CLARK HURRIES TO FAIRVIEW

SENATOR LEAVES HASTILY FOR NEVADA

Mining Men Interested in Quick Departure of Magnate—Others Talk of Expected Boom in the Sagebrush State

Rumors about hotel corridors yesterday indicate that another big strike has been made in Fairview, Nev., one of the richest and most recently discovered mining camps in the gold laden sagebrush state.

The sudden departure of Senator W. A. Clark yesterday for the Nevada mining country is said to be in response to calls in that part of the country from his agents.

The copper king left on the 3:50 o'clock train yesterday afternoon, and it is supposed that he is headed for Fairview, Nev.

So urgent was Senator Clark's departure that he was unable to remain long enough to attend the meeting of the directors of the Salt Lake railroad last night.

Several mining men of note who have been visiting in Los Angeles for the past few weeks have left Los Angeles since Sunday and gone to Nevada. Stock exchange operators take this as an indication that the prophesied boom for Nevada for this fall will come at the close of the summer.

Walter C. Cox, president of the investment company by the same name, accompanied by his private secretary and chauffeur, James H. Burch, left Los Angeles on the Owl last night for Hazen, Nev. Mr. Cox's big Rambler touring car was also shipped to Nevada.

Hazen is the present terminus of the railroad by which Fairview is reached. From Hazen the distance to Fairview must be staged.

When asked about his mission to Fairview Mr. Cox refused to discuss it, beyond saying that he was merely going on a trip through Nevada of indefinite duration.

"I have heard that Fairview is showing up in pretty good shape," said Mr. Cox when seen at the Hotel Alexandria yesterday afternoon. "Yes, it is true that several strikes have been reported recently, but I can't give particulars at present."

To local mining men Mr. Cox is known as a plunger. He is heavily interested in mining property throughout the state of Nevada. His sudden departure from the city yesterday is regarded as an indication of possible sensational developments within the next few weeks.

B. J. Reilly, the well known millionaire miner, who recently came to Los Angeles for the first time and purchased a handsome home in Ocean Park, said yesterday that he had received messages from his agents in Fairview of a strike made there a few days ago. Mr. Reilly, it is said, is preparing to leave for New York city and Philadelphia in a few days. Mr. Reilly would not state yesterday what the nature of his mission to either of these cities would be.

ACCEPT PIONEER PARK; REJECT DOCK'S CACTI

NONE OF HOUGHTON GIFTS FOR MAYOR M'ALEER

Values Collection at $20,000, but Donor Prefers to See It in Public Park, Where He Can Have Access to It

At the next meeting of the park commission the tract of land offered by J. Harvey McCarthy to the city as a park will be accepted, but the commission will refuse to accept Dock Houghton's collection of cacti to place in the park.

The park which Mr. McCarthy wants to give the city comprises eight acres on Stephenson avenue in Boyle Heights, between Pioneer drive and Fresno street.

Most of the land forms a wooded ravine, and it is on account of the magnificent trees in the park that Mayor McAleer refuses to have Dock Houghton's cacti used to form a sunken garden. This is the reason the mayor gives, but the wide breach between the councilman from the Sixth and the chief executive is believed to be the real reason.

It is claimed the mayor does not propose to assist in anything that will place Houghton in a good light before the public.

Houghton values his cacti collection at $20,000 and yesterday was offered a good round sum for it by a local business man, who wants the collection to adorn his Hollywood home. Houghton is reluctant to sell it, but would like to donate it to the city, so that he would have free access to it whenever he pleased.

The mayor and the park commission, drove out to the new park, which will be known as Pioneer park, yesterday morning, following the regular session of the park commission. They were well pleased with the land.

HEAP! POLICE! DOCK HOUGHTON IS NOW PERPETRATING POETRY

LATEST EFFUSION IS ABOUT A LOST SCREEN

Between Periods of Fast Autoing and Stirring Up Things Political, Sixth Ward Statesman Woos the Muses

Dock Houghton can't for the life of him keep out of trouble. When he isn't being arrested for driving an automobile too fast he is raising a "rough house" in the council, and in the intervals he starts free fights in the Sixth ward headquarters of the Public Ownership league.

But all these pastimes have lost their favor by frequent repetition. For an entirely new sensation Dock has launched into poetry (?). He calls it poetry, but—well, below is a sample.

John Welsh, deposed president of the Society CITY ASSESSOR

One of the most elaborate luncheons of the season was that given Wednesday by Mrs. J. M. West and Mr. Hinman at the Los Angeles Country club.

Miss Forman arranged the decorations, which were beautiful. Pink and white sweet peas, with maidenhair ferns, and the smaller tables, while the hostess' table was especially pretty with folds of pale pink and green tulle, making a setting for a vase of tall Japanese lilies.

The hostess' mother, Mrs. S. G. Gephart, was the guest of honor and the table where she sat in the glass porch had for a centerpiece a large basket filled with yellow centurias and ferns.

