TO SUBSCRIBERS

If any subscriber who may fail to receive The Herald on any morning delivery will notify the business office by telephone he will receive a copy of The Herald for that day by special messenger.

The Herald will pay $10 in cash to any one furnishing evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person caught stealing copies of The Herald from the premises of our patrons.

Strangers are invited to visit the exhibit of California products at the Chamber of Commerce building, on Broadway, between First and Second streets, where free information will be given on all subjects pertaining to this section.

Ruski Art Exhibit In response to a large number of requests the Ruski Art club has decided to open the exhibit this evening and Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings of next week.

Wojan Suffrage Lecture Mrs. Emily Burton Ketcham, member of the national executive committee of the Woman's Suffrage association, is in the city en route to Portland to attend the national convention of the association, which occurs June 29. She will address the local organization Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Woman's club.

Matinee at Burbank This afternoon the Burbank Stock company will give a matinee performance of "Me and Mother," the comedy drama that is drawing so well at the popular Main street house. Tonight will mark the first performance of the play. The management announces "Juanita de San Juan" for next week's attraction, beginning tomorrow afternoon.

Dr. Bushnell to Speak Rev. Dr. D. E. Bushnell of Alton, Ill., will preach at the morning service tomorrow at the First Cumberland Presbyterian church. Dr. Bushnell is well known in Los Angeles, having been a former resident here. Rev. W. J. King of Oxford, Miss., will preach at the evening service. Both clergymen are returning delegates from the recent convention in Fresno.

Vincent's Boat Launching Much interest is being manifested in intercollegiate circles in the launching of the boat of St. Vincent's college this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Playa del Rey. This is the first local college to organize a boat crew, the innovation being due to the progressive spirit of Coach Haggerty. The boat, which is thirty-three feet long, was designed by a graduate of the college.

Brotherhood Banquet Company No. 2 of the uniform rank of the Fraternal Brotherhood was given a banquet last night by Adjutant General E. A. Beck. Lieutenant General George S. Adolph and his staff, also the line officers of companies one and three were invited guests. The banquet was given by General Beck in appreciation of the good work done by the company in successfully defending the trophy cup at the competitive drill held in Temple auditorium, April 28.

Hutchinson Convicted The jury in the case against E. E. Hutchinson, charged with first degree burglary, returned a verdict of guilty in Judge Smith's division of the superior court yesterday morning, including in their verdict their findings that this was a second conviction for the same offense, bringing the defendant within the statute which makes the minimum penalty for this offense ten years in the penitentiary. Sentence has not yet been passed upon him, but the district attorney will ask that the sentence be passed under the code.

Fine Musical Program Music lovers, as well as those interested in psychological problems, will find a rare treat in the program offered at Blanchard hall Sunday evening. Preceding Dr. McIvor-Tyndall's lecture on "The Secret of the Ages," Mrs. Bertha Kendall, one of San Francisco's favorite singers, will render Bassini's "Ave Maria." Another musical number of unusual excellence, will be piano selections by Heinrich von Stein, the young German pianist, who recently came to Los Angeles from Berlin, where he was considered coequal with his friend and class mate Josef Hoffman.

Reflections of a Bachelor Generally you can tell when a girl's hair is red by the way her family calls it golden.

Suburban life is an awful good training for the next world in case you go to the wrong place. Either people think you get on because you have brains, or because you get on you have brains.

WOMEN LITIGATE FOR STOCK CLAIMED BY BOTH

SUIT IS FILED TO DETERMINE OWNERSHIP

'Beauty,' 'Maggie' and 'Daisy' Are Alleged to Be Wrongfully Detained by Defendant, and Claimants Require Judicial Adjustment

Emma L. Frink and her husband, George, yesterday filed suit against Carrie Phelps and A. F. Tucker to recover the possession of three cows, answering to the pet names of Beauty, Maggie and Daisy, also one steer and one heifer, all of which live stock is alleged to be valued at $330, and wrongfully withheld from the plaintiffs by the defendants.

The petition does not recite the facts to be that Beauty, Maggie and Daisy became dissatisfied with life on the home lot and wandered away from their own fireside into the camp of the enemy, nor does it state that the darlings were kidnaped, but the fact is alleged to be that in some manner these little girly cows have become estranged from the Frink homestead and are detained, whether for ransom or because the defendants dispute the title to them is not alleged.

Maggie, Beauty and Daisy will probably not be in court when the fate of their ownership is determined and, owing to their location and the fact that they are said to be incommunicado, it was impossible to get an interview last night and learn their story of the estrangement.

MULE JAMS MAN AGAINST WAGON, CUTTING EAR OFF

Teamster Victim of Peculiar and Painful Accident While Harnessing Animal

J. B. Cearly, a teamster employed by the Crandall company, met with a peculiar and painful accident while harnessing a nervous mule yesterday afternoon.

