

SISTERS TO CARE FOR NEEDY SICK

TO ESTABLISH FREE CLINICAL HOSPITAL

Medicines Will Be Sold at Low Rate and in Exceptional Cases Prescriptions Will Be Filled Without Cost

To care for the unfortunate, the deserving poor, the sweet faced Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, who are in charge of the Sisters' hospital, have opened a free clinic in two small cottages situated on the hospital grounds. For years the sisters have felt the necessity of such a branch, and have but recently been able to establish it.

The new clinical building is fitted up with all modern appliances. The entrance is into a cozy little waiting room, to the left of which is a room for ear, eye and throat troubles, and adjoining it is a room fitted up with all necessities for surgical cases. Here minor surgical operations are performed, the major operations being cared for at the hospital building. The medical department is situated in a room adjoining that of the surgical department, all opening from the waiting room. A small room is also devoted to medicines and supplies. Prescriptions will be filled for those receiving attention at the clinic at about one-third the usual price. In extreme cases medicines will be furnished free by the good sisters. The second cottage will be fitted up as a duplicate of the first, one being devoted to men and the other to women.

Under Mother Superior

The free clinic will be under the general supervision of the mother superior, with Sister Stephan in charge. This sister recently came here from Mulphany hospital, St. Louis. Several sisters of the hospital will assist in the work, also several nurses, with a clinic staff of physicians in attendance. The clinic will be open from 9 to 12 o'clock each morning. Heretofore a free clinic has been conducted each Saturday morning.

Sister Mary Ann, mother superior of the hospital, came here a year ago from Hotel Dieu, New Orleans, where she had been the past fifteen years.

Although the hospital is heavily encumbered with indebtedness, the sisters are planning to care for the poor. There is a debt of $200,000 on the new wing of the hospital, some months the proceeds not being enough to meet the interest.

Notwithstanding these seeming obstacles, the nuns, who have renounced the world, are anxious to care for all that will come to them for assistance.

The training school for nurses connected with the hospital will commence its fall term of lectures next Monday. There are about forty nurses in training. The hospital clinic staff will be announced in the near future, some of the leading physicians having offered their services for the free clinic.

SHOULD AID SUNDAY SCHOOL

Dr. H. W. Brodbeck Speaks at the Meeting of the Lay Association

"Should the Church Pay the Expenses of the Sunday School?" was the subject of the address of Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, superintendent of the First Methodist Sunday school, yesterday afternoon at the session of the Methodist lay association of the Southern California conference.

Dr. Brodbeck averred that the church should support the Sunday school. He said: "The Sunday school and church are so intimately connected that no Sunday school has a right to think itself a separate organization in the Methodist church."

"As the quarterly conference is the governing body in each local church, the Sunday school board is a creation of the said quarterly conference. A Sunday school committee is not only to look after the teachers and literature, but to provide money to pay the expenses. This is really what the church requires by its discipline."

Dr. Brodbeck is the superintendent of the second largest Sunday school in Methodism, having 2485 pupils. This school last year contributed $800 for missionary work.

Hugh C. Gibson, state secretary, made an address on "The Work of the International Sunday School Association" and A. J. Wallace spoke on the proposed incorporation of the lay association.

Special Music for Feast

The choir of the Cathedral of St. Vibiana will render a program of special music at the solemn mass tomorrow morning in honor of the feast of the holy rosary. Miss Scanlon will be the soloist.

CHARGES THAT PARENTS ARE NEGLIGENT

Rev. E. M. Randall Urges Home Life and Companionship With Children as Essentials to Proper Training

"It would be better for a man to steal a fountain pen from me than a stub pencil from a boy," said Rev. E. M. Randall, general secretary of the Methodist conference Epworth league at the conference session last evening. Rev. Mr. Randall spoke at length upon the treatment of children and proved himself a champion in the cause of the boys.

Rev. W. P. Ferguson led the service, the music being in charge of Rev. G. E. Foster. Charles Lamb sang a solo and music was rendered by the University quartet.

"It is our business," said Rev. Mr. Randall, "to bring up the boys and girls that they may not depart from good precepts. Taken from their infancy, they are easy to be controlled in religious principles. The young heart is confiding and trusting."

"It is the young people that the church depends upon to send away for missionary work. One great hindrance is that the parents neglect the children at an age when they need the most care."

"Satan is laying snares around them. One of these is the saloon. If I should take my boy and throw him into the river I would show more manhood than to allow him to frequent saloons."

"The use of tobacco I consider most injurious to children. It is very prevalent with what is called the 'smart set' of women, who dress with one-third off. One of the greatest detriments to young men is the dances given by these same women. It is the glitter of the dance that draws the young."

"Children should be retained in their homes by the companionship of their parents, instead of being allowed to stray from home beyond the parents' reach. The strenuous social demands require much attention to the children and the church should not neglect the children's societies."

