IN THE GOOD OLD FASHIONED DAYS

Powdered Wigs Formed an Important Adjunct to a Gentleman's Apparel. It is safe to say that the majority of bald men of today would gladly revive the old, dignified custom if they could. But that is the next best thing to it; that is, hold on to what hair they have. In cases where the hair root or hair bulb has not been completely destroyed by parasites that infect it, Newbury's Herpicide will do wonders in the way of encouraging a new growth of hair. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. That is the successful mission of Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide company, Detroit, Mich.

DOVE ORDINANCE
DECLARED INVALIDCONFLICTS WITH POWERS OF LEGISLATURE

REVOKES LOCAL AUTHORITY

Constitutionality Is Questioned on the Hearing of Writ of Habeas Corpus, and Court of Appeals Declines Against It

It shall be unlawful in the county of Los Angeles, between the thirtieth day of June and the fifteenth day of August of each year, and between the fifteenth day of August of each year and the sixteenth day of February of the next year ensuing, for any person to hunt, pursue, take, kill or destroy, or have in his possession, any dove or doves.—Section 1, ordinance 120 (new series), board of supervisors of Los Angeles county.

By the decree of the court of appeals for the second appellate district of California rendered yesterday in the application of Lyman D. Prindle for a writ of habeas corpus the "dove ordinance" passed by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors has been declared invalid and of no force and effect and the only law bearing upon this subject is the general state law.

Prindle was recently arrested for violating the ordinance and pleaded guilty. He was fined and in default of payment of the fine he was confined in the county jail. Application was made for a writ of habeas corpus on the declaration that the ordinance was void and of no effect and the decree upholds this contention.

It is the opinion of the court, in which Judges Gray and Smith concur with the opinion rendered by Judge Allen, that the amendment to the constitution, known as No. 25 1-2, adopted in 1902, took away the right of the legislature to delegate the county boards of supervisors the right to legislate regarding fish and game within their jurisdiction and left the sole and exclusive right to legislate with the state legislature. This amendment is as follows:

"The legislature may provide for the division of the state into fish and game districts and may enact such laws for the protection of fish and game therein as they may deem appropriate."

Opinion of Court
Several typewritten pages are devoted to a discussion of the legal points involved, the opinion summed up in the following paragraphs:

"The word 'may' in section 25 1-2 must, therefore, be read 'must,' and ever since its adoption the express command has been upon the state legislature to enact such legislation touching the care and custody of wild game as is necessary for its effectual and full protection, and this with reference to local conditions, if any such there be, which would require special legislation for special localities.

"We are unable to see, however, any particular significance attaching to the manner in which the word 'may' shall be read in this constitutional amendment, inasmuch as its obvious intent was to confer upon the state legislature alone authority to deal with the subject of fish and game, and in such legislation to relieve it from the necessity of enacting general laws applicable alike to the whole state, and the effect of which could only be to remove the necessity theretofore existing for delegation of power to local authorities.

"We are of the opinion, therefore, that any authority reposing in the legislature to delegate legislative power to counties in reference to this subject was revoked by the amendment 25 1-2; and the failure and neglect of the legislature to obey the plain mandate of the constitution does not, empower the board of supervisors to assume this duty reposing in the state alone.

"This ordinance, therefore, having been adopted since the adoption of section 25 1-2, and since authority to delegate power with reference to this subject has ceased to exist, it must be held to be invalid.

"Were it even a valid exercise of power, the ordinance upon its face is an unreasonable exercise thereof. The delegated power originally was with reference to shortening the season, which can only be held to be a period of time within which persons might exercise a natural right to hunt and kill the game belonging to the public, and not to enact an ordinance in its nature prohibitive.

"The ordinance, therefore, being void, it follows that the prisoner should be discharged, and it is so ordered."

PERSONAL

Horace Jaynes, reputed to be many times a millionaire and patent medicine manufacturer, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday over the Southern Pacific on his way home from the Portland exposition. Jaynes, who is accompanied by his family, travels in the private car "Columbia," which was used by William McKinley while president, and pays $50 a day for the privilege. He left his home in Philadelphia early in June and has visited many points of interest in the northwest. He will go to Grand canyon Tuesday. The plain American citizen pays $17.50 a fare from Los Angeles to the canyon. Jaynes, traveling in his private car with his family of six persons, pays at the rate of $100 each.

C. C. Cline, city editor of the Journal in Kansas City, is here with his wife, touring the west. Mr. Cline, though from one of the most hustling cities on earth, throws up both hands when speaking of Los Angeles. "We've a lively place of our own," said he last night, but I never saw anything like Los Angeles. It is clear, bright, beautiful. I am amazed at it. Broadway is the most beautiful street at night that I ever saw. I visited the beaches today and was astonished at what I saw. The world doesn't realize what is doing here; it is marvelous and surprising."

