BIG CORPORATION BLOCKS LAUNDRY STABLE PROJECT

Few Minutes Before Board of Health Meets Consent for Frontage Is Withdrawn from Petition

Munger's laundry asked the board of health, yesterday for a permit to establish a stable for sixteen horses at 726 East Sixteenth street. It appears that a few minutes before the meeting of the board a communication was received from the Los Angeles Land company withdrawing consent to the Munger scheme and representing 1540 feet of frontage. With this company consenting originally the Munger people had 2884 feet, which is more than needed. The company is the same practically as the Los Angeles Railway company.

Attorney Young appeared for the laundry, stating that as the withdrawal reached the city hall only a few minutes before the board met he felt that it was a discretionary matter with the board to accept or reject the withdrawal. He said that recently the Los Angeles Land company had built a stable for forty-eight horses near the same site and that no signers withdrew them. He asked for fair play.

Mayor Harper is expected to lay over the question for a week, whether some solution could be arrived at, and Attorney Young said he thought it possible, and the board deferred action. This stable is within the zone in which all permits must be sanctioned by the board.

THOMAS MURPHY WILL LECTURE AT VENICE

"Boy Orator" Who Has Done Much for Temperance Will Address Mass Meeting in Big Auditorium

Thomas C. Murphy, the boy orator who has inherited the winning qualities and eloquence of his grandfather, Francis Murphy, will address a mass meeting Sunday at Venice at the auditorium. Mr. Murphy, who has won many converts to the cause of temperance, will talk along the same, practical lines by which the three generations of famous temperance orators have done so much good.

The meeting at Venice is under the auspices of the churches and Sunday schools of the bay section, and invitations have been extended to all the surrounding cities. Francis Murphy, brother of Thomas, will sing, and Prof. Gibbs, the organist, will render selections.

A striking feature of the program will be the singing by all the school children of the bay district of the national hymn.

Closing sale of Benham's retail department will continue this week. Navajo blankets, baskets, bags, art leather pillows, mats and novelties at cost. 514 South Hill street.

Can Sell Excursion Tickets
The Santa Fe people have received advice from the Interstate commerce commission that it has withdrawn its ruling denying the railroads the right to sell excursion tickets to Los Angeles and San Diego on April 4 and 5 and 6 and 7, but will be able to give thirty days' notice.

Telephone Operator Dies
Miss Bessie M. Green, twenty-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Green, died yesterday at the family home, 316 Patton street. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, interment to be in Rosedale cemetery. Miss Green was a telephone operator.

Laborer's Back Broken
John W. Cox, who resides at 2723 Temple street, suffered a broken back yesterday afternoon while tearing down a wall at 414 North Main street. Cox was leaning over to pick up a tool he had dropped, when without warning a pile of plaster fell on him. He was taken to the receiving hospital.

Hold Body for Relatives
W. R. Hemminger, who came here from Bristol, Tenn., some days ago and died at the county hospital Thursday, leaves a widow and three small children. The body is in charge of the Odd Fellows at present and lies in state at the undertaking parlors of Overholzer & Mills awaiting instructions from relatives.

Released on Probation
A. E. Pingry was yesterday placed on probation for two years by Judge Smith on condition that his father take him back to his home in Oklahoma. The father, who came to Los Angeles following news of his son's arrest for passing a forged check, gave the necessary promise and the young man was released.

Noted Speaker May Come
It is expected that Campbell White, secretary of the Layman's Missionary movement will be in Los Angeles to make an address at the First Congregational church, April 5. Mr. White is said to be as forcible a speaker as his brother-in-law, John R. Mott, whose recent addresses in Los Angeles were so well received.

Women's Clubs
Before an audience that filled the Women's club house yesterday Miss Mary Shaw, who is starring in "Mrs. Warren's Profession," spoke on "The Drama and Its Relation to Women."

The power of women in art, especially the drama, and more especially the American drama in American drama, was made the text of a powerful sermon that was clear, illuminating and convincing. Never before has a dramatic talk been given before the Friday Morning club that approached that of yesterday.

Miss Shaw took the position that it is woman who occupies the center of the stage in every department of modern life and that all that writers are concerned with her, but that this modern woman is a different type from the oversexed being of a generation ago, being rather a rational woman—a splendid creature who embodies the race, and like a true representative is a compound of both the good and bad traits.

The prophecy was made that whether or not the drama was inspirational, whether we loved it or not, that it is passing and that this new woman is the dominating power in the drama of today. These words were cited as being especially strong in portrayal of this new and representative woman, for whom life holds many things besides the hope of maternity. Women of an older generation are alarmed at the advent of this new creature, and like the old cry that science is antagonistic to religion, is her disquietude voiced in the plaint that the new type of drama is fatal to the home. This alarm, the speaker claimed, is needless in that faith in God, marriage and the home are rocks that are not shaken. Moreover, she said that if women were not pleased with the plays that managers are giving the public, they hold in their hands the power to shape things differently, as women constitute about 75 per cent of the audiences and managers are governed by box office receipts.

