REARRESTED ON NEW CHARGES IN COURT

LIBERTY ON INDEPENDENCE DAY IS BRIEF

Consul Accuses Prisoners of Murder and Larceny—Magon's Friends Intimate Allegations Are Trumped Up

All charges against the alleged Mexican revolutionists—Ricardo F. Magon, Antonio Villareal and Librado Rivera—were dismissed by Prosecuting Attorney Fierston yesterday morning.

The men are still in jail, however, on new complaints sworn to by Antonio Lozano, Mexican consul in Los Angeles, before the United States district court.

The charge of larceny states the men stole an amount exceeding $25. According to our treaty with Mexico the amount must be in excess of this sum in order to secure extradition.

The men are still in jail, however, on new complaints sworn to by Antonio Lozano, Mexican consul in Los Angeles, before the United States district court.

GET 17 JURYMEN FROM VENIRE OF 37

EXCUSES OF IMPANELED MEN ARE VARIOUS

New Group for Service Will Be Called by Judge Wilbur—First Trials Set for September 24

There were fifty-seven varieties of excuses on tap in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday when thirty-seven of the thirty jurors responded to the subpoena commanding their appearance in court.

After all had been sworn and the court had explained the conditions by which exemptions could be claimed, fourteen of the panel stood up to claim their right to be excused.

Then came an avalanche of reasons for exemption and excuses galore. W. S. Oliver had just been released after six months' service in the United States grand jury, and he was excused.

All of the Fourteen Were Excused. Several doctors' certificates were produced, and when the time came for the court's instructions there were only twenty-three in line.

The last named man excused was W. O. Bennet, who said he was engaged in running a newspaper at that place, and the court considered his editorial service too valuable to the public to be displaced by mere jury duty.

The jury was then excused until September 24, when the first of the trials by jury will be called.

NEW SCHOOL DISTRICT MUST PAY CITY TAXES

Rosedale-Gardena Territory Under Los Angeles Jurisdiction—County Official May Notify Property Owners of Status

The recently formed school district comprising Rosedale, portions of Annandale, Sunnyside, Green Meadows, Moneta, Howard and Gardena, is under the jurisdiction of the city tax collector's list, but the citizens of the various localities do not seem to be aware of the fact.

Yesterday City Assessor Mallard complained to the city council that it would be exceedingly difficult for him to notify all the property owners of the new district.

It was finally decided that the question of reaching the property owners be referred to County Assessor Hopkins and that the latter be asked to stamp the notices sent from his office, also a notice of the city tax.

If Mr. Hopkins concurs with the desires of the city council it will relieve Mr. Mallard of a great deal of unnecessary and complicated work.

100 BANK CLERKS TRAIN FOR MINSTREL SHOW

PROCEEDS WILL GO TO ROOMS OF ASSOCIATION

October 3 Date of Entertainment That Is Backed by Financial Institutions as Well as Employes

More than 100 young men, all bank clerks, are rehearsing nightly and will continue to do so till October 3, for the coming minstrel show of the Bank Clerks' association, which will be held in the Auditorium the night of Thursday, October 3.

The men are in earnest in looking after their entertainment and it will be a grand show in that respect its quantity—and it promises to be the biggest show of its kind ever given here.

George Towle, director of the People's Theater orchestra, is handling the baton, and under his coaching the singers are rapidly acquiring with their vocal numbers, as are the olio features, which will constitute the big end of the bill.

The program is still in process of formation, but even in its present state its excellence is apparent.

The show is to be given by the local chapter of bank clerks to raise funds for the equipment of their rest and recreation rooms. These are intended for the use of bank clerks, especially those strangers in the city.

It is expected that a considerable amount will be needed to carry out their ideals, and this method has been adopted to add them as the most available and possible. The minstrels have for a motto, "No Lemons," and promise to live up to it.

When in Washington he will appear before the United States supreme court in the Home telephone case, the company having appealed the right of the city to fix telephone rates.

He will also study the fender problem while east to see how trolley companies there cope with safety devices.

