W. J. MURPHY RECEIVES A GRAND
WELCOME

TRIBUTES FROM SON TO FATHER ARE GIVEN

Prominent Advocates of Francis Murphy Gospel Temperance Work Make Addresses Worthy of the Occasion

In welcoming a worthy son of a worthy sire the Church Federation of Los Angeles yesterday afternoon extended a hearty welcome to William J.
Murphy, son of Francis Murphy, who has come to Los Angeles to take up the work of his father.

The temple auditorium was thronged to its capacity yesterday by friends of the temperance work. Mr. Murphy was greeted with much enthusiasm and the Chataqua salute when he stepped forward to respond to the many beautiful tributes regarding his father and himself.

So much like his father in appearance, William Murphy yesterday reminded many of the meetings at which good "St. Francis," as he is now styled, spoke and took the temperance message so many times. It seemed as though his father had come back again, the younger and stronger, to carry on the work which he began so many years ago.

At the close of the meeting, when many of the audience were in tears after listening to the eloquent, loving tribute of the son to the father, Mr.
Murphy stood with bowed head, sobbing, while S. P. Mulford, the chairman of the meeting, spoke a few broken words, asking the congregation to rise and sing that beautiful hymn, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." The meeting yesterday was an eloquent tribute to the Murphy temperance work. Rev. Eli McClosch, pastor of the West Alms Methodist church, offered a prayer, followed by a song, "The Pilot of Galilee," by Mr. and Mrs.
Baker, the blind singers. Mr. Mulford then read a telegram from Long Beach from D. E. Luther of the Y. M. C. A., extending the welcome of that association to Mr. Murphy and his work.

Rev. Mr. Walker Speaks Rev. Hugh K. Walker, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian church, made an eloquent address of welcome in behalf of the Church Federation. He said:

"In behalf of the Church Federation of Los Angeles, representing 40,000 church members of the Protestant evangelical churches, I bid you welcome in your work, which is the work of the Lord.

"We welcome you for your father, Francis Murphy was loved everywhere, but he was loved nowhere so much as here, where he died and passed from the earthly to the heavenly triumph. His smile for the man who was down was one that illumined life, and for his sake we welcome you today. You are a worthy son of a worthy sire. You cannot save people by denouncing them. You can do little by telling them how mean they are. The pierced hands of Jesus is that which will win the world.

"Today we extend to you a most cordial welcome and we know whereof we speak, for many men have been loved to Christ by Francis Murphy, and William Murphy is just like him."

Mrs. Bertha Vaughn gave a vocal solo, followed by an address by Councilman A. J. Wallace. Mr. Wallace spoke of the Murphy work and the general movement of the states in prohibiting the sale of liquors. He was applauded several times, and closed with an appeal to the people to stop the liquor traffic.

Rev. Mr. Smith Gives Statistics Rev. A. C. Smith, pastor of the First Christian church, gave some interesting statistics, stating that two-fifths of the population of the United States live in territories where the sale of liquor is prohibited. He was generously applauded when he referred to the growth of the temperance spirit within the past thirty years, and stated that Los Angeles is in line with the great temperance movement.

"I should be glad to see the day when our sisters could vote on this subject," continued Rev. Mr. Smith. "I believe my wife could vote as intelligently as the hobo on the street." Francis Murphy, the gifted son of William Murphy and the namesake of his grandfather, gave a baritone solo, "The Holy City," and as an encore he sang "Face to Face." Young Francis Murphy has given up a promising operatic career to take up gospel singing, devoting his splendid voice to the cause. Bruce Gordon Kingsley followed with a pipe organ solo.

William Murphy then came forward and was greeted with a Chataqua salute. He said:

"This great welcome comes to me like the wave of a great ocean. Six years ago the best man God ever gave entered the gates of Los Angeles. That was my blessed father, the members of the Los Angeles Federation of Churches met him and said, 'You are welcome.' My father stayed here, made his home here and never had a desire to change it. Four months ago I came here, called by the gospel temperance work to take up the work that my father left. The same hands that went out to him have been extended to me.

Expresses Thankfulness
"This afternoon I have a language that would describe the thankfulness that I have for the splendid, Godlike welcome. I thank you all, and God help me to be worthy of this hour.
Some people feel that we are not progressing fast enough, and I feel free to confess I am a little skeptical sometimes. But we don't take into consideration the last thirty years. For instance, take the Washington of thirty years ago and the Washington of today.
Senator Frye said that he had seen as many as twenty congressmen under the influence of liquor. Does that condition exist today? No. An official who disgraces his office is pointed at with the finger of scorn. That shows the encouragement of public sentiment.

"There has been more reform in the last twenty years than since the time of Martin Luther. There have been more communicants added to the churches.
Fifteen millions of children are being taught the bad effects of liquor on the human system and twelve millions of children are being taught the gospel.
There are about thirty-five millions of church communicants to favor our cause. The same liberty that was fought for at Bunker Hill by the men of God, America shall rise and proclaim liberty from the intoxicating liquors.

"There are different avenues all leading to the one end—industrial, educational, mechanical and professional, all united in one protest. There is where the sentiment is going.

Sentiment is Changing "Today a man who presides over a great business must not drink liquors or gamble. There is not a clerk, president of a railroad or an engineer but must abstain from liquors. This is all along the line. Men who stand in the pulpits are against it, and I was not so thirty-five years ago. Thank God

ETHICS OF A HORSE TRADE

"MUM'S THE WORD" IS THE RULE

LET THE OTHER FELLOW BLOW OFF

Two incidents Related by Veterans of the Business Proving the Value of Silence in a Deal

"No, sir," I never held to that idea." Two horse traders were talking yesterday of the ethics of the business, and the short, fat man made the foregoing remark in speaking of the opinion of persons outside the craft that horsemen should tell all they knew concerning animals offered for sale.

"I always do just as I did with a team the other day," the short man continued, drawing his slouch hat down over his eyes. "They was old, old right. The mare wasn't short of 18 year old and the horse wasn't more'n more'n two years the best of her but they was good lookers—fat, and they stepped pretty lively, too. I'd cut the hair out of their ears and they picked up their heads at me for citizenship. Well, when the fellow said he'd like to buy 'em I put a price on 'em big enough—$250, I said. He looked 'em over and he asked me if there was anything wrong with 'em and how old they was.

"Now, see here, I says—just like I always do in trade, I says, 'Now, see here, stranger, I don't know no more about horseflesh than you do. There's the horses. As far as I know they are good, but you can't see for citizenship, you can't see for citizen-ship, you
