Packers Say Garfield Made Terms

Beef Trust Magnates Set Up Defense

J. Ogden Armour and Others Claim
Commissioner Guaranteed Them
Against Prosecution at Time of Investigation

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Complete immunity from prosecution under the pending indictment returned by the federal grand jury several months ago is claimed by J. Ogden Armour and the other defendant packers and agents charged with being promoters of the so-called "beef trust," in an additional plea in bar filed this afternoon by Attorney John S. Miller, the packers' representative.

The new plea which came as a complete surprise to the government sets up as facts that when Commissioner Garfield of the department of commerce and labor investigated the beef business he promised the packers that, whatever testimony they gave without being under oath or whatever documentary evidence they volunteered, the defendants should have the same rights, immunities and immunities as if they had testified under oath and compulsion.

CLEARS MYSTERY OF SUIT CASE

TELLS GRUESOME STORY OF CRIME

Man Arrested in New York Confesses to Police, Giving Details of Disposition of Dismembered
Body of Girl

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—In the arrest of two men here today, the police declare that the solution of the dress suit case mystery will be reached and that the person primarily responsible for the death of Susan Geary of Boston, the chorus girl of the "Shepherd King" company, soon will be in the hands of the police.

William Howard, who has an alias of Hunt, is 36 years of age. He is an engineer by occupation and has lived since he came here in a furnished room on East Fourteenth street. Albert H. Emory, alias Crawford, is a theatrical agent.

Howard, as soon as he was placed under arrest, the police say, freely told the complete story of the crime. He told the body, but absolutely denies that he knows who performed the operation upon the chorus girl, which brought about her death, or who dismembered the body.

Tells Gruesome Story

Howard and Crawford were arrested tonight. As soon as the men were taken to police headquarters, Howard broke down and made the alleged confession.

Howard says on the day they disposed of the girl's body Crawford handed him a small satchel at the lying-in hospital, while Crawford himself carried a dress suit case. Howard was told what was in the bag and the satchel, but was assured that no suspicion would be attracted to them. Then they started for the East Boston ferry and on the way Crawford explained that they would throw the body into the harbor at the first opportunity.