Bishop Berry spoke of the Epworth league as just beginning to adjust itself. He pointed out the wish of many young people to enter the work in foreign fields when there is abundant work to be done in the home land.

"While I am a believer in the foreign missionary work," said the bishop, "we have a world to conquer at home."

The following officers for the conference Epworth league were elected: Rev. Robert Fisher, president; Mrs. J. D. Burch, first vice president; Miss Della Bates, second vice president; Mrs. E. Briggs, third vice president; Mrs. N. J. Leonard, fourth vice president; Dr. Lehman Lowder, secretary; K. Warren, treasurer; Mrs. W. H. Fisher, junior conference superintendent.

Candidates Received
The early morning was given up to an executive session. At 10:30 o'clock occurred the impressive ceremony of receiving candidates into full fellowship of the conference. Those admitted were Harold K. Van, Albert H. Ore and Paul Pengott.

In his address to the candidates Bishop Berry said: "Brothers, I want you to preach about sin. It is a disease that blights and bars the gate of heaven. We have no claim to be called the sons of God if we fail to do our duty as citizens.

"Look after the boys with all their inconsistencies. If I had my way there would be a chair of boyology in every institution of learning. We need the boys in the church."

Bishop Waldron spoke on the Freedman's Aid society. He said:

"Do you know there are 1,600,000 colored children in the free schools of the south, and that nine-tenths of the money for the support of these institutions comes from white property holders of the south?"

"The church must keep pace in its teachings with the secular schools. The Anglo-Saxon race is the missionary race of the world. Africa must be evangelized and we must educate colored missionaries to do the work. The colored students are asking to be sent. They want to go back to convert the people of their own land. Africa is to them what England was to the early American colonies."

The afternoon service was in charge of the Pacific branch of the Foreign Missionary society. Mrs. C. E. Brown, vice president, presided.

Bishop Waldron of Cincinnati, superannuated bishop, made an address on the foreign mission field.

Dr. Swartz, presiding elder under Rev. E. H. Fretz, former pastor of the Haven Methodist church, made an address on the mission work in Japan.

Dr. Smyth from China gave an account of the Chinese language and customs, comparing those of the pagan with the Christian.

ADDICKS' PROPERTY TO BE SOLD

By Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 29.—In the United States circuit court today Judge Gray dismissed the petition of J. Edward Addicks, in which he asked a stay of proceedings in the $45,000 judgment recently obtained against him by Charles S. Hinchman of Camden, N. J., under which Addicks' personal property on four farms in this state was levied upon. United States Marshal Flynn thereupon made arrangements to hold a sale of Addicks' personal property on October 11 and 12.

LIBRARY DECREE TO BE APPEALED

CITY ATTORNEY EXPECTS TO REVERSE RULING

Judge Trask Decides That Los Angeles May Not Violate Terms of Dedication of Central Park

City Attorney Mathews said yesterday that the city of Los Angeles would appeal from the decision of Judge Trask, by which the right of the city to erect a library building in Central park was denied.

The decision was rendered in a suit brought against the city by J. H. Spires and others to test the right of the city to convert Central park into a site for the proposed new library building.

By the decree of Judge Trask, the city holds title to the lands for a specific purpose, that of maintaining a public park, and that to convert it to any other use would be in violation of the consideration in the deed of dedication by which the city acquired the title and, therefore, in excess of its authority.

The property in that vicinity is nearly entirely taken up by boarding and rooming houses. It was alleged by the landlords of these places that their boarders were charmed with the attractions of the park and if the park was destroyed the boarders would leave and their business be ruined.

From the landlords the question was put up to the property owners. They declared for their tenants and J. H. Spires and others filed suit in the superior court against the city.

The decision is as follows: "The evidence in this case clearly establishes the fact that the land proposed to be used in part for a public library building has been dedicated by the city of Los Angeles for public park purposes."

"The occupation and use of this land to the extent contemplated for a public library building and the business of a public library are inconsistent with the declared uses and purposes to which it has been dedicated.

"Since a municipal corporation may dedicate lands of which it is the proprietor, to specific public uses, 'not inconsistent with the public purposes for which the lands are held,' its dedication will be as binding, within proper limits, as would that of a private owner."

"Findings and decree are therefore ordered in favor of the plaintiff."

The attorneys for Spires were Eugene Overton, Charles Wellborn and H. T. Lee. City Attorney W. B. Mathews and Herbert Goudge represented the city.

Delay in Street Work

Street work is being delayed in some parts of the city and in others the work has been abandoned altogether on account of the increased cost occasioned by the change of specifications governing the cement work. A petition was read before the board of public works yesterday asking that the old specifications be used in place of the new ones. The petition was refused.
