

TRIES TO OUST CITY LIBRARY

BUILDING COMMITTEE MAKES RECOMMENDATION

Councilmen Say Municipal Officials Need the Room and That Literary Institution Should Seek Its Own Quarters

At a meeting of the building committee yesterday morning, it was decided to recommend to the council next Monday that the library be ordered to vacate its rooms in the third floor of the city hall by January 1.

The council has been threatening to take this attitude for the last two weeks, but other propositions of greater importance have caused it to be sidetracked and had the building committee not taken it upon itself to issue proceedings it is probable that the library would have been left in peaceful possession of its quarters at least until the council returned from the Owens river junket.

The action of the committee was brought about by the necessity for providing more space for the accommodation of the offices that properly belong in the city hall. Several suites of offices are rented outside the building and the vacation by the library of its present premises presented a solution to the question the committee was considering of a proposition to rent one entire floor of the Copp building.

Library Has Assured Income

With the library department out of the building it is believed that all the officials who must now seek accommodations outside of the municipal building can easily be gathered under the one roof.

The council believes that it is not called upon to furnish accommodations for the library any more than it does for the board of education and other branches of the city administration. The library has an appropriation, which cannot be decreased under the charter, of four mills on the dollar, and as the tax assessment grows the income of the library increases correspondingly. The present income of this department is about $45,000 a year.

At a recent meeting of the library board the librarian was instructed to prepare a communication to the city council asking that body to provide it with accommodations outside the city hall and to pay for these accommodations from the city's funds. As soon as it was learned that the library would make this demand on the council the members began immediately to agitate the question of forcing the library to vacate and provide its own quarters. The communication from the library board has not yet been presented, although there have been several meetings of the council since the librarian was instructed to take this action.

ANOTHER FORTUNE COMING

Claimants to Millions Discover That More Money Is Their Due

Special to The Herald.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—Heirs of Theobald Metzger, who are seeking to recover a vast fortune from the Holland government, now find themselves in possession of a claim for millions against the great banking house of Rothschild. This was learned by translations of the will which the old Dutch money lender made in 1891. In addition to the $28,000,000 which he had loaned to the Holland government and which, with interest, $65,000,000 in all, the Metzger heirs now hope to recover from Queen Wilhelmina. It was set forth that $90,000,000 florins had been loaned to Baron Meyer, a director of the East India company.

With the help of a note in the same will, which explained that Baron Meyer was a Rothschild, the heirs are confident they can establish their claim against the international banking firm of that name. The 300,000 florins were equivalent to about $150,000, and, with 4 per cent interest, would now amount to about $1,500,000.

All these tales of prospective wealth were discussed yesterday at a meeting of thirty of the Metzger clan, the home of Aaron Stinger, 1249 South Newkirk street. This gathering was called to decide whether those who have held by themselves hitherto would join forces for the pursuit of fortune with another branch of the family which is headed by Mrs. Amy Erb of 943 North Twelfth street. This was decided affirmatively.

When business was transacted a copy of the old will was read to whet the appetite of the fortune seekers. One item stated that Theobald Metzger had loaned 300,000 florins, at 4 per cent interest, to Baron Meyer, a director of the East India company.

"Stop," said Mrs. Catherine Schaefer. "Baron Meyer was one of the Rothschilds, and that money is coming to us. When I was in Holland several years ago I brought back a copy of the original will, which was made in 1891, and a footnote in Dutch says that Baron Meyer was a Rothschild. We have another fortune coming."

A SAD HOME COMING

Little Girls Return From School and See Their Mother Lying Dead on the Floor

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Death greeted Helen and Winifred Handy, 7 and 5 years old respectively, when they went home yesterday after leaving school at the noon intermission. They found their mother's body on the floor of the parlor in their home, with a revolver beside it and a bullet wound, inflicted by herself. In the right temple. The woman had committed suicide because of despondency. The Handy home is at 65 Bryant avenue.

Mrs. Handy, who was the wife of James S. Handy, an attorney connected with the firm of Wood & Fyffe, had been suffering from melancholia for two years.

The children, terrified, notified neighbors when they discovered the body of their mother. Dr. W. S. Harpole, who had attended the woman for two years, was summoned by neighbors. After examining the body the physician declared she had been dead about an hour.

Mrs. Handy left a note to her husband, as follows: "Dear Jim—I have tried hard to get over my spells, but I cannot do so, so I think I better say good-by. Your loving wife, Florence."

The death of Mrs. Edwin Roberts, a sister of the dead woman and prominent in society in Denver, Colo., is said to have made Mrs. Handy more despondent than usual. Mrs. Roberts was killed a month ago in a runaway accident in Denver.

DOCTORS KISS NURSES

Grave Charges Are Made Against Officers of a New Jersey Hospital

Special to The Herald.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—That surgeons and nurses in the North Hudson hospital of Union Hill, N. J., neglect the patients and embrace and kiss while in the wards and in the presence of those in their charge is charged by a committee of women to the board of governors.

