

Put Just $3.60 Into A Victor

The joys of a Victor Talking Machine are limitless. During the winter months you can hear the greatest singers, bands, orchestras, while sitting by your own fireside. The Victor Talking Machine is educational as well as amusing. Listening to its variety of music will give you a better understanding—a wider knowledge of the beauty of the musical art.

Get a Victor today—enjoy it over Sunday. Our plan of selling Victrolas on installments is as simple as it is easy. All we ask you to do is to pay $3.60 for half a dozen records—you will need that many anyway. Then the outfit will be sent to your home, and you commence paying a dollar or so weekly on the machine seven days later.

MAUD POWELL IS AMONG THE GREAT

IS PERFECT MASTER OF HER INSTRUMENT

Refined Temperament, Smoothness, Breadth and Accurate Technique. Mark Her Work—Style Noble, Deep and Dainty

By Genevra Johnstone-Bishop
Maud Powell is undoubtedly the greatest violinist who has yet appeared in Los Angeles. Every number of her program last evening proved her the master of her instrument. Such rare temperament, such ravishing cantabile, such breadth, smoothness and accurate technique!

One is thrilled and inspired when listening to her luscious tone, her endless flow of magnificent tonal language.

Her style is broad, noble, deep and also dainty when occasion requires, but always polished and dignified. She has a fine stage presence and her facial expression while playing is wonderful and shows how the Maud Powell personality is lost in the composition which she is interpreting, a quality rare in artists.

The first movement in the sonata op. 13 by Grieg was masterfully played, so broad and majestic. The second movement she fairly caressed the strings and the last movement or finale was penitente and after an enthusiastic applause she played the "Valse Caprice" by Wieniawski.

The concerto in D minor op. 31 by Vieuxtemps also suited her style admirably. The first movement has considerable technical and long and difficult cadenza which lent great opportunity for individuality of interpretation, which she used in a most artistic manner.

The second movement—the "Andante Religioso"—was played with great feeling and such exquisite purity and sweetness of tone. The finale was brilliant and showed to good advantage her virtuosity. After every number on her program she was rapturously applauded and bravos were showered upon her, and she was very generous that she responded with appreciative bows and captivating smiles, always followed by a choice selection, this time Sarasate's "Zapatado" (or the Cobble), which used to be one of Reymann's favorite concert pieces. The Mozart "Minuet" and Chopin's "The Flowerette" (the latter transcribed by Mme. Powell) were both little gems. Her response to these was "Drala's" caprice. The "Zephyr" by Hubay was extremely dainty and descriptive.

Schumann's "Träumerei" was so exquisite in its rendition that the audience gave her a perfect ovation, so she repeated it, much to the delight of every one.

Her harmonies in the Wieniawski Russian air were played with great feeling. The score to this was a fantastic "Patrick," by Vieuxtemps, which she played in honor of the Celtic club, who entertained her with a banquet Thursday evening, and this composition testifies the artist's technical power and which was a mere toy in her hands. She was supported by a fine accompanist, Maurice Eisner, which indeed is a joy to both artist and audience. His piano solos were very meritorious and he gives promise of great things in the future. He was well received and played Rameau's Regard (arranged by Godowsky), a Chopin nocturne, and Liszt's Rhapsody No. 4. His encore after these was "On the Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn-Liszt. The audience was a large one and most appreciative.

EDENDALE WANTS USE OF ALESSANDRO STREET

Property Owners Lay Their Wishes Before Board of Public Works, with Promise of Adjustment

The board of public works held a hearing yesterday in connection with the demand of the residents of Edendale for the use of Alessandro street beyond Elysian park, now monopolized by the Pacific Electric cars.

The street is narrow at that point, some streets are crossed by the company without a franchise because it owns a private right of way over some strips, and altogether Edendale insists on immediate relief.

It is believed the controversy can be adjusted, as intimations of that character have been made to Councilman E. A. Clamplitt of the Second ward.

TRAIN DEMOLISHES ICE WAGON AND KILLS HORSE

A collision between an ice wagon and a passenger train yesterday morning resulted disastrously to the former. A train leaving the Arcade depot at 8 o'clock ran into a team at Banning and Alameda streets, demolishing the wagon and killing one horse. The other horse was badly injured and may not live.

GIVE INSPECTORS EXPERT POINTS

SANITATION AND RAT CATCHING BOTH NECESSARY

Dr. Pittinger Will Be Invited to Address Health Force—Clean-up Goes Steadily on All Over Los Angeles

Inspectors of the health department—the permanent force—held a meeting for conference in the mayor's office last night and devoted two hours to mutual discussion.

Sanitation was the general topic, and the broad rule was laid down for all that the present clean-up campaign is highly educative for Los Angeles; and if the instructions now being given to householders will be insisted on in future Los Angeles need fear no waves of sickness, no matter how near the center of contagion may be and how many ships land at her ports.

L. M. Powers, health officer, gave a general talk to the inspectors, asking them to continue to do their duty, to be firm but courteous and to impress on everybody how necessary sanitation is not only to their neighbors but to themselves.

"The people do not realize what cleanliness means in big cities," said the health officer. "They will tell you all about their neighbors' shortcomings, but overlook their own."

"Once clean this city should stay so—the real spotless town of America."

Dr. A. W. Moore of the health board suggested that Dr. Pittinger of sanitation fame be invited to address the inspectors on sanitation, on which subject he is a recognized authority. A committee will be delegated to invite prominent speakers to appear from time to time at the meetings of inspectors, which will probably be held weekly hereafter.

Rat Catchers Study

In the council chamber in the afternoon a rat catchers' school was held for the benefit of the ward inspectors concerned with the extermination of rats.

Into the few thousand rats caught have proved a disappointment, as it is believed that but a very small percentage of the rodents has been put out of commission.

The cornmeal, sugar and plaster mixture has not worked as well as expected because some of it was put in damp corners, where the plaster hardened because of moisture before the rats could get at it, and the rest of the bait proved a tidbit.

Several women have telephoned to ask whether the stuff would hurt chickens, and they were gravely informed by some of the inspectors that on the contrary the plaster would be converted into egg shells promptly.

Junk Men Help

Since householders were requested to place all their more combustible rubbish in light boxes and barrels on the curb, the street sweepers and junkmen have had a harvest. Secretary H. M. Love of the health board reports.

They are making the rounds of the streets, going through all these boxes, picking out scrap iron, bottles and other merchantable stuff and materially reducing the amount to be hauled away to the ward dumps.

As the city has only forty teams available and needs at least a hundred, every little bit helps, provided the junkmen do not litter the contents of these receptacles over the streets in their search.

Some of the inspectors in the special sanitary force are being detailed to serve notices on real estate agents that they must have their clients' vacant lots cleaned up at once.

Many of the lots belong to non-residents, but more are owned by Angelenos, and the object is to put the work on the shoulders where it properly belongs.

The notices are served on agents, as shown by the signboards, telling who represents each owner, and the department will follow up these warnings.

It will be the duty of the police afterward to see that after the lots are cleaned the neighbors do not stealthily deposit their rubbish on the vacant spots as of yore.
