

POMONA WILL NOT ACCEPT NEW RULES

AUTHORITIES WILL NOT RATIFY AGREEMENT

Real Cause of Dissension in Southern California Athletics Hempe's Letter Explains

At the recent meeting of representatives of the University of Southern California, St. Vincent's and Occidental colleges for the purpose of drafting a series of regulations to govern athletic contests and contestants participating in Southern California intercollegiate athletics, Edward Merrill of Occidental was deputized to learn the sentiment of Pomona on the new rules and whether they would pave the way for an athletic reconciliation between U. S. C. and Pomona college.

It was expected that the rules would contain nothing contrary to the wishes of Pomona and that the Claremonters would consent to come into the fold under the protection and guidance of the rules and regulations that proved satisfactory to the athletic management of Occidental, St. Vincent's and U. S. C.

Merrill wrote to Walter Hempel, under whose supervision the athletics of the Claremont collegians are conducted, stating that the agreement was drawn up with the understanding that it would prove acceptable to Pomona and asking Hempel to state whether or not he approved of this cure-all for the ills of amateur athletics, a copy of which was enclosed for Mr. Hempel's inspection. But as far as Pomona is concerned, Hempel has dealt the "constitution" a body blow which virtually puts a final end to the hopes of those optimistic persons who expected that the resumption of athletic relations between Pomona and the University of Southern California would be celebrated in the intercollegiate track meet to occur March 25. But nay, it is not to be. Pomona and U. S. C. will continue to eye one another askance and with consuming suspicion.

Hempel says "No" The seer of Claremont has penned the following missive, which presents the cause of the hesitation of Pomona in regard to the opening of peace negotiations and the horrid possibility of U. S. C. securing the services of "ringers" if the Pomona eligibility clause is not adopted. But then Hempel doesn't think the agreement worthy of extended comment, anyway.

And here is the reason why Pomona and U. S. C. will not come together this year:

Claremont, Cal., Feb. 1, 1905.
Dear Mr. Merrill:
Replying to your recent favor I beg to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of your agreement with U. S. C. and St. Vincent. To answer your various questions, I will begin that our student body, and likewise myself for that matter, are adverse to a four-cornered meet.

Furthermore, it seems that U. S. C. is far from wanting to meet us. Mr. Seaver, president of our student body, visited U. S. C. two weeks ago and drew up an agreement to govern our affairs in the future. The U. S. C. representatives were ready to sign, but Mr. Holmes suggested to them that they had better consult the student body before signing.

Pomona made various concessions, likewise U. S. C., and Mr. Seaver assured me on his return that he confidently awaited their signature in a day or two.

Friday, the day before your meeting, U. S. C. sent an agreement which included all of our concessions, but none of theirs, and gave us to understand that this must hold out.

Therefore, as it seemed highly improbable that we would have any athletic relations with U. S. C. for some time to come it was useless for me to be present at any meeting seeking to include U. S. C. and Pomona among its arrangements.

Not wishing in any way to interfere with your plans I wired Mr. Haggerty that I could not be present.

Pomona college stands firmly for the one year residence clause, and as regards the paragraph in your inclosure somewhat directly referring to the questions at issue, it is so framed that our descendants may possibly secure some benefit therefrom, but we of the present get no protection whatever. You ask me what I think of the agreement? Not being interested, my opinion cannot carry much weight. I don't believe section 7 is worth anything, certainly not for many moons.

You say this agreement is to govern the track meet, while the rules and regulations say to govern intercollegiate athletic contests in Southern California and in section 1 states that it is to govern foot ball, etc. Everybody pays his own expenses?

I understand that you and Mr. Haggerty were strong for the one year's residence rule? We are and are not afraid to stand for our convictions.

We have arranged a dual meet with Stanford for March 25, and Stanford has signed a contract to that effect. The meet will be held at Claremont and will therefore not conflict with your triangular contest. I would not give $500 for the Berkeley vs. Stanford meet when it was given at Los Angeles. Los Angeles is a bum track town and I would not think of bringing Stanford to contest in Los Angeles.