Myer Siegel of the firm of Myer Siegel & Co. has left for the east, where he will spend four weeks on business for the firm. E. J. Brent and wife have just returned from a six weeks' sojourn in the east. They report a very pleasant trip—pretty hot and not half so good as California.

Stanley H. Castleman, cashier of the First National bank of Riverside, accompanied by his wife and brother, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and is registered at the Broadway Van Nuy. W. J. Wilson of Nippeno, well known in Los Angeles as the promoter of the Los Angeles Athletic club, now interested in the new gold camp on the desert, is registered at the Angelus.

Let It Work for You

This is a picture of an automatic machine for selling 5c lead pencils.

It pays no rent and works night and day and holidays. It keeps no books, requires no clerk, takes no bad money and cheats no one.

It will stand on a pedestal in every busy place. Schools, colleges, universities, public buildings, libraries, depots, hotels, in business blocks, stock exchanges, newspaper offices, street car barns, department stores, ocean steamships and many other places too numerous to mention. You drop in a good nickel and out comes a fine Dixon pencil sharpened, ready for use and rubber tipped—a good pencil for the money.

If you accidentally drop in a penny, a dime, a $5 gold piece or a smooth nickel the machine hands back the money.

It is the only slot machine in the world that does not cheat itself or cheat you. You can't work it with a slug—no use trying.

The pencils it sells cost about 1 cent and sell for 5c.

The white space you see on the machine carries advertisements that roll around when you pull the lever. These advertising spaces sell at $1 each a month. There are six of these spaces on each machine.

The machines cost about $10 each to build. They are leased for $50 each to managers all over the United States. The profit will be stupendous—figure it out for yourself.

Now remember this: Years from now you will tell your children that you remember when this company was starting and offering its stock for sale to you at $25 a share.

The machine is not TO BE invented—it IS invented.

The factory is not TO BE established—it IS established.

The company pays no salaries to its officers.

The stock has a par value of $100 a share. It is selling today at $25 a share. Some day it is likely to be worth $1000 a share.

If you want some of this stock and can't pay all cash—all right; you can buy it on easy payments, from me.

Don't say you are too poor—that's why you remain poor. Get lively—do something to merit wealth. Wealth doesn't like poor people—never did.

Get into a thing when it is poor and get rich with it. This company is going to try to make its stockholders rich—every one of them.

It is hoped to put out 400,000 machines. When this is done the profit will run into the millions. You have figured the profits; figure them again.

Do you want some of this money? Then get some stock—but get it NOW.

The machines by actual proof will sell more than ten pencils a day. They were tested in this city in hotels, depots, business blocks, offices and colleges.

The United States government protects slot machines that sell merchandise, but prohibits gambling slot machines. This machine doesn't gamble—it sells a necessity.

It will be welcomed and demanded wherever civilized people live—people who use pencils.

It is the only machine of the kind in the world. And the only machine to sell lead pencils. It has a monopoly—it is a small trust in itself. It is patented.

The company owes no debts. The company has its stock of pencils on hand and paid for. It has cash in the First National Bank of this city.

It has discounted its bills. It is a company that has no skeleton in the closet. It is a clean company.

This company will be a dividend payer. This company has money in it—figure it out again and see.

Now isn't it a sensible proposition?

Selling pencils hurts only the blind beggar. Share your dividends with the blind man when the business begins to hurt him and pay you.

You can see the sense of a machine to sell lead pencils. Come and see the machine and ask questions.

This company is all right. It was started right and has grown steadily better ever since.

There are 200 shares for sale at $25 each. So don't delay too long—wise people act quickly. Look this matter up at once.

Think of the fortunes made in thousands of inventions since the days of Fulton's steamboat and the days of your grandfather.

All good things are inventions; some one makes a profit out of them. Why don't you share in a good invention?

This pencil company will be a big profit payer. It will make millions.

Some men claim that a share selling for $25 today will some fine day be worth $1000. Looks sensible, too—doesn't it?

Anyway, it will be worth hundreds.

The sewing machine stock sold at $5; it is worth $2000. The cash register stock sold at $5; it is worth $1000, and other stock increases are bigger.

For instance, the telephone and electric light, the chewing gum slot machine and the peanut slot machine.

Now don't put this off longer—get in a hurry and investigate this proposition.

I am in my office to tell you more about it if you can think of anything more to ask—I can't, or I'd print it in this advertisement.

I have some printed matter and will write you a letter if you will send me your address and name.

Or telephone it to me over Home phone 7327.

Or come to my office.

Or send me a messenger.

Anyway, don't put it off too long and then be among those who said: "I told you this company would make a barrel of money."

Send me your check if you live out of town. I'll send the stock at once. I stay in my office all business hours and Saturday and Monday evenings.

I want you to some day thank me for interesting you in this stock—it will make you money.
