

CUPID ON TRAIN; DARTS EFFECTIVE

SOLDIER COMES BACK TO CLAIM PROMISE

Miss Myrtle Hadley of Los Angeles Becomes Bride of Clarence Helms as Result of Unusual Romance

They met on a California-bound train, Myrtle Hadley a pretty maid and Clarence Helms a soldier boy. He was on his way to the Philippines to fight for his country, she was on her way to Los Angeles to make her home. They parted for five years; the soldier left the maid in Los Angeles, but carried a promise with him.

Tuesday evening Miss Myrtle G. Hadley and Clarence B. Helms were married. The soldier came back to claim his promise and the girl was waiting.

Miss Hadley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Hadley of 131 West Thirty-sixth street. Five years ago she was on her way from the east to California with her mother, father and sister. There were eleven soldier boys on the train, all of the Third infantry, leaving America, perhaps for the last time.

Cupid was also a passenger, and he had a plan for two lives. When the train left Los Angeles Mabel Hadley and Clarence Helms had agreed never to marry until they again saw each other.

That was five years ago. Letters traveled across the water and the promise became more firm. The soldier came back to his country at the close of the war, was mustered out with his regiment in Ohio, and three weeks ago arrived in Los Angeles.

A pretty little home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents. Only a few intimate friends of the young people were present, but during the evening a large reception was held. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Fisher and music was in charge of the bride's cousin, Miss Edna Hadley, who wore a dainty gown of lavender silk. The bride wore a traveling gown of Alice blue silk. Two maids who assisted were the bride's cousin, Miss Inez Hadley, and her sister, Miss Maud Hadley. Both were gowned in white swiss. The home was artistically decorated with carnations and ferns. The parlors were in green and white and the bride and bridegroom stood during the ceremony under an arch of ferns and white blossoms. Pink carnations and ferns decorated the dining room, where a wedding supper was served.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Helms will return to Los Angeles for a visit with the bride's parents. They may make their home here.

Miss Newell Honored Guest

Miss Clara Howes of 2920 South Figueroa street gave a delightful luncheon yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Maud Newell, whose engagement to Philip D. Wilson was announced recently at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. David Edgar Llewellyn of 1935 South Figueroa street. Miss Howes' guests, all of whom are intimate friends of the bride-to-be, were seated at a table daintily decorated with violets and ferns. Several other affairs have been planned for Miss Newell and at a few of them Mr. Wilson will also share the honors.

Tuesday Afternoon Whist

Mrs. E. J. Brent was hostess Tuesday afternoon at an interesting meeting of the Original Tuesday Afternoon Whist club, held at her home, 1830 West Eleventh street. The rooms in which cards were played were brightened with chrysanthemum and ferns and refreshments were served in the beautiful conservatory. The prizes were won by Mrs. J. J. Mottell and Mrs. W. M. Downey. Mrs. Brent's guests included Mesdames P. V. Gargan, W. L. de Groot, I. B. Smith, R. E. Cunningham, M. T. Brooks, W. H. Crail, George J. Smart, J. J. Mottell, George M. Holton, E. M. Fair Denver Belle to Wed

Invitations have just been issued for the wedding of Miss Caddie Louise Hunter, daughter of Edward Hunter, of 1235 Catalina street, and George Wilson, the ceremony to take place Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, at the bride's home.

Miss Hunter has chosen Miss Gertrude Dimmick, a former schoolmate, of Denver, Col., to attend her as maid of honor, and Mr. Wilson will be assisted by his brother, Wil Wilson, as best man. The young women of the Thursday Afternoon Card club, of which the bride-to-be is a member, will have charge of the decorations for the home. About 150 invitations have been issued.

Miss Hunter lived in Denver until a few years ago and was one of the most popular and beautiful girls of the younger set in that city. Among the affairs which have been given for her was a china shower, at which the members of the Thursday Afternoon Card club were hostesses.

Mrs. Anderson's Tea

A large and beautifully appointed afternoon tea was the affair with which Mrs. J. A. Anderson of 750 Beacon street entertained nearly 200 guests yesterday afternoon. Throughout the house beautiful decorations had been arranged, and ferns and flowers were used in graceful profusion. Scarlet and green were the colors effectively combined in the artistic living room and in the reception hall where the hostess and her assistants stood long-stemmed yellow chrysanthemums were used. The dining room, where refreshments were served, was entirely in green and white, a variety of white blossoms being combined with ferns. Misses Helen Dickenson and Mary Squires presided at the punch bowls.

