

WOMAN IS COOK NOT MAN'S EQUAL

MRS. GILMAN ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

PLEADS FOR SEX'S EQUALITY

Suggests Solution for the Question of How Woman is to Improve the Condition of Affairs

"Women are men's house-servants and a man's cook can never be his social equal."

This is the doctrine expounded by Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, the apostle of woman, who yesterday morning gave the second in the series of her lectures before the Venice assembly.

In Tuesday's address upon "Man," Mrs. Gilman fully outlined her position regarding the relations existing between the sexes. She explained woman's position more fully yesterday and suggested the only possible solution of the question of improving that position.

"Man first kept to himself the right to war, which is to destroy and to govern, which is certainly not to produce. Later, he became a specialist in his work and through this has built the civilization of the present day."

"On the other hand, where is the woman specialist? Is she in woman's sphere, the home? There is no more reason why a woman should try to be nurse, cook, housekeeper and seamstress than that every man should have to make his own clothes, hats shoes and houses."

"Specialization should apply to women as well as to men. Let the house be kept clean by those whose trade it is to keep a house in order and who are paid for the work. Let the cooking and nursing be done by specialists, who thereby gain a livelihood. If one wants a good cook, a high priced one, one gets a specialist, a man."

"The plea is made that woman's brain is not the equal of man's and history is brought forward in proof. Could it be expected that the Declaration of Independence be signed by cooks and the daughters of those who had been cooks for generation after generation?" Mrs. Gilman is the woman who shocked old-fashioned New York last season by suggesting the founding of a cooperative nursery, where children, removed entirely from the misguided care of the mother, could be reared entirely by scientific methods.

Mrs. Gilman is the daughter of Frederick Beecher Perkins and the granddaughter of Lyman Beecher. Her work and theories are embodied in six books, of which the most noteworthy are "Woman and Economics" and "Human Work."

NATIVE SONS INSTALL OFFICERS AND JOLLIFY

Also Plan to Erect $20,000 Home and Equip It in Modern Style

The members of Corona parlor No. 196, Native Sons of the Golden West, had a jollification last night with all the true western frills tacked on. The installation of officers, initiation of four candidates and the disposal of a big spread were the various tasks appointed for the members to take care of—and they did it.

The officers installed were: Past president, Aubrey E. Austin; president, James J. Regan; first vice president, Martin P. Nolte; second vice president, Edward B. Lovie; third vice president, Lester W. Bernheim; financial secretary, R. A. Roth; recording secretary, P. H. Muller; trustee, A. M. Kremer; surgeon, Dr. D. W. Edelman; marshal, I. J. Steinman; treasurer, L. S. Nordlinger.

The hall at 525 West Pico street, where last night's ceremonies occurred, is inadequate for the needs of the parlor and much time last evening was spent in planning for a new building to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The annual Admission day celebration at Sacramento is an event for which plans were also discussed.

MEXICAN ADMITS ASSAULT; DENIES ROBBERY CHARGE

Officers Arrest E. E. Sanchez for Stabbing Luciano Olivias at Dance Near Pomona

After a sixty-mile overland drive from Walnut station, Under Sheriff Yunkin and Deputy Sheriff Franklin yesterday arrived in Los Angeles with E. E. Sanchez, who is charged with stabbing Luciano Olivias.

The men quarreled at a fandango near Pomona several nights ago and Olivias says Sanchez stabbed and robbed him. Sanchez admitted stabbing Olivias, but denied the charge of theft. The wounded man is in a critical condition at the county hospital.

OLD AGE

Comes to Everyone, but Its Visits May Be Postponed

Old age is not a question of years. Some men are old at forty; others are young at sixty.

It's a mighty hard proposition to look young, no matter how young you feel if your hair is falling out and your head becoming bald.

Perhaps you are tired trying ineffectual remedies for this evil. We don't blame you if you are. Why not try an effective one for a change?

DOUBT STORY OF SAUNDER'S DEATH

POLICE SAY WOMAN MAY BE DECEIVING THEM

BIBLES IN VICTIM'S ROOM

Friends of the Dead Man Say He Continued His Religious Practices After Leaving Compton—Member of Church Here

Significant developments in the case of Richard P. Saunders, who was killed in his apartments at the Piedmont rooming house, lead the police to believe that Miss Williamson did not commit the crime as she alleges, because Saunders insulted her.

It has developed in the inquiry made by the detectives that Saunders was not the only one of her boarders whom she had threatened, but that there are three or four others who can testify to having looked down the barrel of a revolver held by Miss Williamson.

When Detectives Craig and Steele entered the room of Saunders they found on his table two Bibles, one a Welsh, the other an English version, lying open on the table, and Rev. I. L. Spencer's statement that Saunders had transferred his membership from the Compton Methodist church to the Central Avenue church of Los Angeles, goes to prove, says Rev. M. Spencer, that Saunders did not give up his religious devotions and practices after leaving Compton. In fact, every additional bit of evidence gleaned by the police and the friends of Saunders strengthens the proof of his moral character while in Los Angeles.

Asks Where is Money?