BLOCK PASADENA AVENUE PROJECT

PROPERTY OWNERS CITE THREE REASONS

Improvement Elsewhere on Thoroughfare Has Lapsed, Sewers Need Installation and Benefits Are Insufficient at Present

For three reasons property owners on Pasadena avenue, between Avenue Fifty, at which the Occidental college property begins, and Marmon way, which is between Avenue Sixty-one and Sixty-three, yesterday asked the city council to abandon the proceedings to pave that thoroughfare with asphalt.

They allege that one-third of the improvement scheme has already been abandoned, hence it is only fair that the northern section shall be dropped. They claim that the pavement will be ruined because of the many new sewer connections which must be put in later.

MARVIN McRAE PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO EMBEZZLEMENT

Marvin McRae, who was brought back from Minneapolis by Sheriff Hammel, was arraigned before Justice Pierce yesterday on the charge of embezzling $30.06 of the funds of the Newberry Grocery company, for whom he was bookkeeper. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded to the county jail in default of $1000 bonds.

It is said the alleged peculations of McRae will amount to hundreds of dollars, but the item mentioned in the information against him is the only one of a considerable amount.

NEGRO JAIL JANITOR MUST PAY WAGES OF SUBSTITUTE

Jim Gaines, the negro janitor at the city jail, must pay the wages of the substitute who did his work while he was on a vacation.

Disregarding Chief Kern's refusal to give him a leave of absence, Gaines went before the council and got ten days' off, but he neglected to get pay for his substitute appropriated in advance.

The council yesterday repudiated Gaines' relief bill.

TRY TO RESURRECT THE ANTI-SMOKE ORDINANCE

Another effort was made yesterday in the city council by a delegation from the Ninth Ward Improvement association to resurrect the anti-smoke ordinance and to would make locomotives liable for violations as well as industrial plants and others consuming smoke.

Incidentally, an effort will be made to include the gas companies in the proscribed list.

In the future The Herald will issue to subscribers holding six months contracts The Housekeeper, instead of the Woman's Home Companion. The Housekeeper is preferred by many of our patrons. It is bright, full of excellent articles of special interest to women.

NEVER CALLED ON TO PAY THEIR RESTAURANT LICENSES

Hart brothers, managers of the Natick and Rosetta houses, were surprised to hear that they were obliged to pay restaurant licenses for the cafes which they are operating.

They said they had never been asked to pay and cheerfully turned $200 into the city treasury when Auditor Musser's agents called on them.

ALL BAKESHOPS MUST BE SANITARY IN FUTURE

Under suspension of the rules the city council yesterday passed the bakeshop ordinance making it an offense punishable by varying amounts to violate the new rules regulating the sanitary conduct of bakeries.

Fines ranging from $10 to $300 are provided, as well as imprisonment or both, and each day of violation constitutes a separate offense.

Bakeries which are established hereafter must not be operated in basements, no smoking, chewing or washing or storing of clothes can be practiced in the work and bake rooms, and other strict regulations are provided for.

Tollet and other arrangements are prescribed, walls must be painted, vermin exterminated, no persons with certain diseases must enter the work rooms and other clauses are made part of the law. No animals must be left therein, and bakers must wear shoes or slippers and washable linen garments.

ALLEGES WIFE WAS MARRIED AT TIME SHE BECAME BRIDE

James McDowell Wishes Annulment of Ceremony with May West, Declaring She Was Incompetent

James McDowell yesterday brought suit for the annulment of his marriage with May G. McDowell on the ground that at the time of their wedding, August 28, 1906, she was not legally competent to marry.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant told him her name was May West and led him to believe she was a single woman. After they were married he learned that she was the wife of a man named Gilliam, from whom she had never been divorced. She claimed to know nothing of his whereabouts, nor whether he was living or dead.

CARRIED TACKS IN MOUTH 20 YEARS; SWALLOWS ONE

Shoemaker, Surprised by Pricking of Steel in Throat, Runs to Hospital—Effects Are Not Serious

"For more than twenty years I have been a shoemaker, and during all those years have been accustomed to carry tacks in my mouth. I never swallowed one until a few minutes ago, and now I would you to get it out of my throat."

Upon investigation it was found that Nelson had swallowed a tack, which had lodged in his throat, but had later passed into his stomach. The sharp piece of steel had scratched the tender linings of the throat, causing great pain.

The injury was treated and Nelson went to his home. The physicians do not expect he will suffer seriously from the experience.

The suit of B. C. Chambers against the Rock Island railroad was called for trial yesterday.

