

HORSE SHOWS WEEK'S EVENT EVERYTHING IS IN READINESS FOR OPENING

Huge Tent, Covering Entire Area of Fiesta Park, Is Erected and Exhibitors Are Filling Stalls With Prize Winners

The first annual exhibit by the Los Angeles Horse Show association will begin Wednesday at Fiesta park and close Saturday.

A program of great scope and embracing every possibility for the horse has been prepared and the flood of entries has so far exceeded all expectations.

Two stables of candidates for horse show honors and among the largest stables that will be in attendance at the show arrived yesterday and are the first to be quartered at the park.

They are the property of Henry A. Butters and Barbara and Mark S. Severance, who shipped down from Arrowhead all of his dozen candidates.

Butters' string will be equally as strong and among the entries of the Santa Barbara member will be a team of four-hand team of admirably matched horses which Butters believes equals anything ever shown in the west.

Among the features of the exhibits will be that of the polo ponies, and all the events in which they will participate have filled in a surprisingly good manner.

Riverside, Redlands, San Diego and Coronado will contribute the majority of the ponies to be shown at Los Angeles, a carload being sent from Riverside and Redlands, while another car will come from San Diego.

Because of this large entry list in all pony classes, Secretary Ashbrook has been arranged to include dead ends that all the ponies may be accommodated with the opportunity of winning prizes and ribbons.

A series of gymnastic games, which will be features of each performance, have been arranged to include men's races, egg and spoon races and potato races.

These races are expected to furnish the amusement feature of the show, and the conditions of the races are made with this idea permanently in view.

The complete prize list for the horse show is as follows:

INTEREST GROWS IN YACHT RACE

CRAFTS TO SAIL FROM FRISCO TO HONOLULU

Five Entries Made and Boats Will Split Waves for Five Hundred

Dollar Cup Offered by Hawaiian Promoters

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Increased interest is being taken in the international yacht race from San Francisco to Honolulu, a distance in a direct line of nearly 2100 miles.

Already there have been five entries for the race, which is to begin on May 19.

It is probable that the winner will reach the island port eight or nine days later, or perhaps in less time, for the yachts are fast sailers.

The five already entered are the British-owned yacht, the California Yacht club; the Larline, owned by H. H. Sinclair of Santa Barbara, and the Anemone, owned by C. L. Tutt and representing the New York Yacht club.

The last mentioned is now on the way up the coast, having recently passed through the straits of Magellan for the purpose of entering the big race.

There is a strong probability that several more yachts will be in the contest, yacht owners all over the United States and in many foreign countries having been invited to participate.

The first prize for the race will be a $500 cup, Calabash-shaped, of solid silver and lined with gold 9 1/2x16 1/2 inches. On one side there will be a head of a diamond, the picturesque headland near Honolulu, and on the other side space will be left for the name of the winner and a suitable inscription.

The race is gotten up by the Hawaiian Promotion committee. Valuable prizes will also be given to every yacht participating. It is likely that the California Promotion committee will offer a cup for a return race from Honolulu to San Francisco.

ANGELS MAKE IT SIX STRAIGHT

WIN BY SUPERIOR WORK ON BASES

Hall Pitches Magnificent Game Until Forced to Retire Because of an Injury, but Oakland Was Never in Hunt

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

Table showing standings of clubs: San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Fresno, Oakland, Seattle.

WHERE THEY PLAY: Seattle at Frisco, Portland at Fresno, Oakland at Los Angeles.

BY ROBERT M. YOST, JR.

The Seraphs began yesterday afternoon and stayed late and when the last dust of battle had drifted away across the diamond there were six runs on the score board for the locals and only half that number for the Oaks.

And it was all the fault of Hall, the big blonde pitcher for the Angels. Incidentally the Seraphs engaged in an merciful swat-fest in the first inning, when they took kindly to the delivery of Randolph, the slab artist for the visitors. But the heavy hitting continued throughout the game and with the clever work of the local men on bases the biggest score of the season was made.

The Greeks began indifferently and went out in almost one, two, three order. Then came the surprise of the day and the 1200 fans in attendance were not slow to take advantage of the opportunity offered for a general roasting match.

A combination of singles and poorly handled plays on the part of the Greeks netted the locals three runs in the first and from that time the Greeks seemed to take little stock in playing.

