Davis, Theodore A. Eisen, General Charles Forman, Fred Eaton, S. P. Hunt, E. Lewis Jones, George B. King, J. B. Lippincott, George Lawrence, Jr., J. H. Krummel, Joseph Jacobs, O. Morgan, E. J. McCulloch, W. H. Sanders, J. D. Schuyler, E. L. Swaine, H. T. Thaxter, William H. Workman, jr.; E. T. Wright, A. E. Koenig, Judge Campbell, W. F. Richardson, W. S. Devell, J. W. Fosyth, H. H. Sinclair, Richard Sanborn, F. C. Finkle and Henry Fisher joined the party at various points along the road.

The trip was uneventful, with the exception that at Pomona an old lady who got on the wrong car by mistake did not discover her error until sitting down in close proximity to three boxes which contained what is necessary to make Redlands tolerable to anti-Prohibitionists. She gave one glance at the tell-tale labels, gathered her skirts about her and fled from contamination.

At Crafton, four miles beyond Redlands, the visitors were met by carriages, which took them on the twelve-mile journey up the Santa Ana canyon. The most noticeable feature of the landscape is the flume of the Bear Valley Water company, circular, forty inches in diameter, made of wooden staves, hooped with iron, and resembling a barrel long drawn out. This flume is one of a number of similar ones which are naturally strong desire of the engineers to discuss stress, strains and pressure, and instead the problem of filling a vacuum was solved. The power company met the issue, and after lunch the power house was visited.

One of the quickest finished contracts of the undertaking was the power house, completed in thirty-four days, made of concrete and corrugated iron. Inside are four large generators of the General Electric company pattern, on the same shafts with four large Pelton water wheels. These wheels were specially constructed for this firm, are eighty-two inches in diameter, and are driven by a 3 1/2-inch jet working on nineteen buckets. Each Pelton wheel weighs 12,500 pounds, while wheel, axle and dynamo weigh 20,000 pounds. The weight is supported on concrete foundations which go down to solid rock.

On the opposite side of the power house are transformers which change the current from the dynamos from a voltage of 750 to 35,000. It is found that this system of high voltage transmission in the transmission of electric power long distances. From the transformers the current leaves for Los Angeles, eighty miles away, over six strands of No. 1 copper wire. The loss by transmitting for such long distances has been figured to not exceed ten per cent. From the plant the power is transmitted to realize 4000 horse power in the city. Two other dynamos are to be secured in a short time which will increase this estimate, each generator being capable of producing 1000 horse power.

Power transmission and machinery were, however, the most difficult features of the work. These were encountered in impounding the water and delivering it at the water wheels. The place of intake is three miles of the canyon from the plant, near the junction of Santa Ana and Bear creeks. Each basin has been constructed with concrete, and from these basins the water flows into two short flumes which lead to the sand box, where all extraneous matter, which has escaped the screens of the intake is deposited. From here the water flows through a tunnel in the solid rock, and flumes constructed of masonry to the point of use. From the pressure pipe the water flows a distance of 15,288 feet, of this distance 11,555 feet is in tunnels through the solid rock, eighteen in number, interspersed with sixteen flumes. The tunnels are from 248 to 2074 feet in length, while the longest flume is only 100 feet. Tunnels are six feet high in the center by five and a half feet wide, and flumes are of the same width, with a height of four feet. Both are constructed of sufficient size to admit of the passage of an inspector in small canoes designed for the purpose. The greater part of the tunneling is surfaced with cement, finished in smooth finish. All points on the flume liable to damage from falling rocks are protected by heavy roofing, and no part of the woodwork comes in contact with the ground, all trusses and supports being placed in solid concrete foundation.

From the system of tunnels and flumes the water is deposited in a reservoir of concrete, triangular in shape, to conform to the lay of the land, with sides seventy feet long and ten feet high. A waste pipe from the reservoir connects with a spillway pipe from the flume permitting the emptying of the flume in quick time. At the reservoir the opening of the pressure pipe is 728 feet above the point of applying the power. This pressure pipe has a diameter of thirty inches, and is buried from three to twelve feet below the surface. It has a total length of 2210 feet. The plans of the company include a second pressure pipe to be constructed as soon as necessary. From the pressure pipe the water goes into a receiver pipe of the same dimensions and thence is delivered at the wheels under a pressure of 300 pounds to the square inch, developing 1250 horsepower gross in each wheel.

Each generator is so planned as to be independent, any one of them can be cut out of use in a moment's notice. Ingenious governors regulate the speed of the wheels by deflecting the jet from the buckets when less velocity is required. Total cost of plant was $600,000. After the engineers had thoroughly inspected the works they took the road to Redlands and via Loma Hotel. There the annual banquet of the association was held. President E. L. Swaine acting as toastmaster. The following toasts were given and responded to: "Waterfall to Factory" (transmission of electric power), H. H. Sinclair of the Southern California Power company.