Chambers was a passenger on a Rock Island train February 4, at Kansas City, Mo., when the car in which he was riding was bumped by another which had been released by a switch engine.

He claims to have been thrown from his seat, striking the seat in front and breaking two ribs. He asks $3000 damages.

DEPRECATES USE OF FIREARMS IN PRISON

WARDEN OF REFORMATORY SAYS GUNS CAUSE TROUBLE

Display of Weapons Results in Ill-Feeling on the Part of Convicted Criminals, Asserts A. W. Dutcher of Colorado

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Display and use of firearms in dealing with prisoners was deprecated by A. W. Dutcher, warden of the Colorado reformatory today in an address to the National Prison association.

Dutcher said that restlessness is one of the characteristics of a prisoner, and against that must be placed a reasonable method of control and detention, but the resort of physical force, except when absolutely necessary or the unnecessary display of firearms in and around a penal institution are fraught with as grave dangers and productive of as evil results as any departure to the other extreme can be.

"Law and order command respect only when properly enforced by proper methods.

"An officer using force on a prisoner when unnecessary makes him feel about as a person does when attracted to some excitement on the street of a city where a crowd has assembled, a policeman comes along and gives orders to move on, emphasizing such command with a rough push. While we recognize his authority and obey his commands, we resent the manner in which he discharges his duty and cannot fail to lose respect for him, even though we may not show it.

"The unnecessary display of firearms cannot fail to have a harmful and detrimental effect on the minds of most prisoners. It is not necessary to wave the flag of force and power continually in his face to impress on his mind the danger surrounding him, did he not know the reason for the suspicion or wrath of some officer. He knows as well as you that the requisite means are at hand and that sufficient steps will be taken to immediately and effectually stop him in any attempt at wrong-doing. An immense stone wall stands in its majesty, mounted by guards watching closely, lest some one attempts to scale it. It is almost an assurance within itself against escape. This silent power, great as it is, becomes offensive when the prisoner who is guilty of abuse of power marks him with ugliness and he harbors in his breast resentment and hatred against all who have a part or parcel in its administration, and under this condition improvement for the better cannot be looked for.

"Whether the guard has his gun in full view or has it concealed, but convenient, would seldom enter the mind of one planning to escape, neither would it deter or stimulate him to any appreciable degree in his ambition. It is not always convenient to keep the firearms from full view, but where the circumstances will warrant, it should seem advisable."

VACATIONISTS PATRONIZE SLOT WEIGHING MACHINES

Women Try to Be Slender and Men to Be Stout—Automatic Scales Please All

PITTSBURG, Sept. 15.—It's fashionable these days to get weighed—early, late and often. Of course, the corset makers and the pebbled subjects who ape their fashions, have decreed that women shall be slender, but the other half of the human family, who do not take orders from Parisian modistes, may grow as stout as they like. So it is that every time a train comes into town with its throng of returning vacationists, there is a wild rush to the penny-in-the-slot weighing machines.

The season at the seashore or in the mountains is a panacea for the stout woman who wants to become slender and thin and the thin man who would be stout, and, thanks to the whims of the automatic machines that voraciously swallow the pennies, nearly every person gets what he wants in the matter of weight.

She was attired in a blue traveling suit when she stepped off a New York train at the Union station last night. Ten yards off she looked like a bride, but when she came in close proximity her

ADVISES MEN TO ROLL THEIR OWN CIGARETTES

London Medical Journal Offers New Idea in "Tapering Off"

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Lancet makes the following suggestion to the inveterate cigarette smoker, who is anxious to cut down the number of cigarettes consumed: "Let him," it says, "give up the ready-made cigarette and let him buy pure paper and good tobacco and make his own cigarettes just as he smokes it. Such methods make an end to the chain of the smoker who, when nearly finished with a cigarette immediately lights another from the expiring ember and ends the chain with the appalling consumption of fifty cigarettes or more."

"Your wife has run away with your chauffeur! My poor friend, how unhappy you must be!" "Go to! I have such an excellent chauffeur!"—Le Rire.

Goodley—If men really would "vote as they pray" this would truly be a happy world.

Wiseman—Yes, but in that case you wouldn't get some men to the polls once in ten years.—Philadelphia Press.
