

MAY NOT BUILD NEW VIADUCT

RAILWAY WON'T SHARE PART OF EXPENSE

TEMPORARY BRIDGE IN USE

City Engineer Practically Abandons Plans for Permanent Structure Over the River at Seventh Street

Until the twenty-one year limit on street railway franchises is removed residents of Boyle Heights might just as well abandon any fond hopes they may have entertained of having an electric line across the new Seventh street bridge.

The railway company has served notice that it will not share the expense of building a permanent bridge across the Los Angeles river at Seventh street, and it is now regarded as very probable that City Engineer Stafford will recommend that the temporary bridge, which was opened to the public yesterday, be accepted for the present.

He has discontinued work on plans for the proposed new bridge recommended by the council, which it was supposed would be built jointly by the Los Angeles Railway company and the city.

If a motion is made in the council to discontinue work on the plans for the permanent bridge there will likely be trouble, as Councilman Kern of the Seventh ward says his constituents will not brook such action.

"We must have a permanent bridge whether the railway company will share a part of the expense or not," said Mr. Kern yesterday. "We ought to go ahead with the project and if the railway desires later on to run a track across the viaduct it can be made to pay liberally for the privilege. By all means we of the Seventh ward want a permanent bridge constructed."

Mr. Blanchard's Views Councilman Blanchard, who is a member of the bridge committee, expressed surprise when informed of the report of the intended action of the city engineer.

"This is the first I have heard of a proposition to discontinue work on the plans for the permanent bridge," he said. "I was under the impression that the railway intended to help defray the expense of building a permanent structure, but of course if it does not care to go into the project, then I suppose the only thing to do is for us to make out as best we can with the temporary bridge. I would favor the construction of a permanent structure if the funds are available, but I would not approve of incurring this indebtedness unless the city can do so without materially injuring its finances."

STRONG MAN HURT BY LIFTING EXTRA WEIGHT

Military Hercules Does Not Appear at the Orpheum as Scheduled

For several years Paul Conchas, billed at the Orpheum as "The Military Hercules," has been lifting and juggling with heavy and awkward weights, but this week he is unable to appear as promised because he lifted just a little bit too much at San Francisco last week.

Conchas' specialty is juggling with cannons, Krupp shells and similar airy nothings, and last week in San Francisco he decided to add a few more pounds to his heaviest piece of work, in which he balances on his chin a heavy cannon, including the gun carriage. The result of this extra work was a strained back. He managed to get through his week in the northern city but when he arrived in Los Angeles last Sunday he realized that he would be unable to go on Monday night. Dr. Hitchcock was called in and ordered the strong man to rest for a few days, and yesterday Dr. Newmark was called in consultation and Conchas was ordered to remain in bed until the end of the week.

Ruskin Art Club Election The election of officers for the Ruskin Art club was held yesterday and Mrs. W. H. Housh was re-elected to serve as president. At a business meeting of the club in the morning a board of directors was elected, composed of Mesdames J. W. Hendrick, W. H. Housh, N. P. Conroy, W. T. McFie, W. J. Washburn, George Sinsbaugh, L. L. Hibbard, Alexander Caldwell, W. F. Bullif and W. H. Bradley. In the afternoon the board met to elect officers from their number, resulting in the choice of Mrs. Housh for president; Mrs. N. P. Conroy first vice president; Mrs. L. L. Hibbard second vice president; Miss Helen McCutcheon secretary; Mrs. R. W. Fridham corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. L. Hutchinson treasurer; Miss Victoria Wiltmer financial secretary; Mrs. W. M. Dixon librarian, and Miss Letha Lewis curator. Mrs. J. F. Sterns was elected honorary vice president. Mrs. W. H. Bradley was elected chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. J. W. Hendrick of the hospitality committee; Mrs. Alexander Caldwell of the house-keeping committee, and Mrs. George Sinsbaugh of the program and printing committee.

Club Re-elects Officers The election of officers for the Cosmos club yesterday resulted in the unanimous choice of those who have served the club during the closing term. They are Mrs. Charles Lewis, president; Mrs. George Jordan, first vice president; Mrs. Alice Anderson, second vice president; Mrs. George Howell, secretary; Mrs. Gainsley, treasurer and Mrs. A. L. Ward, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. G. L. Lobengler, who has charge of the work for the Educational society in Southern California, spoke on the efforts being made for the clubhouse home for young women at Berkeley. Mrs. C. A. Parmelee commented upon the benefits of the reciprocity day given by the Wednesday Morning club and Mrs. Emma Greenleaf delivered her regular lecture on books and magazines.

Mrs. Greenleaf has been the leader in all the club literary programs and her book reviews have been a special feature. She is now giving magazine reviews and they bid fair to rival the book reviews in their capacity for imparting information and enjoyment.

