"The articles of incorporation and the by-laws shall contain a provision that shares of stock shall not be transferred without the consent and approval of the board of directors by a vote representing at least three-fourths of all the votes.

"Your committee advises that for immediate purposes subscription lists be opened forthwith, and that such producer of raisins, whether as owner or tenant, be requested to subscribe for one share of the company's stock for each acre of vineyard owned or operated by him and to pay therefor $1 per share in cash.

Such agreements also to contain a provision that in each year there shall be deducted by the corporation one-half cent per pound of raisins delivered, to be applied in payment for fully paid shares of the capital stock of the corporation to be issued to such amount.

"Your committee recommends that all subscriptions for shares be conditioned upon there being obtained on or before the 25th day of February next the co-operation of growers representing at least 35,000 acres of raisin vineyard, and that if such co-operation and support be not obtained by such time the entire scheme be abandoned.

SUGAR WAR CONTINUES

Two More San Francisco Concerns Withdraw From Association

By Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—The local war of sugar rates shows no signs of abatement. Two more big jobbing concerns today withdrew from the Pacific Traffic and Commercial association, which organization was formed two years ago to maintain prices. These firms are Wellman, Peck & Co. and the William Cluff company. The firms which first withdrew from the association several weeks ago and commenced to sell granulated sugar at 5 1/2 cents per pound, or one-quarter of a cent below the compact price maintained by the association, are Haas Bros., Tillman & Bendel, Sussman, Wornner & Co. and Lewin & Meyer. With the additions made today there are now six of the wealthiest and most prominent jobbing houses on the Pacific coast that are acting independently of the organization. As yet the local refiners have not met the reduction which the opposition firms have brought about.

MORMON HEADQUARTERS MAY BE IN MISSOURI

Plan to Build Magnificent City Near the Town of Independence

By Associated Press. EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 3.—"The headquarters of the Mormon church will some day be located in Independence, Mo.," said John Henry Smith, one of the twelve apostles of the Mormon church, while here today.

"The Mormon people have long cherished the idea," he continued, "that their great city should be located in Independence, which is not far from Kansas City.

"This dream seems now to have become something tangible. James G. Duffin, a bishop of our church, has bought several thousand acres of land near Independence for use of Mormon colonists. This will be our vanguard and in the course of time we will erect there a magnificent city, which will be known as Zion and in which there will be a Mormon temple far more extensive and more magnificent than the one in Salt Lake. When this city and temple have been built the headquarters of the Mormon church will be moved from Salt Lake."

JEALOUSY CAUSES TWO MURDERS AND SUICIDE

Portland Man Kills Wife and Another, Then Takes His Own Life

By Associated Press. PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 3.—Enraged by jealousy of Frank Dunne, whom he believed to have alienated his wife's affections, Henry H. Loomis today killed Dunne and Mrs. Loomis and then committed suicide.

Loomis met Dunne on the street today and saluting him with the statement, "here's a Christmas present for you," drew his revolver and fired three times, one of the bullets hitting Dunne in the head and killing him. Loomis then ran a few blocks to his own home, where he found his wife. Without a word of warning he shot twice at the woman, both bullets taking effect. The murderer then rushed into his bedroom, got his razor and after cutting his throat from ear to ear, went to the room where his wife lay, took her dead body in his arms and expired.

SOME GIANT FISH

Several Varieties of Man Eating Sharks

From St. Nicholas. Of the numerous kinds of sharks noteworthy on account of their size there are four in the front rank. These are the sleeper shark, the man-eater shark, the basking shark and the whale shark.

The sleeper shark, whose scientific name is Somnolentia microcephala, meaning sleepy small-headed fish fits it so admirably, appears to have developed its body at the expense of its brain, for it is a sluggish, stupid glutton, about six times as long as the average man. Its home is in the arctic regions, but it sometimes makes visits as far south as Massachusetts, Oregon and the British Isles. It is usually seen lying quietly at the surface, apparently dozing, and is easily approached by vessels, but sometimes when hungry it rouses itself and goes in search of its prey, fiercely attacking and injuring whales, apparently unconscious of the great difference in their respective sizes.

One of the largest and perhaps the most formidable of sharks is the "man-eater," or great blue shark (Carcharodon carcharias). It roams through all temperate and tropical seas and is everywhere dreaded. Its maximum length is forty feet, and its teeth are three inches long. While there are few authentic records of sharks attacking human beings, there have undoubtedly been many cases of sharks simply swallowing people who have fallen overboard, just as they would swallow any other food. How easy it would be for a man-eater to devour a person may be judged from the finding of a whole hundred pound sea lion in the stomach of a thirty-foot shark on the California coast. A certain man-eater thirty-six and a half feet long had jaws twenty inches wide inside and teeth two and a half inches long.

The basking shark, known also as the elephant shark and bone shark (Cetorhinus maximus), is an inhabitant of the polar seas, but is occasionally observed as far south as Virginia and California, and some years ago was not rare on the English and New England coasts. It reaches a maximum length of fifty feet and is exceeded in size by only three or four animals now known. Provided with small teeth, it feeds on fishes and floating crustaceans and is not of a ferocious disposition. It is dangerous only because of its great bulk, and when attacked its powerful tail easily demolishes small boats. The basking shark was formerly hunted on the coasts of Norway and Ireland for its oil. It was also sought on the shores of Massachusetts in the early part of the last century, and many of these sharks from twenty to thirty-eight feet long were recorded. The liver of a large specimen sometimes yielded twelve barrels of oil.

