WEDDED UNDER BEAUTY BOWER

WHITTIER'S FAIREST DAUGHTER A BRIDE

Miss Helen Edna Yale and John Phoenix Moore Are Married with Pretty Ceremony at Country Home

A pretty and interesting ceremony which was somewhat that evening in Whittier at the bride's home was that of Miss Helen Edna Yale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Edward Yale, and John Phoenix Moore, both of Whittier.

Rev. Mr. Burrows officiated and there were no attendants. The bride was becomingly gowned in her traveling costume of cadet blue silk and carried a large bouquet of Mamon Cochet roses. A dainty spray of orange blossoms was fastened in her hair.

Only the immediate relatives and most intimate friends were present, and among those were Mr. and Mrs. Yale, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Emory, parents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Frank E. Wolfe and Mrs. H. E. Cheney.

Mrs. Yale wore a handsome black and white silk gown and Mrs. Emory wore blue silk. Mrs. Wolfe was handsomely gowned in pale gray crepe de chine.

The decorations, which were in perfect harmony in color and arrangement with the furnishings of the house, were beautiful.

All the rooms opened off a large reception hall and over each of the double doorways is the art nouveau grille work through which was interlaced pink roses and smilax in a charming arrangement. Through the rooms were large vases filled with long-stemmed pink and coral roses and in the dining room, where a wedding supper was served after the ceremony, Liberty roses in two large bowls as a centerpiece, formed an effective decorative scheme.

Miss Moore has purchased a cosy home for his bride on North Painter avenue, Whittier, and after January 1 they will be at home there to their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore had only been engaged for a short time, but Cupid proved persistent and last evening's ceremony was the culmination of the romance.

Musical and Thimble Party A most charming musical and thimble party was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Francis Josephine Holmes of 1903 Cordova street for a large group of this season's most popular brides.

Mrs. Robert Wankowski, Miss Maud Elizabeth Richards and Miss Ethel Hawks rendered several delightful vocal solos. In the dining room, where refreshments were served, the ribbons formed a canopy over the table and holly and Christmas bells were charmingly arranged. A large red Christmas bell hung from the chandelier in the living room and the scheme was further carried out by the use of red ribbon and Christmas tree foliage. Through the rest of the house violets were attractively arranged.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murphy, Mesdames Francis B. Silveo, Joseph E. Vandergift, Robert Wankowski, L. J. C. Spruance, Frank Werner, Walter Tyler, W. W. D. Turner, Edward L. Doheny, Joseph Bumiller, Blaisdell, Wayland Trask, Samue Wadsworth, Schenck, Lewis Clark Carlisle, Edwin T. Earl, C. F. Noyes, M. P. Snyder, Harry Warner, J. H. Informal Christmas Party Students of the Dobinson school entertained their friends Wednesday evening with an informal Christmas party. Dancing and a hunt for stockings filled with sweets and a present, which were hid about the house, furnished the entertainment of the evening. After the gay search upstairs and down the young people were served with refreshments in the dining room upstairs, which was decorated for the occasion with greens and holly. Dancing concluded the evening.

School will be dismissed today to be resumed on January 2.

To Be Hostess This Evening Miss Grace Rowley will be hostess this evening, at a formal dancing party given at her residence, 2621 Menlo avenue. Sixty invitations have been issued and she will be assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. E. S. Rowley, and her house guest, Miss Cora Lord. The De Nubla orchestra will play for the dancers. The walls will be festooned with smilax and holly will be banked in various places through the house, while poinsettias and red carnations will further carry out the decorative scheme.

SOUTHERNER WILL CLAIM LOS ANGELES BRIDE

Romance to Be Revealed at Hearts Party to Be Given by Mrs. Walter Wren This Afternoon

A pretty romance involving one of Los Angeles' popular daughters and a handsome young southerner who came here from Kentucky will be unfolded today to the friends of the young woman at a hearts party to be given by Mrs. Walter J. Wren and Miss Ethel Graham of 1331 Ingraham street.

The girl in the case is Miss Florence Whelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon D. Whelan of 948 Thirtieth street, and the southerner who came to tarry but a little while, but remained at the bidding of Cupid, is A. Lincoln Markwell.

Mr. Markwell was traveling on the Pacific coast when he met Miss Whelan. He had intended to pass only a brief time in Los Angeles, but that was nearly a year ago, and each month he has determined to linger longer, until now he has decided to adopt one of the city's daughters and the city as well.

The wedding will take place the latter part of January or the first of February in Christ Episcopal church. It will be a very quiet ceremony and only relatives and intimate friends will be present. Miss Whelan will wear her traveling gown of gray, and there will be no attendants.

The bride-to-be is a charter member of the Students' Musical club, which was formed six years ago. There are only four charter members left, and the hostesses are two of them, while Miss Alice Atwell, to be one of the afternoon's guests, is the fourth.

Miss Whelan socially promises to be one of the most popular of matrons, as she has been one of the most popular of maids.

She is a clever and versatile girl, whether in the drawing room or in the many out of door sports at which she is an adept.

With the pencil and brush she is especially clever, and many of her friends are the possessors of beautiful specimens of her china work. Many have laid siege to all these accomplishments accompanying the young woman's hand, but the engagement comes as a surprise to her friends.

Mr. Markwell is manager of the Pacific Securities and Realty company, and in the brief time he has been here has won a firm place in business circles.

A beautiful bungalow is almost completed at 2940 West Twenty-seventh street, and this is to be a gift to the bride from her father.

The announcement will probably be the signal for several delightful affairs in her honor.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Lambardi Season Closes The Lambardi opera company closed its supplementary season at the Auditorium last night with an abbreviated edition of "Traviata," with Nunez Francheschini, Salvaneschi, Antola and several minor singers in the cast. In settings this was well given; the costumes were atrocious, but the singing in the main was good. Antola especially distinguished himself, and he leaves very pleasant memories behind him. The cuts were so numerous that even the hackneyed story of "Camille," which this is in operative form, could hardly be recognized. The company was in too big a hurry to leave to do the opera artistic justice.

Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra The second concert of this year's symphony offerings will take place at Mason opera house this afternoon. The soloist will be Herr Anton Hekking, the celebrated cellist, who will play his selection Saint-Saen's Concerto for Cello, Op. 33. The program is as follows:

Ballet suite from La Reine de Saba, (Gounod). 1 Allegro. 2 Moderato. 3 Allegretto. 4 Tempo di Valse.

Concerto for Violin and Piano, Op. 33 (Saint-Saens). Fourth Symphony in A major (Italien) Op. 90 (Mendelssohn). 1 Allegro vivace. 2 Andante con moto. 3 Con moto moderato (Mendelssohn). Sinfonietta (Preston).

(a) Air from Suite in D major (Bach). (b) Trauerei (Schumann). (c) Papillon (Popper). Overture to "Wagner). Soloist—Herr Anton Hekking.

Radiated Magnetism in Cure of Paralysis To this force is attributed the cure of the two-and-a-half-year-old son of James Elmendorf, who, at the age of eighteen months, became a victim of infantile paralysis. The left side of the body and both legs from the hips down were paralyzed.

A few weeks ago the child received the first of daily treatments with the Bachelier generators. After the first week there was steady improvement and the parents report that the withered little legs are rounding out again, the evidences of paralytic growth are less and less, and 807 Severance Bldg., cor. 6th and Main streets.
