MOVING PICTURE QUESTION

Herrera Contingent Presents Proposition Calling for One Film With Rights That May Cause Nolan to Balk

If Tom McCarey can prove that he foresees the situation which has developed since the subject of moving pictures was first broached in connection with the Nelson-Herrera battle, the local boxing impresario should be given credit for not overlooking a bet constructive to the growth of gray hairs even amid such a raven crop as decorates the precincts of the managerial brainery.

At dark last evening, after a conference with the Herrera camp, McCarey fancied he had cast all upon the waters. Perhaps the Rockefeller product will exert a soothing effect, but there may be need of more, judging from the attitude of Manager Billy Nolan, when informed last night of the proposition demanded by the Mexican delegation and accepted by McCarey.

Nolan will come up from Fairview this morning, and another session is to result that may hurl the picture craft in chaos again.

There was an expectant air hovering about McCarey's office yesterday morning in regard to the outcome of the situation, when Aurelio Herrera and his manager, Tommy Jacobs, entered. The news relative to the Mexican delegation and accepted by McCarey, Nolan will come up from Fairview this morning, and another session is to result that may hurl the picture craft in chaos again.

McCarey lost no time in shooting Herrera and Jacobs into his private sanctum, while those on the outside watched through the window glass, as the meal ticket man paced up and down, ever and anon by the Mexican expostulate with the stubborn members of the ring fraternity. At last McCarey emerged from the maelstrom with disgust stamped upon his features.

FISHER'S MEN ARE DUE TODAY
WILL MEET ANGELS THIS AFTERNOON

Los Angeles Baseball Public Has Been Given Opportunity to Demand Continuation of Game and It is Up to the Fans

The Fresno ball team, headed by Mike Fisher, is due to arrive in the city this morning, and the first ball game in which the ralsin pickers have appeared on local grounds during the present season will occur at Chutes park this afternoon.

As the fate of the Pacific Coast league has been to all intent placed carte blanche in the hands of Angel city fans, today's attendance will be of material interest to the enthusiasts at large.

The Los Angeles baseball public has been promised a continuation of the game if it is demanded by terms sufficiently unmistakable to the management, and about all that remains to be done is for every ball enthusiast to betake himself to Chutes park during the remainder of the week if he wishes to sit as of yore and revel in the doings of the diamond.

It may be that the caliber of the Angel team is not of a sufficient standard to call for enthusiasm. At all events the interest has been at an exceedingly ebb tide and something radical must be done to keep the league alive.

More interest is attached relative to the coming of the Fresno crowd than would attend the appearance of any other league team. Throughout last week's play there was a constant bickering between the two nines and both aggregations are out for all there is in the game.

LITTLE MEN
IN FINE FORM
HERMAN AND ATTELL WILL EASE OFF

Greatest Ring Battle in Many Years to Occur Friday Night, When Featherweight Champion and Ghetto Boy Meet

Abe Attell and Kid Herman are not wrangling about moving picture rights. They are commencing to edge off on an industrious course of training which has developed their husky little bodies into a condition which should result in one of the greatest ring battles yet witnessed by lucky enthusiasts of the boxing game.

The commendable zeal with which the diminutive glove men have hampered away at their work has made for them a host of friends and neither will lose the respect of local fans whatever the result of next Friday evening's battle.

Although there was necessarily disappointment in the fact that Attell and Nell were unable to meet on the 14th of last December, the postponement of Attell's appearance before a Los Angeles ring gathering came in the nature of a bonus to local lovers of the game.

Had Attell met Nell the probabilities were that he would win to a certainty, despite the fighting ability of the bantam boxer. Both men would have entered the ring at near the same weight and the battle could have easily been won by Attell, barring a fluke. How cleverness so far as may be judged would have overshadowed the mixing properties of Nell's style.

The coming battle will culminate one of the most unique matches made within the memory of any living follower of the sport. Together as it does the most clever fighter of the times in combat with a youngster whose ability to take and give, combined with an advantage of eight or nine pounds, has placed him as an 8-10 favorite.

Great Interest Manifested
It can conscientiously be said that more interest exists as regards the coming battle than that which has attended any previous affair in Los Angeles. Will Attell be able to withstand the rushes of Herman? Is Herman knockout-proof against the rain of thrusts and jabs which will surely be his portion when he crawls between the ropes with Attell?

Such is the proposition which Los Angeles enthusiasts are endeavoring to solve. Herman, because of his weight and admitted cleverness, is judged by the majority as capable of wearing Attell down. At present the Anemone is under cruising canvas and her spars have not the height and lightness of the racer, but she has sharp and graceful lines and is unquestionably speedy.

She is English built, being purchased by Charles T. Tuttle, now in Los Angeles, and brought across to New York. She has flown the flag of the New York Yacht club and several other clubs. Capt. Lindberg said that he should visit in San Diego and supposed that Mr. Tuttle, with his wife, would join the yacht here.

The crew numbers eight men. The Anemone's accommodations are of the finest, although at present boxes of stores and of deck things stowed for safety fill the handsome state rooms.

The large cabin or saloon is finished in quartered oak and the other apartments mostly in birdseye maple. The deck is of the San Francisco disneyer, not learned until the yacht arrived here, and Skipper Lindberg feared the race might be called off on account of it.

MCDONALD MAY BE DISMISSED
Pacific Coast League Umpire Aroused Wrath of Fresno Fans

By Associated Press. FRESNO, Cal., May 8.—At a meeting of the Fresno baseball club this morning it was decided that President A. E. Evans will ask the directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball league to take some action looking to the dismissal of Umpire McDonald at the directors' meeting at Oakland next Monday.