In the third inning, with Brashear on base, Jackie Atz, the pride of the infield, bumped a good one on the nose and sent it spinning out to deep center.

The fast little shortstop hit the high paces around the diamond to third base and an error by Captain Van Halten in the throw-in let Jackie scoot across the plate for a four-base hit.

In the fifth inning the Angels again scored, but Hall was hit by a ball in the Greeks' half of the inning and his hand became so stiff that in the latter part of the eighth inning Dolly Gray was substituted at bat for Hall and when the ninth inning came around, Bergmann, the little bushy, was sent to the slab for the locals.

The visitors met him with open arms and hammered out two runs before an infield hit by Dunleavy to Dillon closed the agony and sent the Oaks back to their hotel, having lost six out of the seven games of the series.

This afternoon's game will be the last of the Oakland series and special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of the Easter crowd.

Little Bergmann will probably do the slab work for the Seraphs and Bobby Eager will receive. For the Oaks, Reidy or Hopkins will probably handle the slab work and Elephant Hackett will act as a natural obstruction to any balls that happen to slip by the local bats.

In the first inning of the game Van Halten popped a foul out to "Chimma" Toman, who camped beneath it. Kruger went out to Bernard. Dunleavy walked but Markley retired the side by a fly to left.

Bernard for Los Angeles started the excitement by singling to right. Ellis fanned, Brashear singled and Cravath bounced a rattling infield hit over Markley's head and Bernard scored.

Van Halten and Kruger went out to catch Cravath and Brashear scored. Cravath went to third and came home a moment later when Dillon sacrificed with an infield hit.

In the second Hackett struck out, Devereaux walked, Francks hit to Atz, who muffed the ball. With two men on base, Bliss smashed a hard liner to Hall, and the ball hitting the big pitcher's glove went wild to center-field and Devereaux scored. Bliss was caught at second and Franck fanned. The Seraphs went out in one, two, three order.

Kruger singled to left in the third for Oakland and Dunleavy flew out to left. Markley hit to Hall, who covered the liner and put out Kruger at first on a double play.

For Los Angeles, Brashear flew out to Kruger. Cravath walked and Dillon popped to Devereaux. With two men out and one man on base, Atz landed a nice one and sent the home run to deep center, scoring Cravath and continuing on a wild throw by Van Halten. Toman singled, but Eager retired the side by striking out.

Both teams went to the bench in rotation order in the fourth, but in the fifth Los Angeles came back for her last score.

Brashear walked and Cravath flew out to right. Brashear went to third on a wild pitch and Dillon scored him with a walk to the center field.

In the ninth the Oaks rallied and took kindly to the delivery of Bergmann, who had been substituted for Hall.

Devereaux walked and was fined five dollars for sassing Umpire Knell, and Francks fanned. Bliss went to first on a dead ball, Randolph went out, Atz to Dillon, and Devereaux scored. Bliss scored on Van Halten's hit to center, but Dunleavy retired the side by an infield bunt to Dillon.

TWO CHAMPIONS BOX THIS WEEK

ATELL AND NEIL BATTLE FRIDAY NIGHT

Native Sons Meet to Decide Featherweight Honors—Winner to Receive Belt and Get Match With Bowker or McGovern

BY JAY DAVIDSON

The event of the week in sporting circles will be the battle between Abe Atell, featherweight champion of the world, and Frankie Neil, bantam champion of the world, for the featherweight title, which occurs Friday night at the Naught Junction pavilion and marks the beginning of the fistic carnival arranged by Manager Tom McCarey for the edification of the fight fans during the next thirty days.

Possibly no battle that could be arranged would be any more attractive. The spectacle of two world's champions battling for a world's title is a new and novel one and has never occurred before in the history of the ring.

Seldom is it that fight fans anywhere are privileged to witness a contest between two of the promoters, once, cleverness and generalship of these two little champions and it is not often that a world's championship affair is pulled off before a Los Angeles audience.

Inference of the boys in their styles of boxing lends a greater uncertainty to the result than would otherwise obtain. Atell is the cleverest boxer in the business and wins the majority of his battles by outpointing the other fellow, but he has a well-developed punch and ability to make an opening for it, which makes him the most dangerous man at his weight in the world.

Abe is a marvel at footwork and as fast as lightning when in action. He keeps his feet so that he can avoid punishment where other less clever would be beaten half to death.