Receiving with the hostess were her daughter, Miss Elsie Anderson, Mrs. T. J. Latham of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. C. C. Giese of Las Vegas, N. M. The list of women who assisted them included Mesdames Lewis Williams, Bettie Anderson, Wallace Jones, T. O. Middleton, Sheldon Borden, Misses Chella Houston, Dunlap and Rixon.

In Honor of Wedding Anniversary

Miss Ethel Barrymore regretted that she could not be here to attend the garden fete this evening which is being given in the beautiful grounds of Senator Jones at Miramar, Santa Monica, but other great artists and social favorites will lend assistance to the worthy object.

MAKE STRONG EFFORT TO ABATE NUISANCE

SECOND WARD RESIDENTS ARE AROUSED

Petition to Council Protesting Against Oil Derricks and Mule Corrals Along 615 Signatures—Park Congregational Church Passes Resolution

Residents of the Second ward, and especially members of the Temple Street Improvement association, have circulated a petition to be presented to the council calling for the obliteration of the oil derricks, cables, steam-heating plants and mule corrals now located in that district. The petition has been signed by 615 residents, and was to have been presented to the council last Monday, but was withheld at the request of Councilman Hammon. It is reported that the oil men and some politicians are endeavoring to defeat this move by securing a compromise. It is expected that the petition will be presented to the council next Monday.

At the annual meeting of the Park Congregational church, which is located in the heart of the oil district, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, that the Park Congregational church organization, having endeavored with reasonable Christian grace the abominable oil nuisance because the industry was a source of profit to the public, industrially and commercially, now that it is no longer so heretofore declares that it will approve and aid any legal and just effort to completely eradicate said nuisance as speedily as possible, that the said oil district located in the Second ward, in the immediate neighborhood of the church, may be restored to its former condition for respectable resident purposes."

SPEED MANIA CLAIMS VICTIMS

AUTO COLLIDES WITH CAR; FOUR PERSONS HURT

Lively Time in Millie Bradford's Resort Is Followed by Jaunt to Outside Inn—Revelry Suddenly Stops

In a collision between a Moneta avenue electric car and a big 40-horsepower touring car owned by John J. Loneragan, proprietor of Del Monte restaurant on West Third street, at Moneta avenue and Fifty-third streets early yesterday morning, four persons were seriously injured and the car was totally wrecked. Those injured are: A. Newlands of Terminal Island, arm broken and scalp lacerated. Millie Bradford, 225 Sunset boulevard, collar bone broken and badly bruised. Lilly Bryson, 225 Sunset boulevard, severe scalp wounds and contusions. Albert Sunthelmer, 326 South Main street, severely bruised and cut about the face.

The accident followed a lively evening which had commenced early at the Bradford woman's resort on Sunset boulevard. Shortly after 9 o'clock they were joined at the resort by Albert Sunthelmer, chauffeur of the Loneragan machine and also keeper of the Richelieu saloon. The women hired the machine and drove out to the Outside Inn, a road house on Stanton avenue, where they met A. Newlands.

The party started back to the city, after imbibing freely, it is said. When they attempted to cross the car tracks on Fifty-third street they were struck by a car. The machine was turned completely over, pinning the occupants beneath it. The motorman and conductor immediately stopped the car and assisted the occupants to the receiving hospital. Dr. Freedman attended the wounded and later they were sent home, with the exception of A. Newlands, who was removed to the Sisters' Hospital by members of his family. All of those in the party will recover, but from their injuries it is said by the attending physicians that they will be confined to their beds for several weeks.

The scene of the accident is in a neighborhood which has become noted for automobile accidents. Two months ago Millionaire Hancock struck a telegraph pole with his machine, was rendered unconscious, and died two days later. Last Tuesday evening George A. Jones and party of three, in trying to avoid a collision with a milk wagon, turned over the machine and are now in the Emergency hospital. In this vicinity the roadways are broad and inviting to great speed for those affected with that mania. The conductor and motorman of Moneta avenue car 311 claim that they did not see the automobile until they were almost on top of it. Then air brakes and reversed power were useless.
