

SOCIETY

BY no means content with the magnificent opening of their coliseum on Jefferson street last month, Potentate Motley H. Flint has other plans in view for bringing the nobles and their wives into closer social relations and for making the great hall the center of all sorts of "doins" for the Shriners.

The two big events of the near future are a House Warming, to which members of Al Malakiah temple, other Shriners visiting the city and candidates with their ladies will be welcomed, admission being only by the white 1907 Shrine card.

A ceremonial session is scheduled for the following evening, and an event in Shrinedom. The opening ceremonies will be solemn and spectacular and the officers will appear for the first time in their new regalia. After the show a really hot Dutch supper will be served, and during the supper and afterward a vaudeville show, that is said to be the real thing, will be presented under the direction of Noble John H. Blackwood, general manager of the Belasco theater.

Ayer and Mrs. L. J. C. Spruance were awarded the beautiful prizes. Other guests were Mesdames Robert Wankowski, Hermon D. Ryus, A. S. Vandergrift, Holmes, Jones, George Goldsmith, Gertrude Keller-Bagley, Fred Maier, Misses Pearl Vollmer, Florence Moore, Carroll McComas and Clara Funk.

Friday Mrs. Silverwood entertained with an informal bridge whist party for another group of friends. Dunn, W. J. Wrenn, Schrader, E. J. Stanton, Lewis, Max Parker, Purcell, Miss Stanton, Miss Roberts, Miss Rose Kubeck.

Debutantes to Receive

The young women whose first season in society opened so auspiciously last week at the Concordia club ball are already finding the need of social calendars and engagement books, and their first season promises to be a gay one.

The young ladies and their parents will be at home to friends today.

Card Matinee

Mrs. R. H. Arnold of Ninth and Valencia streets was hostess at a charmingly appointed whist Thursday afternoon.

The daintiest refreshments were served after the game, the color scheme of pink, which obtained throughout the house, being developed artistically in the dining room, where carnations and rose pink ribbons were used. The table centerpiece was a large white Teddy bear, and in the refreshments the pink color scheme was carried out. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. S. W. Strong, Mrs. Cobler and Mrs. Hopkins.

Other guests were Mesdames Clarence Ferguson, Stumm, Dunn, W. J. Wrenn, Schrader, E. J. Stanton, Lewis, Max Parker, Purcell, Miss Stanton, Miss Roberts, Miss Rose Kubeck.

S. M. Club and Escorts

Miss Adelaide Stanton entertained the S. M. club delightfully last evening at her home on Graton street, whist occupying the time from 8:30 to 10:30, after which dancing was enjoyed in the large ball room on the third floor. Invitations to the members had included another for an escort, and the company accepting Miss Stanton's hospitality numbered about sixty. Prizes were awarded victors in the card contest. An orchestra furnished music for the dance program.

Concordia Club Dinner

The dinner and whist to be given at the Concordia club house this evening promises to be largely attended, and the committee has arranged the details with careful attention. Elegant prizes will be awarded the lucky contestants at whist. Music for dancing will be furnished and the younger people will doubtless take advantage of the opportunity and the fine floor in the ball room.

U. S. Navy Folk

Lieut. Commander Evans and Mrs. Evans, who for two years have resided at Annapolis, where Commander Evans was stationed, arrived in Los Angeles this week and were the guests of Mrs. William Bennett at 912 South Burlington avenue.

Commander Evans, who has just finished three years of service on land and sea according to the United States navy rules assigned to sea duty for the ensuing three years, came west to join the officers of the battleship Pennsylvania and left Thursday morning for Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Bennett entertained with a daintily appointed luncheon Thursday, others at the table being Mrs. Dwight Satterlee, Miss Ruth Mitchell, Miss Bessie Beatty and Miss Ethelwyn Harrison.

Mrs. Evans expects to pass the winter in California. After a stay at Santa Barbara she will return to be the guest of Mrs. Bennett and several affairs are being planned for her.

