

MEMORIAL SUNDAY SERVICES TODAY VETERANS TO ATTEND TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

SERMON BY DR. R. J. BURDETTE Union and ex-Confederate Veterans Will Honor Memory of Departed Comrades Under the Same Roof

Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the Judgment day— Love and tears for the Blue, Tears and joy for the Gray.

This morning at Temple Baptist church the veterans of the strife of 1861-65 will meet in union ceremonies to do honor to the departed heroes on both sides, the occasion being the observance of Memorial Sunday.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the occasion, including the memorial sermon to be delivered by Rev. Robert J. Burdette, the pastor, and himself an ex-Union soldier.

One feature of the patriotic exercises will be the presentation of a flag to the church by the Grand Army of the Republic, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette making the presentation speech, the pastor accepting it on behalf of the church.

Two original poems will be read. One is entitled "Our Nation's Flag," being the composition of Mrs. Lou V. Chapin. The other is entitled "Reunion, 1861-1905," having been written for the occasion by Mrs. Isabella J. Neelds of 625 Valencia street.

All the military and patriotic organizations in Los Angeles, including the Grand Army of the Republic and ex-Confederate veterans, their ladies' auxiliaries and cadets from the military schools have been invited to participate in the ceremonies.

Program of Exercises

The program for the memorial service and the patriotic ceremonies is as follows: Morning text—"Behold, how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."—Psalm 133.

WILL SOON LEAVE ON HIS VISIT TO THE POPE

THE RT. REV. THOMAS CONATY

The Rt. Rev. Thomas Conaty, bishop of the diocese of Los Angeles and Monterey, will depart shortly for Rome, where he will hold an audience with Pope Pius X.

It will doubtless be an encouraging report Bishop Conaty will give to the sovereign pontiff, as the advancement made in this diocese has been almost phenomenal and far beyond all expectations.

The coming month will mark the second anniversary of the installation of Bishop Conaty in this diocese, but during that time he has carried on a far-reaching work that has touched almost every phase of life in this city. It is estimated that he has inaugurated improvements which will aggregate many thousands of dollars, including a new cathedral, for which plans are now being drawn.

The bishop is now busily engaged in preparing his report for the pope. Once in every ten years each bishop in the Catholic church is required to make a personal report of the work his diocese is accomplishing to the head of the church.

HOPES TO MEET DOG AFTER DEATH

NEW YORK WOMAN SETS UP MONUMENT TO PET

IS BURIED IN CEMETERY Stone is inscribed With an Epitaph and a Verse, Expressing Sorrow of the Pug's Mistress

Special to The Herald NEW YORK, May 25.—Confident that dogs have a future existence, Mrs. Annie K. Proudman of 237 West One Hundred and Third street has had a monument erected over the grave of her pet pug. Her companion for seventeen years, "Wrinkles," died last January. Mrs. Proudman grieved greatly over his death, and she never tires of recounting her pet's virtues. She believes dogs have feelings and sentiments similar to those of human beings, and she is sure that she will be greeted in the hereafter by the beloved "Wrinkles."

The dog was buried with all ceremony in the Hartdale cemetery in Westchester county, where about one thousand pet animals are interred. Mrs. Proudman, who is wealthy, sent memorial cards among her friends. The monument, which has just been set up, bears this inscription:

"In loving remembrance of 'Wrinkles,' a little pug dog, who died Jan. 7, 1905. For seventeen years a faithful friend and constant companion, he will never be forgotten by his sorrowing mistress. Our close connection with many years proves this beyond all doubt a truth to be:

The passing of that little life Ends not alone in memory. Say what you will, he was, he is A part of the infinite in me. Not annihilated, but living still, He waits and watches in eternity. A. K. P.

Mrs. Proudman now has another dog, but she says that the place in her heart left vacant by "Wrinkles" can never be filled. The dog was a regularly elected member of the Ladies' Aid society of the Lenox Avenue Unitarian church and attended all the meetings with her mistress. He also accompanied her in her travels all over the country.

NO RIGHT TO BEGGAR THEM

"No-Saloon" Law Would Rob Saloon Men and Their Creditors

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—(Editor Herald): What will become of the saloon man's property, his creditor's unpaid bills, his occupation and family support? Obviously his property would be a dead loss, his occupation gone, his creditors lose their money, and his family be fit subjects for charity—if the proposed ordinance passes.

