Greek Fined for Shooting Quail Out of Season—City Needs Sewer Key Book—Other Pasadena News

Pasadena Agency, 114 East Colorado Street.

PASADENA, Sept. 7.—The police found William R. Flannery sleeping on a North Fair Oaks avenue lawn this morning and persuaded him to continue his slumbers at the station. Justice Congdon sent him to the county jail for ten days on the charge of vagrancy. Flannery bore on his person a carefully prepared outline of a trip from the Pacific coast to New Orleans, which he proposes to make, providing some one will put up the necessary funds. But the novel feature of the trip is that it is to be made on foot, the luckless pedestrian to wear nothing but a bathing suit. He says that he has always lived on the principle that if a man could not be famous he could at least be notorious. Flannery is probably a little unbalanced. At any rate his trip to New Orleans will take him ten days longer than he had figured.

Burglars made two visits this week to the residence of Mrs. L. M. Jacobs, on North Marengo avenue, but secured nothing of value. Mrs. Jacobs is spending some time at one of the beaches and during her absence her son is sleeping in the house. Tuesday night he came home to find the front door open, the lights burning and the whole house ransacked from cellar to garret. Last night the visit was repeated. But the son had taken the precaution when his mother left to remove all of the silverware and small articles of value to a safety deposit vault. It is hoped that a third visit will not be made, as it is a great deal of trouble to straighten up things after each visit. The police are considerably puzzled.

Gus Legakis, the Greek under indictment for hunting quail out of season, paid a $25 fine in Justice Congdon's court upon entering a plea of guilty. Legakis is under $1500 bond to appear in the superior court on the charge of resisting an officer. When he paid his fine in the justice's court Constable Newell served papers on him in the damage suit brought against him by S. L. Wallis, whose arm the Greek is said to have broken when Wallis tried to arrest him.

Brown Holds Key
Ex-Street Superintendent C. C. Brown holds in his possession a little book recording the location of places along the Raymond avenue sewer where connections can be made. He claims that the city owes him a little over $100 for his services as sewer inspector, but neither the city council nor City Auditor J. Maghan admit the debt. In other words they refuse to pay the bill. Brown says little but keeps possession of the key book, without which it is practically impossible to make connections with the sewer. Will the bill be paid?

W. A. Griffith paid a fine of $3 this morning for driving two blocks on Marengo avenue boulevard. There is a city ordinance declaring this street closed to heavily loaded wagons, unless the load is intended for delivery to parties on the street, and heretofore no arrests have been made under the ordinance. Griffith received two dollars for the day's services as driver and paid out three dollars as fine. Net loss one dollar.

LOSES LIFE IN THE SURF NEAR RINCON

Two Men in Buggy Drive Over a Bank and One of Them Is Drowned

Special to The Herald.
VENTURA, Sept. 7.—Coroner Beckley was summoned to Rincon yesterday afternoon by the news that two men in a buggy had driven off the bank near that place and had been drowned in the surf. Upon reaching the scene it was found that Harry Streton of Carpinteria, who was driving the rig, was still alive but unable to free himself from the wagon, and an unidentified man, who had joined Streton some place on the road, was drowned. Streton could give little information of the affair, as he was intoxicated and did not know how he came to be there. He left Ventura about 8:30 yesterday morning, having first inquired of Joe Cerf regarding the tides. At the point where the accident occurred there are many rocks, and at high tide the water reaches the bluff and is impassable. It is supposed that Streton drove into the water, being too intoxicated to know the danger.

The dead man was evidently a tramp and also a cripple, his right leg being off just below the knee and his left foot cut half off. There were no papers to identify him. He was a man about 40 years of age.

Coroner Beckley arrived late last evening with Mr. Streton and the corpse. Streton was put to bed at the Revere house. An inquest will be held this morning.

The Native Sons are planning for a celebration of Admission day here. There will be a parade in the afternoon, after which a ball game will take place at Agricultural park. A ball will be held at Armory hall in the evening. The Santa Barbara parlor will join in the festivities.

Sloop Vishnu Leaves Santa Barbara. Elks Prepare to Celebrate Admission Day

By Associated Press.
SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 7.—The sloop Vishnu was the first boat to leave this port for the relief of the schooner J. M. Coleman, which is beached on the western coast of San Miguel island, about forty-five miles out from this city. She left at 9 o'clock this morning in charge of Calud Cole and carrying W. G. Tibbetts, a mariner of the C. A. Hoper company of San Francisco, which owns the wrecked schooner. Captain Vasquez, an old Spanish sailor, who is familiar with the islands, went on the trip as pilot. Captain Tibbetts stated that three boats were coming to the assistance of the Coleman. The Chehalis, southbound from San Francisco, was intercepted by wire and sent to the wreck, and will probably be the first one to reach the ship. The steamer Savage and the tug Sealwitch are also on the way to San Miguel island. Little hope is entertained by Captain Tibbetts of saving the ship, although he hopes to be able to get all the lumber off in a good condition.