Very truly yours,
WALTER HEMPEL.

It will be seen that the authorities of Pomona college are determined that before a student engages in intercollegiate athletics he shall have been a student at the institution which he represents for a period of at least one year. As the majority of those who participate in athletics at the University of Southern California did not complete the college course and the average length of attendance is but two years this rule, if adopted, would militate against the aspirations of the Methodists upon the track and football to a considerable and almost fatal extent.

The students of the University of Southern California claim that this rule would be applicable to a large institution, such as Stanford of Berkeley, but that the colleges of Southern California are not large enough in point of attendance to warrant or permit such a prohibitive measure.

Supporters of the University of Southern California point out further that this clause would deprive the University of Southern California of nearly all her capable athletes and the Methodist track squad could not even succeed in making a creditable showing in an intercollegiate track meet were these restrictions suggested by Pomona enforced.

From his letter it is certain that Hempel does not desire the track squad of Pomona to contest in a four cornered meet, aside from the desire to incorporate the one-year clause in the intercollegiate agreement.

To the "casual observer" without partisan tendencies, it appears that, under any circumstances, Pomona is determinedly opposed to any athletic contest with the University of Southern California for the time being, at least. But maybe these inferences are entirely erroneous. Perhaps Pomona just thinks that Los Angeles is a "bum town for track athletics" and the men of Claremont want to play in their own backyard. Who knows?

LOS ANGELES WINS GOLF MATCH FROM PASADENA

Local Enthusiasts Triumph Decisively on Links of Country Club

Los Angeles golfers were victorious in their match with the Pasadena Knights of the niblick on the Country club links yesterday afternoon. The total number of points, according to the Nassau system of counting, won by the local men was nineteen, while the visitors got only six points, leaving a balance of thirteen up for the victors. This added to the five points won in the previous match at Pasadena gives a grand total of eighteen up for Los Angeles in the home and home series.

Six of the local men won their matches yesterday by almost overwhelming scores. There was only one close match, that between C. L. Hunter and Walter Cosby, captains of the respective teams, who had a ding-dong contest. Victory went to Cosby at the eighteenth hole which he took in five to his opponent's six. Both men played good, sharp golf with medal scores not far from Bogey. The best card was shown by W. Frederickson, who made 79 and easily defeated R. E. Hunter, the crack young Midlothian golfer. Young Hunter, however, is not in practice and was badly out of form. Jack Jevne and John Cravens started out with a good, tight match, but the Pasadena fell by the way and Jevne finished many holes to the good. There were only nine men on a side.

It was decided to hold another home and home series between these two clubs again this winter, probably the last of March or the first of April, when it is expected a larger number will compete.

Following are the results of yesterday's matches:

PASADENA	LOS ANGELES
J. C. Daniels.....0	W. Frederickson.....3

On Wednesday, February 22, the preliminary rounds of the Southern California amateur championship tournament will be played on the Country club links.

HARVARD SCHOOL NINE WINS FROM POLYTECHNICS

Prep School Teams Play Fast, Snappy Ball on the Fiesta Park Diamond

The Harvard baseball team again carried off the victory in a very closely contested game with the Polytechnic school.

The game was significant for the good team work displayed by both nines at Fiesta park by the score of 1 to 0. Both Hill and Slaughter pitched good ball. Capt. Ball of Harvard played a clever game at the initial bag and also at the bat, making the only two hits that the cadets secured. Dickson at shortstop for Harvard caught three men out and made three assists without an error. The score follows:

HARVARD	POLYTECHNIC

LOS ANGELES HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WIN AT BASKETBALL

Easily Defeat the Team of Santa Monica High Yesterday Afternoon

The girls' basketball team of the Los Angeles high school defeated the team from the Santa Monica high school on the former's courts yesterday afternoon by the score of 26 to 13.

The game was an easy victory for the local girls, who played in good form and displayed some excellent team work. The first half of the game the high school played mostly its second team and the game was rather close and so slow that some of the spectators went off to the side and played leap frog, but in the second half some of the high school stars went in and things began to move along at a merry clip. So many fouls were made that for a time it was thought they would need a graduate bookkeeper to keep record of them.

