May Rogers and Mabel Duff were found guilty of vagrancy before Justice Austin yesterday.

Boys Fined

W. H. Williams and Roy Tilden were fined $10 and $15 respectively by Justice Austin yesterday on a charge of petty larceny.

Charged With Assault

Clifford J. Pape was arraigned before Justice Pierce in the township court yesterday on the charge of criminal assault. Justice Pierce held the defendant without bail until Wednesday next.

Robbed of Watch

Charles D. Vaulkner, a visitor in Los Angeles from Milwaukee, reported at the police station yesterday morning and claimed to have been robbed of his watch while in the railroad yards late Sunday night.

Falls From Scaffold

T. D. Jones was injured painfully yesterday in falling from a scaffold while at work on a building near Fourth and South Main streets. He was attended at the receiving hospital before being sent to his home at 819 South Grand avenue.

Pine Tree State Society

The Pine Tree State association will hold a meeting tonight in Burbank hall. A literary program has been prepared which will be followed by a social hour, when persons from different sections of Maine will be given an opportunity to meet their neighbors.

Monsignor McGinnis Here

Monsignor McGinnis of Jamaica Plains, Mass., arrived yesterday and is a guest at the residence of Bishop Conaty. Monsignor McGinnis is one of the most prominent and well known priests in and about Boston. He was belated by the storm, his train being twenty-two hours late.

Charge Dismissed

A charge of disturbing the peace, preferred against George Malsano and Joseph Fusco before Justice Austin yesterday was dismissed. An attorney for the defense contended that the offense was said to have covered a number of days and therefore could not be prosecuted under the charge.

Hurt in Fight

In a fight with some other butchers on Lyons street last night William Mallong, an employe of the Maier Packing company, got the worst of the argument and was forced to go to the receiving hospital for repairs. Mallong's left ear was lacerated and his head was cut open in several places.

Lewis Is Held

Edward Lewis, who was arrested by Officer Henderson several nights ago because he wore more suits than necessary and carried a few extra pairs of trousers, was examined before Justice Austin yesterday on a charge of robbing the store of the United States Tailoring company. He was held to the superior courts on $1500 bail.

Methodist Evangelistic Services

Evangelistic services were commenced last evening to continue each evening during the week at the Union Avenue Methodist church. The following well-known clergymen will speak: Monday evening, Rev. A. W. Bunker; Tuesday evening, Rev. Wade Hamilton; Wednesday evening, Verne E. Clark; Thursday evening, Rev. J. R. Ross; Friday evening, Rev. W. H. Rider.

Psychic Alliance

Members of the Psychic Science alliance will meet this evening at the McIvor-Tyndall Institute of Psychic Science, 1501 South Grand avenue, to discuss important business. Many new members will be present and interesting discussions are promised. Dr. McIvor-Tyndall, president of the alliance, and several of the members will address the meeting, which will be devoted to the subject, "Does the World Need a New Religion?" All members and as many prospective ones as desire to join are invited to be present.

PERSONAL

Dr. and Mrs. R. H. De Lap of Richmond Center, Wis., are visiting Mrs. J. L. Somerby, 224 Ramona avenue.

Hon. E. W. Roberts, wife and daughter of Moberly, Mo., are in Los Angeles upon a sight-seeing tour. They have spent the past week in San Diego and will see the central and northern portions of the state before returning to Missouri. Mr. Roberts is prominent in politics in his state, and, being a Democrat, has little to say concerning the last election. He is thoroughly pleased with Southern California.

FAREWELL TO ARMY LEADERS

MAJ. AND MRS. CONNETT LEAVE FOR NEW FIELD

Salvationists Pay Tribute to Loyal Officers Who Have Commanded the Local Corps

Amid the beating of the drum, the rattling of the tamborine, the hallo-lujahs, songs and the speeches, the last farewell meeting was given Major and Mrs. Connett last evening at the Salvation Army headquarters, 438 South Spring street. The officers leave soon for Portland.

Major Connett opened the meeting in a cheerful vein, that continued until the close, stating that it was the fundamental principle of the Salvation Army officers to maintain cheerfulness with all the changes incident to Army life.

