Patronesses at Bachelor Club's Ball Tuesday Evening

Founded on Fact
The bride and groom are home again, and housekeeping they try. She scoops the cereal from their trunks— it falls from snuff and tie.

Next day, to please her Hubbie dear, And give him something nice, After the roast she serves to him A dainty soufflé-ice.

AMONG the most delightful of the events of the coming week will be the "Twelfth Night" party for which Miss Dorothy Perry-Jones has issued invitations, the "doings" to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mitchell on the corner of First street and Vermont avenue. The guests are promised an informal evening of fun, with everything in the line of games and frolic that belong to the season.

Mrs. Guy Cochran's tea Monday afternoon, already announced, is for Mrs. J. Sabin and Miss Sabin of San Francisco, who are passing the winter in Los Angeles, and will be a large affair.

Mrs. Wilford C. Lewis is entertaining Tuesday afternoon at her home, 287 Roxbury street, with a tea for which Mrs. M. Barr, who has recently come a bride to Los Angeles.

And Tuesday evening is the date for the Bachelors' ball, which will undoubtedly eclipse in brilliancy anything yet given by the young men of the city.

So the week opens with gay promise of all sorts of merry gatherings, and everywhere people are bidding each other a glad and happy New Year.

For Miss Phillips
Mrs. Randall Hutchinson was hostess yesterday afternoon at a musicale given at her Menck avenue home in compliment to Miss Mary E. Phillips of Boston, who arrived New Year's eve to be the guest of her brother, T. W. Phillips of 2215 Harvard boulevard, for several months, and also in compliment to Mrs. John H. Quinton, who has just returned to the city after an absence of several years. Miss Phillips has made a name in the literary world as an author and illustrator, and a woman of a most interesting personality.

Mrs. Hutchinson's home is constructed on the central hall plan, and all the rooms on the lower floor were thrown together into a charming auditorium, and a choice program of classical music was rendered by the Fuhrer string quartet. Refreshments were served later in the rooms upstairs, and all over the house a striking decorative effect was secured by the use of a profusion of flaming poinsettias, palms and ferns.

Mrs. Hutchinson was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Jesse Waterman, Mrs. J. E. Fishburn, Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. Herbert Langmuir, lately of New York, and Miss Jessie Anthony.

Invited guests were Mesdames M. E. Strohman, George McCauley, Edwin S. Rowley, Henry A. J. Connor, Belle Widner, W. A. Dennis, J. B. Lippencott, Herman Kerckhoff, Davis Richardson, Jared Hixon, T. W. Sloan, W. J. Chichester, Wheldon Gray, Albert E. Smith, Stoop, Frank Sutton, Clarence Haydock, J. W. Kemp, Henderson Hayward, Milton Hammond, Roland, Hitchcock, P. G. Hubert, Berthold Baruch, B. H. Cass, M. E. Evans, R. B. Burns, E. R. Bradley, T. W. Phillips, S. M. Goddard, Seelye W. Mudd, George Bittinger and A. F. Zimmerman.

Brides Guests of Honor
Mrs. Wesley M. Barr and Mrs. Preston McKinney were guests of honor yesterday afternoon at a daintily appointed Kensington given by Miss Bessie Beatty at her home, 429 West Avenue Fifty-four.

To meet the two young women Miss Beatty had invited twenty friends, and the long living room, with its great fireplace, was fragrant with the breath of violets, which were used in profusion.

The young women invited to meet Mrs. Barr and Mrs. McKinney included Mrs. William Bennett, Mrs. John von Blum, Mrs. A. D. George, Mrs. Curtis Mann, Miss Ruth Comfort Mitchell, Miss Dorothy Perry-Jones, Miss Ethelyn Harrison, Miss Vera Brooks, Miss Eliza Palmer, Miss Miriam Palmer, Miss Emma Smith, Miss Bertha Smith, Miss Fairy Means, Miss Ethel Dolson, Miss Holly Clappett, Miss Lillian Keys, Miss Mabel Grossman, Miss Anna Powers, Miss Mabel Tucker.

Stanford Cardinal
Nearly 150 young men and women raised the Stanford pennants in the City of the Angels yesterday and gave the Stanford colors and seals. Nearly one hundred young women who own allegiance to the cardinal gathered in the banquet room of the Women's club house on Figueroa street at noon for their annual luncheon, while at the same time fifty Stanford men sat down to the monthly luncheon of the club at the Lankershim.