McDonald has umpired three series of games here and his decisions have aroused general dissatisfaction among the fans.

The game won by Los Angeles last Thursday has been protested. Sunday the crowd tried to mob McDonald after the game because of a close decision at first base.

ANEMONE ARRIVES AT SAN DIEGO
WILL ENTER GREAT PACIFIC YACHT RACE

Did Not Touch at Port Since Leaving New York—Crew Learns of San Francisco Disaster

Special to The Herald. SAN DIEGO, May 8.—The yacht Anemone, C. L. Tuttle's entry in the San Francisco-Honolulu race, was an arrival this morning from New York under command of Capt. Henry Lindberg, the skipper who started from New York with the yacht on the 14th of last December, and with the rest of the crew has been out of the world ever since, having called at no port since leaving the Atlantic coast.

The Anemone is 92 feet in length on her water line and 111 feet over all, has a beam of 19 feet and six inches and a draft of 11 feet. She is "ketch" rigged, that is to say her spars and sails are arranged on the plan of a schooner, with the difference that what would be the foresail on a boat of the latter type is proportionately much larger and the "mainsail" greatly reduced.

The power is strictly auxiliary, depending being placed on sails when there is any wind. But in calms or when entering port or changing anchorages the engine is always ready. She can make about six knots under power. At present the Anemone is under cruising canvas and her spars have not the height and lightness of the racer, but she has sharp and graceful lines and is unquestionably speedy.

She is English built, being purchased by Charles T. Tuttle, now in Los Angeles, and brought across to New York. She has flown the flag of the New York Yacht club and several other clubs. Capt. Lindberg said that he should visit in San Diego and supposed that Mr. Tuttle, with his wife, would join the yacht here.

LOSES $10,000 BY "FAKE"
Tobacco Merchant Claims He Was Defrauded in Ring Conspiracy

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 8.—Oscar Schroeder, a tobacco merchant, yesterday caused the arrest of Clarence E. Class, a pugilist, whom he accuses of having participated in a conspiracy by which he was robbed of $10,000. Schroeder told the police he backed Class in a prize fight which he declares he afterward learned was a fake.

The money, which was in a valise, disappeared from the ringside while Schroeder says he was endeavoring to revive Class, who had allowed himself to be knocked out. It was taken by a confederate of Class, Schroeder asserts. This man is now being searched for by the police.

Class asserts he will have no trouble in proving his innocence. According to Schroeder the prize fight took place in a grove just outside of St. Louis recently.

AUTO RACING COMES TO STAY
HORSELESS SPEED EVENTS MAY RIVAL PONIES

Cosmopolitan Interest Now Attends Doings of Big Cars and Drivers. American Machine Tour. ing in Europe

Every indication exists that if anything in the speeding line is to vie with the "sport of kings" the automobile will prove a competitor of the thoroughbred.

In the first place, the auto has come to stay, and in the second place the horseless machine is the swiftest vehicle for road work which the ingenuity of man has yet constructed.

Throughout the country events of the auto course are attracting cosmopolitan attention and the doings of the big cars and drivers come in for a share of discussion that is equaled only by that directed to the capers of the ponies.

Unless present plans come to naught Los Angeles will be the scene of some spectacular racing before the summer has passed. Already the proposition to build a national racing course at El Pizmo beach, just south of San Luis Obispo, has aroused speculation among autoists throughout the United States and it may be that the big meets of Ormond will be rivaled by a California event of equal importance.

A successful non-stop run that was continued for 200 hours was finished last week in Detroit by a four-cylinder Oldsmobile. The motor was running as smoothly at the close as when it was first started. No effort was made to make any speed record, the run being held solely for the purpose of keeping the motor running constantly and to observe the quantity of fuel and oil used. The car covered nearly 3000 miles.

The turn of the tide seems to be at hand. While European touring has been steadily increasing among the automobilists of this country, American cars have not been familiar sights on foreign roads. Except in the cases of men identified with the industry, nearly all those making long trips abroad have been prone to use foreign cars. Now this class of particular buyers are discovering that the continued purchase of foreign cars is mostly an expensive fad.

A number of prominent men, formerly patrons of French cars, have picked American winners and already they have begun to introduce them abroad. The Vanderbilt Barton of New York, who has just sailed for Europe, took with him a Great Arrow of forty horse power, in which he proposes to make a tour of several thousand miles. Others, equally prominent, are preparing to follow.

It is believed by those who saw it that the special front-driving racer of Walter Christie is capable of doing a mile in 30 seconds, under favorable circumstances.

Crank shafts and axles are the automobile parts requiring the largest time to perfect and the number of these it is possible to turn out in a plant every week is generally what limits an output.

A very practical merit to such an affair as the two-gallon test of the Automobile Club of America, is that it educates drivers in the ways of economical motoring. This knowledge is useful sometimes when there is but very little left to carry a car to the next place of supply.

AUGUST BELMONT AS WITNESS
Denies That Metropolitan Turf Association Was Connected With Racing Association

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 8.—August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey club, and president of the Westchester Racing association, which formerly conducted racing at Morris Park and now has its home at Belmont Park, was a witness today at the hearing of the suit of the United Householders and Bronze Erectors' unions against the Westchester association to compel the return of $1885, the treasurer of the union, Frederick P. Rasmussen, is alleged to have lost on horses at Morris Park.

Mr. Belmont declared that the racing association had no connection with the Metropolitan Turf association, an organization of bookmakers. He admitted that he knew betting was going on at Morris Park during the meeting there. The Westchester association, however, received no bets and did not act as a bookholder.

"Do you bet on the races?" was asked of the witness.

"I do not," responded Mr. Belmont. An adjournment was then taken until tomorrow.