Through his cleverness he is also able to keep the other fellow away when they mix it and in the mix-ups he will land so fast that a picture machine is worked overtime to keep faithful records of the progress of the battle.

Neil is Fighter

Neil is a born fighter, game to the core and able to take punishment and make return. He is always after the other fellow, but he has a well-developed defensive.

Few little fellows can punch with Neil and when he lands squarely it is time to pay off. In his fight with Harry Tenny in Frisco a few weeks ago Neil demonstrated that instead of going soft because of long idleness and rest from ring engagements he had improved immensely and is now going at a wonderful clip which bodes no good for his opponents.

Because he is game, clever to a fault and possesses a little lotion he will rate along rather evenly with the champion in the odds before their match.

Not because he is a native son, but because he is a dependable type of the battler at all times, will the game he has brought home the long end of the purse nearly every time he has boxed, he will be popular with the speculatively inclined and it is assured that his backers will get a run for their money.

Despite the fact that less than three weeks will intervene between the Atell-Neil and Fiesta week attractions, the popularity of the former is not diminished in the least and the least that is expected in point of attendance is the inevitable "S. R. O." sign.

Winner Gets Match

The little fellows will not only box for the long end of the fighters' share of the door receipts and the champion belt donated by Manager McCarey, but will strive for the right to meet either Joe Bowker or Terry McGovern in June.

Manager McCarey has under consideration the proposition to match the winner with one of the two, and as Bowker wants to come to America and try for the featherweight title it is possible that he will be the one who will be matched with the winner of Friday night's scrap.

Terry McGovern is also anxious to break into the coast game and it is asserted that he can make the weight for feather scraps. If the terrible one continues in this state of mind and Bowker falls down on the match it is probable that Terry will be secured.

McCarney has a card for the June date and realizes the drawing power of championship affairs, which induces him to consider this proposition in a serious light.

Neil has always contended that he was the better fighter and could defeat him in America, and as the little native son is one of the gamest kids in the ring and bars no one who can make his weight, it is certain that he will be agreeable to either match if he wins from Atell.

Atell, likewise, asserts that he is the best man at his weight in the world and he has proved it upon numerous occasions. He has been considering a match with Bowker to occur in London, but the latter asks who attend the fight and he is induced to visit America and scrap the mill will be staged before the Los Angeles club.

Both Are Ready

Atell has trained faithfully and hard since arriving in Los Angeles, and as he has never been troubled in making weight, he has given all attention to getting into condition for the fight of his life and has succeeded so well that he announces himself ready to go into the ring tonight if necessary.

Road work, boxing with his brother and other battlers who attend the Lewis school on South Spring street, where Abe does his indoor work, and wrestling stunts with Prof. Lewis, former middleweight wrestling champion, have been of incalculable benefit to the native champion.

Last night he was as hard as a rock and in his afternoon workouts at the gymnasium he stepped at a gait so lively as to bewilder the crowd of fans who witnessed his work in open-mouthed wonderment.

Neil is in equally as good trim and he has shown so well in his training quarters that the Frisco contingent which will attend the battle will back him to a standstill.

Frank says there is no man at his weight in all the world who can stop him, and he has trained with greater attention to speed and development of his footwork than for any other one thing.

No one can deny his cleverness and when he sets out at a fast clip he is able to keep it up throughout. With a left hook that is as fatal as the bite of a cobra and as ever-present as the "moother" at the village bar, Frisco sportmen can see nothing to the fight but Frisco.

No boxing exhibition ever held in Los Angeles can compare with the Atell-Neil bout. It will be a conglomerate mass of gloves and battlers at every moment of the mill.

Local sportmen figure that if the mill goes the limit Atell will win on points, but none would be surprised to witness a termination of hostilities in a sudden and startling manner at any stage of the scrap.

Friday's Preliminaries

The preliminaries for the Atell-Neil battle have been arranged. Two six-round affairs will precede the main event and two battlers who have never before amused a Los Angeles audience will be the participants with two local sluggers.

Monte Atell, who has gained several good Meadison over classy boxers, is signed to travel six rounds with Terry Davis, who is claiming the coast bantam championship.

The boys will box at 118 pounds, which is the natural weight in the ring of both. Both are fighters and taking punishment and the affair should be interesting from beginning to end.

Monte has been fighting in professional ranks since 1903, but only one battle is credited to him in that year, Kid Baume going out in four rounds.
