CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PASSES RESOLUTIONS

Business Men Co-operate With Special Committee and Party Organizations to Bring the Big Gatherings to Los Angeles

The chamber of commerce at its regular meeting of directors Thursday took further steps toward bringing the state political conventions to Los Angeles.

George H. Stewart, chairman of the committee to which was referred the matter, reported that after full consideration of the subject his committee recommended to the board the adoption of the following resolution:

"Whereas, it is the sense of this committee that a decision on the part of the respective state central committees of the political parties to hold their state conventions for 1906 at the city of Los Angeles would be gratifying to this chamber of commerce and our citizens in general; it is

Resolved, That so far as its province extends, this chamber of commerce and the special committee appointed May 23 will co-operate with the efforts of the various party organizations to secure the said conventions for this city."

The resolution was then unanimously adopted. The chamber of commerce is sending an invitation to the Printing Pressmen of Pittsburgh, Pa., to hold their next annual convention in this city.

An invitation is also being sent to the members of the California I. O. O. F., to bring its next annual convention to Los Angeles.

Nutt Bros., real estate agents, and Francis G. Burke, attorney, were admitted to membership.

DROPS MUSTACHE; FINDS FUGITIVE

IOWA SHERIFF LANDS PREY AT LONG BEACH Done at Sacrifice of His Hireout Adornment—Now Alleged Forger Wears Shiny Bracelets and Must Face Music

Rather than have the man for whom he had searched for many months escape him, Sheriff Henry Olson cut off his beautiful mustache and came to Los Angeles to assist in the capture of Charles Deltour, an alleged notorious forger of Fort Dodge, Ia.

Luck was with the sheriff and by the aid of his disguise he managed to locate his man at Long Beach and yesterday afternoon Deltour and the plucky little sheriff started back for the east.

The story of the loss of the mustache is a sad one. Back in the east the sheriffs are different from their brothers of the west. The easterners are generally mustache men, but the badge of office is always a heavy mustache, long and silky. Any man who attempts to be a candidate for the sheriff's office starts to cultivate a mustache if he has not already a bunch of hair on his upper lip.

Several months ago Deltour, a young man of Fort Dodge, was charged with having forged a number of checks bearing the signatures of prominent farmers of the Fort Dodge neighborhood. In some way he disappeared and the next heard of him was when he sent a message back to a friend from Los Angeles.

Mistrusted Westerners That settled it. The people of the little city wanted Deltour and they wanted him badly. They instructed the sheriff not to trust any of the western officers with the capture and Olson decided that he must make the trip alone. He had known Deltour for years and he knew that the man he wanted would recognize him three blocks away.

The question was put to the city council and at last it was decided that the mustache would have to go. That mustache had been the pride of the city and with due ceremony Olson went to a barber shop and while great bands of crepe were hung on the building, the barber slowly and solemnly drew the razor through the silky tresses and away went the mustache.

Then Olson came west and learned here that Deltour was in Long Beach. He went to the coast city Wednesday night and learned that the man for whom he had a warrant was working at a grading camp. All day long the sheriff hid in a hay stack in the barn where Deltour slept with the rest of the graders.

Sees His Prey That night the watcher saw Deltour enter the place and the young man was swearing softly because his hands, unused to the hard labor, had become blistered.

With a grin of pleasure on his jolly countenance the mustacheless sheriff waited for the time when all would be quiet.

Finally he crawled from the hay stack and took position outside of the barn. He did not have to wait long for the door opened and out walked Deltour. He was holding his hands before him and the sheriff thought he was walking in his sleep.

"Twenty-three, twenty-three," muttered the man in a dazed sort of way. "Where have I heard that word before?"

The sheriff took that as his cue and made his appearance. "Hello, Charlie!" he said, and he shook hands with Deltour.

"I guess you will go back to Iowa with me," called out the sheriff, and the Deltour woke up only to find a neat handcuff on one wrist while Olson held the other.

"It was worth being caught to have you cut that mustache off," remarked the youth in a dazed way as he started for Los Angeles county jail to spend his leisure time before starting east.

LIVE COALS CAUSE BLAZE Prompt Action of Department Prevents Serious Fire in South Broadway Building

A slight fire in the rear of 532 South Broadway Wednesday night was quickly put out, owing to its discovery shortly after the blaze began.

IS SERIOUSLY INJURED BY SANTA MONICA CAR WITNESSES ATTACH NO BLAME TO MOTORMAN

Charles F. Witzel, Employee of Jenve Grocery Company, Dragged by Outboard Coach While Returning From Pleasure Trip at Venice

Charles F. Witzel, an employee of the Jenve grocery, was struck by an outboard Santa Monica car at Twelfth and Hill streets yesterday evening and seriously injured. The man was brought to the receiving hospital in an unconscious condition where his injuries were dressed.

Witzel was returning from Venice where he had been spending the afternoon. At Twelfth and Hill streets he alighted from the rear end of the car and started to walk across the track, when he was struck by the outgoing car. He was dragged on the pavement for some distance.

At the hospital he was unable to give his name, and had no recollection of how he was injured. The injured man's brother, W. A. Witzel, called to see him late in the evening.

No blame has yet been attached to the motorman on the Santa Monica car. Witnesses of the accident say that the Santa Monica car was opposite the Venice car when Witzel alighted and that the motorman did not see the man until the car was within a few feet of him.

June Undermuslin Sale

Purchase enough now to last through the entire summer, for it is very unlikely that prices on women's underclothes will be as low before our next sale.

Lucky for us, lucky for you, that we made preparations for this annual June sale months ago when we foresaw the rise of cotton and increased cost of white goods. We ordered lavishly, then and there, so further advances haven't worried us nor forced us to add anything to our usual prices, nor to give short measure in any of the garments. They've all been made in factories where the workers are well paid and where sanitary conditions are all that they ought to be. The "Home Made" brand and garments bearing the Consumers' League label figure prominently. Every piece is new, snowy and perfect; there are no seconds nor job lots.

Get at the real goodness of this sale by proving values offered at the following prices:

Table with 2 columns: Night Gowns. Lists various styles and prices, such as $1.75 gowns are now $1.35, $2 gowns are now $1.75, etc.

24-INCH BLACK PEAU DE SOIE, $1.25 QUALITY $1 A YARD. BAGDAD FANCY PONGEES—A GOOD VARIETY OF COLORS, $1.25 QUALITY $1. 36-INCH BLACK TAFFETA, $1.25 QUALITY $1 A YARD.

Some of the very prettiest real leather shopping bags in our lines of $1.75 to $3 qualities have escaped the eyes of earlier shoppers.
