MISS LOCKHART

Willard, A. M. Norton, Sam Behrendt, Harry Newman, Miss Lily Meyer.

San Francisco Guests

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bartlett of 2400 West Adams street have as house guests Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bartlett of San Francisco, who will remain in Los Angeles several weeks.

Afternoon and Evening

The home of Miss Margaret Adele Robertson, 2038 West Twenty-ninth street, was the scene of two charming affairs Friday when, with Miss Louie Ethel Lockhart, she entertained with a luncheon and again with cards in the evening. At both gatherings the young women were assisted by Mrs. Helen Williams Price, Mrs. Charles Wise of Goldfield, Mrs. Aaron Robert Klock of Pasadena, Mrs. Jack Robertson and Miss Vinette Morris.

The tables were set in the big living room and the dining room, and punch was served in the breakfast room, while the flaming poinsettias were arranged in a striking decorative scheme. Beautiful black silk opera bags heavily embroidered with gold were awarded as first prizes, with a stilet, silk hose and a first bunch of violets were distributed to other successful contestants.

The list of guests invited to the afternoon affair included Mesdames Ralph Brown, Walter Lohman, Frank Bencher, Curtis Wolfert, H. E. Culler, Charles Cole; Misses Myra Keller, Dorothy Wise Marguerita Arkell of New York, Eleanor Holland, Florence Judd, Hazel Gates, June Gated, May Armstrong, Nita German, Rebecca Howard, Louise Taylor, Helen Kellogg, Grace Parker, Clara Smith, Kathleen Lockhart, Dorothy Jackson and Ella Jackson of Denver, Grace Carr, Helen Stocker, Edith Myers, May Gundy, Helen Safford, Mabel Grundy, Gertrude Maas, Ida Maas, Rita Russell, Gertrude Connell, Nora Dickinson, Mabel Phelps, Florence Barker, Eda Jessup, Wilson, Josephine Bolls.

For Mrs. Goldsmith

Dinner-Dance at the Bivouac
Last Friday evening "The Bivouac," the Westlake home of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, was the scene of an animated and happy affair, the entertainment having been given by the host in honor of a group of young people.

The dining room and the entire house were ablaze with light and color. The table decorations, under the deft and skillful touch of an obliging neighbor, Mrs. Jefferson D. Gibbs, were most effective, including a lovely basket of Cecil Bruner roses and maidenhair ferns, with roses and ferns scattered over the cloth. The candelabra were decorated with pink candles and rose-tinted shades. Exquisite little bonbon baskets, rose trimmed, were placed by each plate. The place cards, bearing the initial of the host, were done in gold. Throughout the other rooms were floral decorations in poinsettias, carnations and greenery.

Following the dinner came the dance. The gay-hearted guests invaded "The Bivouac" and capricious den, where they enjoyed hours of delightful music, dancing and conversation, besides listening to a reading by the host from "California Where Sets the Sun." The music embraced both instrumental and vocal. Mrs. Charles Wellington Rand giving two numbers in her delightful manner and charming voice.

The young girls were chaperoned by the two gracious matrons named and the list of invited guests included the following, all of whom were present except two: Misses Frances Chandler, Mae Chandler, Marlan Otis McPherson, Annie McPherson, Lillian Rand, Ruth Morris, Edith Gibbs, Otis Boothie, Charles W. Rand, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warr (visitors from the north) and the two chaperones already mentioned. The party broke up at a late hour, happy, hilarious and jocular.

For St. Louis Friends
Miss Evelyn Hamburger of 2366 South Figueroa street was hostess Friday evening at a charmingly appointed dinner given in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Marx of St. Louis.

Other members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sweet, Mrs. R. E. Marx, Miss Belle Hamburger, Miss Florence Marx, M. A. Hamburger.

Mrs. Shaler Entertains

For Son and His Bride
Among the delightful social events of the week prominence must be given to the two receptions with which Dr. and Mrs. John Craig McCoy entertained Thursday and Friday evenings in compliment to their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. William Milton McCoy, who were married in Mrs. McCoy's home in Newton Center, Mass., in October. About 600 friends were asked to both affairs.

In the receiving party Thursday evening were Mesdames C. Q. Stanton, W. S. Bartlett, Lanier Bartlett, F. E. Walsh,

Miss Margaret Adele Robertson and Miss Louie Ethel Lockhart, hostesses at two of Friday's social happenings

Mathew Robertson, Victor E. Shaw; Misses Mattie Bartlett, Virginia Walsh, Ethel Shaw, Alice Shaw, Friday evening Mrs. William H. Barnard, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Rev. Robert J. Burdette, D. D., and Mrs. Burdette were in the receiving line.

The house was elaborately decorated with the season's blossoms, and the veranda, which extends around three sides of the house, was canvassed in and transformed into a bower of bamboo and palms, and here were cozy corners arranged; at one end punch was served.

Mrs. J. C. McCoy and Mrs. W. M. McCoy will be at home Wednesdays at 1221 Barnard park.

To Wed in February
Miss Margery Clover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Travers Clover, has chosen February 5 as the date for her marriage with Harry Winthrop Gorham, and the wedding will take place at the family home in Alhambra on that date at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Owing to the recent death of the mother of the groom the ceremony will be attended only by the immediate relatives.

Old Spanish music will be supplied by the La Bandurria trio, directed by Miss Ethel L. Oleott. Miss Maud Rees will contribute a piano solo, Victor Herbert's original dance, from "Wonder Land."

Xopia Club Dance
The Xopia club of Los Angeles gave a leap year party at the Elbell club house Wednesday night for the entertainment of its members.

The rule of the evening was reversed to the usual custom, the women being in charge and in other ways taking the place usually filled by the men. The following rules obtained:

"Ladies will take upon themselves the gentlemanly duties of the evening and endeavor to be general in their attentions; the usual order of an introduction will be reversed; all uninteresting conversation may be quickly put to an end by using the common article of 'excuse me for a moment'; invitations to same will be extended by the ladies; ladies will keep their engagements promptly, so that the gentlemen may not be left awkwardly standing in the center of the room; at the conclusion of the dance or promenade if the young lady wishes to leave her partner let her assist him to a chair or escort him to his mother."

The programs were unique, being calendars with the dance order on the back of each. The ladies' programs were 6x8 inches, while the gentlemen's were about 12x14, with a sentence on each fitting some phase of his character, one being "Not married, but soon."

The club will give the annual theater party and banquet in the near future. These present were Messrs. and Mrs. Glenn C. Seelye, Walter C. Day, E. D.