From 1500 to 2000 boxes of table grapes are being shipped daily from this county to the Los Angeles market. About half of them go from El Cajon valley and the other half from Escondido valley. The grapes were never of larger size and finer flavor than this year, and the Los Angeles market never before took so many of them. The returns to the vineyardists are considerably larger from the green grapes than they would be from raisins. Raisin drying will begin about the middle of the month.

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 7.—The latest news concerning the lost sail boat and party that went out last Monday is rather vague. It is now reported that a boat answering the description of the lost one has been tied up at the Terminal pier for a day or so and no one knows to whom it belongs. Van Trees has been notified and has gone over to see if it is the right one. It is now thought that the party got out past the breakwater where the wind could get a good sweep at them, and being unable to sail in again drifted over to Terminal and tied up, glad of the chance to save the expense of paying hire for the return of the boat.

CHARGED WITH MURDER IN MOUNTAIN WOOD CAMP

THREE SUSPECTS BROUGHT TO SAN BERNARDINO

Celebrated David Morey Will Case Likely to Be Again in Court, Petition for Probate of an Earlier Decree Having Been Applied For

Special to The Herald.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 7.—Three men who have been employed on the big dam in Little Bear valley are in the county jail on suspicion of having murdered Fred Romeo, a Mexican who was employed near the dam cutting wood, by shooting him. The men give their names as Fred Eldridge, Frank Goss and Sam Jackson. They were arrested this morning and brought down with the body of the dead man.

But little of the story has yet been gathered by the officers. The men were all together in the camp of the wood choppers. The three men under suspicion maintain that the shooting was an accident, the pistol being in the hands of the dead man and accidentally discharged. But the fact that the bullet entered the back of the dead man's head is considered as evidence by the officers that Romeo did not die by his own hand, and it is believed there was a fight. All the men are said to have been drinking. The body of the dead man was found outside of the camp, near the road.

There threatens to be another contest in the David Morey will case, which has been three times tried in the superior court here and twice passed on by the supreme court, the last will left by Morey being confirmed. Ada Hoskings has now filed a petition for the probate of a will that was executed about one year before the final will. Under it she was left $4000, but in the last will made she was entirely cut off. She does not ask to have the last will set aside but merely asks to have the former will probated along with the last one.

The Morey estate involved something like $40,000 and it has been one of the most bitter will contests ever carried on in the courts of this county. This latest phase is an interesting one and is really instigated by the relatives of the deceased man who have been seeking to break the last will.

The troubles of Mrs. Mae Henry and her brother-in-law, Gus Knight, which have been marked by much bitterness in the past, have taken a new turn, resulting in the arrest of Mrs. Henry on a charge of violating the game law by having more than the limit of trout in her possession at one time. The complaint was made against Mrs. Henry by one John Storker, a minor for whom Gus Knight is guardian. Storker recently, through his guardian, sued Mrs. Henry for wages.

It is alleged that Mrs. Henry had 215 trout salted down in a barrel at her Bear valley hotel. She explains that the trout were caught by summer boarders at the hotel, who brought them in a few at a time and gave them to her, and she did not know there was anything wrong in salting them down, and keeping them. The arrest was made by Deputy State Game Warden Pritchard of Santa Monica.

Mrs. Henry and Knight have been having trouble for a long time, their difficulties just at present involving the title to the Bear valley resort property which Mrs. Henry runs. Knight recently got Mrs. Henry's husband to deed over to him his interest in the property after he had just returned from a big spree in Los Angeles, where he announced, while drunk, that he was to succeed Chief of Police Hammel. Intense bitterness has been engendered in the family by the trouble.

MONROVIA TAX RATE MATERIALLY INCREASED

Special Appropriation Will Supply $1000 for the Maintenance of the Public Library

Special to The Herald.

MONROVIA, Sept. 7.—The tax rate for Monrovia for the coming year has been fixed by the board at $1.60, which is ten cents higher than that of last year. The amount levied for municipal improvements is seventy-five cents, as much as is permitted under the organization of the city as one of the sixth class. There is an appropriation of eight and one-third cents for the maintenance of the public library, which will give this institution $1000. As the new library is to be the center of the proposed $26,000 park, a portion of these library funds under the tax levy may be diverted to the improvement of the immediately surrounding grounds. Another reason for the increase is found in the many street improvements that are under way. The assessment for bonds and interest is eighty-five cents.

