INJURY FATAL TO VICTIM OF AUTO

MRS. TUFFREE DIES AT GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL

Second Death Results From Collision of Machine and Street Car on Boyle Heights November 5

Mrs. Edith Polley Tuffree died at the Good Samaritan hospital at 6 o'clock yesterday morning from the injuries sustained in a collision between a street car and an automobile at First and Concord streets on the night of November 5.

Stuck in the deep sand at the foot of a hill near the Evergreen cemetery on First street was the automobile occupied by F. E. Kendall, a sprinkling inspector, C. C. Davis, a real estate man, Mrs. Tuffree and Mrs. Austin.

The machine stood at right angles with the street car line and squarely across it. In this position the auto remained for five minutes.

A car coming towards the city ran down the hill at a high rate of speed and struck the machine. All the auto-ists were hurled out and the two women sustained fractured skulls.

Mrs. Tuffree was 19 years of age when she married Henry D. Tuffree, son of the late Col. J. K. Tuffree of Fullerton, Orange county. Recently Mrs. Tuffree filed a divorce suit in the courts which was to have come up next month.

Hearing that his wife was fatally injured Tuffree visited her at the hospital. Physicians attending gave no hope to the anxious husband or friend of the dying woman.

The automobile in which the party was riding was the property of the city and so far as can be learned Kendall took it without authority. The machine was completely ruined and could not be repaired.

One of the strange features of the accident was that both men were practically uninjured, while the women were fatally hurt. The terrible crash of the collision threw the occupants many feet through the air.

No inquest was held over the body of Mrs. Tuffree as the coroner held an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Austin and found that no one was to blame for the accident.

WESTERNERS TO EXHIBIT AT ITALIAN EXPOSITION

UNITED STATES WILL BE WELL REPRESENTED AT MILAN

Agent Now in Los Angeles Offering Special Inducements to Merchants to Lease Spaces, Which May Be Secured at Moderate Rates

Peter de B. Rossi, special representative of the western states of America to the Milan exposition, is in Los Angeles, and will remain here several days exploiting the Italian fair and offering unusually good inducements to western merchants to participate.

"We will have one of the greatest exhibitions in the history of Europe," said M. Rossi yesterday. "The Milan exposition will have for its chief features twelve buildings of magnificent architecture. Like all of Italy's works of art these buildings will be gems."

Special departments have been reserved for the exhibits from the various nations and two of the finest and most select spaces on the grounds will be devoted to American exhibits—one space for those from the eastern states and the other for western products.

"These spaces are to be let at moderate rates. We are going to conduct the exposition without a thought of the money, and aside from the ten-franc government tax exhibitors may have space at twenty cents per square foot."

"We petitioned for an authorized national exhibit from the United States, but our petition arrived too late for congress to pass upon it. We have therefore decided to start work among the manufacturers and have the exhibits ready, so that when congress takes up the bill all that will be necessary will be to authorize the exhibit as coming from the United States government."

"We expect a larger exhibit from the west than from any other section of the world, and I have arranged so that even the smallest manufacturer may have his goods satisfactorily displayed at a very small cost. We want to make the American voting machine one of our chief exhibits."

"The exposition will open during May and will last six months. It will be conducted under the auspices of the King of Italy."

SPEED CRAZED MOTORISTS MAKE ESCAPE FROM POLICE OFFICERS

ATTEMPT TO ROPE DASHING RIDER FAILS

Chief of Police Auble Said to Have Nightmare in Which He Sees "Buzz Wagons" Violating the Law

Speed-mad motorists, racing automobiles hurling men, women and children to death, or a motorcyclist with the speed mania, all have combined to give Chief W. H. Auble the nightmare. Friends in the neighborhood say that the chief spends his hours of sleep in dreaming of catching autoists, warning fancied beings of the peril and devising new traps for the speed ordinance violators.

HE OFFERS JUDGE A POSTER

Albert Kenan, Victim of Jokers, Astonishes Court Officials by His Peculiar Request

If any one wants a lesson in perseverance apply to Albert B. Kenan, 533 Ceres avenue. Falling into the hands of some wags at the city jail yesterday afternoon while delivering posters for the Hoadley company, Kenan was sent into Justice Rose's court and directed to the judge. Judge Rose became indignant when the man walked up and gave him the poster and ordered him to sit down.

MILLIONAIRE LOST IN STREETS

Joseph Boardman of Oakland Separates From Valet and Wanders About City

Joseph Boardman, said to be a millionaire real estate dealer of Oakland, wandered through the streets of Los Angeles for three hours last evening unable to find his room or locate any friends. At last he asked a policeman to take him to the central station, and when he arrived there he was much relieved to find that friends were inquiring for him.

DYING, CALLS FOR DAUGHTER

Portland Chief of Police Seeks Girl Supposed to Be in Los Angeles

"Catherine Virginia Schubert, your mother is dying in Portland and wants you."

Such was the message received last night by Chief Auble of the local force from Chief Gritzmacher of Portland. The message is very brief and does not tell much of the tale of sorrow that is supposed to lie behind it.
