TOMMY BURNS GLAD TO GET BACK

Woke Up to Find That Match With Bob Fitzsimmons Had Been Called Off—Talks With Jack O'Brien

Tommy Burns, active heavyweight champion of the world, has returned to the stampering ground where he won his title.

"Looks as though I ran into a lovely streak of hard luck since I left here," said the chunky champ.

Tommy brings along a set of tickets indicative of prices asked for admission in the effort east.

"That wasn't all the bad deals I got mixed up in, either. Had a match on with Mike Schreck, and that fell through.

"Maybe you think I didn't hand him his five per cent nothing, Jack. I don't see where you have any right to give out the champion talk.

"Well, he hummed and hawed about his prestige and all that until I got tired. Still, I believe there is a big chance of O'Brien's coming through before long.

Burns wants O'Brien above all others and is not overly anxious to mix it with the others until he has had a go with the lawyer from Philadelphia.

As usual, the principals for July 20 were going it at a great rate yesterday afternoon. Eddie Menny, the little 105-pounder who is to meet Ah Wing, has gained the respect of all those who have witnessed his training at Naud Junction park.

Several fast games should be played tomorrow, according to the schedule of the Mercantile league.

The contests arranged for the various fields follow: Harper & Reynolds will cross bats with the Title Guaranteed and Trust team on the St. Vincent diamond.

The Y. M. C. A. nine is to meet the Inglewood club on the Occidental field, while the Edison Electric boys play the Alhambra high school team on the San Gabriel diamond.

The standing of the league is as follows:

MAKES GIFT OF SKELETON

REMAINS OF SYSONBY GIVEN TO MUSEUM BY KEENE

When Mounted is Expected to Furnish Most Perfect Example of Bony Frame in Existence

NEW YORK, July 12.—James R. Keene's gift of the skeleton of the champion race horse Sysonby, which died on Sunday, June 17, to the American Museum of Natural History was yesterday transferred to the officials of the museum, who during the day examined the body from the temporary grave at the Sheepshead Bay course and turned the skeleton over to the experts of the institution, who will mount it for exhibition.

Sysonby, who died of blood poisoning after a long sickness, had been buried temporarily on the grounds of the Coney Island Jockey club, just back of the stable of Mr. Keene's training quarters.

Sysonby's skeleton, when mounted, is expected to furnish the most perfect example of the bony frame of the modern race horse in existence, as he was a horse of perfect conformation and splendid size, aside from his superior qualities as a race horse.

TO CONTEST DOVE ORDINANCE

San Bernardino Sportsmen Raise a Purse to Fight Shooting Limit

Special to The Herald. SAN BERNARDINO, July 12.—Local sportsmen have made up a purse of $100 to fight the dove ordinance which permits the shooting of doves only in the month of October, while the state law makes it an open season during the month of July and on to October.

While the sportsmen have subscribed the purse, and say they will double it if necessary to test the case, none of them seem anxious to get out and become victims by killing the doves, owing to the fear that the court will make it a straight jail sentence instead of a fine. It is said a test of the ordinance will be made on the first case that arises.

HARNESS MEET HOPE'S NEXT WEEK

CLASSY HORSES WILL ENTER VARIOUS EVENTS

Mile Dash for Lady Riders Special Feature—Free for All Trot Will Occur on Second Day

The sport loving public which delights in the race horse, whether on the saddle or in a sulky, will have plenty of first-class racing to enjoy next week.

Secretary Robert A. Smith announced a free for all trot yesterday as a special feature for the second day of the meeting. There are already ten entries in this event, with a possibility of a couple more.

One of the spectacular features of the week will be the mile running race for women riders, carded for next Friday.

The advance reservation of boxes for the meeting has been heavy, which promises a big turnout of society for the four days of racing.

The track should be fast as lightning for the meeting, and judging from the entries the class will be good.

The following horses are in this race: S. C. Walton's Lady R., George A. Foulke's The Cedars, Hugh Hughes' Welcome Mac, J. A. Chanslor's Ira, J. A. Fairchild's Bonnie Alise and Fred Fanning's Victor Platte.

It is being freely predicted that the largest crowds seen at Agricultural park since the racing days many years ago, when 15,000 people crowded the grandstands and grounds to see the best horses go, will be equalled.

There is more interest in racing in Los Angeles now than there has ever been before, and in addition to the thousands who will come from the city many from the surrounding towns, San Bernardino, Santa Ana, Riverside and Redlands will send large delegations to the meeting.

SLAUGHTER GATES OF OAKLANDERS

ANGELS CONNECT FOR SIXTEEN SAFETIES

Captain Dillon Leads Onslaught With Three Two-Baggers—Cravath and McClelland Add to Excitement With Three-Sackers

Angels 9, Oakland 0

Despite the fact that Rip Van Halten juggled the batting order of the Commuters before yesterday's game, the Athenians were hopelessly slaughtered under a terrific onslaught by Gil Meade's band of Angels.