The meeting closed with a farewell address by Mrs. Connett, followed by a brief review by Major Connett of the past three years of the work in Los Angeles, giving an encouraging report of the general condition of the work of the army.

Major Connett could not name his successors but thought they would be made known soon.

Major and Mrs. Connett have made themselves popular by their zealous work and have been allowed to remain as the local provincial officers longer than the usual time. Major Connett was a delegate to the recent international congress of the Army in London. During his absence the work was carried on by Mrs. Connett, who displayed great ability. During their incumbency the work has been enlarged, especially the Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners for the poor and needy.

TWO MEASURES PASSED OVER MAYOR'S VETO

Assistant Police Surgeons Appointed in Spite of Executive's Protest

As was expected the council yesterday morning passed the ordinance creating two assistant police surgeons, and appointed Doctor Charles Bonyng and C. Freedman to the positions thus created, over the mayor's veto. This is the first ordinance that the present council has passed over the mayor's head.

Some time ago the council appointed two police surgeons, Doctors Quint and Smith being the appointees. When the council created the positions of assistants the mayor considered that the two new men were not needed and so sent the measure back without his signature.

The council took a different view however, and after looking over the report for last year and noting the number of cases treated decided that the new surgeons were a necessity, and yesterday confirmed their first action by an almost unanimous vote.

Mayor McAleer also returned the ordinance requiring sign painters to pay a quarterly license of $25 as being unfair, but a delegation of prominent sign painters appeared before the council and asked that the measure be adopted, and it became a law as the necessary five voted "aye."

HUSBAND FAITHLESS; WOMAN SEEKS DEATH

Brokenhearted Mrs. Edward Baggs Attempts to Kill Herself

After finding that her husband had proved false to her, and after having attempted to end her misery by slaying her wrists, Mrs. Edward B. Baggs, a comely young woman who arrived in Los Angeles Saturday, returned to San Francisco yesterday morning.

Mrs. Baggs told a pathetic story before her departure for the north. According to the story, Baggs, the husband, came to Los Angeles during January from San Francisco and secured employment as a cook at Levy's restaurant. Shortly after his arrival he is said to have been joined by a young woman whom he met at the Lick house in San Francisco before his departure.

Mrs. Baggs pawned her diamond ring for $150 Saturday and came to Los Angeles. When she arrived here she went to the Metropolitan hotel, and learning of the faithlessness of her husband, attempted to commit suicide by slaying her wrists. The blade proved too dull and she recovered.

WATKINS MUST STAND TRIAL

Demurrer to Indictment Overruled by Judge Wellborn

Judge Wellborn in the United States circuit court yesterday overruled the demurrer filed by O. J. Watkins to the criminal indictment found against him by the federal grand jury.

Watkins, together with others, is charged under the federal statutes with using the mails for furthering the interests of a lottery scheme.

Watkins demurred to the indictment found against him on the ground of its insufficiency, but the point made by Watkins' attorneys was promptly overruled.

The case probably will be tried in the district court some day next week.

NEW SALOON FOR GREEN MEADOWS

SUPERVISORS TURN DOWN RESIDENTS' PROTESTS

People of Ascot Park Who Voted "Wet" and Then Repented Get Little Consideration From the Board

In spite of the protest entered by many of the representative citizens of the Green Meadows precinct, the board of supervisors yesterday granted a retail liquor license to William Y. Newlands.

A week ago the anti-liquor forces of the district turned out in force to protest against the granting of liquor licenses in the district.

Judge Charles Silent appeared before the board as one of the protestants, and in an address of some length he voiced the sentiments of citizens who live in the Green Meadows precinct.

The voters in the district say they were given to understand that if they voted for the "wet" period only one license would be granted, and that was to be to the management of Ascot park.

It is asserted by the property owners that the granting of liquor licenses in the district will mean a great depreciation of property values, and many of the improvements now contemplated will not be made.

A number of residents in the precinct claim that the politicians have violated their pre-election pledge in connection with the saloon license question, and interesting developments in the situation are looked for.

