GANS HURTS THUMB ON EDDIE CHAMBERS' ELBOW

JIMMY BURNS WORRIED OVER MANAGER'S ABSENCE

Lightweight Champion Works Out at Arcadia in Presence of Large Throng—Negro Is Modest

Joe Gans is one big drawing card. Yesterday Daniel Murphy, who claims to have been born in Stuttgart, entertained about 200 persons at the Oakwood Inn, and each and every one of those 200 was there with the avowed purpose of watching the lightweight champion go through his daily stunts.

And Gans did not disappoint them, either. He boxed five fast rounds with Eddie Chambers, walloped the sandbag for ten or fifteen minutes and kept the punching bag busy for a period of four three-minute rounds. Joe did the latter so well that he smashed one bunch of inflated rubber, and when the new one came on he slowed down in order not to puncture it, too.

Gans is one negro fighter who can be admired by almost any one. As a rule the dark complexioned top notchers strut around and try their best to get everyone to rubber, no matter where they are, but there is nothing like Joe, who has the little fellow out at Arcadia. When he comes out on the platform he means business, and all through it Gans keeps his eyes off the crowd and on the work in hand. When he is through a few well chosen words of thanks are all he utters, and then he goes to headquarters.

Gans' Thumb Hurt The boxing which Gans did with Eddie Chambers yesterday was the last he will perform until next Sunday, according to Willie Keefe, his trainer. In roughing it with Chambers Monday Joe got his thumb in the way of one of Eddie's elbows, and Keefe will not allow him to take chances of having a useless mitt when he faces Burns. Therefore Gans will confine his work to the bag, road and gymnasium stunts and will let the regular ring slide until Keefe gives him the go ahead sign.

As far as boxing is apparently useless, but there is improvement is concerned, Eddie Chambers is a clever boy, but the way the negro twisted him yesterday was a shame; he let Eddie slam him around as much as he wanted to, but when it came to let loose Gans twisted the other man all around him, and did the walloping himself.

One thing which is particularly noticeable to those watching Joe for the first time is the way he gets in and out of the clinches with either glove when close in. Instead of using his arms to break with and swing the other man clear, Gans keeps his hands away and wriggles out of it without a movement of the arms. His supple body twists out of the other man's grasp with no apparent effort, yet Gans is always set in a position to wallop them over from any position.

Build Is Perfect Another thing which particularly attracts the novice at the Gans camp is the champion's build. From the feet to the waist he is in the bantam weight division, but the broad, tapering chest and the magnificent shoulders and arms are those of a welter or middle weight.

And there is a welter weight's force behind the blows, too. Until he contracts upon delivering Gans' arms show no sign of muscular development, but when he glances forth with either glove when close in. PLANS TO ALIGN 'BIG FIVE' TEAMS

WILL TRY TO GET FOOTBALL ELEVEN TOGETHER

Bylaws to Do Away With the Present Friction Will Be Offered at Meeting of the I. A. A.

Determined efforts are being made this summer to break down the opposition of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Chicago and Annapolis to the Intercollegiate Athletic association of the United States, the organization that was formed two years ago with the object of lessening the objections to football that were raised at that time.

At present Pennsylvania is the only one of the Big Five eastern universities that is enrolled in the association. The football committee, comprising representatives of Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Chicago and Annapolis to the Intercollegiate Athletic association of the United States, the organization that was formed two years ago with the object of lessening the objections to football that were raised at that time.

GILMORE CALLS OFF THE YANGER-M'FARLAND GO

Special to The Herald.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Harry Gilmore, Jr., this afternoon called off the Yanger-McFarland match. He says that he is sorry to repudiate the agreement made by his father, but he believes matters were misrepresented.

Gilmore agreed to the match before leaving on a vacation, the weight to be 133 pounds at 3 o'clock and the purse to be $100 and 40 per cent. On his arrival he found articles had been signed calling for 130 pounds at 3 o'clock, with an even split of the purse. He endeavored to reach an agreement on the subject, but failing to do so, called the match off.

JAWN TWIN FAILS TO MEET J. FLYNN

DENVER SPORTS SORE AT JACK FOR ACTIONS

Refuses to Fight Pueblo Fireman and Gets Out of it on Plea of the House Being Too Small

Special to The Herald. DENVER, Aug. 6.—Jack (Twin) Sullivan has quit out of his match with Jim Flynn, which was scheduled to take place before the Denver Athletic club on August 16. The half-patent one makes the impossibly excuse that he was under a temporary impression that the match was to take place in the city of Pueblo, and that as soon as he found it was not, decided that he could not afford to risk his reputation for the money that could be taken in by a bout with its limited capacity. It is a contention without the slightest merit, for the reason that every message sent Sullivan by Matchmaker Gallagher stated distinctly that it was to take place in the Denver Athletic club arena.

It is not hard to see through the lines that Sullivan does not want the Flynn game. He has already been beaten once by the Pueblo product, and in two other matches with the same man. He was drawn because of the fact that he was known at the time, the accounts of both the draws showing that Flynn was entitled to the verdict on merits both times.

When he was here a few weeks ago, Flynn was claiming to be anxious to meet any man in the world, and particularly Sullivan, and that he was willing to fight him in private if there was no other way to get at him and show his superiority. It will be remembered that Mike, the Sullivan twin, skipped out of Denver as a town determined to make him risk the welterweight championship title which he was claiming to have won by his defeat of Honey Melody in a Los Angeles bout.

When the proposition to fight Flynn here was first made by Gallagher Jack wanted to cut the money, and the fact that Flynn gamely demanded a winner and a loser's end is no doubt responsible for the cold backward that is made by the easterner. The bout would no doubt have filled the Denver Athletic club arena, but there is plenty of room for a sensational game at Cleveland against Jerome Travers, and Walter Fairbanks of Denver.

The field of entrants this year is a wide one, players being present from Atlanta, Ga., Denver, Birmingham, Nashville, and including the title holder, Ned Sawyer; Warren K. Wood, who played such a fine fish in the sea, and Cleveland against Jerome Travers, and Walter Fairbanks of Denver.

The qualifying round today, in which thirty-two qualify, and the first round in match play tomorrow, will be thirty-six holes. The subsequent rounds of match play will be at eighteen holes, to the final, Saturday, which will be at thirty-six holes.

MUST SIGN TRUE NAME OR GO WITHOUT DRINKS

Special to The Herald. TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 6.—J. K. Scheuck, county attorney, has decreed that every man who buys liquor in the drug stores in Topeka must sign his name to the affidavit which the purchaser makes, that the liquor is to be used for medicinal purposes and that they are absolutely necessary to the health, comfort and happiness of the signer.

The county attorney has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Oscar C. Oliver on the charge of forgery. The warrant charges four offenses of forgery in signing fictitious names to liquor affidavits in drug stores.
