

CARPENTER TELLS OF COCKPIT RAID

SAYS HE WAS FRIGHTENED AND SHOT INTO AIR

Asserts That Frey Ran Away and That in Pursuit Two Shots Were Fired by the Officers

Without the slightest outward appearance of malice C. M. Carpenter, the officer connected with the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who is charged with the murder of Christian David Frey, yesterday went on the stand in his own behalf and in a straightforward manner told the jury of his connection with the raid on the cocking main held at Hunter's ranch last May.

"How did you come to go to the cockpit?" asked Attorney Rogers.

"Under the orders of Chief Officer Zimmer," replied Carpenter.

"Did you hear anything?" continued the attorney.

"You bet I did; I heard two shots," replied Carpenter.

He testified that the men ran, whereupon Officer Zimmer called upon them to halt, saying that they were under arrest. At the same time Zimmer ordered his men to put their official stars on, and resist the unlawful flight of the men.

Carpenter said he was unacquainted with Frey, and that he had no feeling against him.

"I ordered Frey to halt," testified the officer, "but Frey replied that there was no officer who could arrest him," and he continued his flight for liberty."

"I followed him and seized him, but he whipped his horse and escaped through the willows," said Carpenter.

Under examination Carpenter testified that Frey knocked him from the back of the buggy.

Fired Into Air

"A shot was fired and I was scared, so I did not know where it came from, as I drew my revolver and fired into the air," testified the witness.

He declared that he did not fire in the direction of Frey and disclaimed any intention of injuring the dead man.

He insisted that the first he had heard of the death of Frey was at the time the detectives arrived and placed him under arrest.

"Everything before me turned black, I was so surprised," said Carpenter.

"I have been in such a nervous and prostrated condition ever since that I have been a sick man," declared the officer.

Ex-Governor Gage on behalf of the prosecution then took up the cross-examination of the defendant.

"Are you not a good shot?" asked the prosecutor.

"Yes, sir, I am a fair shot," replied Carpenter.

The attorney asked but one or two more questions, and without attempting to shake the testimony of the accused excused him.

Officer Dromgold, who was connected with the raid on the cocking main, was called to the stand in behalf of the defendant.

When court opened yesterday morning the prosecution called a number of witnesses to the stand, but their testimony was of little value as tending to prove the contention made by the prosecution.

The prosecution rested its case shortly after court convened yesterday afternoon, and the defense began the fight for the freedom of the accused officer.

ANGELENOS IN LAND DEAL

Company Incorporated to Handle Immense Tract

Articles of incorporation were filed with the Los Angeles county clerk yesterday afternoon by seven prominent business men of the city for the Kings County Land company, the capital stock of which is placed at $1,000,000.

The incorporators are: E. Chambers, general freight agent of the Santa Fe; A. D. Schindler, general manager of the Pacific Electric; G. Holterhoff, F. W. Van Sickle and Dan Murphy.

The interests of the company include a large tract of land west of Hanford, the county seat of Kings county, but what the future intentions of the company are the men whose names appear in the articles of incorporation decline to say.

Godfrey Holterhoff said last night the company had been formed simply to protect the interests of about seventy individuals who had formed a community of interests for mutual advantage.

KRUTTSCHNITT EXPECTED TO REAPPOINT BANCROFT

High Official of Harriman Lines on Tour of Inspection Over the Southern Pacific

Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman lines, with headquarters at Chicago, arrived in Los Angeles this morning at 2 o'clock, and after spending the day here, it is expected that, in company with Acting Manager Bancroft of the Southern Pacific, he will proceed on his way to San Francisco.

Mr. Kruttschnitt was met at Yuma yesterday evening by Division Superintendent R. H. Ingram and escorted to Los Angeles.

It is more than six months since Mr. Kruttschnitt has been over the system of which, next to Mr. Harriman, he stands at the head, and it is given out that the trip is merely one of inspection. Mr. Kruttschnitt, contrary to the custom of his predecessors of calling in the division superintendents to his offices at certain intervals, finds it more convenient and satisfactory to make the trip himself and examine personally the conditions existing along the line.

Following his arrival in San Francisco it is believed he will make the appointment of a permanent general manager of the Southern Pacific, a position which has been held for the past several months by Mr. Bancroft, who, it is said, will succeed himself.