Does this seem just to the "no-saloon craze advocates" wise and unwise? And where a Christian minister can find in his religion a warrant for so gross injustice, I also fail to see. Our Saviour exercised no malice toward publicans and sinners; in fact they were the object of his solicitude, he did not urge his followers to despoil and beggar them.

No, there is no warrant in law, reason or religion to beggar the saloon man and his family, and much less so to despoil his creditors of their property. LUKE D. BECHTEL.

AS IT LOOKS TO A STRANGER

Pasadena Man Has Things to Say About "Unco" Guild

PASADENA, May 26.—(Editor Herald): As a "looker on in Venice," I have been interested in the progress of Brother Chapman's anti-saloon crusade in Los Angeles. Allow me to ask who is Chapman? Thackeray once penned this pertinent paragraph: "I believe it is by persons 'believing' themselves in the right, that nine-tenths of the tyranny of this world has been perpetrated." This truism applies to the present case, where a handful of "unco" guilds—so-called reformers assume that their position is the only tenable one; that because they do not approve of the saloon nobody else shall have a right to any other opinion. And yet these intolerant preachers and self-constituted reformers occasionally get together and solemnly discuss the question as to why the men stay away from church! A STRANGER.

TWO BROADWAY LIGHTS OUT; SUCH A DARKNESS!

Two of the new Broadway lights went out last night and the beautiful scenic effect of the handsomest illuminated thoroughfare in the west was lost for the time being.

It just so happened that the lights on either side of Broadway, at the intersection of Third street, were out at the same time, and while the rest of the street was illuminated, this portion assumed the silent air of a dark and deserted spot. And all for the sake of two lights!

Thus it will be seen that Broadway lighted is a distinct improvement, in so far as nightly visitation is concerned, to Broadway in darkness.

Dinner for Dr. and Mrs. Hoyt Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hoyt of Chillicothe, O., were the guests of honor at a dinner party given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rea Callender of 2313 South Hope street. At a table dainty with yellow shaded candles and yellow and white blossoms covers were laid for ten.

MUSICAL NEWS

LONG BEACH CHAUTAUQUA At Long Beach this year the Chautauqua season will open Monday, July 10, and extend two weeks. Lecturers, speakers and singers will entertain the public. On Monday evening, July 10, an opening concert will be given with the full complement of Donatelli's Royal Italian band, assisted by Signor Domenico Russo. On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, July 11 and 12, the greater part of the time will be devoted to Carter, a noted impersonator and magician, in his famous act of impersonating the Chinese magician, Ching Ling Pu. Saturday, July 15, and Monday, July 17, Dr. Gonsaulus, president of the Armour Institute, will deliver his lectures on "Savonarola" and "Oliver Cromwell." Thursday and Friday evenings, July 20 and 21, Dr. William A. Quayle will talk about Victor Hugo's "Jean Valjean." An illustrated lecture on the World's Fair at St. Louis will be one of the features and an illustrated lecture on "Quo Vadis" will be given. On Friday evening, July 14, the musical program will consist of quartet numbers by four of the best known singers in Southern California, assisted by Louise Nixon Hill in presenting an evening of three centuries of songs and ballads in costume.

For the forenoons and afternoons, attention will be devoted to departments for art, physical culture, child study, domestic science, cooking, the study of current events, singing, etc., all in charge of competent teachers.

Mr. L. E. Behymer of the Mason opera house is the manager selected by the Chautauqua board this season.

VIOLIN RECITAL

The junior class, under the instruction of Herr Arnold Krauss, will be heard at a violin recital in Dobson auditorium next Thursday evening. The senior recital a fortnight ago introduced to the public a number of students who gave the highest promise of future attainment. Among these was Charles M. Craig, a 13-year-old boy, who played the Paganini concerto in D major with a marvelous technique and rare interpretative power.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA MEETING

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Los Angeles Symphony orchestra at Birke's music store next Tuesday morning, at which time the continuation of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra association will be discussed. The officers of the association think that it is time that the Los Angeles Symphony orchestra should become an incorporated body, and it is hoped public spirited citizens can be persuaded to guarantee the payment of at least $4000 a year toward the support of this organization. All persons who are interested in the public movement for the Symphony orchestra are asked to be present at this meeting.

CHORAL SOCIETY'S CONCERT

The Los Angeles Choral society will give a concert at Simpson auditorium the last week in June. Mr. Harry Clifford Lott is to be one of the soloists. The program will comprise selections from the great oratorios.