HAZARD AND BLISS

DISCUSS POSTAL PRIMARIES AND CHRISTIAN SOCIALISM

MEETING AT VINCENT HALL

Large Audience at the Regular Sunday Afternoon Gathering of the Union Reform League

The meeting of the Union Reform league yesterday at Vincent hall was one of more than ordinary interest. A good audience awaited the Rev. W. D. P. Bliss and ex-Mayor Henry T. Hazard, both of whom were advertised to speak. Mr. Hazard was first introduced, and spoke on the merits of the postal primary election system. He alluded to the trial of that mode by the League for Better City Government two years ago, and lamented the fact that the last election was allowed to go by in the absence of the voters, the bosses being left to designate the nominees.

Two years ago there were 4235 names enrolled on the membership lists of the league, and 3700 of them responded by mail to the request that they give expression to their preferences as to local candidates. In the election the voters were given a very full expression was secured. Unfortunately, the system was not adopted with reference to the selection of a board of freeholders for revision of the city charter. The speaker alluded to the disgraceful conditions existing in power politics, which made the postal primary system a logical candidate for party in power for election to the United States senate, and cries of "Shame! Shame!" were heard throughout the hall. Burns' boodling record was briefly rehearsed and a hasty glance taken at Buckley, Crimmins and others, whose corrupt practices have disgraced the city. Mr. Hazard declared the sole remedy at hand was to be found in the assumption of higher political duty by the people at large. If left to the railroad and boodling elements to select the candidates of the parties, reform would forever be an empty word.

"I believe in the people," said Mr. Hazard. "I believe if they are permitted to shape the policy of government they will correct the evils now so manifest. I think in the postal primary system we have a method of control which opens the way to the people. It is a logical and a logical method of government. Local reformers, Brentane and Hanslick, obtaining the degree of M. A. with the greatest honors, after which he had a line of unbroken success in all parts of Austria, Germany, Russia and Great Britain. A special dispensation was granted to Rosenthal, who played here last night to 4000 people with the greatest possible success. He was called out nine times and cheered with the wildest excitement.

Y. M. C. A. Men's Meeting
The men's meeting was largely attended yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. hall. The speaker was Rev. Thomas Hendry of Park Congregational church gave an able address showing how great a responsibility rests upon the men of the gospel temperance work, in the rescue work in helping on God's work among our brothers. Praise service was led by Mrs. Anna Wolfskill of Central Union.

Gospel Temperance Meeting
At the gospel meeting held in Temperance temple Sunday at 3 p. m., Rev. Thomas Hendry of Park Congregational church gave an able address showing how great a responsibility rests upon the men of the gospel temperance work, in the rescue work in helping on God's work among our brothers. Praise service was led by Mrs. Anna Wolfskill of Central Union.

AT THE THEATERS
THE BURBANK.—Lincoln J. Carter's company is announced for a special engagement at the Burbank theater this week, in the scenic naval drama "Under the Dome." This engagement will be under the direct management of Lincoln J. Carter. Shaw has leased the Burbank from Manager Edith Lemmon, who is in charge of the elaborate production, with the ferry boat scene, the Samoan hurricane and the wreck of the Trenton in Apia harbor, and the performance will be enhanced by the introduction of a number of clever specialties. Edith Lemmon will appear in the piece in her personation of Nora, the persecuted heroine.

THE ORPHEUM.—The new bill for this week embraces some excellent specialties, the chief of which will be Camilla Urso's violin playing.

BASEBALL
The national game is dear for the present in this city. Nearly all of the members of the Triby nine have come to an agreement with J. W. Snowden of Phoenix, Ariz., to go to that place after the first of the year, and play ball a week. The boys have received a good offer, and as the prospects for the game in Los Angeles are bad, they will make the change with satisfaction. William Carroll, the former catcher and captain of the Triby boys, will hold similar positions with the team at Phoenix. Majors, the pitcher, will go with Carroll, and will Johnson, the right fielder; Brown, the shortstop, and Moore, the center fielder. Anderson, the left fielder, is now in Phoenix, and he will join with his former team. The balance of the team will be selected at Phoenix.

Mrs. Green Better
Mrs. J. A. Green of Alhambra, whose right hand was run over by a Southern Pacific railroad train, near the bridge over the Los Angeles river on the overland route, Saturday afternoon, was removed from the receiving hospital to the Good Samaritan hospital yesterday. Mrs. Green had recovered partially from the shock incidental to the accident and the necessary amputation of the hand and wrist, and it is not thought her injuries will prove fatal.