AGRICULTURISTS IN SCOTLAND CONFER

DISCUSS PLANS TO COMPETE WITH BRITISHERS

Meeting 1. Held and Organization of Farmers Considered With a View to Improving Conditions

Special Cable to The Herald.
EDINBURGH, Feb. 11.—Under the auspices of the Scottish chamber of agriculture a conference was held here this week. The principal subject for discussion was the organization of agriculture in Scotland, in view of the advantages that organization has given to foreign producers in assisting them to compete with British farmers. The chair was occupied by Mr. Stroyan, M. P.

Mr. Yerburgh, M. P., president of the Agricultural Organization society, in an address on "Agricultural Co-operation and Organization," said that every one who had studied the history of the country must have looked with alarm on the poor position of agriculture.

The depression amounted to a great loss of capital, and had a bad effect on the rural population.

An effort should be made to recover to some extent the lost markets, and this might be done in three directions—stock, corn and dairy products. In stock Great Britain would always be able to hold its own. With regard to corn, owing to the great wheat producing facilities of Argentina, Canada, Siberia and the increased productive facilities of the United States, they could never hope to have the same share of the wheat market as they had had in the past.

Agriculture, Mr. Yerburgh maintained, was protected in Germany, and one thing above all others which had helped competition was a system of co-operation.

His society took no part in the fiscal question, for it did not matter whether free trade continued or not, there must be organized co-operation.

Unless the country was prepared to impose a large duty, the land could never be put under wheat again to the same extent as formerly. Something could, however, be done for dairy produce. The amount of dairy imports was over 3,000,000 pounds per annum.

He congratulated Scotland on recently sending a deputation of inquiry to Denmark. Education and organized co-operation made for success. Farmers could co-operate in regard to railway rates.

Sir Charles Renshaw, M. P., moved the appointment of a committee to formulate a scheme for extending the benefits of co-operation to Scottish farmers with power to take such action

CAUGHT BY HIS OWN DECREE

Bachelor Mayor Compelled to Wed or Pay $200 in Fines

Special to The Herald.
DES MOINES, Feb. 11.—To escape payment of a $200 fine, Mayor E. W. Sorber of Gowrie, Iowa, has taken a wife.

In the early part of last year Mayor Sorber decreed that every old maid, bachelor, widow or widower refusing an offer of marriage during leap-year would be fined from $5 to $20, the money to go to the public library fund.

Mayor Sorber was himself a bachelor, and within a short time propositions from marriageable females began rolling in. Each offer was refused, and on one pretext or another the mayor kept postponing the fines which the public declared should be assessed against him.

On New Year's eve a committee of citizen waited upon the mayor and informed him that for ten Gowrie women whose hands he had refused he was fined the limit, aggregating $200. The mayor asked for a stay of thirty days and it was granted on condition that he give a bond for the amount, which he did.

Yesterday Mayor Sorber married Lillian Cooper of St. Louis.

ARRANGED FOR FUNERAL BEFORE HUSBAND'S DEATH

Wife Saw Coroner, Went to Morgue, Selected Coffin and Hearse and Hired Carriages

Special to The Herald.
CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—A woman called on Coroner Cameron and asked him to render a verdict that the death of her husband, Fred Hagedorn, was not caused by pneumonia but was the result of a fall from a ladder while working at Adams' brewery. The coroner told Mrs. Hagedorn he had no record of her husband's death.

"That's all right, he will be dead tomorrow morning," she replied, and then explained that her husband had been injured while at work, but the brewery people had refused to do anything for him.

From the coroner's office Mrs. Hagedorn went to the morgue, where, after asking the officials to prepare for her husband's body, she told them of her arrangements for the funeral. She had selected both coffin and hearse and had engaged five carriages. The morgue people asked her where her husband's body was. Her reply that he was not dead but would be by morning staggered them.

The German Deaconess hospital subsequently reported the death of Fred Hagedorn to the coroner, giving pneumonia as the principal cause of death.
