SHOOT'S BRAGG AND COMPANION

GUN IS DISCHARGED BY AN ACCIDENT

PROBABLY FATALY INJURED

Children Playing in Coin Home, When Trigger Snapped and the Load Struck Victims in Head and Face

While at play yesterday afternoon, Claudine Coin accidentally shot and probably fatally injured Raymond Coin, her 14-year-old brother, and Mabel Cooper, ten years old.

The children were playing with a loaded shot gun in the coin home at 2723 West Temple street, Claudine handling the gun. In some manner she pulled the trigger and the shot struck her brother and companion in the face and head.

William Cooper, sixteen years old, was in the room when the children began playing with the gun and attempted to take it away from Claudine, but was too late, it being discharged before he could get hold of it.

The report of the gun and the screams of the children attracted the family and neighbors and the injured children were sent to the emergency hospital.

An examination of their injuries disclosed the fact that the wounds will in all probability prove fatal.

The boy was immediately operated upon by Dr. Quint and Bonyne, and, though conscious, he submitted to the painful cutting and probing with the courage of a man. He was later given an anesthetic and his left eye was removed.

The surgeons say that although his case is by no means a hopeless one, there is but slight chance for his recovery.

The girl fared worse than the boy and her condition is even more critical than his. It was found that fully twelve shot had entered her head and lodged in the brain. She is paralyzed on the left side of her body and remains unconscious. The shot was removed from her brain at the hospital and she was later taken to the children's hospital, where she was operated upon at 8:30 o'clock last night.

For two hours and a half the surgeons worked over the little girl in the hope of saving her life. A section of her skull two inches in diameter was taken from over her right temple and several of the shot imbedded in the brain were removed. Owing to severe hemorrhage, all the shot were not removed and it is believed by the surgeons that at least half a dozen remain imbedded in the brain. At midnight the girl had regained consciousness for the first time since the accident occurred and the attending surgeons say they believe there is a possible chance of her recovery.

Little Claudine is prostrated at the realization of the awful deed. It is said that she had been in the habit of toying with firearms and had become familiar with the use of them.

While the woman was confined in the closet the two alleged burglars ransacked the house and secured a gold watch and $8 in cash. Alexander says he found his wife locked in the closet when he returned home an hour after.