One Cates was the victim and the manner in which he became the butt of the Seraph stickmen would have made poor Pete Lohman tear his hair.

Sixteen safe drives in themselves are not a record for the Angels, but when seven of them come as extra base affairs the agony is well nigh unbearable.

Such was the reception accorded Mr. Cates by the Oaklanders by allowing six Seraphs to center down the first base line on complimentary. Under such circumstances it is hardly a question of wonderment that three straight games have been chalked on the right side of the Angel ledger.

Young Randolph was out again on the Seraph slab, and while the Commuters connected with his delivery for eight safe ones, Van Halten's men were never within hailing distance of the plate. But one man reached third base, and during the entire game the Commuters had but three runners at second. Hackett managed to arrive at third in the fifth inning on Frank's hit, but he was out before he could along the third base line.

Devereaux landed at second in the eighth and Heilmuller reached the keystone sack in the ninth. Randolph was an enigma when the Oaks became ambitious and speedily put an end to their scoring propensities.

"Judge" Nagle made his first appearance since "before the quake," taking Bernard's place in center field, Curtis out of the game with a sprained ankle, the result of sliding back to first in Tuesday's play.

Score: LOS ANGELES. Angels, 9; Oakland, 0.

PREPARE FOR THE FOOTBALL SEASON

CHICAGO AND MICHIGAN MAY NOT MEET

Minnesota Has Best Schedule of Years—Wolverines Have No Big Game in Sight Except Contest With Pennsylvania

The opening of the football season will witness a rather strained condition between several of the largest universities of the middle west, and at least three gridiron contests which have in time past aroused enthusiasm will not occur.

It was bad enough when Michigan and Minnesota severed relations several years ago, but far as may be judged Chicago and the Wolverines are now destined to remain as enemies, at least temporarily.

Minnesota will have the best football schedule this fall since 1903, when Wisconsin and Michigan were both upon the gopher date book.

Dr. H. L. Williams has completed the tentative schedule given above, subject to the approval of the board of control and there is but little doubt that that body will hasten to concur in the arrangement.

The big nine conference, in its rule regulating football, forbade the playing of games over the larger universities and the fresh water college teams. It also limited the number of games to five and declared that the season must come to an end the week, or at least the Saturday, before Thanksgiving.

This puts the Minnesota authorities upon the hunt for games. The conference had ruled that the big inter-university games be discouraged and were resulted in the breaking of the Wisconsin contract and the severing, temporarily at least, of the relations between Michigan and Chicago.

Followers of Minnesota football were tired of watching the gophers win, and the Michigan fans were tired of the surrounding states, and realizing this fact, the athletic director set out to work up as good a schedule as was possible under the restrictions placed upon the game.

That he has succeeded better than any other western director is shown by the bookings. Wisconsin's schedule looks puny beside that of former years.

Michigan is without a game of any importance, save the game with Pennsylvania, Chicago and Minnesota are to get together under a contract altogether new in football, in which it is believed nuckermism can be relegated to the rear.

The terms of the unusual contract were published but a short time ago and are familiar to all followers of the game in the west.

The first arrangement for a 1906 game was made with the Carlisle Indians. This was followed with Nebraska, Chicago, Ames and Indiana contracts in order.

All of the games, save one, are to be played on Northrop field, and the November 10th absence of the gophers this year brings the first time in Minnesota football history for the first time in a long string of years.

Ames and Nebraska are the only teams on this year's schedule which were on that of last season. Nebraska, although the Minnesota team has had relations have been under existence for a long time between the two institutions.

Nebraska always gives the gophers something to worry over in football, although the Minnesota team has won a majority of the games played.

Ames always comes for a practice game and Coach Ristine's men from the "pumpkin institute," while always defeated, have been used in the past to give the Minnesota team players the first taste of the real hard work that is to come.

They always fight hard against Minnesota and make interesting football.

Chicago, holding the western championship through the overthrow of Michigan last season, will prove the big game of the schedule. This game comes within a week after the Nebraska contest, and the gophers will probably be at their highest pitch of development for the maroon battle.

The week following the Minnesotas must meet the Carlisle team and the Saturday following that encounter the hoosiers.

Carlisle is coached by George Woodruff, who knows his football book from cover to cover, and this game will doubtless attract thousands to Northrop field on account of its novelty, and in addition being one of the intersectional games scheduled, so far, for 1906.

Indiana is coached by the old maroon star, Sheldon, and the hoosiers are expected to put up a rattling contest. Taken all in all, the schedule is all that any football rooster could ask for.

It is the best of the last three years and it is a question but that it is the best ever offered by the Minnesota athletic governors.

This fall brings the first trial of the reformed game and it will add a new interest to the play. Minneapolis is assured of four good games, and five if the roster is able to go to Chicago and it is highly probable that some 10,000 or so will find time to do this very thing.