CHARGES TOOTH PULLING TO HIS BOARD ACCOUNT

Dentist, Arrested on Complaint of His Landlady, Sues for Damages

To have his furniture taken for room rent alleged to have been due was enough to grate on his nerves, but when his landlady caused his arrest, Dr. M. L. V. Russell, a dentist, cried "enough."

Not because he needs the money, perhaps, but because he dislikes to lose sight of his furniture, which he values at $10, Dr. Russell appealed to the civil branch of the law yesterday and in mournful tones he told Justice Pierce the real damage sustained by Mrs. Aldea B. Hill's reckless handling of his furniture.

It was brought out in the evidence "that Dr. Russell extracted a tooth, the personal property of his landlady's daughter, but the amount charged by the dentist, so Mrs. Hill says, did not pay his room rent.

Dr. Russell not only asked Justice Pierce to award him damages in the sum of $10, which he fixed as the value of his furniture, but he went beyond and as punitive damages, legally known as "smart money," he told the court that three times ten would be nothing more than a just compensation.

Beside this amount Dr. Russell says that he has expended $50 in the pursuit of his chairs and stools, and this amount is also added to his bill for damages.

COUNCIL NOW FACES GARBAGE BUGBEAR

Only One Bid Received for Supplying Incinerator to the City

Garbage is the bugbear which is plaguing the councilmen now that the gas ordinance has been passed, and according to a prominent councilman the question is likely to assume huge proportions before it is finally settled. The only bid received yesterday was from the Decarie Manufacturing company of Minneapolis. This company offers to build an incinerator for $70,864 which will consume 200 tons of garbage daily.

Appeals were received from several companies for more time in which to submit their bids, only twelve days' notice having been given by the council. The P. F. Dutton Iron works of San Francisco wrote they had a "destructor" used throughout England. The company offers to pay the expenses of any one of the council names for the purpose of observing the machine in operation.

Dr. Houghton intimated that he would be willing to make the trip and said it would take about four months. No action was taken on the subject.

C. Leonard asked that he be allowed more time in which to figure on the proposition, but did not divulge the name of the machine he intends to offer.

C. H. Alexander of Los Angeles made an informal offer to build two crematories in different parts of the city for $38,000. This scheme was to save money by making the hauls shorter.

HOTEL GUEST LOSES $300 DIAMOND BROOCH

Mrs. John Berdan of the Lankershim Says Gems Disappeared From Room

The loss of a diamond brooch valued at more than $300 was reported at detective headquarters yesterday morning by Mrs. John Berdan of Toledo, O., a guest at Hotel Lankershim.

The detectives have not as yet determined whether the diamonds were misplaced or stolen. Mrs. Berdan first discovered her loss Saturday night, and as she had worn the brooch only a short time before, it is thought that the diamonds, if stolen, were taken from the room shortly before 10 o'clock.

RESCUES MANIAC FROM DROWNING

DEPUTY SHERIFF DRAGS PRISONER FROM RIVER

Insane Patient on Way to Highland Jumps From Depot Window Into Torrent in Hope of Escape

Exciting and picturesque was the thrilling rescue yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Harry Wilson of Henry P. Gordon, an insane man, who attempted to commit suicide by hurling himself into the raging Los Angeles river, thirty minutes after he had created a panic in the vicinity of the county jail by attempting to escape from the officers.

Laboring under the delusion that he was the champion long distance runner of the world, Gordon jumped from the wagon in the service of the county hospital and with a cry of exultation that startled pedestrians for many blocks, he bounded for freedom.

The weird cries of the man only served as a warning to the quiet residents of the neighborhood in the vicinity of the county jail and in a few seconds he was being hotly pursued by an armed force of deputy sheriffs, a number of lawyers, judges and citizens.

Deputy Sheriff Hutchinson, the "heavyweight" of the local constabulary, led the race for the first seventy yards, but directly in front of the house at 106 Buena Vista street the big sheriff fell and decided to return to guard and watch over a number of other insane men huddled together in the county hospital's wagon in front of the jail.

