

GANS WILL NOT RETIRE

CHAMPION TALKS OF DONATING HIS TITLE

Burns and the Negro in Return Match Would Not Draw Well at Present—Joe Going East

Have you harkened to the call of the bull? Joe Gans is now the man to toss the saive toward his last opponent, and from the way he is quoted one is led to believe that Jimmy Burns, who was easy mustard for the champion Friday night—is easily the best man in the world at the lightweight limit. Of course, this excepts Gans himself.

And what do you know about this giving away the title business? Jim Jeffries once donated a bunch of laurels and the result is one Tommy Burns, who worked things into such shape that he goes around the country posing as the best man in the heavyweight division. Of course such little trifles as Young Peter Jackson and Jack Johnson are overlooked by the astute Tommy, and his own mind has developed such a realm that he is in a position to draw the color of the champion's next fight.

Now if Joe Gans were to fall in line and deliver his laurels over to Jimmy Burns wouldn't it be grand business? Here is Burns, a boy who hasn't reached a position where he can't be bought, in the Police Gazette dope book, yet if Gans were to do as he is quoted, this young fighter would go around the country posing as the champion lightweight of the world. While not saying that he can't do it, there are lots of men in the division that he hasn't whipped, and until he does he can't be hailed as the champ.

Right here let it be stated that Joe Gans is not going to retire—for a period of several thousand dollars, at least. The champion likes to see the public fall for the Patti stuff, but when it comes right down to cases he will continue to make these farewell appearances as often as business is slack.

So the chances of Jimmy Burns being declared the lightweight champion of the world are slim. Gans is going to lay off for a few weeks and then he will feel the public pulse to see if a return match with Burns would draw any sort of a house.

Right now it wouldn't. But few of the spectators who saw Gans stall around for twenty rounds Friday night would care to see him repeat the performance, for most of them were on hand only to satisfy their curiosity and watch the champion fight. They would not part with much money for a like performance and it would be almost impossible for the same battlers to draw much of a house should they meet again.

Gans going East

Gans will go east this morning to look after his hotel interests in Baltimore and as soon as this is finished he will gaze over the field of candidates to select another challenger. The champion will furnish a couple of suites in the new hostelry.

Just who the opponent will be is hard to determine, for there is nothing in the lightweight ranks to give Gans an argument. He has whittled down all so effectively that the mastery is patent to all, and unless some new talent is brought to the front with a rush Gans will have to step out of the lightweight division and take on a few of the welterweights.

San Diego Pickwickers Beat Hoegees Two Games in Championship Series—Results of Contests Played Yesterday

A big crowd was on hand to watch the teams put up some good ball, and everyone went away satisfied by the brilliant playing on both sides.

SANTA MONICA TEAM IS DEFEATED BY THE THISTLES

Special to The Herald. SANTA MONICA, Sept. 28.—The Thistles nine of Los Angeles defeated the locals today in a well played game by the score of 8 to 7. By losing the contest the home players received a telling setback in their lead for the pennant and are a little further away from the $75 prize that goes to the victorious team.

The Thistles were until recently known as the Halbritters and under the latter name protested a game with the Santa Monica team, which will have to be replayed in the close of the season.

LAST GAMES AT PORTLAND

HOME TEAM PLAYS BRILLIANT BALL AT CLOSE

Beavers Defeat Frisco in Both Contests, Which Are Hard Fought and Full of Fine Features

Special to The Herald. PORTLAND, Sept. 29.—Two most sensational games closed the baseball season on the local grounds today and despite the gilt edge ball put up by the Beavers they suffered a double defeat.

It was the best exhibition that has been seen here this year and despite the fact that the Beavers are hopelessly tired and the rabid fans cheered their final victories.

The first game was fought out for twelve innings and in the eleventh the fans were treated to nerve-straining triple play pulled off by Johnson and Casey, who retired Elper, Wheeler and Irwin in the twinkling of an eye and probably resulted in Portland's victory.

Another startling feature was furnished at the very start, when Melchior made a one-handed catch at Casey's drive against the right field fence.