At the Lankershim headquarters an elaborate luncheon was enjoyed, and the old Stanford men met the undergraduates who are down from the university for the holiday vacation and were guests of the former students at this time. Of course red carnations were used for table decorations.

At the Women's club house ninety girls surrounded the carnation decked tables in the banquet room, and the walls were hung with posters and college pennants. The place cards were red folders with big embossed "W" on the outside, and the program was written on the inside. The young men paid the girls the pretty compliment of sending them a big bouquet of red carnations, which were received while the banquet was in progress. Toasts, the first letters of which spelled the word "Stanford," included "Songs," "Traditions," "Athletics," "New Year Greeting," "Freshmen," "Ourselves," "Robbie" and "New Directors," and responses were given by the president, Miss Helen North, the secretary, Miss Lou Ward, and the Misses Julia Mathews, Lucy Howell, Susan Carpenter, Helen Salisbury, Edna Web and Rose Smith. Miss North was toastmistress.

The occasion was the date for the annual election, which resulted in Miss Helen Salisbury being chosen to fill the office of president for the coming year, and Miss Susan Barnwell that of secretary-treasurer.

PI Beta Phi
Resident members of the Los Angeles Alumni club of Pi Beta Phi and visiting members of the sorority were guests of Mrs. J. C. Ferrall, 609 South Union avenue, Thursday at a "cookie shine." The sorority flowers, pink carnations, were used in abundance about the rooms, and after an elaborate luncheon a musical program was given by some of the guests.

Among those who were present to enjoy Mrs. Ferrall's hospitality were Mesdames Florence Sigler Carver, E. C. Conker, W. C. Lewis, Charles F. Snider, Harriet Williams Meyers, Gray, Burton Geck, Miss Bertha Snider, Grace H. Brewster, Faith Nash, Ethel T. Norton, Isabelle M. Hamilton.

Dominant Club Tea
Miss Eva Frances Pike was at home to the Dominant club yesterday afternoon at her Sixteenth street home, entertaining with a tea. Miss Laura Emery assisted her aunt in receiving.

Mrs. Katherine Kimball Forrest was in charge of the program, which was rendered by Miss Ina Goodwin of Pasadena and Miss Beresford Jay.

The guests were served at three tables, where Mrs. Ada Marsh, Cline, Mrs. Charles Walton and Miss Bertha Wilbur presided. Miss Whiston also assisted in the dining room. There were about forty-five present to enjoy Miss Pike's hospitality.

To See "Kate Shannon"
Gertrude Nelson Andrews' new play, "Kate Shannon," to be produced at the Auditorium tomorrow night for the first time on any stage, promises to call out a record-breaking house.

Among those who are planning to entertain friends at this time are Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, president of the California federation of women's clubs, Mrs. Lora Robinson, Miss Francis Mitchell, Miss Pearl Russell, Miss Nettie Chamblee, Miss Hazel Hill, Miss Ethel Hogan, Miss Olive Sullivan and Miss Mabel Vale.

Off to Europe
Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Barrows of 1433 New Hampshire street are starting Tuesday for an extended European trip, to be preceded by a visit to points in the middle west and on the Atlantic coast. They plan to visit Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Germany and Austria, and will go to Egypt from the south of France, via the Mediterranean. Their return to Los Angeles will not take place before July or August. Mr. Barrows has been for twenty years connected with the Los Angeles postoffice service.

