Society

THE members of the Jonathan club will entertain with their regular ladies' night this evening, a social event that occurs every month. The rooms are to be converted into a veritable conservatory of blossoms and greenery, and Arent's orchestra to furnish music during the dinner hour and for dancing afterward. Many informal parties have been arranged for the occasion, among those entertaining being: Dr. Roy D. Robinson, Dr. W. F. Huddel, Dr. F. E. Stevens, Dr. John L. Davis, Messrs. E. F. Ganahl, A. S. Abbott, J. F. Rhodes, Alfred J. Bayer, J. W. Saurrett, E. W. Murphy, Archibald Douglas, J. E. Howard, R. F. Train, F. S. Hughes, M. W. Everhardy, J. W. Edwards, M. E. Post, Leo Youngworth, Lester F. Scott, A. K. Bauer, J. W. Kemp, E. F. Blumve, S. C. Dunlop, E. L. Quint, Charles T. Sutton, W. K. Cowan, H. Albert De Witt, F. L. Bottsford and W. M. Hunt, jr.

For House Guest

In honor of her house guest, Miss Flora Hunter, of San Francisco, Mrs. Wallace W. McLeod, of 60 West Eighteenth street, will entertain with a five hundred party this afternoon, the affair being the second given complimentary to Miss Hunter. The rooms where the games are to be played will be brilliant with holly berries and bows and streamers of scarlet satin ribbon. In the dining room and den, where long tables are set for luncheon, the same scheme is to be carried out, the place cards showing hand decorated designs of the Christmas berries. Christmas cards of pretty effect will be used for the scores.

For prizes, the hostess has chosen, first, a unique brass inkstand, second a hand painted cup and saucer, and for the consolation, a bon bon dish of Bohemian glass. As a prize for the young women who are to assist, there is an artistically framed water color sketch of the San Fernando Mission.

Denker-Kubach

A pretty wedding took place yesterday at noon at St. Vincent's church, when Miss Rose Kubach and Lewis Andrew Denker were united in marriage by Rev. Father Thomas J. Devine. The young people were attended by Miss Sophia Kubach, sister of the bride, and Louis A. White and two little flower girls, Genevieve Moffat, Hortense McLaughlin, Prof. Wild presided at the organ, and Miss Rose Zobelain sang. The ushers were Messrs. Joseph Maler, Joseph Barry, Will Fallon and Joseph Hurley.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white silk messaline, lace trimmed, with which was worn a long tulle veil; her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was in pink silk chiffon and a big pink picture hat, and the little flower girls were white

Miss Gertrude Edith Blackburn and James Franklin Blackburn were married Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Blackburn, 1338 Santa Monica avenue, Rev. J. A. Johnson officiating. Miss Frederika Bedford and Oliver Blackburn attended the bride and groom.

RAILROAD NEWS

Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation of the Southern Pacific, and R. H. Ingram, superintendent of the southern division of the same lines, left Los Angeles yesterday morning en route to San Francisco. They are traveling in a private car and will make an inspection of the road.

Fred A. Wann, general traffic manager; T. C. Peck, general passenger agent; Judge W. B. Kelly, general agent of the Salt Lake, and E. W. Gillett, general traffic manager of the Las Vegas & Tonopah, departed yesterday for San Francisco, where they will attend a meeting of traffic men.

Malone Joyce, district freight and passenger agent of the Colorado Midland, accompanied by his wife, has gone to San Francisco on a business trip. E. W. McGee, general agent of the passenger department of the Southern Pacific, returned yesterday from an extended trip to New York and other eastern cities.

James Hayward, formerly in the Pullman department of the Southern Pacific, left for New Orleans last night.

Warren J. Lynch, passenger traffic manager of Chicago of the New York Central lines, has informed the local offices of that company that in compliance with the wishes of patrons, as expressed by petition and individual request, commencing next Sunday, December 15, the Twentieth Century limited will be placed on a winter schedule of nineteen and one-half hours between Chicago and New York. Eastbound the train will leave Chicago at 1 p. m., arriving in New York at 9:30 a. m. Westbound it will leave New York at 3 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 9:30 a. m. Luncheon will be served leaving Chicago, and no change will be made in the standard of service, all of the special features being retained.

Accidents in the railroad yards have been abolished for all time and the picturesque switchman with his flag and light have been relegated to the rear, that is as far as the Lackawanna railroad is concerned. At Hoboken December 2, in the presence of the officials of the railroad and representatives of the metropolitan press, a new system of track circuit switching was put into effect. The first of the world has ever seen, though two great trunk lines are at present installing the same system. The safety device is, in the first place, installed to prevent collisions of any kind in the yard. That is its prime and chief object. Incidentally there is a great saving in help. Three men can operate the switches of an entire yard consisting of twenty miles of track with ease. As explained by M. E. Smith, the signal engineer of the Lackawanna, the new system is an evolution from the old method of throwing switches and signaling by hand. This method gave way to the block system, where tracks were thrown by use of levers and the signals given by electricity. Under the electro-pneumatic interlocking switch system, the tracks are first thrown by compressed air, controlled by an electric device when the tracks are thrown, the electric signals are given from the operator's cabin, after a trial starts on its indicated course no one, not even the operator, can change the route or throw the switches until the train has passed into the main line. This makes accidents impossible.

JUDGE ACTS LENIENTLY TOWARD RESTAURATEUR

Touched by the appeal of clemency of Restaurant Inspector Harry Wright, Judge Ross assessed only a $5 fine against B. F. Haddox, proprietor of the 4-11-44 lunch room at 148 San Fernando street, opposite River station, yesterday morning.

In the line of duty, Wright yesterday visited the railroad district and paid another call on Haddox, whom he had warned before to improve the sanitary condition inside his place. Haddox said he had trouble with his help and his partner had been the victim of misfortune and could not keep his premises as cleanly as he wanted to. Wright arrested him and took him to court, where, after making a statement to the judge, he said he believed Haddox had made an honest attempt to improve conditions and had promised to keep up the good work.

Judge Ross lectured the man, and after assessing the smaller fine told him he would make it $10 next time and that the inspector would keep his eye on his place. Wright loaned the defendant $2 with which to pay his fine so that he could hurry back and finish the soap-and-water campaign.