In the second contest of five innings Groom won this game by a three-base hit in the fourth. The Seals had gained a lead of two on the second and things looked dismal for Portland.

Then, with McCredie, Basse and Mott on the sacks, Groom pounded out a beauty. Casey followed with a hit, sacrifice and a run, and the last game of the final score.

TIGERS AND ATHLETICS FIGHT FOR PENNANT

Winners Will Play Chicago Nationals for World's Championship—White Sox Have Small Chance of Winning

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Interest in all other branches of sport this week will be overshadowed by that focused on the brilliant race between the leading teams of the American baseball league for the pennant of 1907, and the honor of meeting the Chicago club of the National league for the world's championship early next month.

Detroit begins the week with 87 games won and 45 lost; Philadelphia with 83 games won and 55 lost, a percentage of 60 for the former and 60 for the latter. Chicago's White Sox are third in the race, with a very remote chance of catching the leaders, having a percentage of 58.

MRS. STEPHENSON IS STAR OF DAY

Revolver Experts of Local Club Contest for Medals, and I. C. Douglas Takes Capture Bronze Trophy

Members of the Los Angeles Revolver club held their regular monthly medal shoot at the Bishop street range yesterday, and Mrs. G. F. Stephenson, who is the latest admitted member of the club, was easily the star of the day.

Harry Earl is going to desert the stage for something more closely akin to the sporting world. The popular Belasco actor has accepted a club house and hotel close to the new race track at Baldwin's ranch.

And, speaking of race tracks, what about this Venice idea? Curly Brown, the disturbing element who brought on the big show at New Orleans two years ago, recently announced that he had secured ground and would build a track down by the sea, and that was the last heard of it.

With the football season opened we can expect the annual show on the part of the coaches in this vicinity. In at least one or two instances the men who direct the college teams seem to think that are the whole works and "Billy Nolan" things to their hearts' content.

What would be the matter with Walter Hempel and Harvey Holmes, the two most fragrant examples of what the dictionary bug will do, together with the other coaches forming a board of arbitration and leaving all disputes to it for settlement? The scheme has worked before, and in bigger things than squabbles between minor colleges and prep schools, and it might be the same more interesting should it be tried.

Young Peter Jackson is going to stick around and try to get on with Tommy Burns. Peter has been kind of backing the latter since he can whip Tommy, but the latter doesn't seem to notice the negro at all.

"It's a joke," Tommy is reported as having told someone who asked him why Jackson's challenge to Burns was not accepted. If Jackson is a joke, it certainly took some people who have fought him a long time to see the point, for the negro has a habit of being right there in the what's coming. Right now there is little possibility of the match being made, for Burns is looking for the money and figures he would not draw much with Jackson as an opponent.

Manager McCarey will try and get Blackton and Pecky McFarland, two good lightweights, out here this winter, and if he does George Memsie will have something to do. Blackburn is under the management of Tom O'Rourke and the latter has been whipping folks while McCarey is looking for the money and undoubtedly be persuaded to try the game out this way.

NO RACES AT OLD COURSE

GEORGE ROSE SAYS ASCOT IS Out of It

Work is in Full Blast at Santa Anita Park, and Superintendent Allen Expects to Finish in Time

First it's Ascot and then it isn't. George Rose has put himself on record as saying that there will be no racing whatever at the old course south of town, and that those who delight in the sport of kings—and bookmakers—must wait until Santa Anita park is finished to get rid of their superfluous coin.

Beauty of surroundings means anything those who visit the new track will be amply paid for the daily trip which is in store for them. The grandstand at Santa Anita will face the lowering mountains, and in view of their white-topped peaks are picturesque in the extreme. And then all around the course stretch the broad and fertile acres of Baldwin's ranch, while all the way from Los Angeles ever green orange groves line the railway tracks on both sides.

Now that he must put the job through in time for a late November opening Superintendent Allen is getting busy in earnest. Teams which string out for almost a mile are busily engaged day after day in excavating and leveling a fine outline of the main course, and passersby are able to see that the track building is on in full blast.

