WITH the advent of the Pacific squadron, society put on her glad raiment and proceeded to do honor to her guests. House parties, luncheons, dinners and balls have followed each other in rapid succession, combining to constitute a dizzy whirl in which tetching frocks, brass buttons and gold braid mingled on quarter deck and ball room with equal satisfaction to the wearers. Thursday was Redondo's night, and the ball given at the hotel was a notable one. Last evening a brilliant protechnic display emphasized Santa Monica's welcome to both officers and men, and Tuesday evening the last large event of the series, a large ball will be given as a farewell courtesy.

For Gamma Gamma Phi Girls
The members of the Gamma Gamma Phi sorority are to be dinner guests of Miss Hazel Bower at her home, 1321 South Hope street, Thanksgiving evening. Dinner will be served on a mahogany table which has been in the family for over 175 years, and this will be decorated in the sorority colors, crimson and black, the place cards being in the same shades. Covers are to be laid for Misses L. Van Norman, Roy Hill, Jeff Stephens, Le Roy Ackley, Bradley, W. Stearns, Talbot, Richard Sumner, Percy Meredith, Misses Kathleen Hamilton, Joe McMillan, Clara Condit, Hazel Childers, Helen Bushnell, Barbara Fisher, Hazel Ludwig, Maud Biglow, Wynette Bailey, Helen Coombs, Joe Widney, Maud Kanner, Reba Smith, Eta Stahmer, Eula Smith and Moya Matlock.

Dancing and Tennis
The Hollywood club has issued invitations for the second harvest ball, which will take place Thursday evening. The invitations read: "Gingham aprons and sunbonnets permitted. Linen dusters and bandanas welcome! All farm wagons must be hitched on Caluenga street, parties in tractor engines may use the Prospect ave. entrance."
Plans are being made by the club for its first annual tennis tournament, to be held at the club courts November 23 to December 1, inclusive. Entries are to be limited to residents of Hollywood, and the program will include women's singles and doubles, men's singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

For Mrs. Curtis Mann
Miss Bessie Beatty was hostess at a delightfully planned box party at the Orpheum one afternoon last week, the affair being given in compliment to Mrs. Curtis Mann of Rhyolite, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles, and also for several other young women who are visiting in the city.
Miss Ruth Mitchell, who was a member of the party, has written a charming little comedietta called "The Lady and the Bracelet," which is being put on by Lillian Burkhardt and which was presented that day for the first time.
After the matinee the young women were the guests of Miss Beatty at her home, 429 West Avenue Fifty-four, when a high tea was served.
The party, which occupied two of the lower boxes, included beside those already mentioned, Mrs. William Bennett and her house guest, Mrs. Waldo Evans, wife of Lieutenant Commander Evans; Miss

Informal Kensington
An informal afternoon was enjoyed by a party of friends at the home of Miss Ruth Mitchell on St. Paul avenue Friday. The company numbered sixteen, each young woman bringing her needlework, and as the bits of glancing steel flew through the dainty fabrics, merry quip and jest followed with equal rapidity.
Miss Mitchell has as house guests Mrs.

Tea and Dancing Party
One of the largest and most important affairs of the week was a tea, followed by a dancing party, given by Mrs. Roy C. Seeley in honor of her mother, Mrs. Ida M. Calvin, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Kingsley Macomber. Mrs. Seeley's home, 3193 South Figueroa street, where the affair was held, was artistically decorated in a color scheme of pink, red and green. The reception and dining rooms were in pink roses and ferns; the library in poinsettias and the greens, and the hall in potted plants.
Mrs. Seeley was assisted in receiving by Mrs. C. R. Drake, Misses Bri Conroy, Eva E. Keating, Rowena Blossom, Lillian Smith and Kate Macomber. The tea was followed by a dancing party in the evening. Those who attended were Mrs. Alfred Stinson, Robert Williams, Chandler, Geoffrey Drake, J. P. Chandler, J. H. Norton, R. H. Herron, Arthur Stone, G. M. Ball, Harvey G. Andrews, I. The decorations and dance cards will be unique, characterized by Thanksgiving ideas. Guests of the home and their friends invited to be present will number about seventy-five.

Harvard School Dance
The members of the Harvard school football team entertained with a large and elaborately appointed dancing party at the school last evening, that was one of the enjoyable events of the week. Decorations were in the school colors, crimson and black. Banners were hung in the halls and in the ballroom; red and white streamers were draped about the center of the ceiling, from which point an immense Harvard pennant was hung. The patronesses were Mesdames L. D. Lane, A. H. Koebig, A. A. Manuel, A. L. McAuley, Andrew Giassell, F. R. Frost, E. H. Barman and A. J. Goodenow. About 500 of the younger set attended the dancing party. Kammermeyer's orchestra furnished the music.

Winter Visitors
Among the charming girls visiting Los Angeles this winter are Miss Jane Kreim and Miss Myra Kreim, who, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kreim, are here from Clinton, Iowa. They are occupying apartments at the Coronado, where they expect to remain for a short time and then plan to take a house. The Kreims will be joined by their son, Clyde, before spring. The young ladies spent last winter in Los Angeles and are very popular with the younger set. Many entertainments are being planned in their honor.

Living Pictures at Bazaar
The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church is planning a Christmas bazaar in the vestry of the church, on the corner of Figueroa and Twentieth streets, Friday, December 6, beginning at noon.