"If Saunders did spend the $200 that I paid him," said S. M. Bise, his former employer, "where is the money that he earned while at work in Santa Monica? Even had some accident occurred to Saunders or had he spent the money that he earned and saved while at work in the livery stable at Compton, he should have had more money on his person at the time he was shot, for with the exception of a very few days he worked continually since coming to this city."

Some of the friends of Saunders go so far as to state that they saw him on his knees praying a few hours before the shooting.

That Miss Williamson has many friends is evident from the number that called on her yesterday. One man who went offered to bring the British consul to her aid. Miss Williamson, though she has been in this country fifteen years, has never been naturalized.

Early yesterday afternoon Miss Williamson was arraigned before Justice Chambers and her hearing was set for July 25. Despite the reports that she was suffering from great mental strain, no trace of it was evident. As she talked to her attorney she smiled frequently and did not seem troubled in the least.

The funeral of Saunders will be held from Breese Bros' undertaking rooms Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MINING MAN HURT DURING ALTERCATION

D. H. McClelland Unable to Tell What Had Happened Even After Consciousness Returned

Reeling through the lobby of the Mason building, leaving a trail of blood behind, D. H. McClelland was found by friends yesterday afternoon and taken to the receiving hospital, where Dr. Quint and Wilcox found that he was suffering from a cut just behind the left ear. Though McClelland recognized his friends, he seemed to be in a semi-conscious condition, and even after he had recovered his senses could not tell what had happened to him.

When questioned by the detectives, McClelland said: "The last thing I remember I was sitting at my desk exchanging hot words with E. M. Pond of 1528 West Twenty-first street over the Ben Hur mining stock. Up to this morning I was secretary of the company, but resigned. I had orders to sell the stock on the exchange, and in consequence I knocked the bottom out of it."

Miss Juda, the stenographer, when questioned said: "I do not know who hit Mr. McClelland. About noon Mr. Pond came up here and told me that he was going to 'lick' Mr. McClelland. When Mr. McClelland arrived, I knew there would be trouble, so I went to the other end of the hall."

At his home on West Twenty-first street last night, Mr. Pond refused to discuss the affair.

PHOTOGRAPHER ALLEGES HE IS VICTIM OF FRAUD

Sues to Annul a Bill of Sale Given on His Business Through Misrepresentation

Suit was filed yesterday by Charles J. Coules against Howland & Co. to annul a bill of sale recently given by Coules for his business and which he claims was obtained by misrepresentation.

Several weeks ago, according to the complaint, J. F. Howland, director of a photograph supply company, made a deal with Coules for the purchase of his photo gallery. Coules estimates the value of his gallery at $6000. As the firm was $4000 in debt to Howland for furnishings, Coules agreed to take $2000 cash for his studio.

He alleges that Howland visited him at his office and asked him for a bill of sale, offering a note for $2000 to cover the difference in the debt. Coules alleges that he at first refused, but that Howland promised to have his brother back the note the next day and make it negotiable.

He further complains that the note has never been backed by the brother and that Howland is insolvent. A mortgage has been placed on the property and Coules asks for the $2000 cash or the removal of the mortgage and the return of the bill of sale.

WORDEN'S SUCCESSOR NOT YET APPOINTED

No appointment of a successor to Assistant General Freight Agent Worden of the Salt Lake road has as yet been made, and in the meantime, rumors of possible candidates continue to fill the air.

Salt Lake papers are predicting the appointment of Division Freight Agent Moore of Salt Lake City to the position, while many friends of Thomas Sloan, private secretary of General Freight and Passenger Agent Gillett believe he will be the fortunate one.

Mr. Gillett, in whose hands lies the appointive power said yesterday that no successor to Mr. Worden had been named in spite of all rumors to the contrary.

STREET VENDER IS ESCAPED CONVICT

LIVES WITH HIS FAMILY IN LOS ANGELES

POLICEMEN RECOGNIZE HIM

James B. Gregory Is Arrested After Twelve Years' Freedom, While Peddling Can Openers for Support of Family

After twelve years of freedom, during which time he says he has attempted to lead an honest life and earn a living for his family, James B. Gregory is a prisoner at the city jail, awaiting the issuance of requisition papers for his return to Detroit, where he will serve out an unexpired sentence of seven years for counterfeiting.

For eight months, Gregory and his family have lived quietly in Los Angeles at 114 West Twenty-ninth street, and he has mingled with the hundreds of thousands of persons who have passed up and down the streets in that time, selling his can openers and knife sharpeners and thereby earning the means by which he supported his family.

None of the vast throng recognized him. But Policeman Butler, House and Boyd, by daily noticing him and scanning his features, saw a resemblance to the picture of Gregory, the ex-counterfeiter and escaped convict. Investigation proved his identity, and acting upon the advice of Secret Service Agent Cronin of the government staff, they arrested him.

Story of His Crimes

In his day, Gregory was accounted one of the cleverest of counterfeitters and was a much-wanted man by the government. He was arrested in Oakland on a charge of counterfeiting, and gave bond for his appearance, afterward forfeiting the bond. Later, he was arrested in Seattle for a similar offense and was convicted, being sentenced to serve seven years at the state prison on McNeil island.