Mrs. Robert Boulanger headed the delegation in making the complaint on behalf of the ladies guild of the hospital. It was stated that a few weeks ago a girl who was employed by one of the most prominent and active members of the guild, Mrs. Willadsen, had fallen ill and was taken to the hospital.

"I have given a great deal of my time and some money to the benefit of this hospital," said Mrs. Willadsen, "and I thought the young woman would, on my account, be well cared for there. The physician in attendance in the hospital when she was taken there said that she was intoxicated, and such a charge worried the girl very much."

It was evident that Mrs. Willadsen did not like to say unkind things about the institution for which she had done so much, and she appealed to Mrs. Boulanger to complete the story, as the latter was familiar with the case.

"The girl had been there only a couple of days," said Mrs. Boulanger, "when she was told to get up and make her own bed. She was so weak she fell on the floor, and when the nurse was asked by a woman in the next bed to help the girl get up she said she could not but just then."

"A day or two later the girl was told to go home, and was given five cents for car fare. She was hardly able to walk to the car. Another physician was called and he said she was so weak that she should be sent to a hospital, and this time she was sent to St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, where she was well treated."

"The girl told me that in the North Hudson hospital," continued Mrs. Boulanger, "the patients were neglected while the physicians and nurses were embracing and kissing each other in the ward in the presence of the patients."

The board of governors is to hold an investigation, and in the meantime the surgeons and nurses are indignantly denying that there is any truth in the charges made by the members of the guild.

DESERTED THEIR PRIEST

Congregation Hires a Special Train and Attends Church at Another Town

Special to The Herald.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Nov. 4.—A special train carrying scores of Catholics from Brookfield arrived here this morning in time for mass at St. Columban's church. The visitors were dissatisfied with their own priest, Father Torney, and chartered the train to attend services in this place. There has been a disruption in the Brookfield parish and the church members took this unique way of expressing their disapproval. The special train returned at 4:30 this afternoon.

Father Torney has been in Brookfield twenty-seven years. As a builder up of church property he has been very energetic and successful. The church is considered the largest and handsomest of all of Brookfield's modern churches, and is said to be the most elegant Catholic church in interior Missouri. The property probably is worth $50,000 or more.

The first trouble arose when Father Torney's disapproval upon the organization of the society of the Knights of Father Mathew here. The society was organized, however, about three years ago and has grown rapidly in numbers and influence.

The breach between the church and the resident priest, however, was widened when the Sisters of St. Mary's convent alleged that Father Torney was not giving his moral support to that institution. Then a committee went to St. Joseph to interview the Right Rev. Joseph Burke of this district. Their interview was in vain, despite the petition which they bore from the church membership praying that an assistant be sent to Brookfield.

Bishop Burke told the committee that in view of the fact that Father Torney had been there more than a quarter of a century, it was a very serious matter to talk about overruling his desires at Brookfield now.

HAS ONE LEG, BUT WINS

Father Courts and Weds 14-Year-Old Bride His Own Son

Special to The Herald.

GREENPORT, L. I., Nov. 4.—Frederick Tabor is about 40 years old and one-legged. He is a grocery store owner, Russell, 16 years old and two-legged. In the race for Abbie Tuthill's young affections.

Mrs. Frederick Tabor, who used to be Abbie Tuthill, is 14 years of age, and two weeks ago she wore dresses up to her ankles and went regularly to the grammar school at Orient.

Russell Tabor is so angry because he has a stepmother instead of a sweetheart that he has left his home and is now weighing sugar in a grocery store.

Russell has a sister, Hazel, 15 years old, and she has declared she would leave home if her father brought there a mamma a year younger than she is. Frederick Tabor and his bride returned to his home today.

Frederick Tabor, who is a truck farmer, and twice a widower, has four children. Mrs. Tuthill, a widow, has nine children. So when Tabor began to visit Mrs. Tuthill's house everybody said he was courting her. Besides Russell and Abbie kept company up to that time.

Last week the elder Tabor asked the Rev. William C. McNight, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, to marry him to Abbie. The pastor said he would if Mrs. Tuthill consented, and she did.

The school trustees at Orient are great on compulsory education, and maybe Mrs. Tabor will have to go to school until she is 16.

DIES AFTER LONG SILENCE

John Rice Had Only Been Able to Utter One Phrase During Sixteen Years

Special to The Herald.

STEVENS POINT, Wis., Nov. 4.—John Rice died this morning, aged 71 years. Rice was known throughout northern Wisconsin as a builder of mill machinery and a general foundry man. Sixteen years ago he was stricken with paralysis, which disabled him from personal control of his business affairs. The stroke left him speechless, except for the one phrase "I can't say it," which he could say as plainly as any word. He comprehended everything said or read to him, but could only indicate by signs and gestures what he wanted. His condition necessitated the appointment of a business guardian. His case attracted considerable attention among physicians because of his inability to speak his thoughts while he still retained the power to express so clearly any sounds as were contained in the above phrase.

