DRAWNS GUN ON OFFICER

Edward Tharp Arraigned in Police Court and Held on $2500 Bonds

Edward Tharp, the bartender who was arrested Thursday night after he had knocked his wife down and who drew a revolver and threatened to shoot Policeman McCart when the officer went to arrest him, was arraigned in Police Justice Rose's court yesterday and held under $2500 bonds. His case was set for Tuesday. Tharp had been drinking for some time and Thursday night, with a crowd of companions, visited different saloons in the city. About midnight he went to his home at 324 Crocker street and threatened to kill his wife. She ran from the house and found McCart, who returned with her. When her husband saw her he struck her in the face, knocking her down and then drew his revolver on McCart. It was knocked from his hand by the policeman, who knocked Tharp down and handcuffed him.

WOULD GO AWAY WITH FIRE TEAMS

NEW SELF-PROPELLED ENGINE IS POPULAR

Los Angeles Commissioners Will Inspect New San Diego Engine and Perhaps Try Eastern Auto-mobile Kind Later

Fire Chief Walter Lips and the board of fire commissioners will on December 8 go to San Diego to inspect the workings of a powerful new fire engine which has been purchased by the department there. Its novelty consists in the machinery, but it is pulled by horses. The steamer comes from the Ahrens company of Cincinnati and as Los Angeles is in the market for more department equipment it is thought the officials can gather important data about the newest equipment near home.

Chief Lips said yesterday that he was much impressed with the new type of fire engine made in the east which is operated by its own steam power and he hoped to see them in use in Los Angeles if actual trials demonstrated their utility and economy of service.

No Horses Needed "The new engines are self-propelled, which does away with the use of horses and the care and expense of their keep and probably reduce the chances of accidents," said he. "They can, of course, go faster with steam power, can make ascents of hills quickly and can make shorter turns and go through crowded streets faster than a team could go. "On the other hand, they are liable to cause runaways until city horses are accustomed to the noise of escaping steam. "They are in use in New Orleans, where because of muddy streets they have not proven as successful as expected. In the cities of New England and along the Atlantic coast they are becoming quite common. "We are studying reports and articles in the firemen's journals and are filing away this information for future use."

Very Rev. Dr. J. S. Glass, C. M., president of St. Vincent's college, will preach at the 10:45 o'clock morning service tomorrow at St. Vincent's church. "The Young Man and the Sunday School" will be the topic of Rev. A. S. Phelps, pastor of the Central Baptist church, next Tuesday evening at the Sunday school convention at Upland. Communion will be celebrated at the Central church at the morning service tomorrow and in the evening Rev. Mr. Phelps will preach on "The Girl That Knew Miss Alice Jacobs."

TOURISTS' INFLUX SHOWN BY INCREASING LICENSES

EXPRESS AND JUNK MEN'S RANKS ARE AUGMENTED

Scores Are Getting City Permits to Do Business, Which They Say Has Fine Outlook—Privilege Costs One Dollar a Month

No more tangible evidence of the rush of tourists outside of the rush at the hotels and depots is to be found than the increase of licenses for expressmen and junk dealers. They are storming the city hall with requests for licenses. Los Angeles exacts a fee of $3 for every three months from express wagon and junk-wagon drivers for the privilege of doing business. So far 840 licenses have been taken out by express men. Junk licenses are considerably less. "It's a poor junk man who cannot make from $4 to $7 a day during the tourist season," said one of them at the city hall yesterday. "The trick is all in the buying. There is profit in it, anyway. "About three carloads of junk are sent from here to Chicago every day. The cloth stuff is made into shoddy clothes, the scrap goes to steel concerns. The bottles are sold here and they bring a good revenue after they are assembled and sorted according to grades. "Because of immense hotel and rooming house interests here in Los Angeles there is an immense field for old clothes, castaway stuff, bottles and the like. With people coming and going all the year round the travelers leave all surplus baggage and goods behind—all velvet for the junk man. "We have our harvest, too."

The business on the books of the license office is increasing daily. The number of miscellaneous licenses made out, signed and delivered to the office now aggregates 5163.

ORATORS AT PEACE AGAIN

A long drawn out controversy as to the management of the Oratorical association at the University of California has been settled for the time being by the victory of the students of the college of law over their rivals, the liberal arts students. The law students claim that by a flaw in the constitution they are permitted to elect members of their own society as officers of the association.