SCHOOL BONDS BEATEN

HICKS WILL CONTEST FOR THE OFFICE OF SHERIFF

Electric Car Collision—The Japanese Cruiser Chitose Expected at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Dec. 18.—This city is not to have a high school building, being unwilling to issue $50,000 bonds to cover cost of construction; yesterday the bonds were defeated in a special election by a vote of 288 for and 480 against. Opponents of the measure used much money to insure success, oblivious of the fact that Santa Barbara now needs a vacant hotel building on a business street instead of a properly secluded place for study, and that the rent amounts to more than the interest on the bonds would do. About 9 o'clock last night papers were served on Nat Stewart and the members of the board of supervisors to prevent canvass of the returns in the special tie-vote election held on the 13th. Thomas H. Hicks commences this suit to maintain his incumbency, claiming he was elected November 8th, though the vote then honestly stood 2066 for each candidate. So well convinced was this Mr. Hicks that at the tie-vote election his name appeared on the ticket, placed there because he had circulated a petition to that end. The writ of prohibition will be argued tomorrow (Monday) at 10 o'clock. Until it is disposed of canvass cannot be held. If granted, a contest of the election of November 8th will be held next Sunday, Christmas day, a large number signified a desire to gather at that time for the further discussion of Christian Socialism. It was therefore announced that such a meeting would be held, and a program will be arranged for publication Sunday morning next.

At the conclusion of Mr. Bliss' remarks Mr. Hazard by request gave some further details regarding the advantages of the postal primary system. He said as to the expense entailed, that could be provided for by the assessment of candidates whose names should be placed upon the ticket, or it could be met by voluntary contribution. The main object sought was to reform the method of making nominations so that the men to be voted for as officeholders should not be left to the selection of conventions moved by partisan influences. In behalf of the audience, W. H. Knight, the presiding officer, extended the thanks of those present to Mr. Hazard for his remarks on the postal ballot.

A FAMOUS BELLE
Accidental Death of Mrs. Mary Tutt Throckmorton
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Mrs. Mary Tutt Throckmorton, who in her early life was a leader in society here, died tonight from the effects of inhaling illuminating gas which escaped by accident in her room. She was 88 years of age. In the beginning of Jackson's second term as president Mrs. Throckmorton, then Miss Tut, made her debut in the executive mansion. Martin Van Buren was one of the young girls' admirers, and her reported engagement to him was one of the society rumors of the capital. Major Charles B. Throckmorton, retired, her only son, arrived here today from New York. The latter's daughter, Josephine Holt Throckmorton, was the legate under the famous alleged will of the late Judge Joseph Holt, afterwards declared a forgery.

THE PERRY IN PORT
ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 18.—The United States revenue cutter Perry, which struck a hidden rock near St. Helena yesterday, arrived here today under her own steam. She is lying at the government depot, and the extent of her injuries will be determined in a hole in her bottom, and all her masts are kept at work. She will be placed on the marine ways here tomorrow.

SOME NEW SITUATIONS
LONDON, Dec. 19.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that the first train from Moscow to Tarkstan, 300 miles southeast of Laha, arrived on Friday last at Kusk, in the Jamshid province of Afghanistan, the line thus being completed to within 95 miles of Herat.

Many of the North American Indians were magnificent specimens of physical manhood. This was due, largely, to their active out-door life. Nevertheless, they had the wisdom to know that an active life in the open air alone, would not keep a man healthy. They had their medicine-men, who gathered herbs from the forest and brewed decoctions to assist the natural processes of the various vital organs. Modern civilized men do not as a usual thing recognize the same necessity until it is too late. They ignore medicine until they are in the grasp of some serious ailment, and then they are too late to begin taking medicine when he begins to feel out of sorts. If a man is thoroughly well and healthy he does not feel that way. If he does feel that way he may be pretty sure that it does not take long before he is "whole-sick." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for a man when he is sick or getting sick. It puts him right, and that is the most important point. It puts his liver right, and that is the second most important point. It drives out the bile and restores the appetite back and hearty. It is the greatest blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, weak lungs, spitting of blood, obstinate coughs and kindred ailments. Thousands who were given up to die have testified to their recovery under this marvelous medicine. An honest dealer will not urge a substitute for the sake of a little extra profit. He gives you what you ask for.

The Largest Hat and Furnishing Goods Store in Los Angeles.

Did You Ever Kick Yourself?

