PASADENA

The Halderman-Bannister wedding Thursday evening was the largest society event of the week in Pasadena and was one of the prettiest weddings in months. The bridal procession was unusually pretty and unique, the eight flower chain bearers leading the way down the broad stairway bearing the long ropes of smilax and white geraniums in graceful festoons. The girls were dressed in dainty gowns of non-padour organdy in delicate tints. They were Miss Genevieve Bowser, Miss Clara Parmelee, Miss Katharine Brady, Miss Esther Wright, Miss Ethel Bowser and Miss Anna Van Dam. The two bridesmaids came next, Miss Ethel Shradar of Hollywood and Miss Theodosia Thompson of Los Angeles, while the maid of honor, Miss Cornelia Bannister, sister of the bride, walked just in front of the bride. The maid of honor's gown was of pink flowered net over pink taffeta, and she carried pink carnations. Miss Shradar and Miss Thompson wore dainty frocks of white net on a foundation of pink and carried sheaves of white carnations and asparagus ferns. Miss Florence May Bannister, the bride, wore soft white crepe de chine over silk, garnished with duchesse lace. Her long veil was caught with a cluster of orange blossoms and she carried bride roses. The bride was met at the altar by the groom, Guy

PASADENA SHAKESPEARE CLUB WOMEN DEDICATE NEW HOME

Mrs. W. D. Turner

The opening and dedication of the new and handsome club house of the Shakespeare club of Pasadena took place yesterday afternoon. The beautiful new bungalow club home on Los Robles avenue, with its fine auditorium, tea rooms and reception rooms, is the delight of 400 prominent Pasadena women who are members of the Shakespeare club, and yesterday was a red letter day in the history of the organization.

After the informal reception Rev. Malcolm James McLeod offered prayer, Mrs. Emily P. Webb read an original poem, and Miss Anna L. Meeker, president of the Club House association, with a pretty little ceremony, turned over the keys to Mrs. W. D. Turner, the president of the club.

A club tea, served from the convenient kitchen, closed the afternoon. The new building is large, commodious and very nearly perfect in every respect for the uses to which the club women expect to put it.

Early in December there will be held in the new building the district convention of the state Federation of Club Women.

Emerson Halderman, with his best man, James Drummond Huston of Los Angeles, and Rev. A. W. Lampert, the latter performing the ceremony. The couple left for a wedding journey and will be at home at the Sunland Villa upon their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, who were recently married in Wilkesbarre, Pa., have come to Pasadena to make their home. At present they are at the Guinalda, but will at once build a new home. Mrs. King will be remembered by many former friends as Miss Katharine Gilleland, who has spent several seasons here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Kendall entertained at dinner Thursday evening in honor of Senator and Mrs. Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia, who are in Pasadena for a few days on their return from the Orient, where they were members of the Taft party. The beautiful table decorations were of duchess roses.

The guests included Senator and Mrs. Scott, Congressman and Mrs. James B. McLachlan, Mr. T. J. Riggs and Miss Riggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Burdette entertained a congenial circle of their "first Tuesday night" friends this week, but so many were still away upon their vacation trips that no formal program was attempted this evening, being pleasantly spent in informal conversation and music.

Mrs. Albert Edwards entertained at a pretty affair Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Anna Munger, who is to be this week's bride. White and green were combined for the attractive decorations for this hearts party. The refreshments carried out the color scheme. Mrs. Edwards' guests, besides the honoree, included Mrs. Harry Munger, Mrs. Roy Munger, Mrs. George Frost, Mr. Mortimer Henderson, Mrs. Frank Burnham, Mrs. Charles Woodbury, Mrs. John Holmes, Mrs. Ray Thomas, Mrs. Ben Whitmore, Mrs. Guy Wood, Mrs. T.