The largest of all fishes, the largest of all cold-blooded animals and the largest of all existing animals, except a few kinds of whales, is the whale shark (Rhinocodon typicus), originally discovered at the Cape of Good Hope, but now known to range from the South America, Panama, California and elsewhere, a specimen having recently been obtained in Florida. This shark is said to attain a length of seventy feet and is known to exceed fifty feet.

Golf links are to be found in many out-of-the-way corners. At Bagdad there has been a golf club for nearly ten years. The eighteen-hole course which is set out in the desert is a very interesting one, it is said to be "a decidedly sporting character," which means, according to some, that one needs a very good driver. The links are to be played at Zanzibar, Bagdad, the city of Babel, Honolulu, Perak and also at West-Hat-Wel.

HARRIMAN DEFEATED IN NORTHERN SECURITIES CASE

United States Court of Appeals Reverses Decision Given in New Jersey

By Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—The United States court of appeals for the Third judicial district, in an opinion filed here today, reverses a decision of the New Jersey circuit court which restrained the Northern Securities company from distributing certain stock of the Northern Pacific Railroad company. The decision is a defeat for the interest represented by E. H. Harriman. By a decree of the New Jersey court the Northern Securities company was restrained from disposing of 37,320 shares of the common stock of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, alleged to have been received from E. H. Harriman and Winston S. Pierce, and of 347,000 shares of the common stock of the Northern Pacific Railroad company received by the Northern Securities company from the Northern Pacific company.

Today's decision gives the Northern Securities company the right to dispose of the stock. Harriman and Pierce, when the Northern Securities company had been declared by the United States supreme court to be an illegal combination, demanded the return of the original stock they had contributed at the time of the organization of the combination. The Northern Securities company, it was claimed, intended to make a pro rata distribution of the stock of the contributing companies.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED INDORSING OPEN SHOP

State Federation of Citizens' Alliance Concludes Its Labors

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Jan. 3.—The State Federation of Citizens' Alliance concluded its labors today and adjourned to meet in San Francisco on February 6. Addresses were delivered by Herbert George, Bush Fimmel and J. A. Emery of San Francisco, R. A. Marshall of Portland, M. L. Cross of Petaluma, Cliff McClellan of Tuolumne, L. J. Scofield of Fort Bragg, Fulton G. Berry of Fresno, G. A. Mendt of Sacramento, J. F. Lynch and L. G. Burnett of Stockton.

A resolution reaffirming belief in the open shop, discriminating against a trust of employes, and asserting the right of every man to follow the trade that suits him best, without restriction, was adopted. Another resolution condemning as dangerous the policy of organized labor which has prohibited and penalized membership in the state militia was presented and indorsed, and a third set of resolutions, "condemning the effort of any organization in seeking considerations from the legislature, as tending to the perpetuation of class strife and the irrevocable injury of the state and nation," was also adopted.

PERSIAN PEARL FISHERIES

Hindus the Most Expert Divers in the World

From the Kansas City Star. Slaves from the coast of East Africa are generally employed as divers. Small boats, fishing exclusively near the shore, employ crews of from five to fifty men, the larger ones—twenty to thirty—being comparatively new boats. After the boats have reached good diving grounds half of the crew is selected for diving. Every diver is provided with a strong line, which is held and managed by a second man on board. To enable the diver to reach the necessary depth he is weighted with a heavy stone. The nose of the diving helmet is closed with a clamp to prevent the water rushing in. The diver uses a small braided net basket for gathering the shells loosened from the bottom of the sea. When the basket is filled or the diver needs fresh air, he gives a signal by pulling on the line, and in a few moments the surface to remain a few moments. The diver does not leave the water for hours together. The shells gathered during the day are opened the next morning and the pearls collected. The profit varies each day, so that it is quite impossible to say that the number of pearls found corresponds to the number of shells gathered. Many pearls are of considerable size and value, rich in shells, but poor in pearls, while other grounds poor in shells yield a good profit in pearls.

The depth for pearl fishing varies, but eighteen feet may be considered the maximum. The small boats fish along the coast in the shallow water of a depth of from six to eight feet. The larger boats remain out for months at a time, returning at the end of June to the beginning of October, coming only once or twice to port in order to sell their pearls and to replenish their supplies. The duration of the diving season depends, however, upon the temperature of the water.

Various attempts have been made to change the method of pearl fishing and to alter the diving helmet; but the Arabs, in whose hands the pearl trade chiefly lies, are conservative to an extraordinary degree. Hundreds of Hindus also come to the gulf during the season, returning to India at the close. The owners of the diving boats are usually poor and are forced to depend upon the advances of pearl dealers to equip and provision their vessels.

The development of marine signaling promises to be one of the chief aids to the navigation of the immediate future. By means of submerged bells and telephone apparatus for picking up the sound of the bells, vessels can be in touch over considerable distances. The system has been installed on four lightships between New York and Boston, and many government and foreign officers have visited these ships during the past year.