OFFICIALS' SPECIAL ARRIVES

Manager Alger and Party Touring Local Division

A special train consisting of four private cars of officials of the Southern Pacific railroad on their annual tour of inspection arrived in Los Angeles at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and will leave for the north this morning.

The party includes James Alger, manager of the system, with headquarters at San Francisco; J. H. Wallace, engineer of maintenance of way; T. R. Jones, superintendent of the Tucson, with headquarters at Tucson, and D. Burkhalter, superintendent of the San Joaquin division, with headquarters at Bakersfield.

As a result of their inspection several bridges will be rebuilt and other minor improvements will be made.

TO BOOM COAST RESORTS

Pacific Railway's Amusement Company Organizes

At a meeting of the directors of the Pacific Railway Amusement company, held yesterday afternoon in the Douglas building, J. McMillan, traffic manager of the Pacific Electric railway, was elected president; J. J. Jenkins was made vice president and general manager; C. F. Brady, also a member of the Pacific Electric railway, was chosen secretary, and the bank which will act as treasurer will be decided upon at the next meeting, to be held Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Jenkins, who assumes the management of the company, yesterday denied that the Pacific Electric Railway company was standing back of the new corporation, and said that his company was empowered to do business any place in California, although Alamo Bay would receive its share of attention. Later he added that for the first year, at least, the company would start amusements at some of the terminals of the Pacific Electric road.

"Alamitos Bay and Long Beach are the two resorts where we will begin business first," said Mr. Jenkins. "Alamitos Bay in many respects offers the finest opportunities for a big resort of any place on the Southern California coast. We shall not divulge our plans until later in the season and when we have them better in hand. At the meeting set for next Thursday propositions now outlined will be gone over and discussed."

TO BOOM RAISIN INDUSTRY

Advertising Men Hope to Aid Sale of Product

Members of the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's association will promote the raisin industry of the state, and at their meeting to be held in Fresno on January 9 the larger part of the sessions will be taken up with discussions as to how this California staple can be properly advertised throughout the country.

The raisin growers will be in attendance to listen to the addresses and papers on the subject.

The plans of the Fresno committee which has in charge the entertainment of delegates are about as follows: Sunday a special train will be run to Kearney Park, an estate of 1000 acres of vineyards, flowers and fruit; an automobile ride of nine miles through Kearney avenue. Lunch will be had at the Calwa winery, and an inspection of the raisin districts.

A number of advertising men from Los Angeles will be in attendance at the convention and several of them will take part in the program.

RUSH WORK ON NEW BUILDINGS

WALLS OF THE POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL COMPLETED

Institution to Be the Most Complete of Its Kind in the West—Will Accommodate 1400 Pupils

Work on the new polytechnic high school buildings, which are now under construction on Washington street, near the corner of Grand avenue, is being pushed by Contractor Engstrom with a large force of men. The construction has reached a stage where concrete workers, masons, carpenters, molders, mill men, teamsters, pattern makers and plasterers can all work at once and the buildings are teeming with busy workers.

The brick work on the main building and science building is about completed. The walls of the former are three stories high and the cornice is being fitted. The six huge pillars which support the roof of the main entrance have just been completed and are of solid masonry. This entrance is to be of splendid architecture and will be ornamented with work of classic design.

The walls of the power room are up and the masons are ready to begin work on the fifty foot chimney. The large science building will soon be ready for the plasterers.

Practically the entire western section of the school ground, which is 175 feet wide by 500 deep, is covered by brick buildings of various shapes and sizes. On the eastern extension of the land the foundation of the assembly hall is ready for the superstructure.

Assembly Hall

This hall is to seat 1500 people and will be used not only by the polytechnic school but for all the schools in the city and various meetings of an educational character. In the basement of this building the gymnasium is to be located in a room 40x70 feet with an extremely high ceiling. All of the buildings are connected by inclosed passageways.

The drawing rooms are to be located in a superstructure on the roof of the main building and all space back of this is to be made a roof garden.

The machine room is commodious and airy and will be lighted by north light entirely after the manner of lighting in the manual training school of the Chicago university.

Principal Francis is enthusiastic over the outlook for his school and said yesterday:

"Los Angeles is to have one of the finest polytechnic schools in the United States and one of which the city may well be proud. I feel confident that the school will draw students from all over this end of the state, and I do not think it will be long after it is opened before we have as many students as can be accommodated."