Cearly was in the act of putting the mule's collar on when a Mexican a few feet away snapped a whip and frightened the animal. The mule jumped to one side, jamming Cearly against the wheel of a nearby wagon in such a way that his right ear was completely severed from his head.

Cearly was quickly taken to the receiving hospital by a friend, who wrapped the amputated ear in a piece of paper and carried it to the hospital with him. The member could not be replaced, however, and Cearly must go through life with but one ear.

WIVES SECURE DECREES IN THREE DIVORCE SUITS

Amelia F. de Lopez y Pecarrera was granted an interlocutory decree by Judge Wilbur yesterday in her suit for divorce against her husband, Hosea Antonio de Lopez y Pecarrera. She alleged that they were married in Tampa, Fla., August 20, 1889, and he deserted her in Los Angeles, April 1, 1903.

Lottie L. Woods was given an interlocutory decree in her divorce suit against Fred W. Woods, alleging cruelty as her cause of action. She alleged that they were married in 1894 in Missouri, and after she had recited her stories of his cruelty Judge Gibbs issued the decree.

Alice Rockwood alleged cruelty and intemperance as her grounds for divorce from William R. Rockwood and was granted an interlocutory decree by Judge Gibbs. She was also awarded the custody of the two children and $4 a week alimony.

CAMBRO-AMERICAN SOCIETY HOLDS BANQUET

The Cambro-American society gave a banquet last evening at Burbank hall. Judge Dillon acted as toastmaster. Addresses were made by E. B. Breese and J. M. Evans. A musical program was furnished by the women folk of the society.

Plans were laid last night for the first annual "Welsh picnic," to be held under the auspices of the local Cambro-American society and include all Welsh societies in Southern California.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT GIVES BRILLIANT RECEPTION

DR. GEORGE F. BOVARD

The Woman's club house was brilliant last evening with floating pennants of many different colors, representing the different schools of the University of Southern California. The occasion was the annual reception of Dr. and Mrs. George F. Bovard in honor of the members of the senior class. Receiving with President and Mrs. Bovard were Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Healy and Bishop and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton. Assisting them were Mmes. C. B. Woodhead, Gail B. Johnson, E. R. Bradley, Milbank Johnson, Robert McIntyre, George W. Bayly, M. Burton Williamson, W. F. Callender, G. H. Tilden, Frank Porter, W. W. Beckett, A. E. Pomeroy, F. A. Thompson, A. J. Wallace, D. W. Edwards, J. L. Pitner, J. B. Green, W. M. Sterling, Will Knighten, Misses Beniah Wright, Della Bates, Bertha Green, Winifred Healy, May Dickson, Cora Dyer and Edna Bovard. Throughout the building the color schemes of the different schools, all of which had representatives present, were used. In the main hall quantities of yellow mustard and lights delicately shaded in yellow represented the gold of the university. Green and gold were the colors used in the dental college room and pennants of black and gold gave a brilliant suggestion of the law school. In the liberal arts room were used red and cardinal, the colors always displayed by that branch. Especially effective was the decoration in the music and fine arts room. There plumbeo in the palest of blue was combined with gold. Decorations for the medical college department were in deep blue and gold and the class color of the college of oratory is suggested in another room by the use of pink roses. The university orchestra dispensed sweet music during the reception hours and fruitade was served by a bevy of prettily gowned young women. Refreshments were served at tables on the upper floor.

OCCIDENTAL CLUB GIVES SMOKER AND RECEPTION

ENTERTAINS NEARLY SIX HUNDRED GUESTS

Members and Friends Enjoy the Hospitality of Spring Street Organization—Beginning of Series of Entertainments

Members of the Occidental club and their friends were entertained in the handsome club rooms on Spring street last night. A smoker, which was one of the series of periodical entertainments devised to bring the members into closer association and to get them better acquainted, was the occasion which made history in the club as one of the most successful and thoroughly enjoyable affairs given under its auspices.

Informally reigned everywhere and the 600 members and guests were bidden to seek a pleasant evening in any of the many ways provided by the club for their entertainment.

A negro orchestra of several pieces was stationed in the main reception hall and furnished music, both vocal and instrumental, until near midnight. A luncheon was set in the small dining hall and refreshments were furnished by the members.

The smoker had no connection with the election and was in no wise a celebration, one way or the other, although the members were furnished with bulletins of the election results by The Herald as fast as they came in from the 108 precincts, and later in the evening bulletins of the Corbett-Hanlon fight were received and read to the guests.

The affair was in charge of a special entertainment committee, of which T. Newman was chairman.