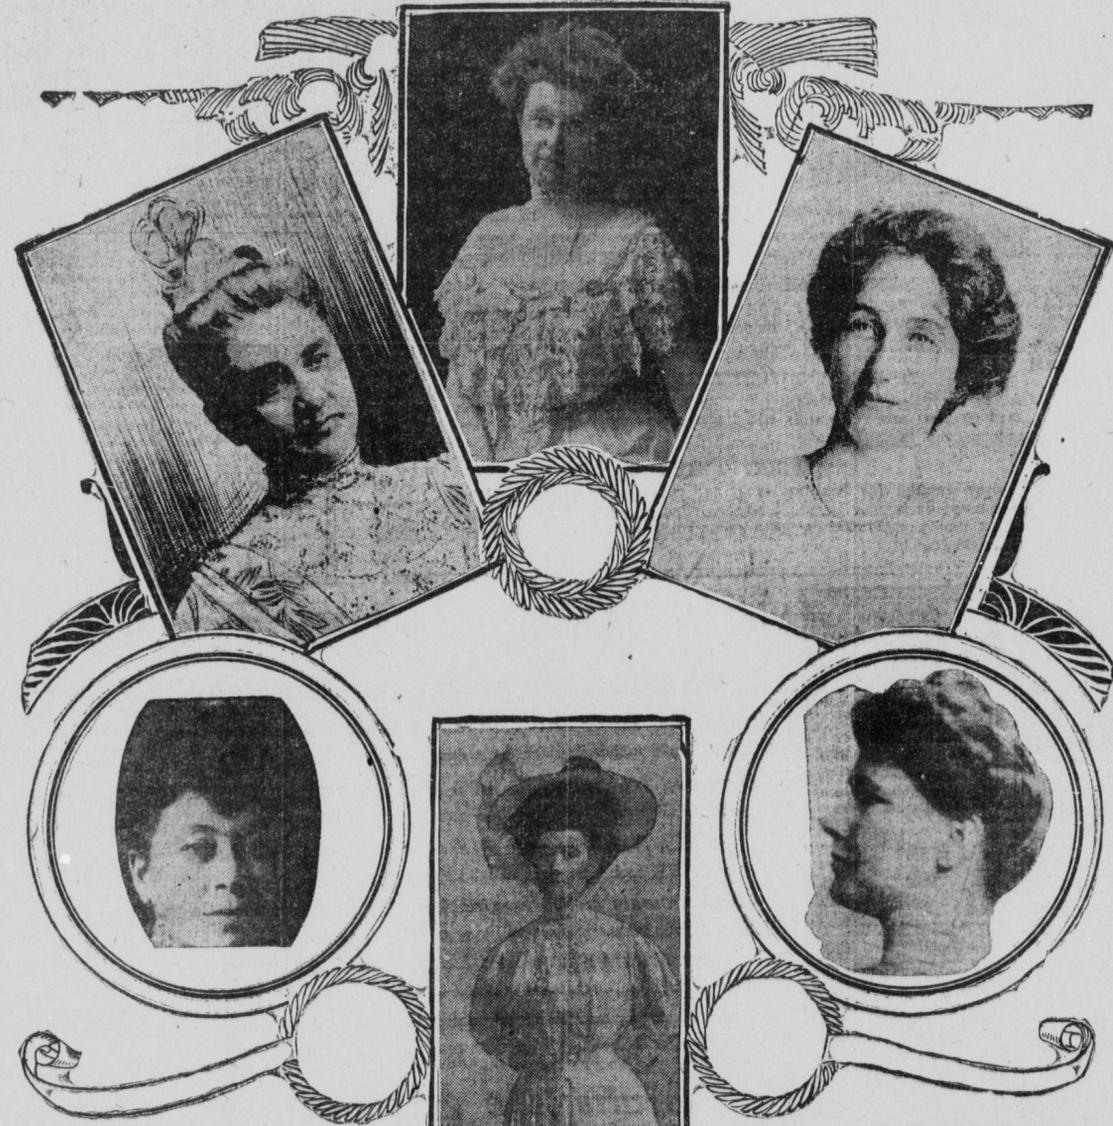

Engagement is Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Macready, 614 Carondelet street, announced the engagement of their niece, Miss Marion Alma Beckett, to Thomas Hart Talbot. The marriage will not take place until after Easter.

Noble-Peck
Miss Adeline M. Peck and Walter M. Noble were married Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the First Congregational church. Rev. Warren F. Day officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Noble and Miss Lillian Wagner as bridesmaids. Little Elizabeth Palmer assisted as flower girl. Master William Palmer carried the ring and Earl C. Peck, brother of the bride, attended the groom. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. Wilfred Peck, 223 South Union avenue. At the conclusion of a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Noble will be at home at 1219 Winfield street.

For Stanford Students
Mr. and Mrs. Allison Barlow of 705 West Thirtieth street entertained with a dancing party New Year's eve for their daughters, Miss Edna and Miss Maybelle, who are home from Stanford for the holidays, and for Miss Helen Monroe of Omaha, who is a student at Stanford and is a guest at the Barlow home during the Christmas vacation. The guests numbered about fifty.

The three young women will leave for Stanford tomorrow.

Sorority Housewarming
Entre Sois sorority of the University of Southern California, gave a housewarming party in their new chapter house on Thirty-second street yesterday afternoon. Sorority colors were used throughout the house in the decorations. Members of the faculty and their friends were present as special guests. Patronesses were Mrs. George F. Boyard, Mrs. A. B. Armstrong and Mrs. A. J. Wallace. Among the members of the sorority who assisted were Miss Marguerite Pratt, Miss Grace Nuffer, Miss Genevieve Buchanan, Miss Cassie Hazard, Miss Lora Robinson, Miss Francis Mitchell, Miss Pearl Russell, Miss Nettie Chamblee, Miss Hazel Hill, Miss Ethel Hogan, Miss Olive Sullivan and Miss Mabel Vale.