"The school can accommodate 1200 or 1400 students. The board is asking for an appropriation of $113,000 for equipment, and with this sum to expend we can secure an equipment which will be far ahead of anything of like nature in the west. The grounds which have so far been secured are entirely inadequate to the demands, and the school should and I think will have more grounds before it is opened."

CONVICTIONS ARE NUMEROUS

District Attorney Buys New Apparatus for His Office

The sight of a man descending through midair on a rope attracted hundreds of people yesterday near the court house.

The man proved to be the agent for a patent fire escape company, and he has this novel way of exhibiting his wares.

The rope was extended from a window in District Attorney Frederick's office on the top floor of the court house, and so amazed was the district attorney at the exhibition that he immediately ordered two outfits.

Later in the day the district attorney was so enthused over the new addition to his office that he went to his lunch at the noon hour over his new system of rapid transit.

"I am done with elevators," said Captain Fredericks, as he disappeared through the window.

RAILROADS MAKE FAST TIME

Rock Island-Southern Pacific Schedule Calls for Speed

Southern California today enjoys better mail service than San Francisco. When the Rock Island and Southern Pacific railroads changed time on Christmas day and put the Golden State limited into service, due to arrive in Los Angeles daily at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon, Southern California was brought one day nearer New York and all eastern cities.

The government has entered into a contract with the two railroad companies by which the fast mails which formerly extended only as far west as Kansas City are now extended through to Los Angeles, benefiting the Southern Pacific coast cities, as well as the towns of the southwestern inland states.

San Pedro Woman Goes Free

Charge Against Rose Ellen Van Trees Dismissed

Rose Ellen Van Trees, San Pedro, who recently attempted to emphasize the force of her remarks by the use of a shot gun, and who was subsequently arrested on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, was yesterday dismissed on motion of Deputy District Attorney North.

At the time of her arrest she occupied a piece of land adjoining the property of Paul La Marr, an employe of the boat building firm of Hardison-Carse company.

When a caller attempted to leave the man's house one morning several weeks ago he was brought face to face with a shot gun.

La Marr interfered in the proceedings, whereupon it was alleged, he was greeted with a round of ammunition. The shot went wild, however, and La Marr, by way of precaution, retired to safer quarters, and the arrest of the woman followed.

"HOLY JUMPERS" SECT NOW INVADING LONDON

Angeleno Has Lodged Complaint Against Organization—Says His Daughter Was Enthralled

A Vitagliano, who appealed to the police Thursday night to disenthral his daughter Annie, who is only 16 years old, from the influence of the "Holy Jumpers," did not know, perhaps, that he was lodging a complaint against a religious sect which is at this time arousing considerable interest in London.

Such is a fact, nevertheless, according to a cable message from London. This sect, known in Los Angeles as the "Holy Jumpers," from the fact that jumping up and down is an important part of their religious service, is correctly styled the "Pentecostal Dancers of the Order of the Burning Bush."

The advance guard of the dancers has just appeared in London, and the Britishers, being naturally fond of anything grotesque which they can trace to America, are having much fun over the advent of this new sect. Street crowds enjoy the services pretty much as an American gets pleasure out of vaudeville, while the more profound and studious have found food for deep thought and speculation in the picturesque ceremonies which the new prophets enact in the open streets.

Like a great many unaccountable things the Order of the Burning Bush had its origin in Colorado and has spread to the four points of the compass.

The dancers hold street meetings, and with singing, dancing and jumping work up a religious fervor that is nothing short of fanatical. This fervor spreads to the more impressionable in the crowds and converts in this way are not infrequent.

USES WASH-TUB AS WEAPON

Husband Is in Hospital as Result of Family Affray

"O yo, yo, yo," wailed a patient as he was taken to the police station yesterday morning. "My wife has turned anarchist and beat me over the head with an iron tub and I am sorely hurt."

The man was Max Meyers, 63 years of age, a clothing dealer at 213 East First street, was taken in charge by neighbors and sent to the receiving hospital after a battle between the two leaders of the Meyers family, in which Meyers received the worst of the fight.

When Meyers reached the station, he was suffering greatly and during the treatment of his wound, poured forth the story of his alleged unfaithful wife and his trouble with her.

The old man had more than $100 in gold and silver coins with him when arrested and this he counted over carefully and deposited with the desk sergeant before entering the hospital.