Receive National Officers The Los Angeles Federation of Women's Christian Temperance Unions received yesterday afternoon at the First Congregational church in honor of Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens and Miss Anna Gordon, national president and vice president of the organization. The Prior Brothers' male quartet from the University of Southern California furnished music and short addresses were made by Mrs. Stevens and Miss Gordon.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

To Play "Quo Vadis"

The Ulrich stock company is now rehearsing for the production of "Quo Vadis" at the Grand opera house next week and it is promised that the piece will be presented with all the details of the original production complete, even down to the incidental music composed for it by Julian Edwards. It is now about five years since Henryk Sienkiewicz' great novel telling the story of Nero's persecution of the early Christians in Rome had its big run, and about three years since the dramatization was seen in Los Angeles for three nights.

The following will be the principals in the cast: Vincicus, Richard Buhler; Petronius, John Harrington; Nero, Henry Auerbach; Lygia, Miss Ethel Clifton; Poppea, Miss Brenda Fowler; Eunice, Miss Hope Mayne; Pomponia, Lule Warrenton.

"Secretary Pro Tem"

The St. Vincent's Dramatic club more than fulfilled the expectation of its friends last evening in the presentation of the comedy, "Secretary Pro Tem." The comedy was in three acts and was full of mirth from start to finish. The young people who took part all possessed much talent, which had been admirably trained by Rev. F. X. McCabe, C. M., director of the club. The comedy dealt with a spinster, her secretary pro tem and several love affairs, which proved very amusing in their process of culmination.

The club is rapidly taking its place as the leading amateur dramatic club of Los Angeles and deserves much praise. The following were in the cast: James Hanley, Edmund Booth, John Penleton, Gabriel Durnerin, August Guercio, Misses Catherine Creed, Marguerite Banks, Grace Du Sasse and Catherine Flood.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM

Or Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp in scales, as it burrows down to the roots of the hairs where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair and ultimately baldness. After Prof. Anna of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, all efforts to find a remedy failed until the great laboratory discovery was made which resulted in Newbro's Herpetide. It alone of all other hair preparations kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair grows luxuriantly. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Send for leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpetide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Woman's Clubs

Press Club Meeting

The work done last year by California authors was reviewed yesterday by the Southern California Woman's Press club at the regular meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce building. Miss Rose Ellerbe outlined the plot of Miss Gwendolen Overton's "Captains of the World;" Mrs. Mary M. Bowman gave a strong analysis of Mrs. Mary Austin's "Isidro;" Miss Grace Dennen told of the poets' work and Miss Jane Gillespie paid a graceful tribute to the talent of Claudesley Johns, whose short stories are appearing in the current magazines. A feature of the program was a brief sketch of Richard Barry's career as a war correspondent in Japan. This was illustrated with pictures taken by Mr. Barry. It was of special interest that the mother of Mr. Johns and the mother of Mr. Barry are members of the Press club.

At yesterday's session Mrs. H. W. Myers was chosen delegate to the Woman's parliament in San Bernardino. Miss Fettle will act as alternate. Mrs. Myers will entertain the Press club Sunday, May 7, at her home, 306 North avenue 66 and Mrs. Leland Norton will give a rose fete, May 14, in honor of her friend, Miss Gertrude Eastbrook, the famous flower painter of Chicago. The monthly luncheon of the Press club will take place next Tuesday at Christopher's.

Shakespearean Commemoration

The Shakespeare commemoration day to be given by the Galpin Shakespeare club on Friday afternoon promises to be one of the most enjoyable meetings ever held in Los Angeles under the direction of the Shakespeare students. Representatives from different study clubs of Southern California will be present to take part and also prominent members of some of the leading men's clubs.

The afternoon's program will open with greeting to Shakespeare lovers and students from Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant, president of the Galpin Shakespeare club, and responses will be given by Miss Meeta Marquis of the Much Ado club; Mrs. E. P. Baker of the El Monte Shakespeare club; Mrs. A. C. Clark of the Shakespeare Section Woman's club, Whittier; Mrs. J. M. Cranford of the Shakespeare Section of the Wednesday Morning club; Mrs. Emma Greenleaf of the Shakespeare Section Ebell club. The Trust Cries "Baby"

But It Will Do No Good

The great, big, bolsterous furniture trust is now down on its knees, and instead of making demands it is actually requesting certain institutions to come to its assistance and save it from absolute ruin.

The Trust is so dreadfully mad because Brent's says such mean things about it, and the worst part of it is that the Trust must keep silent because all the accusations are true.

The Trust knows that it can't buy goods because its credit is hampered. The Trust knows that its prices are high. The trust knows that half of its present employes are forced to take vacations. The Trust knows that it is actually compelled to auction off half of its stock. The Trust knows that some of its hitherto most dignified establishments have now been reduced to a yellow journal basis.

There are a few other things that the Trust doesn't know but which will be perfectly evident before many moons. The worst is yet to come, Mr. Trust.

GROWING YOUNG

Mrs. Noble, who has just returned from the east, where she has been taking the Thermal treatment for renewing health and beauty, is delighted with the results. She certainly looks ten years younger, but she says the expensive trip was unnecessary as there is now a branch office here in Los Angeles doing exactly the same work. The Health and Beauty Culture Institute in the Mason building guarantees to make a person look ten years younger before collecting a cent for treatments. The leading society ladies as well as many others are much enthused. This process has for hundreds of years been a lost art. It is something wonderful how soon it will restore strength and give a lifelike tint to the complexion.