Witty, keen and blessed with sympathetic insight, Miss Shaw carried her hearers with her from the first, giving them in her story a new and interesting "heart talk" on many matters far more personal than the drama, and at the close, in response to a request from the audience, talked for about ten minutes of "Mrs. Warren's Profession," speaking earnestly and intimately of the purpose of the play and of her own in presenting it.

Miss Shaw was presented with a great basket of jonquils from the club and was the center of an informal reception when the morning was over. Although expected as guest of honor, she was not able to remain for lunch.

PILSATING HEART TAKEN FROM BODY

SURGEONS PERFORM MARVEL AT HOSPITAL

WOMAN HAD BUT ONE CHANCE IN A THOUSAND

While Organ Beats in Assistant's Hand, Doctors Sew Punctures in Lungs and Drain the Wounds

That Mrs. Sophie Miller of Bakersfield is alive is entirely due to a daring and desperate surgical operation performed at the city receiving hospital yesterday morning by Dr. E. H. Garrett, assisted by Drs. Sumner J. Quint, Joseph B. Tanner and Clarence Cook.

If Mrs. Miller lives her case will go down in surgical history as one of the marvels in the world of surgical science. Yesterday morning Mrs. Miller, driven desperate and urged on by her husband, it is alleged, came from Bakersfield, and after engaging a room in a lodging house, took a revolver and fired a shot through her body which under ordinary circumstances must have been fatal within a few minutes.

The bullet entered the body on the left side, between the fifth and sixth ribs, plowed its way through the flesh tissues and muscles, cut the pericardium at its lowest point, entered the lungs in three places and passed out through the back within the fraction of an inch of the spinal cord.

The women was discovered within a few moments after she had fired the shot. The police ambulance was called and she was rushed to the receiving hospital, where she was placed on the operating table.

Had Slight Chance
The woman had but one chance in a thousand that she would survive. It was a daring operation, such as few surgeons in the world have attempted, but to give her that one slight chance Dr. Garrett determined upon the operation which was performed.

The fifth and sixth ribs were resected, the sternum shaved to one side and the woman's heart removed from her body and the pericardium sewed up.

Then, while this organ of life was in motion and pulsating in the hands of one of the assistants, Dr. Garrett sewed up the three punctures in the lungs and washed and drained the wound through the back.

The woman's heart was then restored to her body and she was given such stimulating drugs as expected, with a wall was later sent to the county hospital for treatment.

At a late hour last night she was resting as easily as could be expected, and was later sent to the county hospital for treatment.

Removes Heart from Body
It is a rare and delicate thing to remove from the body as vital an organ as the heart, sew up the sack enveloping it and restore it to its position without stopping for an instant its material functions.

In this case it was necessary in order to get to the wounds in the woman's lungs to hold the heart out of the way and out of its normal position for several minutes in order that the surgeon could reach the punctures in the lung tissue and join them with the silken sutures.

That this was done successfully reflects a great deal of credit on the operating surgeon and the marvel of all is that the woman came from under the shock of the operation apparently stronger than when she was placed on the operating table.

According to the story related by the police who investigated the case, Mrs. Miller came here from Bakersfield yesterday morning with the expressed intention of killing herself.

She alleged she had been urged to do the deed by her husband, who, she said, furnished her with the weapon with which she shot herself.

The woman arrived in Los Angeles about 11 o'clock and was directed to the Boston rooming house, 443 1/2 South Main street, where she rented a room for the day.

Hears Revolver Shot
About an hour after her arrival Frank Barnes, the proprietor of the house, heard a shot and calling to his son who was in the room occupied by Mrs. Miller. They found her lying on the bed with a revolver clutched in her right hand. Mr. Barnes then summoned the police.

On the table was found the following letter: "To those who think I am worthy of consideration: Walter said he would take me where I could not come back, so he took me there. You can sell the little girl with a white dress. I would take your little Brownie back to Linwood cemetery in Dubuque, Iowa. May God forgive both you and me."

"Maybe that little girl in Galena, Ill., with a white dress is waiting for you. You showed me the way and did the planning. "Keep on smiling. There is a way to the Little Patch. With my help you'll win the game you want maybe this earth. I hope the Master will say, 'Mary, come, though wanton she may be.' "Notify my folks at home. As ever, "SOPHIE MILLER"

There were several other letters found in her purse which showed Mrs. Miller and her husband had been quarreling recently.

SAY SIGNERS' ACTIONS WERE CONTRARY TO LAW
Argument in the suit of Robert L. Neal, who seeks a permanent injunction to restrain Walter E. Butler, city clerk of Whittier, from substituting the name of P. C. Hadley on the official ballot in place of G. M. McDonnell, was heard in Judge James in the superior court yesterday. A decision will be rendered Monday.

McDonnell withdrew his name on March 15, and Judge Neal already had filed a petition signed by twenty-one persons, asking that his name be substituted.

