

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM THEATER Spring St. Bet. 2d and 3d. Both Phones 1447.

MODERN VAUDEVILLE

Patrice-Hickey & Nelson—Happy Jack Gardner—'Little Hip'—Maddox and Melvin—The Lublanks—Chris Smith and the Two Johnsons—Motion Pictures—Alfred Kelley & Co. Matinee Daily Except Monday.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE Main St. Bet. 1st and 2d. Business Main 1957; Home A513. The Family Theater.

MY TOMBOY GIRL

W. J. ELLEFORD Presents Chas. E. Blaney's Romantic Comedy Drama of Old Virginia. Next Week "AT CHIPPLE CREEK."

BELASCO THEATER Belasco, Mayer & Co., Props. Phones: Main 3380; Home A3910.

Washington's Birthday Matinee Today

The Belasco stock company presents the season's big success,

THE CRISIS

TOMORROW NIGHT ENGAGED BY AL MALAIKAH TEMPLE Next Week—The great romantic play, "UNDER THE RED ROBE."

MASON OPERA HOUSE H. C. WYATT, Lessee and Manager. TONIGHT, MATINEE TOMORROW AND TOMORROW NIGHT, Accompanied by Miss

MR. CHARLES B. HANFORD MARIE DROFNAH

Supported by a splendid company of players presenting Tonight—CYMBELINE TOMORROW NIGHT—JULIUS CAESAR Seat sale now on. Prices: 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50.

MASON OPERA HOUSE H. C. WYATT, Lessee and Manager. MA VIGOROUS ABSORBING PLAY

DUSTIN FARNUM THE VIRGINIAN

MOROSCO'S BURBANK THEATER Sixth and Main. Phones 1270. TONIGHT—ONLY THREE MORE PERFORMANCES—SPECIAL MATINEE TODAY.

DON CAESAR DE BAZAN

Alexander Salvini's version. Everybody in cast. Next week, Hoyt's "A TEMPERANCE TOWN." Tickets ready.

THE AUDITORIUM SPARKS M. BERRY, Manager. Fifth and Olive streets. "Theater Beautiful!"

THE HOLY CITY

Seats now selling. Phones: Main 5186, 2257. Matinee prices: 10c, 25c. Evening prices: 10c, 25c, 35c, 50c. Next week—"LA TOSCA."

PACIFIC ATHLETIC CLUB PAVILION Friday, Feb. 22. Philadelphia JACK O'BRIEN Agrees to stop in rounds of six rounds each Abdo, the Turk, Jim Tremble and Geo. Brown.

MISSION THEATER 323 S. Main. Phone Home 1372. EVAN BALDWIN, Mgr. Tonight—New Show—HEARTS ESTRANGED Hear the chimes from 7 to 8 p. m. SPECIAL MATINEE FRIDAY. PRICES: 10c, 20c, 30c. Matinee prices: 10c, 20c.

VENICE AUDITORIUM

Society Circus

60-foot ring—80

EVENINGS FEBRUARY 22, 23 AND 24.

Saturday and Sunday Matinees. Performances at 3 and 8 p. m.

The Most Unique

ENTERTAINMENT EVER HELD ON THIS COAST

given by well-known society people and professional talent unequalled, also the best trained animals in existence and the finest circus acts by artists who have performed before kings and queens all over the world.

Box office Southern California Music Co., 332 South Broadway. Prices: 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50.

There will be ONE MINUTE Car Service commencing one hour and thirty minutes before each afternoon and evening performance; there will be enough cars to seat everybody.

Cars from Fourth and Hill street station.

LOS ANGELES-PACIFIC R. R.

SCOT PARK

Races! Races! Races!

The Fourth Season

Six Good Races Every Week Day

Stakes Every Saturday

The best class of horses that ever visited the coast. A high-class sport for high-class people. Admission $1.00. First race at 1:40.

CHUTES PARK

Feb. 21, 22, 23.

Cat Show

Los Angeles National Cat Club. De Nublia's Orchestra.

For Catalina Island

Take the special trolley cars which leave Sixth and Main streets at 9:15 a. m.

Run direct to steamer wharf without stop.

Baggage checked; through tickets sold.