Out in the stiff night, ere slumber's chain has bound me, I think of jokers I might have sprung when many were around me. For this I wanton waste of wit, constructively I kick myself to sleep. Did you ever try to be funny when you had a hundred and fourteen other things to do, and the "ad." man was waiting for his copy? "It's great." We console ourselves on such occasions by the thought that sometimes things are "so bad that they're good." Of course that don't apply to Hats and Furnishings, for if we don't know how to write catchy ads, we do know how to buy Hats and Furnishings. We have standardized our business increases day after day, simply and solely because what we put in print was usually bigger in the store than in the paper. When you read about our $3.00 Hats, our wonderful $50. Neckwear, our $1.00 shirts and our great variety of Holiday Goods, you may think our values no better than other offers you may even not be able to carry the value of the goods from our store to the other, but put the two articles side by side, and you'll wonder how we can do it. The proof of the pudding is in the wear, then you get your money back if your goods do not wear right.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Dec. 18.—This city is not to have a high school building, being unwilling to issue $50,000 bonds to cover cost of construction; yesterday the bonds were defeated in a special election by a vote of 288 for and 480 against. Opponents of the measure used much money to insure success, oblivious of the fact that Santa Barbara now needs a vacant hotel building on a business street instead of a properly secluded place for study, and that the rent amounts to more than the interest on the bonds would do. About 9 o'clock last night papers were served on Nat Stewart and the members of the board of supervisors to prevent canvass of the returns in the special tie-vote election held on the 13th. Thomas H. Hicks commences this suit to maintain his incumbency, claiming he was elected November 8th, though the vote then honestly stood 2066 for each candidate. So well convinced was this Mr. Hicks that at the tie-vote election his name appeared on the ticket, placed there because he had circulated a petition to that end. The writ of prohibition will be argued tomorrow (Monday) at 10 o'clock. Until it is disposed of canvass cannot be held. If granted, a contest of the election of November 8th will be held next Sunday, Christmas day, a large number signified a desire to gather at that time for the further discussion of Christian Socialism. It was therefore announced that such a meeting would be held, and a program will be arranged for publication Sunday morning next.

At the conclusion of Mr. Bliss' remarks Mr. Hazard by request gave some further details regarding the advantages of the postal primary system. He said as to the expense entailed, that could be provided for by the assessment of candidates whose names should be placed upon the ticket, or it could be met by voluntary contribution. The main object sought was to reform the method of making nominations so that the men to be voted for as officeholders should not be left to the selection of conventions moved by partisan influences. In behalf of the audience, W. H. Knight, the presiding officer, extended the thanks of those present to Mr. Hazard for his remarks on the postal ballot.

A FAMOUS BELLE
Accidental Death of Mrs. Mary Tutt Throckmorton
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Mrs. Mary Tutt Throckmorton, who in her early life was a leader in society here, died tonight from the effects of inhaling illuminating gas which escaped by accident in her room. She was 88 years of age. In the beginning of Jackson's second term as president Mrs. Throckmorton, then Miss Tut, made her debut in the executive mansion. Martin Van Buren was one of the young girls' admirers, and her reported engagement to him was one of the society rumors of the capital. Major Charles B. Throckmorton, retired, her only son, arrived here today from New York. The latter's daughter, Josephine Holt Throckmorton, was the legate under the famous alleged will of the late Judge Joseph Holt, afterwards declared a forgery.

THE PERRY IN PORT
ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 18.—The United States revenue cutter Perry, which struck a hidden rock near St. Helena yesterday, arrived here today under her own steam. She is lying at the government depot, and the extent of her injuries will be determined in a hole in her bottom, and all her masts are kept at work. She will be placed on the marine ways here tomorrow.

SOME NEW SITUATIONS
LONDON, Dec. 19.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that the first train from Moscow to Tarkstan, 300 miles southeast of Laha, arrived on Friday last at Kusk, in the Jamshid province of Afghanistan, the line thus being completed to within 95 miles of Herat.

Many of the North American Indians were magnificent specimens of physical manhood. This was due, largely, to their active out-door life. Nevertheless, they had the wisdom to know that an active life in the open air alone, would not keep a man healthy. They had their medicine-men, who gathered herbs from the forest and brewed decoctions to assist the natural processes of the various vital organs. Modern civilized men do not as a usual thing recognize the same necessity until it is too late. They ignore medicine until they are in the grasp of some serious ailment, and then they are too late to begin taking medicine when he begins to feel out of sorts. If a man is thoroughly well and healthy he does not feel that way. If he does feel that way he may be pretty sure that it does not take long before he is "whole-sick." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for a man when he is sick or getting sick. It puts him right, and that is the most important point. It puts his liver right, and that is the second most important point. It drives out the bile and restores the appetite back and hearty. It is the greatest blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, weak lungs, spitting of blood, obstinate coughs and kindred ailments. Thousands who were given up to die have testified to their recovery under this marvelous medicine. An honest dealer will not urge a substitute for the sake of a little extra profit. He gives you what you ask for.