It is asserted a number of signers of the petition are already nominees of another candidate, and that their action in signing the paper was contrary to the provisions of the law recently passed by the state legislature.

MATRIMONIAL LAWS ARE DETERMINED

BISHOP CONATY GIVES OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Rules and Regulations Are Formulated with Reference to Catholic Betrothal Engagements and the Marriage Ties

The new laws regarding marriage, recently decreed by the Catholic church to take effect Easter Sunday, were given official announcement by Bishop Conaty yesterday.

This announcement gives the rules and regulations with reference to matrimonial engagements and marriages. It is as follows:

First—Every matrimonial engagement after Easter must be in writing, although there is no necessity or obligation to enter into a formal engagement before marriage.

Second—In the eyes of the church and before God private betrothals after Easter between Catholic parties or between fallen-away Catholics, begot no matrimonial obligation whatever, because the church decrees that every prenuptial contract is void unless it is written and duly attested.

Third—Parties wishing to become engaged must sign the prenuptial contract and have the bishop or their pastor witness it. In the absence of the bishop or pastor, two witnesses must sign the engagement. If one or both of those to be engaged cannot write, this should be noted and three lay witnesses must sign the engagement in the absence of the bishop or the pastor.

Fourth—These engagements should be encouraged. If made some months before marriage they will help to stop hasty alliances which are the cause of many divorces among Catholics.

Fifth—This written contract would furnish good grounds in our civil courts for breach of promise suits.

Sixth—Protestants and all who have never entered into an engagement in the Catholic faith are not subjects of this law, hence their private contracts bind, for the simple reason that the church has not made these conditions under which they must enter into an engagement.

Seventh—All fallen-away Catholics, whether they have become Protestants or infidels, are bound by the law. The church, like the state, can bind her refractory subjects.

Rules for the Clergy
Rules for the guidance of the clergy are given as follows:

First—Every bishop (or vicar-general or administrator of a diocese) can validly marry in his own diocese any parties, irrespective of the country or place whence they come. The bishop can delegate any priest to do the same.

Second—Bishops or priests may not assist at marriages until they have assumed office.

Third—There is no marriage at all if the priest is compelled to witness it. There is no marriage if the priest does not ask and receive the consent of the parties.

Fourth—The authority which the bishop has in his diocese the parish priest has in his parish.

Fifth—The bishop outside his diocese and the pastor outside the limits of his parish cannot validly marry their subjects or other subjects without the authorization.

Sixth—Marriage before a priest who is suspended or excommunicated by name will be no marriage at all.

Eighth—Marriage of all fallen-away Catholics (who have become Protestant or infidels) before a minister or civil magistrate will be no marriage at all.

Ninth—Marriage of a Catholic to a non-baptized person is never a real marriage unless the church grants a dispensation. Such a marriage before a minister or a justice of the peace is no marriage at all for two reasons.

Tenth—Marriage of a Catholic to a Protestant (one never baptized in the Catholic church) before a minister or civil magistrate will be no marriage at all, unless the Holy See makes a special law for the United States.

Eleventh—Marriage of a Protestant to a Protestant (provided they were never baptized in the Catholic church) is valid.

Twelfth—Marriage of a non-baptized man to a non-baptized woman is valid as a life-long contract. These parties do not receive, however, the sacrament of marriage.

Thirteenth—There will be no marriage at all unless there be two witnesses; one witness with the priest will not suffice.

Fourteenth—Bishops or priests should not witness marriages until they are morally certain that the parties to be married are free to enter the matrimonial state, hence, as far as possible dispensation from the publication of banns should not be sought.

Fifteenth—For the lawful celebration of a marriage one or the other of the contracting parties should have a domicile or live for a month in the parish where they are to be married.

LOOK IN THE HEM
"KAYSER" PATENT FINGER-TIPPED SILK GLOVES

The hem tells the story—
If you find the name "KAYSER" in the hem, you have the genuine,—the kind with tips that outwear the gloves.

This condition is not, however, essential for the validity of a marriage.

Sixteenth—Marriages of persons without fixed abode should be referred to the bishop before the ceremony takes place.

Seventeenth—Marriage should take place in the parish church of the bride unless there be good reason to go to the pastor of the groom.

Eighteenth—There are new rules to be observed by the priest for the registration of marriages. When contracting parties are to be married in a church where they were not baptized, they should before marriage secure their baptismal certificates.

Nineteenth—Marriage entered into when there is danger of death, can be witnessed by any priest with two witnesses, provided there is not time to reach the bishop, parish priest, or priest appointed by either of these.

Twentieth—If for an entire month, parties cannot secure a bishop, parish priest, or any priest appointed by either of these, they may in the presence of two witnesses (there is no marriage if there be not two witnesses) declare their consent to marry. They are then in the eyes of the church and before God married. As soon after the marriage as possible they should send their names to the parish priest for registration and do whatever is required to have their marriage legally recognized by the state.

By order of the bishop,
FRANCIS J. CONATY,
Secretary.