THE PACIFIC ELECTRIC RAILWAY

SHOWS STRANGE POWERS

German Child Who Can Portray Emotions as Well as the Best Actresses

Berlin, Feb. 21.—Fraulein Angelica Wolter, now 8 years old, who has been a regular member of the theatrical profession for more than two years, has already accomplished so many remarkable things in the dramatic line that German critics declare the little girl is on her way to the front rank among the world's actresses. Some even go so far as to say that she will, if she develops in the future as she has in the past, become the greatest actress of all time. Angelica began her dramatic career in babyhood. Her parents, recognizing the emotional and dramatic tendencies in their child, did what they could to foster the talent. At the age of 5 years and 10 months she began her first public appearance on the stage. It is said that she displayed the histrionic powers of a child, but of a mature woman and many experts puzzled her brains to understand how the little girl could portray such emotions so far in advance of her age. So far she has had nearly as many press notices to her credit as the "Divine Sarah" and she employs no dress agent. The prohibition against the appearance of children on the stage, which obtains in most countries, is never enforced in the case of the wonderful Angelica, so exceptional are her extraordinary abilities. The little prodigy, during her two years' career, has provided out of her profits a sufficient sum to give herself the best of educations in the next ten years.

WOODY WARFARE AT SACRAMENTO

MEMBERS OF BOTH HOUSES IN FIERCE DEBATE

Caminetti's Resolution Censuring the Railroad Commission for its "Do Nothing" Policy Develops Three-Cornered Fight

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 21.—Debates, wrangling and woody warfare marked the session of both houses of the legislature today. Few bills were disposed of. The senate refused to consider the passage of Anderson's "four track" bill, as moved by Caminetti.

The calling up of Caminetti's resolution censuring the railroad commission in the senate amendment worded developed into a three-cornered fight between Senators Caminetti, Leavitt and Wolfe, the latter two defending the railroads. The resolution was defeated.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

WOODY WARFARE AT SACRAMENTO

MEMBERS OF BOTH HOUSES IN FIERCE DEBATE

Caminetti's Resolution Censuring the Railroad Commission for its "Do Nothing" Policy Develops Three-Cornered Fight

By Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 21.—Debates, wrangling and woody warfare marked the session of both houses of the legislature today. Few bills were disposed of. The senate refused to consider the passage of Anderson's "four track" bill, as moved by Caminetti.

The calling up of Caminetti's resolution censuring the railroad commission in the senate amendment worded developed into a three-cornered fight between Senators Caminetti, Leavitt and Wolfe, the latter two defending the railroads. The resolution was defeated.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

Senator Sanford failed in an attempt to force his resolution protesting against the nationalization of Japanese, from the committee on federal relations, where, he said, it had been sent and was being kept by the constant warring of the "big stick." Now that the Japanese question has been settled in Washington to the detriment of California, he wanted his resolution recalled from committee and acted upon. This was denied him.

After a prolonged fight in the lower house the assembly adopted joint resolutions sent back to the senate held's direct primary measure.

JEROME'S CONCEL

MRS. THAW UNABLE TO KEEP BACK THE TEARS

District Attorney Shows the Fair Witness Absolutely No Mercy—Case Continued to Monday Morning

(Continued from Page One) the district attorney hesitated to haul it from its hiding place and hold it before the gaze of the world, all the while requiring that she should recognize and own the fault in her own words.

When Mr. Jerome was flaying Mrs. Thaw with questions as to her relations with White, demanding to know every detail, and while bitter tears were welling to her eyes, two news-papers were accustomed to harsh scenes of life hastily left the court room and made a hasty retreat out of the big portals.

At last the prosecutor himself relented somewhat and suggested that the proceedings should be suspended.

Mrs. Thaw Proceeds Mr. Delmas thought he detected an unfavorable slant to this and protested that the witness would be able to proceed. Mrs. Thaw wept, she spent the night at a bit and nodded to Mr. Jerome to proceed.

After bringing out that her relations with White continued for some time Mr. Jerome went deeper. Mrs. Thaw admitted that in 1903, after her return from Europe, she spent the night at Thaw's apartments in New York and that for three weeks he and she occupied connecting apartments at the Grand hotel here.