Deputy Sheriff Hubbard, in charge of the insane ward at the hospital, fell from exhaustion six feet from the summit of the hill.

By this time the entire section of the city in the vicinity of the jail had been aroused and the "posse," made up of automobiles, motor cycles, light running carriages and men on foot, were hot on the trail of the wild man.

At this juncture of the exciting chase, Under Sheriff Yonkin arrived upon the scene and captured the maniac.

Shortly before 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon while Deputy Sheriff Harry Wilson was purchasing tickets for Highlands at the Downey avenue station, Gordon, in spite of the fact that he was securely handcuffed, leaped through the window of the Downey avenue station and after running a few feet to the river bluff he plunged into the raging stream below.

Wilson plunged in after his prisoner and at last succeeded in bringing him ashore.

SAYS STOCK WAS WORTHLESS

Woman Sues to Recover on a Bad Transaction

Claiming that she was "taken in" by fraudulent representations in a business transaction, Mrs. Ella B. Squires filed suit yesterday in the superior court against Mrs. Mary E. Seabert, for damages in the sum of $4000.

It appears from the complaint that in March, 1904, the plaintiff delivered to the defendant a deed to property located in Los Angeles and valued at $7000.

The complaint further says that in payment for the property conveyed Mrs. Seabert agreed to pay off a mortgage on the property amounting to $2750, also to pay $165 in cash and in final settlement to turn over forty shares of stock issued by the Southwestern Commercial company of Arizona, of the par value of $100 a share.

The complaint asserts that the defendant fraudulently claimed that the company was solvent, and that it owned and operated five stores in the territory.

Mrs. Squires says she found the stock to be worthless and that the company was never on a paying basis, and she asks the court to award her damages in the sum of $4000, which she says was represented as the par value of the stock.

INSANE, SAYS HE IS ACTOR

Dangerous Maniac Is Committed to an Asylum

Rather than have William Monroe cause bloodshed in the vicinity of his home, as was threatened, Judge Wilbur in the superior court yesterday declared Monroe to be an insane person.

Monroe told the court that when given the opportunity he amused the public with interesting sketches from behind the footlights on local stages, and when questioned more closely he told of his dramatic triumphs at the Orpheum and Burbank theaters.

He also told the court that he was the author of a book, which he considered to be a work of unusual literary merit.

He was committed to an asylum.

STREET NAMES ARE CHANGED

City Engineer Makes Improvements on South Side

Owing to the conflict in the numbering of certain streets in the southern portion of the city the city engineer yesterday requested that the following changes in names be made. Murdock street to Forty-eighth, Woodmen avenue to Forty-ninth, Waco avenue and Waco street to Fiftieth street, Forty-ninth street from Main to Moneta to Forty-eighth street, Fiftieth street, from Main to Moneta to Forty-ninth street.

The ordinance changing the names of these streets was passed by the council.

HINTS BY MAY MANTON

Evening Waist 4941

TO BE MADE LOW OR HIGH NECK, WITH ELBOW OR LONG SLEEVES. Evening waists that are made quite simply are among the best and smartest of the season. This one is exceptionally graceful and includes the fashionable elbow sleeves that consist of two generous puffs with frill of lace below. As illustrated the material is pale blue chiffon cloth, the trimming, twisted colored lace, and the belt, messaline satin, but all the materials that are soft enough to drape with good effect are appropriate, also, when liked, the waist can be made with high neck and long sleeves, as shown in the back view, so rendering the design a doubly practical one.

The waist consists of the fitted lining, the full front and back, and is closed invisibly at the back. The sleeves are shirred at the shoulders and lower edges and again midway of their length, and are arranged over foundations which hold them firmly in place. When made low neck the lining is cut off on indicated lines, but when made high neck it is faced to form yoke and cuffs.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 4 1/2 yards 21, 2 3/4 yards 27 or 2 1/2 yards 44 inches wide, with 1 1/4 yards of all-over lace for yoke and cuffs, 1/4 yard of silk for belt and 2 1/2 yards of lace for frills.

The pattern 4941 is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measure.