"ARREST HIM," SHE CRIES

Wife Has Husband Put in Jail and Then Files With His Money

Special to The Herald.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—"My wife, my money, my money and my wife," gasped Herman J. Bowers of Steelton this morning, as he rushed from his grocery store after a fruitless hunt for both. In a few words he explained that his wife had disappeared during the night and with her $2000 in gold.

Bowers says he went home from a walk last night when his wife began to scream and a constable came.

"Arrest this man on a charge of assault and battery, with intent to kill," cried the wife, but before the surprised Bowers knew what was happening he was hauled off to the lock-up. Nobody appeared against him this morning and he was released.

He returned home, only to find his wife and money gone. The missing woman left no explanation.

Bowers believes the charge was made against him by his wife in order to get him out of the way for her flight.

SMALL BOYS "MASH" GIRLS

Youths in Knee Trousers Arraigned in the Police Court for Making Eyes

Special to The Herald.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 4.—Arthur Kimball and Charles Claybaugh, school boys in knee trousers, were arraigned in the police court today, charged with "mashing" little girls at the Pope school. The girls complained of a gang of boys who watched them leave school and annoyed them with "goo-goo eyes" and advances.

Claybaugh cried bitterly in court while waiting for trial, but Kimball was not disconnected.

"What's the matter with you? Don't blubber round here. My shoulders are broad. Lay it all on me. We'll get through," he said to his friend.

Claybaugh, not being an old offender, was discharged, but Kimball was held for further evidence.

COURIER OF DEATH DIES

Special to The Herald.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 4.—Stella Meyer, 16 years old, employed as a messenger by a telegraph company, was run over and instantly killed on the Rock Island tracks today. In her hand, when the body was taken from the rails, was a telegram conveying news of a woman's sudden death at the wedding of her son. It was while hastening to deliver this message that the girl was killed. She was a daughter of the Rev. C. Dreyer and had only been at work a few weeks. The telegram which the dead girl was carrying told of the sudden death at Muscatine of Mrs. Edward Montgomery, who died two hours after attending the wedding of her son, William Montgomery, and Frances Bridges.

A STATE'S FAVORITE SON

"Bob" Murphy Greeted as "Governor" by Enthusiastic Admirers in Pittsburg

Special to The Herald.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 4.—A writer in the Dispatch today says: "If it were possible for 'Bob' Murphy to shake hands with every voter in Pennsylvania there would be no doubt whatever as to the identity of the man who will step into the chair vacated by Pennypacker. The general young lawyer of Cambria county was in Pittsburg for a few hours yesterday; and wherever he went or wherever he was introduced he was handed the title of 'governor'—not that he is governor yet, but because in his general bearing he bespeaks the ideal personality for the highest office in the gift of the commonwealth. Mr. Murphy's trip here was to look after some important business; but he encountered many of his Pittsburg admirers, all of whom had a cheery salutation to extend along with a hand which in every case was sincerely glad. At Franklin hall, Johnston, on Monday night, when the occasion arose for Mr. Murphy to meet the M. & M. trade boomers, there was not a man of the 200 Pittsburgers present who would not have taken off his coat for Mr. Murphy right here, although not more than half a score of them knew him personally before that. Mr. Murphy told me yesterday that his father, Francis Murphy, known to Pittsburgers by the thousand and to the people of the whole United States by the million, is again in the enjoyment of good health and that he has resumed the platform. There are two things the great apostle of temperance has the satisfaction of knowing at this advanced stage of his career, and that is that he has done so much for humanity as any other living man, and that he has raised a family as fine as any the sun e'er shown upon. 'Bob' is one of them."

WOMAN HORSEWHIPS MAN

Recovers Her Cow From a Thief Who Was Leading It Along the Highway

Special to The Herald.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Nov. 4.—Remarkable nerve and courage was displayed by Mrs. John C. Sapp, living near Pemberton, while driving to Mount Holly with a small girl in the carriage.

As she neared Smalley's corner she noticed a man walking along the road. On one arm he had a bundle; the other arm was thrown over the neck of a cow that was walking along with him.

Mrs. Sapp asked the man where he was going, and for a reply was told, with an oath, that it was none of her business. She replied that she thought it was, and ordered him to release the cow, which she recognized as her property.

In reply she got a volley of oaths, enough to frighten any woman. But the fellow soon found that Mrs. Sapp was not to be trifled with.

Handing the lines to the child, Mrs. Sapp jumped from the carriage, and with her whip she began a lively tattoo all over the fellow, who was unable to stand the punishment, and he soon made himself scarce, leaving the brave woman in possession of her cow, which she drove home.