Box Party at Belasco

Miss Huston Bishop entertained with one of the largest box parties yesterday afternoon that has been given this season. The play witnessed was "The Other Girl" at the Belasco. Miss Bishop entertained about fifty-five of her young friends at the theater and afterward with a "lavender luncheon" at the Van Nuys. The guests were seated at one long table which was lavishly decorated with violets and lilies of the valley. Among those who enjoyed the box party were Mrs. Burton Green, Mrs. Olin Wellborn, Mrs. Roland Bishop, Misses Grace Melius, Katherine Mellus, Eva Keating, Grace Rowley, Irene Kelley, Maud Clark, Lucy Clark, Katherine Clark, Edith Herron, Annis Van Nuys, Kate Van Nuys, Helen Chaffee, Juana Creighton, Rowena Blossom, Bry Contoy, Inez Clark, Marie Evans, Katherine Bashford, Marguerite Bowen, Lina Johnson, Virginia Johnson, Alice Harpham, Olive Harpham, Lizelle Lewis, Lella Holterhoff, Barneta Norton, Ruth Sterry, Nora Sterry, Ethel Shaw, Fannie Rowan, Echo Allen, Nina Jones, Gertrude King, Lois Chamberlin, Gertrude and Marian Churchill, Aneta Patton, Hazel Patterson, Byron, Sara Goodrich, Gwendolin Laughlin, Florence Silient, Susie Carpenter, Lois Allen, Gertrude Workman, Charlotte Workman, Laura Solano, Alice Shaw, Helen Newlin, Ray Johnson, Winifred Lewellyn and Harriet Severance.

For Miss Harris

One of the prettiest of the week's events was the luncheon given by Miss Mabel Damer Thursday afternoon at her home on West Thirty-seventh street in compliment to Miss Edith Harris and in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Over the board was laid beautiful yellow cloth that had belonged to Miss Damer's great-great-grandmother, and in the center were clustered big yellow hearted chrysanthemums. The place cards were tiny triangular folders and the hostess, having ascertained the respective natal days of her guests, had inscribed on the second leaf the zodiacal influence governing the life of each. With the dessert was served a birthday cake containing the traditional emblems—a ring, a piece of money and a needle.

Besides the guest of honor others invited for the pleasant affair were Mrs. J. A. Woodson, Mrs. Ralph Edinger, Misses Frances Parker, Ursula Chartrand, Georgia Morton, Maynis Hooper, Juanita Lane, Stella Lane, Helen Boshyshell, Helen Tappe, Ruth Shepherd, Jessilyn Van Trump, Emily Stanlee, Ethel Bryan and Maud Lawton.

For Miss Mohr

Miss Nellie Mohr, whose engagement to Preston McKinney was announced recently at a delightful affair given by Miss Helen Hale, was the honored guest at a hearty party given yesterday by Miss Anna Powers at her home, 1940 Lovelace avenue. Miss Mohr shared the honors of the afternoon with Mrs. John R. Kirkpatrick, who was formerly Miss Josephine LeDoux. Miss Powers was assisted in receiving by Mrs. William H. Mohr and Miss Laura Sellers. A unique feature of the afternoon was a recipe book for Miss Mohr, each one of the guests bringing two of her favorite recipes for the book. Decorations for the occasion were bride roses and festoons of blue.

Guests entertained in Miss Mohr's and Mrs. Kirkpatrick's honor were Mesdames Stuart Macfarlane, John Edwards, Frank Simmons, Walter J. Wren, J. A. LeDoux, Frank Hutton, Colin Gair, C. C. C. Tatum, Sylvester Seago, Misses Mabel Touchman, Leona Hutchinson, Myrtle La Crosse, Linda Spurlock, Cora Bullas, Edna Shopbell, Ewson, Eunice Kirkpatrick, Beatrice Roome, Jessie Lacey, Hornby, Florence Row, Violet Bauer, Mabel Watkins, Helen Hale, Adelaide Salmon, Mary Newkirk and Bessie Beatty.