Work on the grand stand and stables will begin this week. Allen has experienced some difficulty in getting the lumber for lumber were not shipped immediately. This will all be remedied within a few days and the structures needed will be under way shortly.

Eastern and northern horsemen who arrive before the stables are up will be ready to do the old course a lively place. Many thoroughbreds were left there all winter to rest and a few have come in since the Seattle meeting. One or two stables have chosen agricultural park for homes, but they will not race at Santa Anita, in any shape to receive them.

Not Much Room

One trouble the owners will meet at the Arcadia plant if they go there early is the fact that no exercise track will be ready for them until just before the meeting opens. At first it was thought the training track at Baldwin's ranch would be worked out in large this will necessitate some inconvenience. The track is not a large one and Baldwin has many youngsters on hand which he wishes to train at all hours of the day.

Officers of the Los Angeles Racing association have been open some days now, and are already assuming a businesslike appearance. Secretary Randle is in charge and his staff of assistants find it no easy task to keep up with the mail which is already floating in from eastern horse owners.

If present indications are lived up to many of the good horses now in training will race at the local track. Frank Regan, Billy McKinney, R. F. Carmen and others have made valuable additions to the stable.

It is not probable that Walter Miller will race a large bunch Miller will ride in one of two stakes at Santa Anita, but his appearances here will be few and far between.

Lucky Baldwin will return from Lake Tahoe this week and the directors of the Los Angeles Racing association will convene in their first regular meeting to formally elect officers and go through the opening of the track. The stake book for the inaugural meeting will be distributed to those interested in a day or two, and the work of receiving entries to the various feature events will soon keep all hands busy.

ANGELS ARE COMING HOME

WILL BE ON OLD STAMPING GROUND TODAY

Hen Derry's Men Due to Finish Season on Chutes Lot, and Ought to Cop the League Pennant

This is the week when the baseball crank lets up on kicking about the way the schedule is made up and the absence of the home team from the Chutes lot. He has to do this, for the Angels are slated to return home this morning and start on a five weeks'—yes, that is right—series at home on Wednesday.

And with the local rooters to help them, Hen Derry's men ought to win the pennant by as many lengths as they care to make it, and under double wraps that. Before he left on the last northern trip Cap Dillon made the remark that if the team was in as good as second place when the home ranch was in sight, the Pacific coast pennant would surely swing from the Chutes flagpole at the end of the season.

So this talk of Dillon's ought to pan out, for the Angels are better off than Cap thought they were. No team in the league has been able to head them, and when on the local diamond the Angels can play with any of them, and for more than an even break too.

Toward the end of their stay in the north Hen Derry began to worry about the home ranch. He has a payroll, and he departed Friday afternoon to be with them. Hen is a real manager all right, for he was stuck on seeing Gans and Memsie fight, but let this pleasure slide in the hour of need.

So Hen will lead the march when the Angels drop off the Owl this morning. Some of his followers will come in on crutches, others will be gently passed into invalids' chairs by the Pullman porters, but they will all be here, and despite conditions and infirmities will play ball fast enough to make the Chutes bleachers a place of joy again.

There will be but one new face in a lot of uniforms that line up on the lot for the final games of the season. Pitcher Hess is the man, and judging by the way he has performed since joining the team the latest acquisition to the twirling staff will help a lot in keeping the Angels in the lead. Yesterday the whole team was thoroughly renovated, and the process is probably the most economical known. The place has the bustle of success and that indescribable air we know—we have a bonanza.

There are about two miles of work on the Karna-Ajax properties. The pay sheet in the mill level is now over 1000 feet long and is still making good at the point of the drill. The face of this pay sheet is almost directly under the mill, and the rest of the team will have to take care of what comes here in the shape of opposition.

The Boollers are coming first to be offered as a sacrifice, and because they can't make the long jump down the coast from Portland in time the first game of the series will be played Wednesday. San Francisco is surely putting up a nice grade of ball these days, and with their full team to back up against the Angels will have to fight some to win a majority of games.

As things as they stand, the rooters can prepare to make all the noise they want to this week, and also the four following. The Angels need all the vocal help they can get, and it's up to the fans to give it to them.