After serving one year of this term, he was ordered sent to the Detroit prison, and when the train stopped at Council Bluffs, Ia., he escaped from the sheriff, and has since been at large. This occurred on New Year's day, 1893.

He wandered over the country, eluding capture, until eight months ago, when he moved his family to Los Angeles and became a street vender. He believed that the government had ceased to look for him and felt that his exemplary life would have its reward in the buried secret.

Admits His Identity

When arrested by the policemen, he admitted his identity and told the story of his wanderings. He is resigned to the fate which returns him to prison after more than a decade of freedom, under suspense, which would have terminated long years ago had he not escaped. Yet, he has hopes that the government will find in his twelve years' record of honest living an excuse for pardoning the remainder of the term and permit him to continue to live that life in peace and support his family.

HEALTH BRINGS BEAUTY.

A Popular Young Society Woman Tells How She Regained Her Health. 1117 Woodland Ave., KANSAS CITY, Mo. Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio. GENTLEMEN: "Peruna has done me such a world of good in giving me new health and strength that I want to tell you of its value to me. I was rundown and had lost my appetite during the warm days of last summer. I became thin, weak and nervous, and needed a stimulating tonic. I took other medicine, which did not seem to help me, but Peruna built up my system, infused new life, gave renewed energy and restored me to perfect health. I took only six bottles, and shall never be without it."

—Ada Baker. (Member Hillside Athletic Club.)

The symptoms of summer catarrh vary in different cases, but the most common ones are lassitude, played-out, tired-out, rundown, used-up feelings, combined with a more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition. Peruna meets all these conditions at this season of the year.

Thousands of women suffer from catarrhal nervousness and exhaustion during the summer months. If you feel fagged out, begin at once taking Peruna. It will relieve your catarrhal condition and restore you to health. If you desire special advice, write to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Bank Stock for Sale At Only $5 Per Share

Plan to Secure 1000 Stockholders. No One Allowed to Purchase More Than $500 of Stock

The people of Los Angeles can not buy bank stock at only $5 per share. No one will be allowed to purchase more than $500 of stock. Capital is to be increased to $500,000, making a bank of a thousand small stockholders, thereby becoming the people's bank of Los Angeles. The Consolidated Bank of Los Angeles has decided to place its stock with the people, believing that in securing a thousand stockholders it will secure a thousand depositors at the same time. Investors can purchase such stock with absolute safety as to perfect security, and realize a handsome profit therefrom, as has been done by the owners of stock in the various other banks of Los Angeles. This is the only opportunity ever offered the general public to buy stock in a Los Angeles bank at $5 per share. We would rather have 5000 stockholders of $100 each than 1000 of $500 each. We want the greatest number of stockholders, as the more stockholders there are the stronger the bank. All stock fully paid up at Five Dollars per share. Purchasers can buy from 1 to 100 shares at $5 per share, but no one can buy more than $500 of stock. Subscription books just opened. Purchasers can subscribe for 100 shares and pay for the same in weekly payments of Five Dollars, and receive one share of paid-up stock as each $5 payment is made. We want the people to become the stockholders in the people's bank of Los Angeles. Officers: William H. Carlson (ex-mayor of the city of San Diego), president; J. G. Estrella (ex-treasurer of California), first vice president; F. H. Dixon (ex-state harbor commissioner of California), second vice president; A. W. Carver, cashier. Call or write for further information. Pamphlets solicited free on application. CONSOLIDATED BANK, 124 South Broadway (ground floor Chamber of Commerce Building), Los Angeles, Cal.

"Burrelleing"

"How to make the name of a newspaper a household word—that is a matter for serious thought," said a New York City editor recently. "One of the best contributory means that I have found is to have your newspaper Burrelled."

The listener sat up in his chair. "Burrelled," he exclaimed, "that's something about press clippings."

"Yes," continued the editor, "it certainly is. The Burrelle concern here in New York is the largest press clipping bureau in the world, so that now the name of Burrelle has become synonymous with press clippings."

"What has that to do with popularizing the name of a newspaper?"

"Well, I send Burrelle a dozen copies of each issue of my paper, and every week I receive letters from utter strangers saying: 'I received a clipping from your paper through Burrelle, please send advertising rates, or, send me 100 copies, or something of that sort. It is the best and cheapest advertising that a newspaper can do. It introduces a paper to new people who would not otherwise see it and keeps it before those who already know it.'"

"I have never looked at Burrelleing from that viewpoint before."

The editor continued: "If you sat at your desk you would realize how familiar the names of certain papers have become to me through Burrelle's slips and you would appreciate the direct and great value of cash on circulation. Marked copies are all very well, but marked copies go astray, and the marked copy intended for the publisher may land on the editor's desk and the publisher remain in blissful ignorance of all the nice things said about him. The clipping service places the item in the hands of the man it is intended for, and my paper gets the credit or the blame. Years ago I worked on a paper where a youth was employed at a good salary whose sole duty it was to clip all personal mention and send the items with the printed slip to the subjects. The Burrelle System does this work, does it more thoroughly and systematically, and does it for nothing. It is good advertising and it pays."