CONSTRUCTION OF SECOND STREET TUNNEL DISCUSSED

Business Men Have Intimated They Will Urge Proposition Upon Council Shortly

The proposition to construct a tunnel under the Second street hill is now before the council and is being watched by the people living in the district beyond the hill and by the merchants of the city with more than a little interest.

Since the construction of the Third street tunnel the district thus opened has grown with remarkable rapidity and the traffic has become so great that the tunnel is congested continuously.

The residents and property owners of the district affected have petitioned the council to construct a new tunnel to relieve this state of affairs and make that section more accessible.

Councilman Kern and a number of his colleagues are of the opinion that this tunnel is needed, but should be constructed on the assessment district plan. It is admitted by all, however, that the laying out of the assessment district for such a piece of work would be practically impossible.

The residents of the district affected say the Third street tunnel was built by the city and they see no reason why the city should not build the one which is now considered necessary. Many business men have intimated that they will urge the building of the tunnel in the near future.

ZENOBIA GERVAIS GOES TO GUARDIAN ANGEL HOME

Los Angeles Humane Society Gets a Judicial Order Committing Her Temporarily

Through the efforts of the Los Angeles Humane Society Zenobia Gervais was yesterday sent to the Home of the Guardian Angel temporarily, the commitment being for two months.

The hearing occurred in division two of the superior court and the testimony used against William Gervais, brother of the girl, who was held to the superior court upon a charge of beating her, was used by the society to secure commitment of the girl to a temporary home until it shall be decided where to send her permanently.

What His Father Thought

A believer in mental healing recently inquired of a friend's small son: "How is your father?"

"Father is feeling bad and complains much of his health," said the boy.

"That's all nonsense," replied the friend. "The next time your father complains you must tell him that it is all imagination. Tell him to brace up; there is nothing the matter with him—he just thinks he is sick."

Two or three days after the gentleman again met the boy and inquired about the health of his father. "Father thinks he is dead, sir," replied the boy.—Argonaut.

After-Removal Sale Begins Monday Morning

Probably ninety-nine merchants out of a hundred, in our position, would have held a "Removal Sale" before leaving the old location. We did not. Our reason for not doing so was because we didn't have sufficient room to properly wait upon our Regular Trade—and a Removal Sale would simply have swamped us. But now, with our increased facilities, we are prepared to meet almost any emergency—having more than five times our former selling space.

Our buyers have been in the New York Markets for months—picking up the best bargains to be found. Many of these purchases, which have been arriving the past two or three weeks, were taken to the new store direct—and will be told of in Monday's papers for the first time.

That this sale will be an epoch-making merchandise event is a foregone conclusion

CHARMING FLIES IS A NEW OCCUPATION

New York Hears How It Is Done in Wild and Woolly West

NEW YORK, June 2.—"There is a summer occupation in the west," said the traveling man, "that has proved profitable for the last three years, and many men are now getting ready to drop their other work and take it up, for the occupation of a fly charmer pays over $5 a day to a man with a high-class clientele.

"It is said that several enterprising westerners are going to introduce their queer occupation into Gotham this summer, but they can hardly hope for widespread success, for this is a city of flats and small homes.

"In his business the fly charmer is armed with a canvas fan about four feet square. With this he slowly drives the swarms of flies from the attic of the house down through every floor, never missing a fly, and accumulating the insects in every apartment visited. Every room in his wake is immediately closed, to guard against any homesick flies that might try to get back to their old quarters.

"As the buzzing swarm in front of the immense fan accumulates they follow their leader, much like a swarm of bees, until they are finally whisked into a small, unused room, where their conqueror sets free to some smoky preparation that soon sends them off to a land where there are no bald heads to tickle, no soup to drown in, and no danger of untimely burial in the table butter.

"But right here in New York the fly is migratory and will rush where angels fear to tread. So the plan here not work here."

A Precocious Sportsman

"The Americans are great sportsmen," said Sir Thomas Dewar, in recounting his impressions of America. "From their earliest years they take a consuming interest in all sorts of contests and races.

"I remember, one cold afternoon, in New York, seeing a poor little ragged lad with his nose glued against the window of a toy-shop. I stopped beside him and looked down. But he paid no heed to me. His clear young eyes were intent on the window's bright and inviting contents.

"Without a word I slipped a penny into his cold little hand. He looked at the penny, and then he looked at me. "Well, if this ain't luck," he said. "I've been wishin' for a cent, and here's one dropped right into me fist."

"What did you want the cent for, my lad?" said I. "The urchin answered: "I wanted to get a night extra to see wot's won. I've got a dollar on Swallow in the third race."

"What," asked the professor, "is the future of the Russian soldier?" "Well," answered the student, "he ought to be able to win medals as a sprinter."—Washington Star.