Fortnightly Club
The Garvansa Fortnightly club met at the home of Mrs. S. W. Green, 300 North Avenue Sixty-three, New Year's eve. Darkened rooms greeted the guests, a witch met them at the door, another grasped their hands at the foot of the stairs, weird faces met them at every turn, and from a boiling caldron presided over in the den by another witch good or evil fortunes were foretold for the coming year.

An enjoyable program was rendered, refreshments served and the good time prolonged until the old year of 1907 had passed into history and the company had greeted the new year. The hostess was assisted in receiving and entertaining by Mrs. William Cady and Mrs. Walter Judson.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Dr. Louise Richter and Miss Mary Foy will speak on the Southwestern museum.

Return from Europe
Mrs. John H. F. Peck returned Tuesday from a nine months' visit to Europe, Beckett, to Thomas Hart Talbot. She was joined by Mr. Peck in San Francisco on the return trip.

Engagement Announcement
Of interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Florence Spaulding, Porter, daughter of Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, and Willis Norton Blood, which was made Friday afternoon by Mrs. Porter at a card party given at her home, "In- hidden Cottage," in South Pasadena. The occasion was also a compliment to Mrs. Porter's niece and house guest, Miss Yvonne Oak of Bangor, Me.

Mrs. Porter was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. C. W. Gries, and Mrs. M. E. Hacker of Fort Fairfield, Me. Los Angeles and Pasadena friends hidden to the affair were Mesdames John Shank Jr., Norman Marsh, William Shoebottom, Velvies D. McDonald, Harley Packer, Sutton, Frank Vale, H. M. Ross, Caberton Brant of New York, M. E. Hacker of Fort Fairfield, Me.; Laura Haines, Dewey R. W. Avery, Clara W. Grels; Misses Lucy Blood, Lillian Blood,

Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox will remain in Los Angeles for several weeks, as they have postponed their trip to Hawaii until the end of the month.

For Mrs. McCoy
Among the pretty affairs of yesterday was the violet luncheon given by Mrs. Frank E. Walsh at her home, 408 South Alvarado street, in compliment to Mrs. William M. McCoy, who has just come to this city a bride, and also for Mrs. Fred Harvey of San Francisco, who, with her husband, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Charles W. Fish, of Union avenue.

Covers were laid for Mesdames John C. McCoy, Charles W. Fish, W. F. Bartlett, Lanier Bartlett and Miss Mathilde Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy, who were wedded in Newton Center, Mass., October 24, and who returned Christmas eve from their wedding journey, are staying with Mr. McCoy's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John C. McCoy, at 17 Barnard park. Dr. and Mrs. McCoy will receive for their son and his bride, at their home, the evenings of January 13 and 17. Mrs. Lanier Bartlett is entertaining at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. McCoy Saturday evening.

Complimentary Luncheon
Miss Elizabeth and Miss Florence Wood, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. Modin Wood, of 20 St. James park, entertained with a daintily appointed luncheon Friday afternoon in compliment to Miss Elizabeth Hicks, who is home from school for the holidays.

Delicate pink carnations and maiden-ribbons were combined with pale pink ribbons for the table decorations, and the souvenirs were clusters of carnations, to which bonbons were tied with pink ribbons.

Beside Miss Hicks, guests were the Misses Botaford, Ella Cate, Bertha Phillips, Sallie McFarland, Norma Haupt, Katherine Ramsey, Hazel Parker, Helen

Parker, Catherine Johnson, Rivers, Daphne Drake, Mildred Burnett.

Miss Hicks will leave today for her school in the north.

To Visit Her Daughter
Mrs. Loren D. Sale of 588 Magnolia avenue is anticipating a visit from her mother, Mrs. R. F. Wilson, who is coming from Wisconsin to pass the winter with her daughter. Mrs. Wilson has passed several winters in Los Angeles, and has many friends to welcome her.

Children's Christmas Party
The Hollywood Children's Dancing class and friends were entertained by Miss Cora with a holiday party.

Beside the usual dancing, the 100 children present enjoyed many unique German figures, and a confetti battle.

The program and favors were read in bell shape. The hall decorations were of paper boughs, holly and red Christmas bells.