The place cards were ornamented with the hostess' monogram in gold, bore the names of Mesdames Harry B. Almsworth, Henry Albers, W. T. Bishop, Alan C. Balch, W. A. Barker, Arthur Braly, T. B. Curley-Hennessy Wedding

Cupid seems to be incorrigible even in the hot days of July. Here is another conquest, just added to his list, in St. Vincent's Catholic church, Washington street and Grand avenue, Miss Annie R. Hennessy and Daniel Curley were married Wednesday morning.

Miss Margaret Flynn, who attended the bride, wore a dainty gown of white lace over silk. Her hat, a big blue picture hat, added a charming pliancy to her face. Miss Hennessy was attired in cream colored silk, which was trimmed with handsome Irish point lace. Her bouquet was of lilacs and valley. John W. Curley stood with the bridegroom. Rev. McDonald performed the ceremony, after which a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Mary Regan, 1623 San Pedro street. After a short wedding trip spent at Coronado the couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

Mosher-Martin Wedding

Miss May E. Martin and G. M. Mosher of Fresno were married yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Martin, 511 Temple street. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. W. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Mosher left for Long Beach, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will make their home in Fresno.

Simple Wedding Ceremony

Rev. G. A. Cleveland performed the ceremony Wednesday evening at Orchard Avenue Baptist church which united in marriage Miss Winnie Herfson and Rev. P. Cowles. The service was very simple, there being no attendants.

Miss Mabel Cleveland furnished the wedding music and the bride wore a gown of sheer white stuff and a wreath of orange blossoms in her hair. The couple will make their home in Sierra Madre.

WOULD COMPROMISE ON PAYMENT OF MUSICIANS

AUDITOR THINKS DEMANDS OF WALKER TOO HIGH

City Auditor Schwabe has agreed to compromise the demands for bands on Fourth July by paying each member of a band the contract price for his services for that day on the presentation of an order for the amount by the musician in person. A. Lincoln Walker, the man whom the auditor accuses of trying to defraud the city by padded orders for the bands, will present a claim of $100 against the city for his services in securing the bands. This demand will be acted on by the finance committee and the city, and there seems little prospect that Mr. Walker will be paid the amount he asks.

CITY ACCUSES BAND CONTRACTOR OF TRYING TO DEFAUD BY MEANS OF PADDED ORDERS—EACH PLAYER TO BE PAID IN PERSON

City Auditor Schwabe has agreed to compromise the demands for bands on Fourth July by paying each member of a band the contract price for his services for that day on the presentation of an order for the amount by the musician in person. A. Lincoln Walker, the man whom the auditor accuses of trying to defraud the city by padded orders for the bands, will present a claim of $100 against the city for his services in securing the bands. This demand will be acted on by the finance committee and the city, and there seems little prospect that Mr. Walker will be paid the amount he asks.

The city council voted $500 for bands for the various parks for the Fourth of July. Mr. Walker asked the park commission for permission to secure these bands and claims that Dr. W. A. Lamb of the commission and Mayor McAleer told him to go ahead, although nothing was said about Mr. Walker's remuneration.

Walker presented his demands for the bands to the auditor Wednesday morning but Mr. Schwabe claimed the demands called for more money than the bands had contracted for and refused to pay them. When Mr. Schwabe questioned Mr. Walker closely he admitted that he expected to make a bonus of $53 as pay for his services.

STORY AMUSES CITY ASSESSOR

City Assessor Evan Lewis was tolerantly amused at a scare head story in an evening paper yesterday, in which an effort was made to cast reflection on his assessment figures by showing that he had apparently placed the valuation of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company too low.

It was asserted that the gas company had made a sworn statement in January for the benefit of the city council when the time for fixing public utility rates came and that this sworn statement of the assets of the company showed $6,662,274.89.

The sworn statement of the gas company is still on file and shows the figures quoted, but it also shows other things that Mr. Lewis has taken into account in making up his assessment.

This is the fact that the figures in the sworn statement of the gas company include everything that has been done to the property since its organization. Many improvements have been made. Others have been discarded, torn down or disposed of in some other manner.

LAND FIGURING IN THE STATEMENT

The land figuring in the statement is given in speculative value, while in this as in all cases the assessor has figured land at its real value and has placed an assessment of 60 per cent on the real value.

A large part of the plant that figures in the sworn statement has been torn down and replaced by new improvements. The discarded part of the plant and the new improvements all figure in the sworn statement, while the assessor has only been able to assess the real value of the present improvements.

All this has been taken into consideration by Assessor Lewis in making up his figures, and according to him, explaining the discrepancy between the sworn statement of the gas company and the assessed value of the property.

There is no expectation on the part of Mr. Lewis, nor of the members of the board of equalization, that any change will be made in these figures. The gas company, so far, has made no effort to have a reduction made, and after Mr. Lewis' explanation the members of the board of equalization are satisfied that his figures show the proper value for assessment.
