THE GADFLY IS A HANDY RACE ANIMAL

Booker Brothers Claim Him Out of Selling Event and Win Him Out Many Times Over in Puruses Alone

One of the shiftest racing tools quartered at Ascot this season is the Gadfly, belonging to Hal Booker and his brother, J. Booker.

The Gadfly won several races here last year for Kansas Price and won five races at New York this summer for Booker brothers.

Over a distance the Gadfly shows to his best advantage. He is a 3-year-old by Rossington-Conceal and is a worthy son of Rossington, which showed a great liking for distance events.

The Bookers are born horsemen and the brothers have achieved their share of fame as riders. A. W. Booker is probably the best known, having piloted many of the best runners on American tracks in recent years.

His riding landed First Mason under the wire in front of Delhi and carried through a coup by which half a million dollars in wagers was taken out of the betting ring on the half-brother to McChesney.

Colonial Girl was another of his favorites and he rode her to victory and fame. He had the mount on this one when she beat the great Hermis at St. Louis in the $50,000 World's Fair handicap last year.

ERRORS WIN FOR SIWASH TRIBE

DOLLY GRAY OUTPITCHES HIS OPPONENT

Home Run and Misplay by Cravath Responsible for Two Tallies Made by Seattle-Northerners Play

Angels 1, Siwashes 2

The Morleytes managed to sustain their semi-occasional defeat yesterday, and the Siwashes, which bear the distinction of giving the locals more trouble to the square inch than any of the northern teams, turned the trick.

Incidentally the result nearly broke Dolly Gray's heart, as he twirled a major league class of twisters and deserved to add another to his long string of victories, but that unreliable element in baseball which the loyal fan is pleased to denominate "luck" broke in upon the steadier twirler of the Siwashes in lively fashion and with remarkable precision, while the same fate aided in preventing a tied score when Bernard was thrown out at the plate in the sixth inning.

Gray was the steadier twirler of the two, although each allowed five hits. Gray struck out as many of the opposing batsmen as did Miller and allowed only one free pass, while Miller gave three.

Three hits netted one run for the locals in the sixth inning, while Seattle never made to exceed one hit to an inning. Thus do the tears righteously start.

However, this is the final series with Seattle and the Angels are leading the pennant chase by a good margin and would not refrain from extending the usual courtesies to all visiting teams of permitting them to win once in a while.