Brady, William Burke, Benjamin Harwood, Leslie R. Hewitt, Henry W. O'Melveny, and Miss Mary E. Foy.

Annual New Year's Dance
One of the prettiest of the holiday events was the annual New Year's eve dance given at the Cumneck School of Expression. Members of the intermediate class, expression department, were hostesses.

Cumneck hall was in holiday attire, holly, greenery and Christmas bells in great profusion forming the decorations. Fires blazed in the fireplaces, and at midnight the new year was welcomed with an old-fashioned Virginia reel, after which several "leap year" dances were indulged in. The pupils and their friends to the number of about 200 were present.

The hostesses were Mrs. Esther Allen and the Misses Ethel Bryan, Pauline Busch, Rochelle E. Buhner, Harriet Candace, Lucile Culyver, Abigail Haines, Laura King, Mary Stevens, Emily Standlee, Jessalyn Van Trump, Zella Wood.

The largest dancing party of the week was given Tuesday evening at the Shakespear club house by Mrs. John M. Smith of 370 West Colorado street, in honor of her niece, Miss Helen Garst of Dayton, Ohio. Assisting Mrs. Smith as hostesses were Miss Garst and Mrs. J. Stanley Smith.

The receiving ladies were Mrs. Mrs. George Stimson, Mrs. Arthur Jerome Eddy, Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. George Barker. The invitation list included 100 of the leaders of the younger social set. Elaborate decorations were used and a program of eighteen dances followed. Mrs. Smith was gowned in a Paris creation of white lace with diamond ornaments. Miss Garst wore imported embroidered white net over lemon yellow silk. Accompanying the costume was a coronet of gold leaves and blossoms.

Miss Jessie Rockwell gave an informal tea Tuesday afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Kate Roth, who is a popular St. Louis belle. Miss Roth will spend a part of the winter at the Rockwell home on Terrace Drive.

Mrs. Clarence Austin served tea and the table was prettily decorated in red ragged robin roses and ferns from the Rockwell gardens. The guests were Mrs. Clarence Austin, Mrs. Elmer Gray, Mrs. Terry Everett, Mrs. John W. Huggis, Mrs. Edwards Greenowdyke, Mrs. Deoux, Miss Angli Holmes, Ethel Hinds, Daisy Dale, Serena Bland, Florence Bland, Margaret Merrill, Louisa Austin, Cordelia Stimson, Genevieve Stahman, Gladys Palmer, Louise Lockwood, Grace Tower, Ethel Love, Mabel Love, Cora Aulin, Irene Gross, Marjorie Bolt, Miriel Laing, Hazel Laing and Miss Nixon.

Evans-Williams
Miss May O. Williams and Frank R. Evans were married New Year's evening at the home of the bride's father, Edward Williams, 1023 East Thirtieth street. Rev. F. A. Field of the West End Congregational church reading the service in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white serge, trimmed with white panne velvet, and carried a shower of white carnations. She was attended by Miss Minnie E. Brookmeyer, who wore blue nuns veiling. Standing with the groom was his brother, Charles Evans. Mrs. H. S. Carrara rendered the bridal chorus from Lohengrin for the entrance of the bridal party.

SCHOOL NOTES

Brownsberger Alumni Association
The regular monthly meeting of the Brownsberger Alumni association was held Friday evening with an enthusiastic attendance. After the regular business had been transacted the meeting resolved itself into a general committee for discussion of plans for the association during the coming year, as at the next regular meeting, which will be held February 7, the annual election of officers will take place. It is anticipated that there will be a lively contest between the members who aspire to the respective offices.

The general committee very thoroughly discussed present conditions and ways and means for advancing the beneficial work of the association. It was finally decided, and the attendance present was divided by voluntary action into four committees, namely, educational, social, parliamentary and dramatic. A chairman was appointed to lead each committee, and the work will begin immediately. The social committee to give its first exhibition at the March meeting, at which time installation of the new officers will take place.

At the meeting in February, after the election of officers, the heads of the four committees will outline the work to be undertaken.

PASADENA

Members of the exclusive set enjoyed their first collation for the season of 1908 at the Country club New Year's eve. The ballroom and reception room were decorated in Christmas greenery and red blossoms. Dancing occupied the time until midnight, when the new year was ushered in with a supper on the veranda. The participants were Messrs. and Mesdames Fair Gray, Edward R. Kellum, Samuel Cupples Pierce, William Parke, John S. Cravens, Charles C. Perkins, M. Page Warden, Edward Groenendyke, Charles M.