LONG BEACH YOUTH IS PAINFULLY HURT

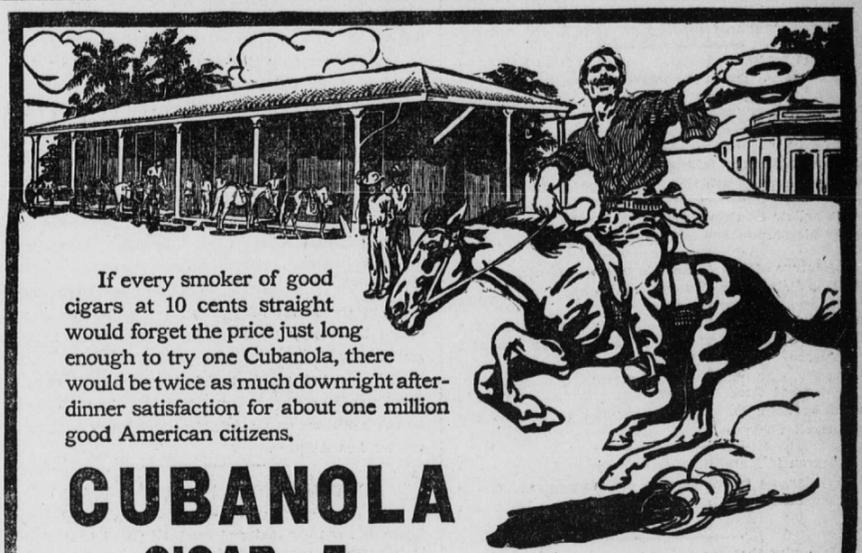

FOOT GASHED BY STEPPING ON BROKEN BOTTLE

Col. J. D. Mason of Chicago Arrives and States That Number of Eastern Tourists to Visit Southern California Will Break All Records

Special to The Herald.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 7.—Glenn Spies, a Santa Monica boy, 14 years of age, was severely injured today by stepping on a broken bottle on the beach. He had started down from his uncle's home at 68 Lime avenue for a bath, and, in going under the pier, stepped on the jagged edge of several pieces of glass which were scattered over an area of several square feet. The lad was barefooted and several of the gashes were very deep. It was some little time after the accident happened before aid was secured and Glenn lost considerable blood. It is feared that the injury to the cords of the foot may be of a permanent nature.

Long Beach citizens are preparing to entertain the members of the Los Angeles realty board next Saturday when they will come to this city as the guests of the Dana Burks syndicate to investigate the proposed commercial city and ship canal for the flats which border Long Beach on the west. If every smoker of good cigars at 10 cents straight would forget the price just long enough to try one Cubanola, there would be twice as much downright after-dinner satisfaction for about one million good American citizens.

CUBANOLA

CIGAR—5c.

Genuine Havana filler and Sumatra wrapper in a 5-cent cigar!

Except for the American Cigar Company's unequalled system of direct supervision and control—plantations, warehouses, stemmeries, factories and humidors—the Cubanola would not be the only cigar of its kind in the country selling for 5 cents, but would be as high in price as it is in quality.

The Cubanola is as perfect in workmanship as in quality of leaf and uniformity of blend—a rich, aromatic, luxurious smoke that you are pretty likely to make a hobby of, whatever may be your prejudice in favor of paying 10 cents and taking chances with your eyes shut.

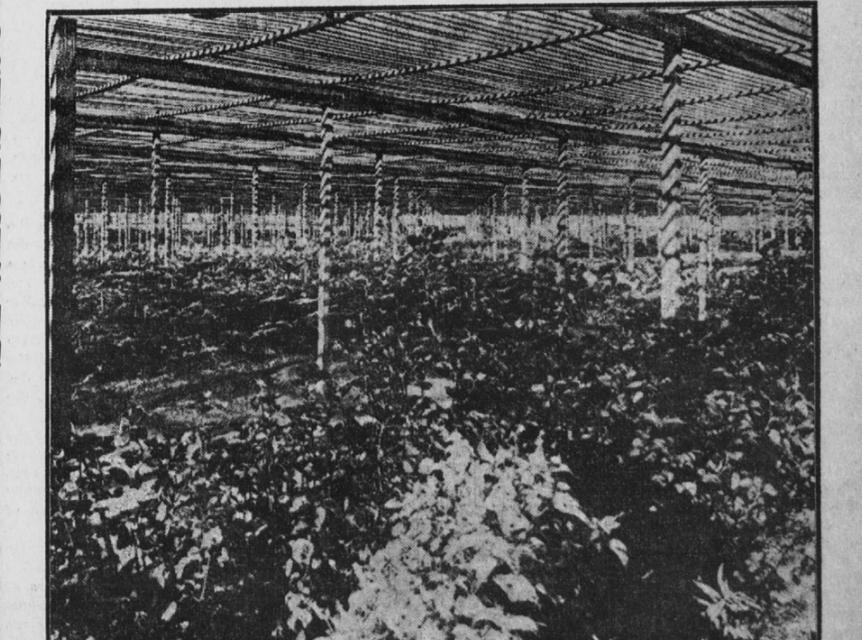

Cubanola Cigars are delivered to the dealer in perfect condition, direct from the humidors, every box separately cased in a dust-tight, weather-proof, paraffine wrapper. The Triangle 'A' on the Cubanola box stands for perfect cigars. It is a merit-mark that means science system and cleanliness in every process, and better cigars for less money.
